WFC Scoring Leaders

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

British Columbia Lions used the toe of Peter Kempf, a rookie Canadian end, Monday night to decide the first place tie in the Western Football Conference.

Kempf, 23, took first place in the scoring race with 10 points as he kicked all Lion's points as they defeated Saskatchewan Roughriders 22-20 to register the only victory gave them sole possession of first place in the league.

Kempf kicked two field goals and two converts which moved him from fourth to first place in the scoring race with 35 points.

Redmen Seek Linemen

MONTREAL (CP) — Bill Bewley is looking for linemen.

The coach of the McGill Redmen feels a lack of depth on the line could be one of the chief major weaknesses this football season.

"If you know any linemen, I can use them," Bewley said in an interview Monday.

The Redmen won the Yates Cup last year as Senior Intercollegiate League champions and also beat St. Francis Xavier University of Antigonish, N.S., for the Churchill Trophy.

Said Bewley of this year's prospects:

"We have four tackles I can count on and four boys I can see as solid guards. If some of the kids improve and we escape injuries, we could end up with a good line. But you can't afford to count on escaping injuries in a game like this. If we get hurt, we don't find some backup strength we'll be in trouble."

Gaels Win Lacrosse Opener

By PAUL REMSTEAD

WHITBY, Ont. (CP)—Oshawa Green Gaels opened their Senior Shamrocks at their own game Monday night — but this still hasn't been enough to give their favorite's role in the Minto Cup series.

The Gaels, who play the hard-running, fast-break style of lacrosse popular in the West, are expected to give their hosts a full in the best-of-seven series for the Canadian junior lacrosse championship.

They took the opener 10-7 Monday night but Shamrocks fans arrived only two hours before game time after a three-day train ride from the West Coast.

"The fellows didn't sleep the first two nights," said Jack Fletcher, manager of the defending champion Shamrocks. "And they haven't had a meal before the game."

The win, however, was gratifying to the fellows who have nine players in their lineup who are under their first year of junior lacrosse.

Playing before a full house in the 1,200-seat Whitby Arena, the Gaels were behind only once—when Victoria scored the opening goal. Oshawa led 3-1 after the first period, 5-3 at half time and held a 9-4 edge going into the fourth period.

The Trots

CAMPBELLVILLE, Ont. (CP) Garry Herbert won the co-feature two-year-old pace Monday at Raceway over Mighty Stein and paid a hefty $41.20 Monday night.

Garry Herbert, timed at 2:05.8, paid $14.40 to place and $4.10 to show. Mighty Stein, racing $7.40 and $3.30, combined with Garry Herbert for a $131.60 quinella. Other horse Larry Dillard paid $2.80.

Huntley-Brinkley Program Makes Its Half-Hour Debut

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP) — NBC's Huntley - Brinkley evening news program bowed in Monday night in its half-hour form. Lisa Waltter Cronkite's expanded CBS show a week ago, it was launched with a presidential interview.

It is unfair to measure the Huntley - Brinkley program, expanded from 15 minutes, against the week-old Cronkite program by using as a yardstick the number of stories covered. Almost half of the first Huntley-Brinkley program was devoted to the interview with President Kennedy. Some headline items received short shrift.

Both programs are careful, clear and responsible news summaries. The viewers' eventual choice probably will be based simply on whether he prefers Cronkite's or Huntley and Brinkley's style voice or choice of phrase.

ABC's Whatever Happened to Royalty Monday night was a delightful series of friendly, informal portraits of patient, optimistic regal exiles, all hoping that someday, somehow, their crowns will be restored.

Pro Football Claims First Death

WICHITA, Kan. (AP)—Stone Jihnson, promising rookie for Kansas City Chiefs of the American Football League and a runner for the United States in the 1960 Olympics, died Sunday night of a brain clot suffered in an exhibition football game eight days ago.

An attending physician attributed death to a fracture of the fifth cervical vertebrae of the neck and spinal cord damage.

The physician, who declined use of his name, said an autopsy also revealed a blood clot in a lung surgery. While this was a complication unknown previously, the physician said it was not the cause of death.

The 23-year-old halfback had been in serious condition since suffering a fractured neck vertebra in the game against the Houston Oilers. He was tackled on a short-pass kickoff when he dived into a block in the game Aug. 31.

Johnson was the seventh football player to die of game injuries this year and the first in professional ranks since 1960.

Time Gong No Longer Boxer Help

TRENTON, N.J. (AP) — Boxers may no longer be saved by the bell under a tougher code adopted by the New Jersey Athletic Commission Monday.

Commission chairman Joseph P. Waldman and referees will keep counting if a fighter is down when the bell rings. A knock-out would be scored if the fighter failed to get up by the count of 10.

Under the old rules, a fighter knocked down in the final nine seconds of a round could be saved by the bell because the referee would automatically stop the count when the bell sounded.

Walker said fighters who have suffered a knockout also will be suspended for 60 days instead of 30 days under the new code.

Frenchman Tries Out With Habs

MONTREAL (CP) — When Montreal Canadiens open their hockey training camp Wednesday there will be the usual strong representation of French-Canadian regulars and rookies plus a Parisian Frenchman.

He is a defenceman, named Jean-Pierre LeBel, who will take his turn in the workouts.

The story of Pasquarin's acquisition starts with the recent visit to France of Bob LeBel, past president of the International Ice Hockey Federation and a former president of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association.

LeBel met Pierre Catella, French federation president, who told him there was a promising young amateur star who was worth a professional team's attention.

On his return to Montreal LeBel passed the word along to Ken Reardon, vice - president of the National Hockey League Canadiens. Now the 23-year-old French defenceman is on his way.

Reardon admitted he doesn't know much about Pasquarin "except that he's six feet, one inch, weighs 180 pounds, is left-hand shot and a defenceman."

Then he added: "We are anxious to take a look at him, especially since he comes so highly recommended."

Reardon said Pasquarin will be assigned to Junior hockey manage berth and will be given every opportunity to make good.

Movie Comic Turns Down Million-Dollar Contract

By JAMES BACON

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—A few weeks ago a couple of television producers offered Jack Oakie a million-dollar contract to play a farmer vaudevillian in a new series.

"I got the whole bit," says the famed movie comic. "They came out to the house and lay prone at my feet and promised me the whole red carpet treatment—the limousine and chauffeur, a shooting schedule that started at 11 a.m.—the works.

"I turned them down because I knew the minute I signed they would have pulled the red carpet right out from under me. Best Harrison told me that's what they did to him on Cleopatra, and that picture cost $40,000,000. As soon as he signed, the limousine never showed—until he squawked."

WEALTHY ACTOR

All of which gives rise to the reports that Oakie is one of the richest actors in the business.

Oakie will only say: "I bought American Telephone and Telegraph when it was known as Cincinnati Smoke Signals—and General Electric when it was called General Candle."

He lives like an English lord in a huge estate in suburban Northridge. He bought the house for cash 25 years ago. It's so big that even the rooms have rooms.

Recently a sub-divider offered him $1,000,900 for 10 choice acres, allowing him to keep the house and an acre for himself. Oakie gave the same reason he has been giving for years.

"If I sold the ground, I'd have to put trunks on when I go in my pool."

NEW FANS FROM TV

He wrote when he feels like it, and if the part pleases him.

Ever since those old Paramount movies were released to television, Oakie has been getting more fan mail than he used to get in his prime. A whole new generation of fans has discovered the master of the double-take — that quizzical comic reaction that draws schools to their day call on Oakie.

Oakie is seeing some of his movies on television for the first time himself. One year he did 14 collier pictures.

"I got so dizzy running up and down the Paramount gridiron that I couldn't focus on the movie when they came out. I'm the only guy who ever won 25 letters—and never went to college," he quips.

Second - period goals by Ted Howe and Skeeter Mower 19 seconds apart opened up a scoring saw game to give St. Catharines an 8-6 margin. Gary Adams scored the winning goal with four goals and Doug Favelle added two. Doug Smith and Jim McNulty scored singles.

Florrie Tomchishen, Brian Abrams and Bob Hanna collected two apiece for Port Credit and Paul Henderson and Pete Ruse each added one.

THE LITTLE WOMAN

Leafs Will Operate Next Year

TORONTO (CP) — Toronto Maple Leafs, ousted from the International Baseball League baseball playoffs during the weekend, are making plans to continue operation next season despite the worst financial showing in a dozen years.

Fewer than 130,000 fans paid to watch the Leafs' 75 home games, about 90,000 fewer than necessary to break even financially.

But owner Jack Kent Cooke told The Globe and Mail by telephone from his home in Los Angeles:

I expect to operate next season. The fan interest has been disappointing—it is not discouraging."

Cooke said he has no idea of selling the club "at this moment," but said he would sell for the right price.

"Anything, any enterprise, is for sale if the price is right," he explained.

General manager Frank Pollock blamed poor attendance on the club's poor start in the league and bad weather later in the season.

HIGH FLIGHT

Pilot Officer John G. Magee, Jr.

Oh! I have slipped the surly bonds of earth
And danced the skies on laughter-silvered wings;
Sunward I've climbed, and joined the tumbling mirth
Of sun-split clouds—and done a hundred things
You have not dreamed of—wheeled and soared and swung
High in the sunlit silence. Hov'ring there
I've chased the shouting wind along, and flung
My eager craft through footless halls of air.

Up, up the long, delirious, burning blue
I've topped the wind-swept heights with easy grace
Where never lark, nor even eagle flew—
And, while with silent lifting mind I've trod
The high untrespassed sanctity of space
Put out my hand and touched the face of God.

* The complete story of the Battle of Britain . . . bombed out ruins, enemy bombers, a handful of valiant fighters, and the spirit of a Spitfire pilot, Pilot Officer John G. Magee Jr., captured in words written on the back of a letter to his mother three months before he was killed in action.

The Immortal Few

Friends and relatives of the "few" who fought so well during the Battle of Britain, will pause a moment next Sunday, September 15th, to pay tribute to those who gave their lives in the cause of freedom.

They will be joined by the thousands of airmen from every part of Canada who participate annually in the commemoration of the RCAF's "baptism of fire" —the battle in which it first flew against an enemy, won its first victories, and suffered its first casualties.

This was the battle in which Hitler gave his Luftwaffe just eight days to soften British defences for invasion — but which stretched to a full three months. It was a battle which hammered English pride and tenacity into a defiant "we can take it" doggedness, and sent a handful of Spitfire and Hurricane fighters out to meet and cripple the invading hordes.

Flying continuously against the full force of the titanic German Luftwaffe, the courageous "few" of the Royal Air Force — composed in part of Canadian, Australian, New Zealand, Polish, Dutch, Belgique, South African, Norwegian and French airmen—destroyed 1,733 enemy aircraft; killed, wounded or captured more than 5,000 of the Luftwaffe's prime aircrews; and deterred the threat of invasion.

But not without cost! Four hundred and forty-nine RAF fighter pilots died, 600 were wounded, and 915 aircraft were lost in the embattled English skies. The Canadian loss total led 47 airmen . . . men whose names are included on the honor roll in the memorial chapel of Westminster Abbey . . . men who served with honor and distinction!

Can I Make Him Forget Her?

By DORIS CLARK

DEAR DORIS — My problem is that I like a guy and I know he likes me, but he also likes another girl. She is three years older than him, where I'm the same age as he is — 14.

Could you tell me what to do to get him to forget her? — GREEN EYES.

DEAR GREEN EYES — You can't brain wash him. Say nothing mean about your rival. My guess is one of these days she'll show signs of womanhood which will scare him back into Age Fourteen in a hurry. Be ready with your best beau-catching looks and likeableness.

DORIS CLARK

TO FRENCHY — The French Regime for Social Security was organized after the Second World War. It includes: social insurance (sickness, old age, death, maternity); occupational accidents; and family allowances. Provisions are admirably comprehensive.

DEAR DORIS — When I had my baby they gave me needles. I never did like needles. The head nurse said I was a brave girl for my age, but I was not really brave on the inside.

Then when I went to the dentist about my teeth he gave me more needles. Then came my tonsils. When I reached the operating room the doctor had a large one for me.

Now I have to go to get my teeth fixed again. I thought of getting a physician to hypnotize me so I would not be so scared.

Do you know what makes people so scared of needles? — AFRAID OF NEEDLES.

DEAR AFRAID — It just goes against nature for us to allow anything to enter our flesh. But when they wanted to dull the pain of the surgeon's knife a hundred years or so ago, all they had to give us was a good shot of whiskey.

Now we can even have a sedative to reduce our awareness of the needle's prick. Tell your dentist how you feel and ask for one. Then be brave and be glad we have dentists and medical men who can make us well.

DEAR DORIS — You wrote of a man who had founded a company and employed only amputees or handicapped people. I believe his name was Vincard. Would you mind repeating his name and address in your column? I would like to contact him for some ideas or help he might have in view of his experience.

My husband and I have long wished to do something for amputees in our city, as we know from our own experience how badly it is needed. — AMPUTEE'S WIFE.

Not long ago he visited Toronto and helped in the formation of an organization there called Operation Reliance, Incorporated. I know he would be sympathetic to your interest. Garden Notes

Add Indoor Color Via Bulbs

By FLORA M. SAVILLE

There are several fine plants that are produced from bulbs for indoor plants. Pot them up in the fall and they will brighten the darkest days of winter. Allow them to rest in the summer and they will repeat the bloom cycle for many years.

The Amaryllis is one of these plants. This spring when we went to buy bedding plants we saw a real show stopper. This Amaryllis had been discarded to the trash heap as dead. Later last summer the nurserymen noticed that leaves were growing from the bulb. He potted it up, set it under the staging and forgot it again. In May it had developed a tall flower stalk which was covered with four ten-inch blooms in pink and white. In neglecting it he had provided just the right conditions for its best growth.

BANISHED TO BASEMENT

Each year we grow weary of the great long strap-like leaves that take up so much room. The plant is banished to a north window in the basement and watered occasionally. Late in May the pot is sunk into the soil in a semi-shaded place and watered when we remember to do so. Early in September it is brought in and again goes to the north window in the basement. When it shows the tip of the flower stock, usually in December, it is brought up to light and higher heat and more water. Occasionally it receives liquid fertiliser. It develops two stalks with three or four eight-inch blooms in white with deep rose stripe and feathering on each stalk. These last for weeks.

Do not be satisfied with inferior bulbs. Buy VanMeeuwen, Van Tubergen, or Warmenhoven hybrids. They are expensive but last for years and years.

It will soon be time to order Gloxinias. If you have sunk your potted gloxinias in the garden they will be throwing up new leaves now. Bring them in early in September, feed them lightly, with liquid fertiliser, and set in a good light but not direct sunlight.

The new Buell Giant hybrids have large bells in a beautiful rich velvet - like texture. The Buell slipper type hybrids are graceful curved tubes somewhat smaller but very fine. You can grow either type from seed. They will be ready to bloom in ten months from seed.

Freesias have delightfully scented sprays of pendulous bells in delicate shades of lavender blue, pink, yellow and white. Add them to your foliage plants to make a colorful window display.

Oxalis is another bulb plant that is fine for pot culture. The foliage is clover-like with panicles of delicate blooms in yellow or lavender pink.

Sparaxis, the Tricolour lily, is a lovely Amaryllis that is easy to grow and will bloom several times a year if allowed to rest between times. It is a rich deep crimson.

Clivias are revered house-plants in English homes. They will last a life time and are often passed on as family treasures. The blooms are yellow with orange tips and appear in umbels of 10 to 25 blooms. It is an imposing rich dark evergreen plant even when not in bloom. Little sun is needed. The bulb can be shipped any time of the year. Ask for Belgium hybrids.

Russia May Buy Canadian Wheat For $100 Million

Wheat Board Restricts Exports Pending Deal

WINNIPEG (CP) — Canada was reported today on the verge of making a big new wheat sale to Russia. Other Communist countries may also be in on the deal as buyers.

Authoritative sources here said the deal is under discussion at current Ottawa talks for a new Canadian-Russian trade agreement.

It would be far bigger than the 11,200,000 - bushel sale to Russia worth $22,000,000 announced Tuesday by the Canadian Wheat Board.

The best estimate here placed the size of the new sale at 90,000,000 bushels, worth $100,000,000 or more.

Whatever the amount of the sale, one trader said it would be "very, very significant." Another said Communist Russia has purchased before from Canada "if it goes through.

The Canadian Wheat Board was no doubt that Russia was in the buying market in a big way.

One reliable report said Russia had bought or was on the verge of buying 30,000,000 bushels of wheat from Australia.

EXPORTS RESTRICTED

Speculation that a big Canada-Russian deal was in the offing developed when the wheat board announced restrictions on wheat exports.

Exports were halted temporarily to countries not covered by International Wheat Agreement and to countries not named by Canadian shippers applying to export.

Although board officials would not discuss the move, it was seen here as a method of giving the board a breathing space to negotiate sales in the light of the pending Russian deal.

(In Ottawa, a spokesman for the Canadian wheat board said negotiations with Russia are a continuing part of discussions on the Canadian-Russian trade treaty. Officials said any discussion of figures at this time is premature. He said any negotiations would probably involve the delivery of wheat over a long period.)

340 Run For 108 Seats

TORONTO (CP)—A record total of almost 340 candidates is expected to be in the field for the Sept. 25 Ontario election after nominations close this afternoon.

The deadline for filing was set at 3 p.m. EDT throughout the province except in the northwestern ridings of Kenora and Rainy River where a difference in the time zone extends the deadline by an hour.

Both Premier Robarts's Progressive Conservatives and John Wintermeyer's Liberals fielded candidates in all 108 seats at stake in the voting two weeks from today. A redistribution in Metropolitan Toronto added two seats to the 38 in the old House dissolved last month.

The New Democrats had 97 known candidates nominated by Tuesday evening. Earlier predictions were that the party, which held five seats at dissolution, would run 100 candidates.

The Progressive Conservatives held 65 of the 98 seats when the House was dissolved Aug. 18, the Liberals held 26, the NDP five and six were vacant — four by members of the last House are seeking re-election, along with all the Liberal and NDP members.

Charge Youths For Attacks On Christians

CP from Reuter-AP

JERUSALEM — British and French diplomatic envoys today protested to the Israeli foreign ministry against violent demonstrations against Christian institutions by Jewish religious zealots.

Police sources said a total of 126 persons have been taken into custody in connection with Tuesday's outbreak of anti-missionary demonstration by an "action group" of zealots in Jerusalem, Haifa and Jaffa.

Prime Minister Levy Eshkol denounced the disturbances and promised that those responsible would be brought to trial.

The youths broke into church schools and slapped children, assaulted a policeman and a teacher, molested a Roman Catholic archbishop and caused some damage, witnesses reported.

THE WEATHER

Synopsis: A weather disturbance moving towards Ontario is giving cloudy unsettled weather to Northern Ontario and increasing cloudiness to the rest of the province. As this system moves east across the Great Lakes showers and scattered thunderstorms will spread into the rest of Ontario. As the storm moves into Quebec late Thursday the showers will gradually end across the province and the northerly winds following will spread cooler air into Ontario.

Pension Conference May Result In Lower Costs, More Benefits

OTTAWA (CP)—Lower initial costs and improved fringe benefits in the federal government's Canada Pension Plan may result from discussions at a two-day federal - provincial conference which ended late Tuesday.

Health Minister Judy LaMarsh, who presided, said many ideas were raised and discussed but no quick decisions could be made since she and Citizenship Minister Favreau, the only other federal cabinet minister attending, could not speak for the whole government.

Proposals to be considered include:

Reducing the initial rate of contributions to the earnings-geared portable retirement pensions plan, since they will not now have to bear the cost of a $150 increase in basic old age pensions, which Prime Minister Pearson announced Monday will be paid out of higher taxes.

Raising or modifying the scope of supplementary benefits to be available. The Canada Pension Plan now includes benefits for aged survivors. Miss LaMarsh mentioned that modern welfare thinking tends towards supplements based on living costs for retired persons.

Not directly connected with the Canada Pension Plan was discussion in the conference of increases in the assistance payments, by which the federal treasury contributes to the cost of provincial pensions to the blind, to disabled, and to persons in financial need between age 65 and age 70 when the basic old age pension is paid.

Miss LaMarsh said these assistance payments are under review, but all provincial delegates to the two-day pensions conference did not have instructions from their governments to state definite views.

The $150 increase to $75 monthly in the basic old age pension, to be paid out of taxes and become effective from next month onwards—instead of the original plan to pay it out of contributions to the Canada Pension Plan early next year—means a reduced burden on the funds of the Canada Pension Plan.

Miss LaMarsh said this means that it will require "considerably less" than the one per cent

Reduce Murder Charge Against Vincent Caissie

Will Be Sentenced On Thursday, Sept. 19

By HARRY MULHALL

The trial of Vincent Armand Caissie, charged with non-capital murder in the killing of his wife ended abruptly this morning as he pleaded guilty to manslaughter.

His plea to the reduced charge came when Mr. Justice K. E. G. Moorhouse directed the all-male jury to return a verdict of manslaughter.

The 42-year-old Belleville man will be sentenced September 19th.

Key to reduction of the charge was the evidence yesterday of Dr. Joslyn Rogers, expert police laboratory analyst. Dr. Rogers testified a blood test taken on Caissie the night his wife was shot, revealed an alcohol content which indicated mental irresponsibility.

Dr. Rogers agreed the level of alcohol in the blood sample would result in irresponsible actions not governed by thought.

The verdict also hinged on definitions in the Criminal Code of non-capital murder, which calls for intent in homicide, and manslaughter, where there is no intent.

Defence counsel Benjamin Hurley and Donald Templeman, QC, argued after Dr. Rogers' evidence there was insufficient evidence to support the murder charge. Crown Attorney John Pringle concurred.

HEARD CHARGE READ

Caissie heard the charge read to him again this morning as the all - male jury took its place for the second day of his trial.

"Not guilty to murder," he answered. "Guilty to manslaughter Your Honour and My Lord."

Justice Moorhouse, reviewing the references of both charges and recalling the analysts evidence, told the jury:

"It is my responsibility to direct you that the verdict you should bring in is a verdict of manslaughter."

Asked by a juror of the Justice: "If we didn't find the accused guilty of murder, why should there be any sense in manslaughter, if he wasn't in his right mind?"

Justice Moorhouse explained juries can be instructed to bring in several verdicts in cases where evidence is insufficient to support a charge, a lesser charge be returned on a lesser offence.

He informed the jury that "a defence of drunkenness to murder is not a defence to manslaughter."

It was the second reduction in charges against Caissie. He was originally charged with capital murder April 22nd when his wife was found shot in their apartment kitchen at 46 Grove Street. It was reduced to non-capital murder at the start of his trial.

He asked for a pre-sentence report on Caissie's character before passing sentence.

Caissie's parents, both acting without fee, called several character witnesses on his behalf, after the jury concurred in the manslaughter verdict.

Mrs. Nella Box, a mathematics teacher at Centre for Vocational Training Institute, where Caissie had been taking a job-retraining course, said he was an eager pupil who showed eagerness for hard work.

"In fact," she said, "he had become dissatisfied with studying mathematics by rote and had decided to take up electronics the weekend he was arrested.

James Fox, a real estate agent who collected rent from Caissie's for six years at Parkboro said the couple were always punctual with payments and kept their property "neat, or neater than I would keep my own property."

"Both Mr. and Mrs. Caissie seemed a very happy couple, together," he testified.

Dairy Picture Brighter

OTTAWA (CP)—However Hillcrest, the federal government's 200,000,000-pound butter surplus that represents the financially-indigestible lump of a problem whose solution will hurt.

Over the two years of study, the only way out appears to be to cut losses and run with a salvage operation, informants say.

Otherwise, the dairy picture is brighter.

Industry supply and demand now are in closer balance than they have been for years. The government has stopped selling dried milk because it has only a few million pounds left and wants to save that for emergencies. There is no problem in selling cheese, either.

But the surplus butter remains—stored in warehouses at better cost. If it is paying a consumer subsidy of $35,000,000 to $40,000,000 to maintain that price to producers and at the same time cut the retail price level so that butter can compete better with oleo margarine and other spreads.

There is no suggestion for the time being of any change in this procedure, especially since the dairy industry itself has cut back milk production while product sales are good.

Government Policy on Loans Under Fire of Opposition

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Government policy on two of kinds of loans—overpriced lending to consumers and federal loans to municipalities—drew the fire of Ontario opposition leaders Tuesday.

At the same time, Premier Robarts promised to press Ottawa's bilingual-biculturalism bill with a delegation from the province.

Attacking the two parts of policy, the only way out appears to be to cut losses and run with a salvage operation, informants say.

91 Cubans Steal Naval Ship, Reach Mexico After 5 Days

MERIDAN, Yucatan (AP) — Mexican authorities gave food and medicine today to 91 escapees who landed on the Yucatan coast this week.

The mass escape of 91 men, women and 22 children was led by a former Cuban naval officer, Rafael Rodrigues.

The main group made a gruelling trek to an undisclosed rendezvous on the southern coast of Cuba.

Men, women and children struggled their way through a mangrove swamp. Women and children were loaded on to three fishermen and helped by men wading in the jungle waters.

At a point on the coast, Rodrigues and two companions, wearing Cuban navy uniforms and carrying false documents, boarded the lighthouse tender H-11, posing as inspectors.

They took control of the boat and under cover of darkness sailed to the rendezvous point and picked up the other fugitives.

With little food and water they headed toward Mexico.

They travelled for five days under the scorching Caribbean sun.

There was little sleep for anyone as all were constantly fearful of being spotted by a Cuban patrol boat.

On Sunday they sighted the island of Cozumel where they put into port and asked for haven. The government had granted them provisional asylum.

Brewers Win Big Victory

OTTAWA (CP)—The brewing industry won a major victory Tuesday in its fight to get promotion on radio and television on a more equal footing with distillers of spirituous products.

The Board of Broadcast Governors announced that from next Jan. 1 it will permit a full minute of beer and wine to sell promotion in radio and TV commercials.

The decision follows the regulatory body's scrapping of an earlier proposal to limit such commercials to 30 seconds in duration. At present only 12 seconds of hard-sell advertising is allowed in which the product is identified by brand-name and the remaining seconds consist of non-advertising dial-in material.

Carlyle Allison, BBG vice-chairman, commented: "It is our view that a straight, no-nonsense beer message."

"The board's purpose is to take the hypocritical approach out of brewery advertising—to do away with the sequences in which young men and women are shown in beer scenes just prior to the brewery commercial."

PROVIDES 10 SECONDS

Another new feature in the regulations is provision of 10 seconds on television and 15 seconds on radio for identification of the product or sponsor at the opening or close of a program. At present these announcements use time allotted for commercials.

The board, however, did not agree to a proposal by the brew-

St. Leger Won By Ragusa

DONCASTER, England (Reuters) — The three - year - old colt Ragusa, an odds-on favourite, won the St. Leger racing classic here today.

After a hectic finish for second place, Star Moss was placed second and Fighting Ship third. Merchant Venturer was fourth.

The event—last classic of the British flat season—was over one mile, six furlongs and 132 yards.

Ragusa won easily by six lengths.

The win was worth £32,338 ($87,014) to Ragusa owner Jim Mullion, who has homes in Hong Kong, The Bahamas and Ireland.

Ragusa was a 3-to-5 favorite. Star moss was 8 to 1 and Fighting Ship 28 to 1.

Mr. Hurley said the Caissie's marriage was a happy one and he was devoted to his wife. His weekends home from the vocational centre were "a model of married happiness" to both of them."

However, said counsel, "his curse is whiskey."

"Is he what is properly known as an alcoholic," queried Justice Moorhouse.

"No," replied counsel. He added the crime was one of passion.

NOTED WAR RECORD

It was not the result of "an evil mind, rather that of excessive intoxication."

Mr. Templeman noted Caissie's war record with the 2nd Canadian Division in the Low Countries and later in Korea with the Princess Patricia Regiment.

He described Caissie as an intelligent, with a record of dedicate health in New Brunswick during which he became devoted to a twin brother, Francis. The attachment became "a strong emotional tie" in later years.

"Approximately one year ago, his brother Francis was killed in a car accident. A doctor, a psychiatrist who had been subpoened for the defence but not called after the charge was reduced) convinces that the shock of that incident was tremendous and he has shown emotional effects of it ever since."

Mr. Pringle, noted the significant element figured and paged in the case, but warned he would not ask society to get the "widespread idea that they can drink themselves out of responsibility under the law."

"A woman's life was taken needlessly. He is certainly going to have the blood of an innocent woman on his hands the rest of his life." A hopeful feature was Caissie's good character before the shooting. But, he added, the other citizens of society "must be made aware that sort of thing cannot be tolerated."

"It may be referred to as a crime of passion, yes. But it resulted from the accused's own gluttony as to liquor."

Yesterday, Mr. Pringle climaxed his presentation for the prosecution with a statement Caissie made to police the morning after his wife's death, then he admitted shooting at her.

Earlier the court heard testimony from three police officers who told of Caissie turning up at city police headquarters and surrendering a 22-calibre rifle and from a brother-in-law of Mrs. Caissie who told of three marriages between the couple the day of the shooting.

Three of Four Alabama Cities Quiet

Uncertain Birmingham Is Watching and Waiting

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — National Guardsmen placed under federal control were on a standby today in this racially tense city, the only trouble spot as public school segregation ended in three Alabama cities.

Integration came peacefully Tuesday in Mobile, Tuskegee and at two Birmingham schools. But disorders broke out at a third Birmingham school.

The guardsmen, some called up three months ago to enforce integration at the University of Alabama, were not needed as 30 Negroes entered white schools and broke a new deadlock between Governor George Wallace and the federal government.

"I can't fight bayonets with my bare hands," said Wallace, who pledged to continue his segregation fight in the courts.

Wallace called up the National Guard to block the Negroes. President Kennedy placed the soldiers under federal control and prohibited them from carrying out Wallace's orders.

A heavy force of city policemen and county officers quelled disturbances by pupils and angry adults at West End High School in Birmingham after two Negro girls entered the school Tuesday.

They yelled to other students to come out and shouted "Nigger go home" after two Negro girls entered the building. — (AP Wirephoto)

A well - dressed white man stood just outside the newly integrated Graymont Elementary School, clutching his wife and daughter's hand. They were leaving.

"We'll come to school tomorrow," he said. "Today I want her to see there is nothing to fear."

"I told her I played with Negroes when I was a boy. There was good times, bad times."

Anxious mothers couldn't bring themselves to leave the school and kept trudging.

"If outside agitators would leave us alone, I think the school could handle it," said one mother.

Enrollment at the school had been expected to exceed 300. Only 118 children — including two Negro boys — showed up.

The Negroes—brothers Dwight and Floyd Armstrong, aged 11 and 12 — walked into the classes themselves. In class, they sat alone, with no other children near.

Dwight and Floyd were released from school a few minutes early. They were met by their father and a policeman.

"Why did you all let those niggers out before we got out?" older boys asked police.

Planning Board Turns Down Application for Zone Change Of East End Residential Area

Acting on a recommendation from the Belleville and Suburban Planning Board, city council Monday turned down an application for a change in zoning of an east end residential area to commercial.

The request was from D. E. Storey acting on behalf of Mrs. Nan MacDonald asking that the area bounded by Bridge Street East, Herchimer Ave., Kari Street, and The Belleville Shopping Plaza be re-zoned from R-3 to R.M.1.

Members of the Suburban Planning Board felt the area should remain zoned as at present and council approved of their recommendation to refuse the request.

Council also turned down the application of Vaglen Mills to purchase a section of city-owned park land in the Bayview Area. The intention would have been for the firm to use the property for industrial expansion.

OTHER PROPERTY AVAILABLE

Planning Board member, Alderman Les Digby told council that property immediately to the east of the company's holdings was already suitably zoned for the company's purpose and suggested that this might be purchased.

Council approved of the closing of Elgin Street as had been requested by Wilson Concrete but with the following three conditions:

1. That Wilson Concrete Products Ltd. provide an adequate turning circle at the termination of the cul-de-sac formed by the street closure. 2. That Wilson Concrete provide a ten-foot walkway from the cul-de-sac to Wilson Ave. and that the company convey to the city one foot strip of land around the periphery of the turning area where it abuts land held by the company.

NEW STREET NAMED

Council also agreed that the name of the new access road to be built in the Hillcrest Area will be Adam Street. The street leading from 37 Bayview Ave. to Adam Street will be known as Alderman Digby Road.

"Alderman Digby had commendation for the new planning Board. The director was came to the city in mid-summer.

"He is doing an excellent job," he said.

Govt. Clearing Way for Re-entry Of Chinese Mother Into Canada

By JOHN R. BIRD

OTTAWA (CP)—The government is clearing the way for the re-entry to Canada of Mrs. Louie Yuet - Sum, 27-year-old Chinese who left her Canadian son behind when she was deported to Hong Kong in 1962.

As immigration official said Tuesday that Mrs. Louie will be allowed to enter Canada as a landed immigrant along with her husband and two other sons from Hong Kong provided the family meets normal immigration admissions requirements — good health, good character and a suitable occupation.

Mrs. Louie was ordered deported when the former Progressive Conservative government was in power. Former Immigration Minister Ellen Fairclough declined to interfere with the deportation order and Mrs. Louie failed in appeals against the order to Ontario courts and the Supreme Court of Canada.

The deportation order was bitterly opposed in the Commons by the then Liberal opposition, including Lester Pearson, a former Liberal immigration minister and now secretary of state.

CASES STUDIED

The immigration official said Mrs. Louie's case is one of a number of controversial deportation cases that have been reexamined in recent months by Immigration Minister Favreau.

Mrs. Louie and other members of her family in Hong Kong have made formal applications for admittance to Canada as immigrants. It is understood that a report on the Hong Kong office's decision now is on its way to Ottawa.

Mrs. Louie entered Canada on a non-immigrant visa in December, 1957, to visit her father. She gave birth to a son the following August and the child automatically became a Canadian citizen.

After the birth she sought to have herself declared a legally-landed immigrant. Her application was rejected on grounds that she was a member of a class of persons prohibited entry at that time. The deportation order did not apply to the baby.

BOY FATALLY WOUNDED

INGERSOLL, Ont. (CP) — Provincial police said four-year-old Robert Stuart McCutcheon of North Oxford Township was fatally wounded Tuesday night when a rifle being handled by a 10-year-old brother discharged accidentally. The boy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wilson McCallum, was dead on arrival at hospital in nearby London.

Student Councils Will Be Formed In Two Schools

Moira and Quinte Secondary Schools are moving rapidly towards forming a student parliament.

Moira Secondary, at a school assembly held its first step this morning in outlining pre-election procedures and Student Parliament objectives. Giving students experience in the management of their extra-curricular activities, helping to build a school spirit, and building better citizens were the main aims of forming a student governing body, a school spokesman said this morning.

Quinte Secondary is already making its preliminary campaign speeches. The cunning candidates however are not directly voicing their entire party platform at this time. This strategem will prevent opening themselves to attack before the election date next week.

Parties nominated two candidates for the Liberal and Conservative party nominating conventions this afternoon.

The two-tier government at Moira is exacting a fee of $1.50 for sending cards which will be a source of internal revenue. The card, like that of other societies, will cover the student with a $100 insurance policy and allow them into movies at a reduced price as well as other school benefits.

WILL RAISE FUNDS

One of the plans of Quinte's Well-do party is to raise funds by standing at where school supplies may be bought at lower prices. They intended to have a soft drink vendor in the cafeteria but thought the concession would be a conflict before the election date next week.

Public School Accommodation Needed in West End of City

The need for additional public school accommodation in the west end of the city has been pointed up since the opening of the fall school term with the transfer of 114 Grade 6 pupils from Avondale School to Prince Charles School.

Avondale School just no room for them at Avondale School, stated schools administrator I. A. Kelly today.

Mr. Kelly said it was expected the Grade 6 Avondale pupils would go to Prince Charles for at least a year, or until additional school accommodation can be provided in their own area.

"It is just a matter of growth in the city's west end," Mr. Kelly said. "Maximum accommodation at the Avondale school is limited to between 160 and 180 and this term 40 kindergarten pupils registered.

Grade 7 and 8 from Avondale are being accommodated at Queen Mary School as was the case last term.

The public school board owns the site on the west side of Sidney Street between Dundas and Bleecker Streets, and the other is at the corner of Palmer Road and West Bridge Street.

Which of the two will be developed first will depend on provision of the necessary services.

"There is need for school expansion in the West Belleville area, but it will not be for the expansion at the present Avondale school," said Mr. Kelly.

The matter of providing the necessary classroom accommodation was discussed by the school board at its first meeting of the fall season on September 16th.

Found Heroin Added to Cache In Apartment

TORONTO (CP) — An RCMP officer testified Wed. using a set of weigh scales, he found in one month that 3½ ounces of heroin had been added to a cache discovered in a downtown apartment here.

Const. John Hirst told a preliminary hearing Tuesday into narcotics charges against 12 persons that during a raid on June 5, he weighed out 9½ ounces of white powder from a plastic bag and combined with two envelopes containing one ounce each. The 11½ ounces all proved to be heroin worth about $100,000.

The scales, which, hidden above a false ceiling in a living-room closet, Const. Hirst said there were about 200 empty capsules and 36 contraceptives.

Two Belleville youths were sentenced to three years less a day for robbery with violence of an elderly storekeeper.

James Scott and Gerald Blakely received the sentence from Magistrate T. V. Wills. The magistrate added a further indefinite term of two years' less a day to the sentence.

They were charged with the robbery of Egbert Mowers, who was beaten and robbed near his East Dundas Street home.

Caming Factory Property at Foxboro Sold

Donald J. Whalen, local real estate broker, announced today that the canning factory property at Foxboro owned by Canadian Canners Ltd. has been sold to Belleville builder Maurice Rollins.

The sale included the canning factory building and equipment, as well as a large farm fronting on the Bay Shore. The sale price was not disclosed and Mr. Rollins could not be reached for comment as to what the property would be put.

The canning factory property was closed down in 1962 when the canning company decided to close the plant and transfer operations to other plants in Western Ontario and in Quebec.

Man and Wife Charged With Capital Murder

TORONTO (CP)—A man and his wife were both charged with capital murder late Tuesday after 52-year-old Alfred Wurtz was stabbed and beaten to death at his home midtown Toronto home.

Police laid the charges against John Garbella, about 35, a retired teacher, and his wife, Mary, 27.

Inspt. William McNeely of Toronto homicide squad said Wurtz was stabbed several times with a bread knife and was beaten with a mallet and a clothes iron and a bottle.

An autopsy disclosed Wurtz died of multiple stab wounds and multiple stab wounds in the chest, back and scalp.

of salaries contributed by employers and employees—and two per cent contributed by the self-employed, if they wish to join the plan.

"The two things which are to be weighed are, on the one hand the two per cent rate to begin with and keep it over a very long period of time, and on the other charge a lower rate to begin with and then raise it after a relatively short time."

AMENDMENT NEEDED

For a full program of survivor benefits, including federal benefits for young widows with growing children — now constitutionally considered a responsibility of provincial governments — an amendment to the British North America Act would be required.

All provinces were not able to give their views on this at this week's conference, but, all but Quebec agreed to the change when it was suggested by the former Conservative government.

Assistance payments to the needy will be studied further. They are not as much a means test," Miss LaMarsh said. "It is a more modern approach to put them on a test of the need of the individual—what it costs to live where he lives."

Finance Minister Roberts—under pressure from Liberal Opposition Leader Wintermeyer to declare whether he fully favored the Canada Pension Plan or not —told the conference Monday morning his government is prepared to amend its already-passed portable pensions legislation to fit with the federal plan.

Provincial Treasurer James Allan, who headed the Ontario delegation, said after the conference that provincial and federal government experts will meet in 10 days or two weeks to "correlate the two plans and make them compatible."

Wallace Girds for Political Battle Against Kennedy

By HAROLD MORRISON

Once again President Kennedy has been forced to use troops to preserve and protect the simple rights of Negro children. But even this action is likely to bring only an insecure peace to the sprawling land of white supremists in Alabama.

Unlike governor Ross Barnett of Mississippi—another unbending advocate of separation of the races — Governor George Wallace of Alabama appears to hold fiery political ambitions that will over state boundaries.

Wallace may consider he is the Joan of Arc of the Deep South; to rally the grumbling, dissatisfied Dixiecrats to do political battle against Kennedy and his men who are determined to give the Negroes a more equal status in the U.S. and thus, in effect, destroy the remaining fabrics of an old Southern way of life.

Kennedy realizes he faces a tough political problem in supporting legislation to improve the social statues of Negroes.

NEEDS SUPPORT

Eager for re-election in 1964, Kennedy needs all the support that he can get. He has bitterness may fade by election time but Kennedy cannot be sure.

He is also likely to also be aware of the political gold in the southern hills.

Wallace who is bold on civil rights is reported to be one reason of growing Southern opposition to the Senate Senate passage of a nuclear test-ban treaty.

There seems to be something in the mood of the white supremists that they should seek out something that would hit Kennedy.

SHOWDOWN FORCED

Kennedy was reluctant to use troops in Alabama. He knew Governor Wallace would capitulate after making his initial demonstration. But Wallace had commanded the showdown. Having achieved it, the governor may encourage the wings while the night riders, the white-cloaked cross-burners and the bombers will carry on their intermittent later declined to issue the license for the projected private station on the grounds the market couldn't support two new stations at this time.

ing industry which would permit them to carry spot beer advertisements on radio instead of having to sponsor a program to advertise their product.

The BBG regulation applies only to provinces which permit beer and wine advertising on radio and TV. They are Ontario, Quebec, Nova Scotia and Newfoundland.

Some modifications in presentation may be permitted which will bring Canadian beer ads closer in style to those on United States TV. However, scenes showing beer being lifted to the mouth or being poured from a bottle are expected to remain under the ban.

While industry, institutional, public service or brand preference advertising is allowed, the regulations specifically say that commercials "shall not be designed to promote the general use of beer and wine."

ASKED LAST MONTH

At a BBG public hearing here Aug. 27 representatives of the brewing industry strongly urged that they should be allowed to advertise their products fully for 80 seconds. It was contended that programs, especially those of football games, had built-in one-minute advertising slots and the 30 - second BBG proposal would create serious technical difficulties.

Among other decisions announced, the BBG recommended disaffiliation of the privately-owned Kitchener television station CKCO-TV from the publicly-owned CBC network and its affiliation to the privately-owned CTV network.

No decision was handed down on a controversial application by radio station CKAR Huntsville, Ont., to cut its ties with the CBC's consolidated English-language national radio network.

After a series of applications dating back several years, Ottawa businessman James A. Stewart was given the BBG's backing to start a new 5-kilowatt language AM radio station in the capital. It would operate on a frequency of 1,040 kilocycles with a power of 10,000 watts.

Earlier this year the BBG approved establishment of a new CBC and privately - owned French-language radio stations in Ottawa. However, the government later declined to issue the license for the projected private station on the grounds the market couldn't support two new stations at this time.

In Cobourg, Liberal Leader Wintermeyer accused the Conservative government of "bungled the chance for Ontario municipalities to share in the $1,000,000,000 surplus in municipal loan fund this winter.

REVERSED STAND

He said that a week ago Premier Robarts had reversed an earlier stand that no special legislation was needed to allow Ontario municipalities to get their $141,000,000 share of the federal fund.

He said that because of the election it would be impossible to convene the legislature in time for municipalities to plan "projects which will significantly stimulate employment this winter."

The premier, speaking in St. Thomas, announced that a delegation will leave shortly for Britain and Europe to try to break into the market there and sell 30,000,000 pounds of tobacco stored in the province.

NDP Leader MacDonald, who heads south today after a five-day campaign through Northern Ontario, told voters in Timber River riding his party would appoint a bureau of consumer to ensure that goods displayed for sale were clearly marked as to price and quality.

It would, he said, be a research and information agency, "arming the people with the necessary information to help them protect themselves."

"As consumers," said Mr. MacDonald, "we are the most vulnerable and most unorganized people in our society."

Caouette Will Have Major Party Support

OTTAWA (CP) — Real Caouette and his Ralliement des Creditistes have won out over Social Credit Leader Robert Thompson and his followers in the battle for Commons supremacy following the federal split-up of the Social Credit party.

The announcement Monday night by Quebec City restaurant owner Lucien Pineau, MP for Quebec West, of his support for Mr. Caouette, gives the Creditiste group 13 members in the Commons.

Mr. Thompson and the remnants of the Social Credit group number 11.

Barring any further shifts in the power struggle between the two groups, this means the Creditistes will have Commons priority over Mr. Thompson's group, ranking as the fourth-largest party in the House after the 17-member New Democratic Party.

It also will mean that Mr. Caouette—but not Mr. Thompson—will qualify for the extra $4,000 Commons allowance that was established this session for the leader of any recognized group of 12 or more members in the House.

LOOKING AHEAD during a short stop in Trenton yesterday, Provincial Liberal leader John Wintermeyer stopped to talk politics with David Scott. Mr. Wintermeyer is getting an early start, David won't be voting for six years and seven months, unless the voting age is changed. His mother is Mrs. G. S. Scott of Trenton. She was one of a group of more than 30 supporters who greeted Mr. Wintermeyer in the town.

Socred Leader Thompson Has No Comment

QUESNEL, B.C. (CP)—Robert Thompson, Social Credit party national leader, says he's "not interested" in anything Real Caouette has to say of his Quebec's followers have to say.

Interviewed here by telephone Mr. Thompson was commenting on recent developments in Quebec which gave Mr. Caouette and his Ralliement des Creditistes the upper hand in the Commons.

"There is no place for regional forces in the national House of Commons, Mr. Thompson said.

Despite the split, Mr. Thompson said he plans to "go ahead with the Social Credit program of the national organization."

QUEBEC (CP)—The executive of Le Ralliement des Creditistes in Drummondville-Montmorency riding called today for the resignation of Dr. Guy Marcoux as the constituency's member of Parliament.

Dr. Marcoux was elected as a Social Credit member in the April 8 federal election. He resigned from the party after a dispute with Mr. Caouette and sat at the last parliamentary session as an independent Social Credit member.

butter surplus just about where it has been, with no prospect of depletion unless the government decides to bear the cost of disposal.

Some recent consideration has been given to selling butter oil—a reduced form of butter which tends to keep better in storage—domestically at a loss. It would require only heating and a cooking fat.

Officials estimate that it costs about 75 cents a pound to buy, process and store the butter converted to butter oil. Sale price would have to be perhaps a third of that to be competitive. Butter is 63 cents.

On the export scene, international prices remain well below the Canadian level and Canada would have to sell at about 25 cents a pound—or a bit higher if the butter was laid down in the purchasing country.

There has been in the past a series of domestic resentment, however, at dumping Canadian butter abroad at prices lower than prevailing in this country.

One theory here is that there might be less resentment if butter oil was sold. As one official pointed out, Canada has been selling substantial amounts of dried skim milk at several cents below cost without complaints. That might also apply to butter oil, for which there are substantial orders if the price is right.

Selling 30,000,000 or 40,000,000 pounds a year would eventually help absorb the big surplus.

The situation has certain similarities to that existing several years ago when a pork surplus built up in government storage.

The agricultural stabilization board solved that one by selling some under popular brand names commercially, giving the remainder for international aid programs and welfare disposal projects handled by the provinces and municipalities.

Rented Castle Cheapest Place In Which to Hold Dinner Party

LONDON (AP)—Canny Sir Hamilton Willian Kerr, baronet, says that when it comes to space and economy for a dinner party a rented castle is hard to beat.

"The castle cost me nothing," says Sir Hamilton, 60, and a member of the House of Commons. "For all I know, anyone can get one free."

"I just asked the ministry of works."

The ministry, custodian of national property, has many castles on its books.

The castle used by Sir Hamilton for his dinner party stands near Catford in County Suffolk. It was built in 1185.

Sir Hamilton was spending his vacation near Catford and, having made a number of local friends and being anxious to return their hospitality, he decided to give a thank-you party.

But his vacation cottage was too small.

He then thought of the Norman Castle, which had been standing vacant for years, but maintained in excellent condition.

Sir Hamilton told the ministry of works what he wanted and received permission for the party.

The catering department of a big London department store did the lettering: A duck dinner.

Asked what were the qualifications for renting an unused castle for free, Minister of Works Geoffrey Rippon said:

Washrooms Said in Mess

TRENTON — Public wash rooms in Hanna Park are a mess, the Board of Parks management agreed yesterday, but trailerites and campers are not responsible. Toilets are not usually clogged, pipes are broken and the rooms are dirty. There's not much town gardener Bart Boers can do about it, the Parks Board agreed, unless he wants to mount an all-night armed guard on the washrooms.

Trouble seems to be that some local people like breaking things, which would be definite yet, but it was suggested at last night's meeting that the board might look the washrooms and see that any legitimate trailerites staying the night are supplied with a key. A deposit box may be supplied, if the suggestions are adopted, in which early-leaving tourists can drop their washroom keys.

Youth Given Seven Days

TRENTON — Nineteen-year-old Patrick Charbonneau Jr., of Trenton, was sentenced to seven days in the common jail yesterday, by Magistrate T. V. Wills, for driving while his licence was suspended. A careless driving charge was withdrawn, by the Crown. Both charges arose out of an accident, in which Charbonneau was involved on Dundas St. E., August 10. Damage in the accident totalled about $100, there were no injuries.

Warnéd beforehand that conviction would probably carry a jail sentence, Charbonneau pleaded guilty to the charge. His licence had been suspended originally for three months, about a year ago, and had never been retrieved.

Pleads Guilty To Speeding, Careless Driving

TRENTON — Const. Sid Vickers of Trenton Police, told Magistrate's Court yesterday of the chase at speeds up to 90 mph through the town of Trenton. Air Force Corporal Daniel Nonin, 28 years old, pleaded guilty to charges of speeding and careless driving arising out of the incident and the accident on each charge, and his driver's licence was suspended three months, on the second charge.

Const. Vickers said he and Const. Gary Davis had followed the car driven by the accused from downtown Trenton up along Dixon Drive, and out to the 6 RD Road. The accused had been driving at 70 mph along Dixon Drive, the Constable testified and had driven through the intersection with Rivers Drive, a through street, at about 50 mph. The accused stopped at the intersection with 9 RD Road, the Constable said, and was apprehended there.

In setting the fine at $25, for each of the two charges, Magistrate T. Y. Wills commented that he would normally consider a $50, fine appropriate for the speeding offense alone. He noted however, that the two charges arose out of one incident.

Survey Will Be Made of Park Property

TRENTON — Nobody known for sure just where the Bayshore Extension park property is, the Board of Parks Management agreed last night, but the Board wants to find out. Solicitor surveyor Tom Ransom will be asked to survey the park lands, survey the property passed at last night's Board meeting on the Bay, and report exactly where they stand. And where the park is.

Trigger for the action was an unofficial complaint by Bill Workman, town Recreation Commissioner, that Royal Canadian Legion members are parking on the Wharf St. road allowance leading to the park, and blocking access to the baseball diamond. If a player were injured, Mr. Workman said, it might be impossible to drive an ambulance to the scene. Also Mr. Workman said, the Legion claims ownership of some land apparently used by the park and Legionaires often park there.

BOUNDARIES CONFUSED

Discussing the matter last night, the Board agreed that the Legion probably does own some of the land, but they don't know just how much. In fact, boundaries all round the park are slightly confused.

The late Senator W. A. Fraser had wanted the park surveyed, the Board noted, because he had thought the baseball bleachers were built on his land. If the survey showed the land did belong to him, he planned to deed it to the Board of Parks management, the Board was told.

The survey of the park boundaries will be for the Board's benefit, but the results of the survey will be available to Mr. Workman. After that, dealing with the Legion is his problem, the Board decided.

Board Decides To Construct Storage House

TRENTON — The town's Board of Parks Management decided last night that it would be impractical to set up a special pump to pump water for the waterfront area parks — but that it would build a pumphouse anyway. During the discussion, expansion of the proposed pumphouse was suggested, to include storage space and a work area for town gardener Bert Boers, and the idea of the building remained after the idea of the pump was dismissed. Proposed location of the new building was the Bayshore Extension — south of the Canadian Legion hall. Size will be about 18 feet square, construction will be of brick, and the cost is not to exceed $1,600.

It all started with Board member Clyde Mason's report on the efforts to improve the sprinkler system in Fraser Park, the Bayshore Extension and on the library grounds. With three manual valves to replace the former automatic controls, the system worked well on the library grounds, reasonably well on Fraser Park and not well enough in the Bayshore Extension area.

COST IS HIGH

Mr. Mason's report on the cost of setting up a special pump for the system was less than encouraging. It would cost about $5,000 he reported, for a pump and fittings to produce about 340 gallons of water per minute. The price would cover installation of the pump, originally - proposed pumphouse, and the intake — which would have to be run from the department of Transport-owned wall and about fifty feet into the bay. Pressure would produce 80 pounds per square inch pressure at the pump outlet, compared with 40 pounds per square inch in the city water supply.

As an alternative, Mr. Mason suggested that both the Fraser Park system and the Bayshore Extension system might be "subdivided," by one extra valve in each. The effect of the valve would be to use each system in half, and the available town water, he said, should be adequate to turn half of either system.

TO BUILD PUMPHOUSE

That disposed of the pump, but not of the pumphouse. The Board had already considered the possibility of building a shed to accommodate tools and garden supplies. Most of the Board's mechanical equipment is used on the waterfront area, and it is now stored on a town - owned lot some distance from the park.

Further, there is now no work area for the Board's town gardener, to use when making repairs to the equipment. So far, he has borrowed space in a commercial garage.

"The thing is, our town gardener is now living like a gypsy," Mr. Mason commented.

A motion was passed to build the new building, but no specifications were included beyond the size, and the cost limit.

A woman wearing black slacks came out of the school with her daughter.

"Hello, we're going to stay home," she said.

At Ramsay High School, 16-year-old Richard Walker was attending classes with white pupils for the first time.

A few pupils drifted out of the school but generally there was no trouble.

Residents of the area sat on their front porches and chatted with neighbors and reporters.

"It's mighty quiet up there today," said one. "Not usually that way."

TENSIONS DEPLIED

"Walt till some of those football players get a-hold of him," said another, referring to Walker.

Inside the school, Walker sat with no one beside him. After five hours, he left with two Negro lawyers who met him at a side door.

The major trouble was at West End High School.

After two Negro girls entered, classes went on for only about 100 of the school's 1,500 pupils. The rest stayed home or stood outside with angry adults and jeered: "Niggers go home."

Police had pushed back the demonstrators and had arrested nine white men.

Some of the pupils who remained in school said they didn't want integration.

But, said a brunette senior: "I just want an education. I think this will smooth out and settle down. Just be patient and stay in school here doesn't mean we have to associate with them."

Efficiency Conditioning

Toronto has been the scene of a two-day conference on school design.

The Ontario Department of Education has provided voluminous releases on the discussions.

We hope that the discussions themselves will do more to improve school designs than the reports of them do to inspire confidence in the mentality of some of the participants.

We must take what comfort we can from the fact that they were, after all, architects and school administrators and not, thank God, teachers.

Otherwise one would feel tempted to organize an expedition to rescue our children from an atmosphere gooey with euphemism and evasion.

A strong appeal was made for air conditioning in schools, "though don't call it that." "Efficiency conditioning" was a much better term, said G. E. Graenek, Toronto mechanical engineer.

Johnathan King, of Educational Facilities Laboratories, New York, defended the use of carpets, but once again he did not like the use of the normal word — "perhaps we had better call them insulated floor coverings."

"Efficiency conditioning" and "insulated floor coverings" may prove less irritant to taxpayers. But there does seem to have been one delegate at the conference who was in an "unfrilly" state of mind. Somebody said that vending companies were providing better food in school cafeterias than an established kitchen staff would. This led one delegate to protest that "Whipped cream at noon doesn't aid the process of learning."

That's the boy! Let's have filtered air above and soft pile below, but any old thing is good enough to shovel into the stomach of a teenager. Why, if we are not careful, some students might get the idea that eating is something other than a bothersome necessity!

Who Loves to Be Bribed?

The voters love to be bribed.

That is the conviction of The Printed Word.

"There is good reason for elections to be no more frequent than necessary, for every government is going to do a lot of things to make an appeal to the voters when voting day comes," it says.

There is so much obvious truth in this observation that one is apt to overlook the doubtful validity of the conclusion.

A party in opposition, if it has any constructive ideas at all, will inevitably have some projects which it believes should be undertaken, but which the government in power is reluctant to undertake.

Naturally, and very properly, it will stress its proposals when it appeals for votes.

Ideally, perhaps, an election ought to be fought between the future plans of the opposition and the past performances of the government. That, though, would be to place the party in power in an unenviable position, making it appear as if it were "worked out" and had no further plans for improving the service it proposed to provide. Consequently, any governing party always reserves some of its projects for election-time.

As it is permissible, if one wishes, to regard these proposals as bribes. But, if this is so, it is difficult to prove that voters love to be bribed. Generally they are not offered the chance of supporting a party which offers no bribes whatever. But on several occasions victory has gone to the party whose bribes were the smaller. An outstanding example was the rejection of the Ontario Liberals' proposal for hospital insurance in the early days of the Frost regime. If the voters really loved to be bribed, why did the CCF remain a splinter party? The New Democrats' old age pension proposals were by far the most generous during the last Federal election. The voters provided no proof they "loved" the offer.

To get a job in today's highly competitive business world you will need at least a high school diploma. The lack of a diploma can cost you as much as $1,000 a year in salary. Spread over an average working lifetime of 40 years, that means at least $40,000 you can lose by dropping out of school. So come back to school in the fall. Learn more to earn more. That is more than a slogan. It is a fact of life.—New York Mayor Wagner to high school undergraduates.

I got a religion that wants to take heaven out of the clouds and plant it right here on the earth where most of us can get a slice of it.—Irvin Shaw.

Privileges No Solution

New York Times

The tribulations inevitable in any "revolution of rising expectations" are becoming as familiar in this country as they are in Africa, Asia and Latin America. Each upward pull out of the morass of deprivation produces demands for faster progress toward full equality. What seems a substantial breaking down of walls to the white citizen impresses his Negro neighbor as depressingly slow headway. The distance he has traversed is so great and the obstacles created by community attitudes, educational handicaps and an ever-all shortage of jobs are so staggering that impatience for immediate solutions is bound to take precedence over a recognition of the impossibility of achieving perfection overnight.

This impatience often finds expression in suggestions that a conscious system of reverse discrimination be established in favor of Negroes—be substituted for the discrimination against Negroes that has long been a national disgrace. The dangers inherent in any such approach were well summarized by President Kennedy in his news-conference comment on whether job quotas or other forms of "special dispensation" should be provided. "Special compensate Negroes for their years of economic discrimination. The President made it plain that the assignment of quotas on the basis of color would create more division and turmoil in our society, not less.

A recent decision by the New York State Commission Against Discrimination highlights a typical area apartment owner from rehabilitating his property. Occupancy underscored some of the factors that may have been in the Commission's mind. The opinion by Bernard Katzen, the commission's vice chairman, said that, even though quotas were put forward with the "benign" purpose of opening up opportunities for better homes, jobs or schooling, their end result would be to establish "potentially arbitrary and tyrannical controls"—controls that would shackle freedom of choice and of opportunity.

"Only those means which are consistent with the free operation of a democratic society can in truth achieve such ends; and while compromises may be a temporary relief, in the long run it is self-defeating," the commission held.

The real answers lie in a much greater effort by all elements in our society to insure fairness both in preparation and in access to opportunity. The Negro cannot be expected to stand forever at the end of a waiting list, judged under standards of exclusion, while building new walls in place of the walls that have been torn down is simply to insure a permanent separation that will ultimately become intolerable as the one it replaces.

African Way Is Cheaper

Brantford Expositor

An African bishop attending the Anglican congress in Toronto has passed quite a question: Is it easier for a man to be a polygamist with three wives at one time than to have three wives in succession over the years?

Honest or not, it is more prudent in our part of the world to have only one wife at a time. Acquiring another for, as a learned judge once pointed out, the penalty for bigamy is not merely a jail term, but two mothers-in-law.

As to the expense of keeping three wives, experience may differ. The African polygamist thus acquires three wives would seem to be a man who has a number of kids in his house. Despite triple upkeep expenses, he probably comes out ahead of the deal.

The man who goes in for replacement wives must be either rich or reckless. There are lawyers to fee every time his fancy takes fresh wing, and there is alimony for each wife he sheds. Ask any much-married American millionaire about this high cost of leaving.

Financially, the polygamist has the edge. He also has three or more wives to help with simultaneously. As to the relative honesty of these two ways of the leg wed, the African or the once-a-time, that is something for a congress of Anglicans to settle among themselves.

40 YEARS AGO

September 11th, 1923.

Reckless driving caused trouble years ago according to this item from our file copy of this date in 1923: "The most reckless drivers in town are the delivery boys for the butchers. They should be looked after by the police as people on the market square are frequently put in danger by the fast driving of these reckless youths."

What a Lovely Train Robbery

Dayton, Ohio Journal Herald

What a lovely train robbery it has turned out to be.

Now, wait, don't get us wrong. We are not in favor of robberies, as it they only got old newspaper bills belonging to the British post office. We would not cheer the bandits. We are against it. But, if you have got to have train robberies, isn't this really a lovely one?

First, where does it happen? Buckinghton. Watch.

Only better clues would have been Lauriston Gardens itself.

And who they run the engine and mail car over to dump the packages where is it done? Bridego Bridge. First rate. Watch.

That was before they cosh'ed the driver and took over the train. Time was two hours before the driver was found, was as thick as an English overcoat.

You've noted that nobody had guns, roloers or knives? It took the Journal Herald two days to find that out. It's sacred England. Guess the British criminal knew it for granted that nobody would be mug to bring guns to Britain.

We didn't ask about cops. Probably didn't need to. We are sure the bandits had them, besides stockings over their faces, had wicked-looking sloppy caps that hung down over the ears and gold collar buttons where the collar would be if anybody wore a collar in a really perfect train robbery.

Today in History

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

Sept. 11, 1962

Field Marshal Jan Christian Smuts, soldier and statesman, died 13 years ago today — in 1950 — two years after he was defeated in South Africa's parliamentary elections and lost the premiership. During the Boer War Smuts fought brilliantly against the British but after the Boers' defeat joined with them in helping build the Union of South Africa. In the First World War he commanded the troops in British East Africa. Following his defeat in 1948 by the Nationalist party of Dr. D. F. Malan, Smuts in opposition strongly protested the apartheid policies of the government.

1923—The British mandate was proclaimed in Palestine.

1909—Halley's Comet was first observed at Heidelberg.

Parents Are Regarded as Imposters

By SYDNEY J. HARRIS

An interesting letter arrived in the mail yesterday, signed "Unhappy Homemaker." The lady sorrowfully wants to know why stepmothers have such a bad reputation in story and legend.

"I recently became the stepmother of two young children," she discloses, "and I find that they have all kinds of preconceptions about a stepmother being wicked and cruel and cold-hearted. They have read and heard so much about the 'bad stepmother in fiction and fairy tale.'"

My own theory on this subject may not appeal to a lot of people, but I think that the "wicked stepmother" fable arose out of children's resentments against their real mothers — which they were too ashamed to confess openly.

In other words, I believe that the bad stepmother serves as a substitute for our early feelings of hostility toward our own parents. One of the commonest of childhood fantasies, when we are feeling unloved or treated badly, is to pretend that they are not our real parents at all, but instead have been kidnapped as when we were in the cradle.

Fairy tales of every nation are full of stepmothers and young princes and princesses who were stolen from the cattle in the barn, or who were ultimately restored to their rightful places and parents.

This fiction is perfectly in the childish feeling of "not belonging" to our own family, when we are feeling sad and unjust toward us. We retaliate, so to speak, by creating a fictional family for ourselves.

By making a bogey out of the stepmother, we are able to discharge our hostilities against our real mothers without feeling any guilt that would normally accompany such an impulse.

There seems no other way to explain the widespread antipathy to the stepmother — who, in reality usually bends over backward to be kind and understanding toward the children of her husband.

One of the wisdoms of modern psychology is the frank recognition of these feelings. In the past, such feelings were taboo; and so the myth of the stepmother was created to make it easy and acceptable for young people to get rid of "bad" feelings toward their parents.

Indian Chief Has Good Idea

Montreal Star

Canada's Indians could use a lot more men like Chief Richard Pine of the reserve at Sault Ste. Marie. He has a simple formula for getting along with the federal government: tell the Indian agent that I'm the boss and not he and that things are going to be done as I decide that they should be done.

Most of the Indians' grievances and they are many and valid — stem not so much from outright evil intent on the part of the white man as from the Indian apathy which has permitted white encroachment.

Land has been taken from the Indians without proper compensation; the government's treaty obligations have on occasion not been discharged fully; Indian trust funds have not always been properly used; there has often been a lack of honor and consideration in the white man's behavior toward the people, who, after all, have prior rights in the country.

If more Indians in the past had been willing to forego the marginal security of reservation life on the debilitating pittance of a dole and had stood up and said "I'm the boss," many white Canadians today might not be feeling a twinge of conscience over their country's race relations.

No Successful Treatment Known for Psoriasis

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: What about psoriasis? I have this trouble. — E. B.

There isn't much helpful information I can give about this skin disease, for there is no known successful treatment for it. Many have been tried, and sometimes they seem to work; however, more often they fail.

Psoriasis has the illogical habit of coming and going without apparent reason. Thus we do not know whether a "treatment" really helped, or whether it's psoriasis was ready to subside anyway.

The ailment, although common, is not transmitted. It does no harm, except that it itches and is a skin blemish.

But we don't know what causes it, and we don't know what will cure it. Under these circumstances, let your doctor, not better, your skin specialist, prescribe one of the several medications which might succeed, or which might at will relieve the spasmodic itch, but don't worry about it, and don't be surprised if he can't cure it.

Dear Dr. Molner: Do you approve of the use of ammonium ear hay fever? — Mrs. J. B.

I approve of whatever type hay fever sufferer finds will be the most successful. Both the one-shot and the conventional types have been effective.

Dear Dr. Molner: What food value is there in skim 3-ounce glass of buttermilk? — K. R. D.

About 90 calories, as compared with 186 for whole milk. But termilk is rich in calcium and phosphorus, contains 3.5 percent protein, about 5 percent carbohydrates, and very little fat. Because of low fat content it is low in Vitamin A, has only a trace of B1, B2, C, and iron, but it is good for calcium-deficiency.

"You Can Stop Sinus Trouble!" is the title of my booklet explaining what sinus trouble really is, and encouraging sinus sufferers to do something about it. For a copy, write to Dr. Molner, in care of The Chicago Sun-Times Syndicate, P. O. Box 158, Dundee, Ill., enclosing a long, self-addressed envelope and 25 cents in coin to cover printing and handling.

Dear Dr. Molner: What are trade names for "diectyl sodium sulfosuccinate"? — E. B.

Colace, Diabloe, Dioctocrose, Dorbantyl, Doxinate, Dualose, Doxinate with Danivon, Lycinate, Milkoil, Peri-Colace, Sencokap, Syncelax and Terminital.

Dear Dr. Molner: I am a fairly active woman of 67 and am still having menstrual periods. Is this normal? — Mrs. A. B.

If these are true "menstrual periods," you are quite unusual. Therefore my fear is that this is bleeding from some other cause, and I urge that you see a doctor at once.

Dear Dr. Molner: My aunt, who just had a second operation for cancer and is not expected to live very long, visited us and touched our three-month-old baby, and I am worried sick. Could she possibly "give" my baby cancer? — Mrs. T.

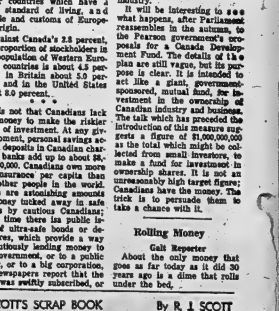
Please stop worrying, because cancer cannot be transmitted in this way. It is not communicable. (The same applies to leukemia.)

Canadians Over-Cautious

Stratford Beacon-Herald

By comparison with other countries in the North Atlantic community, Canadians are said to be a cautious lot. They would rather lend money to somebody else, to rid themselves of it, than risk their money themselves.

The number of people in Canada who are shareholders is reckoned to be 2.8 percent of the population. Assuming that in the case of Canada with its small and typical, the 2.8-percent figure is accurate. There are about 600 people in Stratford, about 30 in Milverton, or about 6% in Shelley Township, who are owners of shares in incorporated companies. It might seem quite a lot of shareholders, until one starts to compare the Canadian record with that of the United States where the people are high standard of living, and people and customs of European origin.



Against Canada's 2.8 percent, the proportion of stockholders in the population of the United States is also small, but not by comparison. They keep their money in savings accounts and more of the shares which represent ownership of Canadian industry.

It will be interesting to see what happens, after Parliament reassembles in October, to the Pearson government's proposed Capital Projects Development Fund. The details of the plan are still vague, but its purpose is clear. It would be aimed at like a giant, government-sponsored, mutual fund, for investment in the expansion of Canadian industry and business. The talk which has preceded the introduction of this measure suggests a figure of $1,000,000,000 as the total which might be collected from small investors, to make a fund for investment in ownership shares. It is not an unreasonably high target, since Canadians have the money. The question is how to persuade them to take a chance with it.

TASI Explained To Kiwanis Club By Bell Speaker

TASI is a device that allows nearly twice as many people to talk together over the telephone as there are telephone circuits, he told the Belleville Kiwanis Club at the weekly luncheon at the Centre on Tuesday.

"In short it allows 72 people at one end of a trans-oceanic cable to talk with 72 people at the other end while the cable contains only 36 circuits," he said.

Mr. Girard said TASI is doing much in meeting the growing needs for overseas telephone circuits. Its technique is simple in principle, but requires some of the most complex equipment in the telephone business.

Mr. Girard described a newer development in the experimental stage which he said he considered even more amazing. Called Pulse Code Modulation, this involves a technique which enables scientists to change human words into a code.

USE MICROWAVE SYSTEM

He talked about the intricacies of the Canadian phone system. Canada is now almost entirely using the microwave system. Microwave towers to be effective must be in the line of sight between one another. Trees will not obstruct microwaves on their trips between towers but mountain ranges and metal structures will.

This problem was solved by accident said Mr. Girard. At one time a tower accidentally picked up signals from another that at the time was considered impossible. After more thought scientists decided by this way they could overcome the problems of natural obstacles.

The system involves the reflection of microwaves from a parabolic dise towards the troposphere from one station. This reflection from the troposphere is picked up by another station and in that way tele phone messages, radio programs and even television shows are relayed across the continent.

Mr. Girard said some people think that with all this new equipment that the price of telephone calls will sky-rocket. Although these new developments are costly — the microwave system costing $50,000,000 alone —it allows calls to different places to be more frequent. If there are more calls we can bring our prices down, he said.

"During the 20's a conversation from here to Vancouver would take 30 minutes to connect and would cost $19. Today with improved facilities one can make the same call in a matter of seconds for under $3.00," he said. "So in effect we are reducing the cost for the telephone subscriber."

MANY NEW OUTLETS

He also spoke of transmission engineers' turn to outer space as another element through which signals may be propelled about the earth.

The successful launching of Telstar was the first step towards this new communications outlet. Telstar was conceived and built by the American Telephone and Telegraph Company and launched into space by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

Eventually Mr. Girard said there will be numerous active satellites circuling the earth, doing the job that microwave stations now do on the earth.

The satellites would especially be needed for the proposed inter-continental telphone, data and television transmission on an instantaneous basis.

Cables, microwaves and even scatter system cannot accomplish this job.

"The answer?" he asked "Simple. Build towers in the air. And that is just what communications experts have in mind."

He said these and many more commendious devices would go a long way towards meeting the growing demand for good service.

Hospital Auxiliary Again Recruiting H.S. Students For Work as Volunteers

Belleita hoards of secondary schools in the Belleville area, yesterday carried a notice calling for student volunteers for hospital work.

The notice, sent by the director of volunteer work at the Belleville General Hospital, Mrs. J. K. Buchan, informed students that they could apply for such work if they were above 15 and still in high school.

Mrs. Buchan said if a student ever had decided to go into hospital work as a career, this would be a good test to see if she had decided on the right vocation.

The volunteers from former years are already on duty and the recruits will be interviewed and taken on staff next week. Mrs. Buchan said the Hospit..l was fortunate in the past in getting extremely good personnel and as yet there have been no rejections.

The program was an immediate success when it was instituted three years ago. Both the patients and the regular hospital staff consider the auxiliary student body a great boon.

The students are divided up into two groups for two distinct duties; the mealtime assistants and the admitting escorts. The students who are girls — though males are not barred — wear bright yellow uniforms to distinguish them from the regular hospital staff.

WELCOME PATIENTS

The general purpose of the admitting escort is to welcome the patient to the hospital and provide assurance to him and his relatives. By the volunteers' interest and acceptance of the patient help him to feel at home in his new surroundings.

The other group, the mealtime assistants, help those patients sat, who are unable to feed themselves.

The period of training generally lasts one day. With the admitting escorts, an experienced escort, or Mrs. Buchan herself, will accompany the novice on her first day. If she feels that she does not understand the routine when she returns, she will again have an experienced hand to help her.

The next time assistants for their training undergo a period of instruction from the nursing staff. There too, the training lasts for one day unless the routine is not clearly understood.

This year Mrs. Buchan hopes to have two films to illustrate such work being done elsewhere. She feels that students may learn from this experiment in visual education.

An admitting escort is expected to devote two hours of one day, every two weeks; while the mealtime assistant works an hour every week.

Mrs. Buchan said the girls involved with the program up till now have displayed an enormous amount of enthusiasm. "In fact out of last years 30 girls, seven of them are now training for nursing, here, and at other hospitals," she said.

Speaking Personally

By Gladys Ward

AT MY AGE!

With all the emphasis on youth, let me state that I do not envy the young at all. You suffer too keenly when you are young, you are so miserable and have so few defences. A failure in school, for instance, can be devastating for the young.

No, there are compensations that come only with age and experience. You learn to accept things you cannot change, instead of useless yearning. You develop a philosophy of life that sustains you in times of crisis.

Each of us is born with some handicap, physical, mental or emotional, and some of these things, because of the genes we were supplied with at birth, will be with us until we die.

For instance I have given up thinking that I will ever write deathless prose; will ever have ten fingernails all the same length; will ever be a good dancer (a Kathryn Murray I'm not) although goodness knows I've tried, and trampled quite a few feet in the process; will ever be able to do addition and come up with the right answer the first time.

When I was young I thought all these things were possible, even probable, and many other things much more fantastic. There comes a time when one realizes that he may be a good salesman, but not a manager; he may be a good general practitioner but not a great surgeon; a capable bookkeeper but not an executive. In time we find ourselves and discover we are happiest doing what we can do best.

Of course, as Browning said, "A man's reach should exceed his grasp, or what's a Heaven for?" and thank goodness for the enthusiasm and dreams of the young, but heartier thanks to the awareness of our limitations, so that we find satisfaction in what we are doing instead of frustration.

This is not to say we should have a defeatist or negative attitude towards life, but simply an awareness of our own capabilities, and a joy in doing what we get satisfaction from doing.

'BYE, MUM.

I expect there were quite a few misty-eyed mothers last Tuesday who watched their youngsters go to school for the first time. In spite of the brave talk in the summer about being glad to get rid of the little monsters, that first step towards independence is like severing the umbilical cord. You yearn over them with a protective longing, and you want to wrap them securely in your love to shield them from hurt and harm, but you know that if they are to walk straight and tall and proudly, you must gradually withdraw your support from the moment they are born and teach them self-reliance and self-respect.

I heard of one little boy who was looking forward to school with great anticipation, but when the final moment of parting came, he burst into tears. His mother said, "But you know you wanted to go to school."

"Yes. But I've changed my mind. You stay with me."

"Parents don't stay at school," his mother told him. "But I'll wait outside for you today."

"All right," he replied. "But will you just look in the windows once in a while?"

HAVING A WONDERFUL TIME, ETC.

A letter from a girls' camp was received this summer by parents in Belleville. The parentheses are mine.

Dear Mother, Dad and family,

I have very bad news to tell you. (at this point, the mother says she was afraid to read any further). I had my wind knocked out in the water and started to choke, and Bubbles (the camp counsellor) had to swim out and bring me in. They had to use (artificial respiration was too much to spell, so this was cros- out). I have poison ivy around my eyes, and -h, and I have to go to the nurse every day. I have never had so much fun at camp in all my life. (She is eleven).

HALL — HICKSON

Tall standards of bronze and yellow gladioli formed the background setting in Bridge Street United Church chapel on Saturday August 17 when Carol Anne Hickson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Don D. Hickson, Toronto, was united in marriage to Mark Arthur Hall, Toronto, son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Hall, Belleville. The Rev. H. M. Davis officiated and Mr. Alec Gordon presided at the organ and rendered traditional wedding music.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a bridal gown of peau de soie fashioned with a slim style look in front with the back of the skirt enhanced with large rose and bow, with the fullness flowing to a slight chapel train. The bodice featured a round neckline adorned with seed pearls and long lily-point sleeves. She carried a horseshoe-shape bouquet of yellow roses.

Miss Marianne Corke, Belleville, as maid of honor, was gowned in yellow gold peau de soie and the bridesmaids, Miss Suzanne Hubbs, Peterborough; R. R. 1 and Miss Gale Purdy, Riverside, wore dresses of wild rose green peau de soie. Each carried a nosegay of bronze and yellow 'mums centred, with a yellow rose.

Mr. Lorne Hall, brother of the bridegroom, of Toronto, was best man, while Mr. Bill Hickson, Belleville, and Mr. Ken MacLaren of London were the ushers.

A reception was held at the Tops Motor Hotel where the bridal table was centred with a round wedding cake topped with yellow roses and flanked with white tapers. The bride's mother received wearing a beige two-piece dress in silk shantung, dark brown accessories and a salmon colored corsage. The bridegroom's mother assisted dressed in a navy dress, pink accessories and a corsage of pink carnations.

For the wedding trip to Quebec City and Mont Cabriel in the Laurentians the bride chose a chocolate brown silk shantung suit with beige top, and a corsage of bronze colored 'mums.

Guests were present from Toronto, Windsor, Wheatley, Leamington, Port Colborne, Labrador, Calgary, Montreal, Peterborough, Hunta and Belleville.

JAMES — COOMBES

St. John's Anglican Church, Stirling, was the scene of a pretty summer wedding on August 24th when Mavis Elizabeth, daughter of Mrs. Reginald Coombes, River Valley and the late Mr. Coombes, became the bride of William John James, son of Mrs. C. J. James, Brighton and the late Mr. James.

The marriage, which was followed by a Nuptial Eucharest sung by the choir, was celebrated by the rector, Rev. F. F. Downing. The choir was under the direction of Mr. Edgar Hay-Ellis and accompanied by Miss Helen Morrow, the organist. The Processional hymn, "Christ is Made the Sure Foundation" was sung. Other traditional numbers were rendered and the Recessional was Purcell's Trumpet Voluntary.

Given in marriage by her godfather, Mr. Earl Morrow, of Stirling, the bride, carrying mauve and white shasta 'mums wore a full length bell-shaped gown of shimmering white taffeta and organza with appliques of lace roses, and fingertip bridal veil covered with pillbox hat of crushed satin petals.

Her attendants Mrs. George Harris of Scarborough, matron of honor, Mrs. Charles Curtis of Whitby and Mrs. Ronald MacDonnell of Coeeville, brides-maids, in three tones of mauve peau de soie with matching pillbox hats and veils, carried sheaves of similar flowers.

Little Miss Beth Harris, the dainty flower girl in pale mauve organza, carried a basket of baby 'mums. The same colors were reflected in the gladioli and asters which adorned the church.

Lieutenant Ronald James of Brandon, Manitoba, was his brother's best man, Mr. Michael Jones and Mr. Kenneth Houston of Toronto were the ushers and were Scotsman, Brian Murdoch, the ring bearer.

The guests were welcomed to the reception by the bride's mother in light blue brocade with pink accessories and flowers and her godmother, Mrs. Morrow, in printed silk with beige accessories and blue corsage assisted by the bridegroom's mother in turquoise nylon with white accessories and carnations. An exceptionally pretty three-tiered wedding cake of original design using tiny mauve flowers graced the head table in the church hall where the Ladies' Guild served a banquet.

For travelling through the Laurentians to Quebec City and the Saguenay the bride wore a blue brown suit of fine tweed with peacock accessories and rust chrysanthemums.

Out of town guests were present from Fredericton, N.B.; Brandon, Manitoba; Hamilton; Oakville; Toronto and Brighton. The bride is a graduate of Queen's and the bridegroom of Toronto University. They will reside in Toronto.

Prior to the marriage the bride was guest of honor at showers given by Miss Eileen MacCarthy, Hamilton; Mrs. Ken Houston and Mrs. Norman James, Scarborough; and Mrs. Hadley Richardson, River Valley.

Japanese Girl Policewoman On City Force

The former Vancouverite celebrated her first year with the Hamilton force Monday while registering the 300 chiefs from across Canada attending the week-long conference.

Miss Hayashi, a crack shot and judo expert, decided she would like police work when she met police personnel while working in city hall four years ago. But police officials took a long time deciding whether or not she would be suited for the work.

Now, Assistant Police Chief Samuel Bird thinks she has been one of the best officers on the force.

She has assisted detectives on stakeouts and raids and carrying a gun doesn't bother her at all.

"I would only pull the trigger as a last resort or if my life was at stake."

Although Miss Hayashi loves policework, she does not plan to make a career of it.

Mother's Helper

TODDLERS - don't need an inexhaustible supply of elaborate toys to keep them entertained. A favorite with most mospets is an ordinary cooler, porcelainor enamel with inside fittings lost minus the glass top. A set of nesting measuring spoons fascinates them, too. Keep this kind of thing in mind when you visit a house where no toys are available.

The Experts Say

Little Physical Strength Needed to Defend Self

Mother's Helper

A BIG, 6-foot, 200-lb. husband may be the best protection a woman can have, but he won't always be around when she needs him, and a recent article in Reader's Digest reported that the average husband is not as handy with his fists as he once was. Even when he is, he may not be around when Mr. Big Stuff comes to call. Which leads up nicely to the subject of how any woman can defend herself.

By PATRICIA RUSAK

TORONTO (CP) — A woman can defend herself against an attacker by using very little physical strength, says a self-defence expert who has formulated a simple system of self-defence for girls and women.

"Defendo", as Bill Under, 30, calls his system, puts "science against strength."

Physically, defendo involves learning to administer five grips, four movements and seven to at least 12 nerve centres on the body. All of these cause pain "to which a person's mind reacts as it would to an electric shock."

Mentally, it involves learning confidence to "never to panic in the first struggle or fight."

"A woman should never try to match her puny strength against that of a great man."

If attacked, she must think quickly, clearly and analytically about the position she is in and how she can best get out of it.

Mr. Underwood: "Just screaming and struggling may not avert tragedy.

"For example, if grabbed by the throat from behind, a woman will be thrown back and probably lose her balance and fall if she panics and pulls free. If she grabs his wrists and forces her head, pushes his arms away from her back, she can then flip him to the ground.

GIVES CONFIDENCE

The confidence and know-how a woman displays is often enough to send an attacker running, Mr. Underwood says.

"A woman who has really mastered defendo could, by gripping a prowler in a painful way, make his march down the stairs and telephone the police himself.

"And the more pain you administered, the better results you get."

If grabbed from the front, a woman can avert an attack early by hitting a nerve centre in his back. He will loosen his grip and she can throw him down backwards by using her leg.

If he grabbed her by the neck from in front, she can grab one of his fingers and bend it back. The sharp pain will make him let go.

"You can practically scare off anyone in the world by taking one of their fingers and bending it back," says the short five - foot - two 85-pound self-confessed who trained commandos in two world wars and policemen in many parts of Canada and the United States in the intervening years.

Defendo also teaches simple methods of holding an attacker pinned down, once on the ground by pressing your bottom on the outside of his elbow joint.

Once the attacker is pinned down, you can take as much time as you want deciding where you will leave him because he'll never get away."

FOR ALL AGES

Anyone from seven to 70 can learn defendo, says Mr. Underwood.

He would like to teach it to all girls in high schools as a deterrent to attacks on women.

Linda Harvard, an 18-year-old Toronto high school student who learned defendo from Mr. Underwood two years ago, says that although she has never had to use his techniques, just knowing what to do has given her self-confidence.

Inflicting pain may seem cruel to many. But to a nurse, a cherwoman, waitress or any working woman who must return home after work in the dark, it can be a source of strength.

MANY MORE WORK

The proportion of women in the working age group in Canada who are employed increased to 36 per cent in 1961.

Couple Celebrate 50th Anniversary

RAWDON—Mr. and Mrs. Blake Sharp of Mount Pleasant-Rawdon observed their fiftieth anniversary with three children present days last week. They were married on September 3rd, 1912 at the home of the bride's parents, the late Mr. and Mrs. James Peel, Tranboe. The bride was the former Agnes Alida Peel. Her husband James Blake Sharp was the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Fred Sharp of Mount Pleasant. Rev. G. Ross officiated. The attendants were the bride's sister, Ezris, now Mrs. Earnest Moore of Medina, and Will Donald of Selma.

Mr. and Mrs. Sharp have always lived in Rawdon township. They have two daughters, Agnes (Mrs. Harold Rowe, Hoard's Station) and Alma (Mrs. Jesse McMaster, Tranboe) and one son Beck at home. There are eleven grandchildren and two great grandchildren. Mrs. Sharp has a twin sister, Mrs. Ernest Moore, and a brother, Jim Peel of Palmer.

Mr. Sharp has one sister Mrs. Clarence Douglas (Alsethe) of Crookston, one brother Jack Sharp of Wellington and one step-brother, Mr. Fred Sharp of Wellington.

They are members of Mount Pleasant United church and the community gave them a shower of congratulations on this occasion. They received over one hundred from friends and relatives, and a large number of floral bouquets and numerous gifts.

PRESENTATION MADE

On September 3rd seventeen members of the Mount Pleasant community gathered to surprise and present them with a platform rocker and a telephone bench as a token of esteem at the church hall. Their daughters served light refreshments and anniversary cake. Other guests were present that evening from Campbellford and Tranboe.

On Sunday their entire family gathered them a special anniversary dinner at Havelock. Appropriately twenty-five people attended from Hoards Station, Tranboe, Mount Pleasant, Bridoc, Bancroft, Crookston, and Wellington. The presentation of a wall mirror was made by the family and a hamock from the grandchildren. Flowers and a tiered decorated with golden cake were used for decoration.

On Monday evening eight special friends paid a surprise visit and brought along their own refreshments. This group made the presentation of a set of Royal Winton chinaware.

On Tuesday afternoon several friends and relatives called at the Sharp home to extend congratulations and best wishes on the happy occasion.

SPEAKING of MANNERS

PATRICIA LOUISE

MAIL CALL

Question: Most of the people we know serve wine with dinner. I don't drink, myself, so I usually refuse the service before my glass is filled. This irritates my husband, who says it's ungracious to sit there with an empty glass. He thinks I should let the host pour some wine into my glass, even if I do not drink it. It seems like a waste of good wine, so I'd like to know how you feel about this.—Mrs. H.O., Philadelphia, Pa.

Answer: If a guest doesn't drink wine, he may correctly refuse the serving when it is offered, without fear of offending the host and hostess or of appearing ungracious to them and family guests.

Question: Neither of my parents are living and I have only an older married sister who might be able to send out invitations for my forthcoming marriage, if this is appropriate. Would it be correct for invitations to be sent in her name, even though I will pay for th e reception, myself? If so, how should the invitation be worded?—W., Philadelphia, Pa.

Answer: In the absence of parents, and where there is no elder brother to lend support, a married sister may send out invitations to the wedding of a younger sister. The name of her husband also should appear, however, and the invitation proper would read: Mr. and Mrs. John Smith request the honour of your presence at the marriage of her sister Mary Susan Brown, etc.

Question: I was married a few months ago and am giving my first big dinner party in a short time. A buffet will be served from the sideboard and I plan to seat guests at two tables which will be set in advance with silver, glassware and salad plates. Each table will seat six people. My only real problem is how to seat guests after they have served themselves. Should I direct each to a seat, or let them choose their own? Should my husband and I sit at the same table or separately?—Mrs. R. F., New Haven, Conn.

Answer: Guests usually choose their own seats at a buffet dinner party, but the hostess may stand by, and after several have taken places, indicate where the others should sit to make sure seating is alternated between men and women. When guests are seated, the host and hostess then serve themselves and when there are two tables, it's more appropriate if the hostess presides at one and the host at the other.

Question: I've recently moved into a new community and a neighbor has invited me to a large tea in a few weeks. Since I won't know anyone except the hostess—and she'll be too busy to introduce me to everyone, what's to be permissible to introduce myself to other guests. I want to make a good impression and do not want to appear forward. What is appropriate when one is a "total stranger"—Mrs. V. A., Baltimore, Md.

Answer: At a tea, as at any house party, guests may — and are expected to — speak with other guests without first being introduced. At your tea, the hostess will be too busy to introduce you to everyone, but she should see to it that you meet a few other guests as soon as you arrive. After obtaining refreshments, you may sit anywhere you choose and chat with those nearby. Self-introductions automatically follow. You should plan to stay at least a half-hour, but, if the group is not too large, it would be more gracious to stay longer. It will also give you a chance to meet more of your new neighbors in a friendly, congenial way.

PERFECT POT ROAST

By MARY MOORE

Pot roasts have been weighing on my conscience. At one time this summer I tasted a ... roast that was not properly cooked.

Now that I am home and in my own kitchen no holds are barred and I can tell you straight from the shoulder exactly how to produce the perfect pot roast every time.

PERFECT POT ROAST:

There was a "special" on shoulder and cross-cut rib roasts of beef. I bought one weighing nearly 6 pounds and asked the head butcher to have the three rib bones removed. He tied it snugly. It cost me $3.10 and we made soup from the bones.

WEDNESDAY

Dinner Menu

Cheese Souffle with Fresh Tomato Sauce; French Fried Potatoes; Summer Succotash (see Tuesday); Celery Hearts and Olives; Cocoanut Layer Cake with Lemon Filling; Coffee.

On Friday I marinated (soaked) the roast in a mixture of 1½ cups water, ¼ cup vinegar, 2 teaspoons salt, ¼ teaspoon pepper, ½ bay leaf, broken, 1 garlic bud, sliced thinly, 4 whole cloves, ½ teaspoon ground thyme (optional), 2 tablespoons brown sugar.

I put it in the refrigerator in a stainless steel bowl, covered, for 48 hours, turning it 6 times during that period.

At 2.15 p.m. on Sunday I drained it, patted it dry without wiping off the spices and seared it over highest heat in my heavy aluminum pot, with 1 tablespoon peanut oil in bottom, until the first side was seared to a black brown — very dark indeed and the kitchen was full of smoke. I turned it toward me each time to brown all 6 sides, then the ends until it.

This intense searing is the secret of good pot roast flavor. The sediment in the pot carbonizes the liquid which stains the meat, giving it the dark color and delicious flavor characteristic of pot roast.)

Then I reduced the heat to "simmer" and added ¼ cup of the reserved marinade and put on the lid and cooked it at simmer for 3½ hours. This gave it 3¾ hours cooking in all. I turned it over, always rotating it toward me, 9 times. No more liquid need be added, for some of the marinade which has been absorbed by the meat, cooks out into the broth.

Remove pot roast to hot platter. Cut off some of the strings, but not so many that the meat will fall apart when carved. To add enough water to make it up to 2½ cups. This may be water cooking liquid remaining in pot from boiling potatoes or other mild vegetables you are serving if it is not too salty. Mix together 5 tablespoons flour and ½ cup cold water to a smooth paste. Remove broth from heat. Stir in flour paste smoothly. Return to heat and stir until thick. Serve in gravy bowl.

Many Famous Bands Will Take Part in Military Tattoo

TRENTON — Plans are now finalized for Trenton's second annual Military Tattoo, it has been announced by Mayor D. James MacDonald.

Feature participating unit will be the Canadian Guards. The Guards brass and reed band from Petawawa, famous for their musical accompaniment during the colorful Guard Changing Ceremony on Parliament Hill will accompany the Canadian Guards drill team from No. 1 Battalion, Picton, Ont.

Dates set for the Tattoo are Friday and Saturday, September 20th and 21st, starting at 8 p.m. sharp at the Community Gardens. A street parade will be held just prior to the Tattoo, on each night.

The Pipes and Drums of the Toronto Scottish Regiment will be familiar to people who saw the Tattoo last year.

"We couldn't keep the 'Tor Scots" away even if we wanted to," observed Mayor MacDonald, "the many favorable comments on their fine drill and music following their appearance last year made them a 'must' for the Tattoo this year. In addition, The Hasty Pees" are looking forward to entertaining the Scots this year at least as royally as they looked after them last year".

BUGLE BAND COMING

One of the few remaining bugle bands in North America is the band of the Queens Own Rifles of Canada. Dressed in forest green, and accompanied by their skirmishers and pioneers carrying muskets and axes, the Queens Own will put on a fine show. "The Queens Own Rifles band celebrates its 100th birthday this year," observed Mayor MacDonald, "and I trust that the band's visit to Trenton will be one of the highlights of their birthday year."

Again this year the Quinte District's own Hastings and Prince Regiment trumpet band will be on hand Saturday night. Unfortunately many of the members of the Hasty Pees band must work Friday night — so the band is available Saturday night only.

The 6 Repair Depot Brass and Reed Band under the baton of Sgt. Howard Kelly will have an important part in the program. This will be the first time many area residents will have an opportunity to hear the RCAF Trenton 6 RD Band. It is not only the newest, but the largest brass and reed band in the RCAF. Lately Sgt. Kelly has directed the band's efforts towards classical and semi-classical music as well as military numbers.

Also on the program will be the Pipes and Drums of RCAF Trenton and 400 Auxiliary Squadron, Toronto.

"This year the Tattoo Committee has decided to charge a nominal admission fee," states Mayor MacDonald. "All profits will go towards the adoption of an orphaned child overseas and the cost of running the Tattoo."

The Mayor also urges all merchants in the downtown area and private home owners to help decorate Trenton for Tattoo Week, September 16th to 22nd.

CAME FROM AFAR

Some 300 delegates from 75 countries attended the International Union of Socialist Youth congress in Oslo, August, 1963.

FEATURE BAND AT TRENTON MILITARY TATTOO — The Canadian Guards Band will be the feature band at the Trenton Military Tattoo on Friday and Saturday, September 20th and 21st. Every summer the Guards Band plays for the popular Guard Mounting Ceremony at Parliament Hill in Ottawa. They will perform with the Canadian Guards Drill Squad from No. 1 Battalion, Picton, Ont. All will be dressed in the colorful green uniform which includes the bearskin hats and scarlet tunics, similar to those worn by the Brigade of Guards in the United Kingdom.

Teacher Has 74 Pupils in One Class

TRENTON — With 74 kindergarten pupils to look after, Mrs. Audrey Arbuckle of Queen Elizabeth Public School has a rough time, the town's Board of Education decided Monday. It's too many for one woman to handle, the Board agreed, but the Board did not know quite what to do with the extra.

Two solutions were suggested. The first was that equipment be bought to convert the school auditorium into a half-time kindergarten. The other solution would be to arrange for a bus to drop about half the little problems at Prince Charles School and at North Trenton School, where Mrs. Doreen Phillips and Mrs. Edna White could worry about them. Both prospective victims are now teaching much smaller groups.

The Board decided last night that it would be impractical, for the time being, to enlarge Queen Elizabeth School, because plans are afoot to build a new School, somewhere up on Ryan Street. So the bus looks like the better bet. The parents might not go for it though, the Board secondthought, even if it is the cheaper course of action.

Final plans will not be decided until after a quick survey is taken of the opinions of the parents affected.

CAN'T QUIT

PARIS (Reuters) — Premier Georges Pompidou said in an interview Tuesday France could not forego nuclear testing because it is "indispensable for the completion of the task we have been undertaking for years."

Drunk Driving Charge Brings Seven Days

TRENTON — Allan Douglas Harney of Trenton changed his plea from not guilty to guilty in magistrate's court yesterday, after hearing the evidence against him. Belleville lawyer Paul Russell told the court of the charge of plea, on a charge of driving while intoxicated.

Constable Sid Vickers of Trenton police told the court he had seen Harney drive a car south on Murphy Street. Tren-ton, about 7 p.m. on August 2. Murphy Street is one way, northbound. In the police station Const. Vickers testified, Harney had failed to convince police that he was fit to drive a car.

Sentence was seven days in the common jail.

RCAF Indoor Swim Pool May Not Be Available for Town Children This Winter

TRENTON — "It's disgraceful, a town this size not having its own swimming pool," commenta Lou Knack, a member of the Board of Education, Mr. Knack has been appointed to check into the town's shortage of swimming pools, and he doesn't like the situation.

For years now, town children have learned to swim at the indoor pool at Air Station Trenton. Under an arrangement between the town's Recreation Commission and the Station's Recreation Office, the Air Force has supplied the pool and the Recreation Commission has supplied the staff. About 4,000 kids have learned to swim under this arrangement, according to Mr. Knack, and everything has been fine so far. But there is a hitch in sight, for the coming winter.

EQUIPMENT GETTING OLDER

Every year, the swim classes have been getting bigger. But the pool has stayed the same size. More important, the pool's filtration equipment has been getting older. An overhaul of the equipment was postponed last year because of the austerity program, and this year the pool may not be able to handle the expected demand. Health regulations, and common sense set, limits on the number of people allowed into any pool. The limits are controlled by the size of the pool, and the capacity of the pool's filter plant.

The Air Force has thought of several possible solutions to the problem. It might, for instance, be able to fit up the present filter plant to handle the expected load, if there is time and if the money for the job is available. Also there is a chance that Air Force technicians may be able to make use of the filtration equipment from one or more of the station's three outdoor pools, to boost the capacity of the one indoor pool. But if nothing else works, the Air Force may have to restrict use of the pool. And since the pool was built for use by service personnel and their dependents, that would mean that the pool by town children would be restricted.

POOL RULED OUT

And even if the Air Force is able to handle all the townsmen who want to swim this year, the time is obviously coming when the demand for the pool will outgrow the pool. This is where Mr. Knack's concern comes in.

When plans were drawn up for the technical addition to Trenton High School, an Olympic size swimming pool was included. Cost of the pool was to be $53,000. Trenton council decided, however, the town could not afford it, and the pool was deleted from the plans in 1961. The matter of a town-owned pool rested and press in general went, up, as time passed.

Last May, the Trenton Lions Club came up with an offer of $25,000, toward the cost of a pool in the High School. The Board of Education appointed a Fact Finding Committee and the committee immediately turned up one interesting fact. The cost this year, for a smaller pool than originally planned, would be about $152,000. This for a pool 15 feet shorter than the pool which would have cost $53,000.

MUST FIND MONEY

There is another possibility. A Belleville realtor has suggested use of a pre-fabricated building, which he says would cost about half as much as the brick structure planned. Details on this are not yet available, however. Mr. Knack says he plans to investigate this offer, and other possible solutions to the problem.

Once the investigation is complete and the Board of Education, the plans will be presented to council. When that happens, the council will have to turn thumbs down on the idea again, or find enough money to build a pool at the high school. Lou Knack is hoping council will find the money.

Tatham Company Gets Contract For Sewage Plant Addition

PICTON — At its regular monthly meeting Monday night, town council accepted the tender of Tatham Construction Co. for making alterations and additions to Picton's sewage treatment plant.

Acceptance of the tender was recommended by the town's consulting engineers on the project. Speaking for the engineering firm, Ron Davis said estimating savings and that provision had still been left for unexpected construction problems.

Asked by the mayor as to his opinion on how the system will serve the town, Mr. Davis declared his firm feels the system will be adequate. The process to be used at Picton should provide a very fine effluent and not cost $150,000 less to install than a process requiring the construction of completely new facilities.

The new system is designed for a town with a population of 6,000 but can be expanded if necessary.

In conclusion, Mr. Davis said his firm was very pleased with the low tender and would take every effort to see costs as kept in line. "We're sending the best man we have down to supervise the job," he declared.

Mr. Davis introduced two officials of Central Mortgage and Housing he brought to the meeting with him. CMHC has recently granted a $150,000 loan to the town for the sewage plant alteration. CMHC will pay back approximately half this sum over a period of 30 years.

Work on the project will begin with final approval by the Ontario Municipal Board and CMHC.

Street Workers Get Increased Holiday Period

PICTON — A motion by town service be given an employees with 15 or more years service be carried by a 6-1 vote at council Monday.

Under three weeks' holiday with pay, and three weeks' holiday with pay and a $5,000 reduction in the additional unit prices. More savings would be gained in employing local labor on metal work and in utilizing some transformers we have turned up, Mr. Davis said.

The engineer stated that in both minimum figures when estimating savings and that provision had still been left for unexpected construction problems.

The process to be used at Picton should provide a very fine effluent and not cost $150,000 less to install than a process requiring the construction of completely new facilities.

Council Accepts Annex Report

PICTON — Council has solicitor be instructed to make application for annexation for those parts of the Township of Hallowell recommended to be annexed by the report of the Central Fairoe Edward Planning Board; also that the solicitor be authorized to employ a surveyor as required in order to obtain a proper legal description of the portions proposed to be annexed.

Farmers' Union Will Not Meet With Candidates

PICTON — This year for the first time since 1907 the Prince Edward County Farmers' Union will not sponsor a meeting with election candidates. It has been a policy to meet with all candidates to discuss their parties' agricultural policy prior to election. While the executive realized the continued need to rediscuss agricultural matters, it was felt with the time being short and much material work to be done, as well as the Picton Fair, the week before it would not be advisable to hold that meeting at this election, a spokesman for the Union said.

Wins Trophy for Trapshooting

PICTON — Smashing 43 clay targets out of 50 from a 16-yard handicap, Bloomfield's crack marksman, Bert Singer, captured the Dr. A. H. Walton Trophy Sunday afternoon. The trophy ambassador of the trap shooting championship of Prince Edward Rod and Gun Club, is the object of keen competition annually and this year was no exception.

Jim Cole with a score of 41 gave the winner a close race and he was followed by three shooters with scores of 40. Nineteen members competed, each firing at fifty targets from handicap stations. These are based on the individual scores at the weekly shoots for the season. Last year's winner, Allan Marvin was well down in point this year.

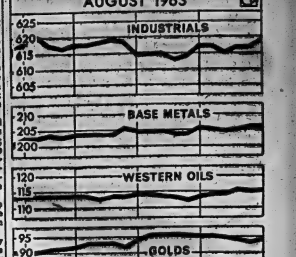
Since the inception of the competition in 1954, the trophy has been won by only one shooter. Past winners were: 1954, Ross Scott; '55, Richard Cole; '56, Laurence Burford; '57, Harry Leavitt; '58, Jim Cole; '59, Dale Cole; '60, Jim Cole; '61, Bert Marvin; '62, Allan Marvin.

The trophy will be formally presented at a club dinner at Sherry Valley Hotel in the middle of October.

A large brew and small berry pitch shoot is scheduled for September 29th at the county gravel pit. The large bore contest which has for many years been an annual affair, will this year be supplemented by a small bore competition with a separate trophy. Both classes will shoot at a moving deer target.

Fire Service For a Fee

PICTON—Representations from a section at the August meeting of council regarding the town's fire service within the town limits brought forth discussion at Monday night's meeting.



It was explained that council's intention was for those outside the corporation limits to provide fire service.

Councillor Calnan suggested some such agreement as has been advanced at Napanee; namely that the town charge up to $300 per fire in such instances or that homeowners so located pay into a special insurance at the rate of $1 for three years' coverage.

Council passed a motion to prepare a by-law amending the Fire By-Law to permit such agreements.

It was the opinion of the body that the specific solution to the problem should be forthcoming from those who wish to use the town's fire service.

The statement, admitted in evidence by Mr. Justice K. G. Moorehouse, was presented by Crown Attorney John Pringle as he called the final witness for the prosecution — city police inspector J. B. McLenchlan.

DIRECT QUOTE

The inspector said the statement was a direct quote from the accused man, given him in his office the morning after the shooting.

As read into the record, it said: "Just all of a sudden I went down to the car and got the gun and some bullets in my hand and went back upstairs and stood in the kitchen door. Dorothy was sitting down at the kitchen table. I just shot and shot at her. I didn't look. I turned and drove over here the fastest way I could get here. I gave the officer at the desk my gun and I told him what I did".

The officer at the desk was sergeant C. A. Cooke. With him in the station at the time, said the sergeant were constables Don Yearwood and Samuel Morgan.

"Mr. Caissie", he said "came through the door of the station about 1.35 a.m."

"He placed the rifle on the counter directly in front of me. He stated: 'There it is. This is it'."

(At this point Mr. Pringle showed sergeant Cooke a rifle which he identified as the weapon in question).

"I replied 'What!' after his statement", continued the sergeant. "And he said 'I want you to lock me up. I killed my wife. I put three bullets in her'".

After the man gave his name and address, he took off his coat then laid his wallet, key ring and pocket knife on the counter saying 'You might as well have the works', said the officer.

¼ MORE ¼ ¼ MORE

HAD BRUISE ON CHEEK

As constable Yearwood left for the Grove Street address of the Caissies, the sergeant said Caissie told the officer 'She's upstairs'.

He noticed Caissie had a bruise on his cheek, over one eye and a chest abrasion.

After a radio call from an officer at the scene, the sergeant said he gave Caissie an official warning.

Caissie had started to say something and sergeant Cooke said he told him: "I must warn you that you may be charged. Anything you say may be given in evidence."

"Did he say anything . . .?" queried Mr. Pringle.

"He said 'It doesn't matter. I killed her. I won't deny that'."

He said he could smell alcohol on the accused and "as a result . . . I asked the accused if he had been drinking and he replied 'All day'".

While in the front office of the station Caissie also put his head in his hands on the counter.

"I observed that he was trembling . . . and he raised his head and said 'I killed the only thing I ever wanted in life.'"

"There was a pause. He then said 'I wanted her, but she didn't want me.'"

"He said 'Why did I do it.' He repeated it — he said it twice. He also said 'I kept telling her but she wouldn't listen'."

Asked if the quotes were replies to questions, sergeant Cooke answered: "He was not being asked questions by either myself or constable Morgan."

"Or any other police officer?" asked the Justice.

"Or any other police officer," affirmed the sergeant.

WANTED TO TELL STORY

Caissie was taken into the constables' room and watched by constable Morgan, where the sergeant later went to ask him Mrs Caissie's religion. At that time, he noticed Caissie was trembling.

"I asked the accused if he would like to put his jacket on. He replied 'I am not cold.'"

About 3.05 a.m. he was interviewed by inspector McLauchlan and placed in a cell about 4.20 a.m.

The sergeant, who checked the cell block in the next several hours said most of the time Caissie "was standing in the corner of the cell facing the wall. And at other times he was leaning on the block (used for sleeping) with his foot, with his head in his hands."

At no time did he sit or lie down on the block.

"He blurted these things out," suggested Mr. Hurley.

"Yes sir."

"He wanted to tell it . . .?"

"He wanted to tell it to someone apparently."

"He was so anxious to tell someone that you had to stop it, that you had to stop him and give him a warning before he went on."

"That's right, sir."

Sergeant Cooke also recalled Caissie sobbing in the office. "May I suggest to you sergeant, that this was anything but a normal man?"

"He certainly wasn't normal in my opinion."

BLOOD SAMPLE TAKEN

The officer said Caissie appeared talking to no one in particular and "more or less off his chest."

"More or less to himself?"

"That's right."

Dr. Joslyn Rogers, expert analyst with the Attorney General's laboratory, said he found 1.5 parts alcohol in a sample of Caissie's blood. (This was taken about 3.30 a.m. at the police station).

He explained: "In the average weight man it means he has in him at the time of the sample as drawn between seven and eight ounces of standard liquor."

About two hours previous to the test, this would mean the subject had around 1.9 parts or nine ounces or more liquor in his bloodstream.

The analyst, after lengthy question on the indications of a drinking build - up by the amount of alcohol revealed, opined a subject might have to consume at least 15 ounces over a build-up period to leave that much alcohol in his body.

The essential effects on the drinker would leave him with "no sense of being careful" and a blurred mind.

GIVES REACTION

Mr. Pringle asked the reaction of such a person when faced with a situation.

"It very frequently happens when a man finds himself suddenly confronted with what he considers a serious situation he may clinkishly appear sober for a short period of time," replied Dr. Rogers.

He said he also found 1.5 parts alcohol in a blood sample from Mrs. Caissie's body.

Mr. Templeman suggested a man with 1.9 parts alcohol would neither think nor comprehend with clarity.

"That's my opinion," agreed Dr. Rogers. "He would not be thinking with any rationality."

Questioned further, he added: "A man at this level of intoxication is likely to be, if given an inkling might — to be a colloquialism — blow his top very rapidly."

He agreed the reaction in such a situation would be "far far different" from that of a sober man.

"It would be an impulsive reaction?"

"Yes."

"It would not be governed by thought?"

"In all probability it would be an irrational act."

A person in such a condition could still perform acts he was accustomed to, such as driving a car. "Of course, the hazard he would be under those conditions would be very, very great," added Dr. Rogers.

COULD LOAD GUN

His memory of an act might also be blurred, although it might come back in bits and pieces.

Mr. Templeman wanted to know if a prolonged weekend of drinking would aggravate the general stability of a man's nerves.

The analyst replied that with a man on a heavy alcohol diet for 36 hours or more "... his nerves would be shattered."

In re-examination Mr. Pringle queried the ability of a man to load fire arms in such a condition.

"I would expect a man to be able to load the gun he was accustomed to using. But if he were shooting at an object — say a ground hog at 75 yards — I think he would have great difficulty in controlling his muscle reaction to hit the target."

On a close-up shot without the necessity of aiming through sights, "it would be a matter of pulling the trigger."

HAD THREE QUARRELS

Earl Mowers, a brother-in-law of Mrs. Caissie, said the couple arrived at his Pepper Street home between 3-4 p.m. April 31st. They left around 11 p.m. and during their stay had three quarrels.

The first occurred, he testified, when Caissie told him: "Any time you want to make my wife, you give her $10" — and that started the ball rolling."

"What do you mean by that phrase?" asked Mr. Pringle.

"They got up and got into a brawl then and I broke it up."

"After that, he said, they had a drink from a bottle of his, about one-third full of whiskey.

Asked if the accused had shown any signs of alcohol, Mr. Mowers replied he hadn't "seen that much. I didn't know the guy too well." He intervened again in a second squabble and when the third one broke out "I gave him a couple on the back of the neck."

Caissie fell to the floor and stayed there about an hour and a half. After he got up he and Mrs. Caissie ate fried chicken then left for home.

Between the second and third squabbles they had nothing to drink since "it was all gone."

Asked if there was more drink besides his own bottle, the witness answered: "Not that I referred to."

"Perhaps, Mr. Mowers you can tell his Lordship what you mean by that," said Mr. Pringle.

"If there was any more I never saw it."

Caissie, he added "only had one drink as far as I'm concerned out of my bottle."

CLOSELY CROSS-EXAMINED

Mr. Hurley closely cross-examined Mr. Mowers and referred to his statements made at the preliminary hearing on the charge.

To some of the questions, based on the preliminary, Mr. Mowers said he could not recall the answers he gave at that time.

"Had you been drinking the day of the preliminary hearing?"

"No sir."

"Have you been drinking today?"

"No sir."

The first time, Mr. Mowers said, he pushed the accused man against a cupboard by placing his hand on his throat.

"He is a little man, isn't he?" asked counsel.

"Yes."

"And you had no trouble handling him?"

"No."

In the second argument, the action was repeated. On the third altercation, Mr. Mowers said he "gave him a couple over the neck."

"What do you mean, you gave him a couple over the neck?"

"You call them chops or whatever you want to . . ."

NO ARGUMENTS RECALLED

Later, Mr. Hurley suggested: "You had been drinking quite a bit yourself that day."

"No sir," said Mr. Mowers.

Mr. Hurley noted the witness was later interviewed by city police on the incidents at his home.

"I suggest to you that you told inspector McLachlan that you had been drinking quite a bit in the first part of the day."

"In the morning," replied the witness.

Aside from the statement that started the first argument between the Caissies, he could not recall anything else said between the couple at his home.

"The rest of the day while they were there is a complete blank to you?" asked Mr. Hurley.

"It is not a complete blank, but it was not my business what they were talking about."

Mr. Hurley noted the length of time Caissie was left lying on the floor after the third row.

"Did anyone get down to attend to him?"

"He wasn't hurt."

"Did you hear what I said Mr. Mowers," snapped the defence counsel. "Did anyone get down to attend to him?"

"No," the witness replied but added he "looked at him several times."

Mr. Hurley again queried him about the amount he had to drink and his recounting of the events at his home, comparing them to answers given at the preliminary hearing.

JURY BRUSHED OFF

"As a matter of fact, the first time you were interviewed by the police on this matter you lied to them."

"I wouldn't call it a lie. I told them what I knew at that time," asserted Mr. Mowers.

Mr. Hurley repeated his question and the witness said "I just brushed them off, that's all, for the time being."

"And they were pleasant to one another?

"Yes."

"And they were pleasant to you?"

"Yes."

Robert Burke, tenant of the apartment below the Caissies' said he heard persons going upstairs about 11.30 p.m.

He heard conversation upstairs and words he believed spoken by Mrs. Caissie — "the words that I heard were, "but you haven't got the guts."

About 12.15, after he retired, he was dozing off when I heard three loud noises. What I associated them with at the time was as if someone were striking a table with the palm of their hand or a metallic object."

Some time before "to my knowledge there was someone came downstairs and came back in again."

Mr. Hurley queried him on the exact words he had overheard.

"May I suggest to you those words could have been: you are not man enough! . . ."

HEARD LOUD VOICES

"They were words which in your mind indicated some lack of manliness?"

He described the voices in the upstairs apartment at the time as "reasonably loud."

Constable Leo Kent told of searching Caissie's car outside the police station and finding nine loose rifle shells in the back of the front seat. Later, as one of the first officers to arrive at the couple's Grove Street apartment, he found three empty cartridge shells.

Constable Yearwood recalled Caissie entering the police station with the rifle. He checked the weapon and asked Caissie if the gun were loaded. He quoted the reply as "No, but it was."

He then went to the apartment where he saw Mrs. Caissie's body at the kitchen table.

APPEARED NERVOUS

The officer confirmed for Mr. Templeman that Caissie appeared nervous and disturbed.

"He was moving in a nervous and disturbed way?"

"Yes sir."

"Throughout, the things you heard him say, he seemed to be speaking to everyone?"

"Yes sir."

"If I may use the term, it was almost as if he were making an announcement."

"Yes sir."

"It was not as if he were making conversation?"

"No sir."

Constable Yearwood also said he noticed four empty liquor bottles in the Caissies' kitchen and the apartment generally was in disarray.

Constable Morgan corroborated sergeant Cooke's evidence on Caissie's statements. At one point, he testified, the accused man asked the officer to hit him as saying: "Oh Dot. What . While he watched Caissie in the constable's room he quoted him as say: "Oh Dot. What have I done. My God, why did I have to be so weak." During this the accused held his face in his hands.

He further quoted the accused at that time. "I killed the only thing I ever wanted in life. Why did I have to be so weak."

"And during this time," queried Mr. Pringle, "you never directed any question to him?" "No sir. I did not."

NOT NATURAL CLAIM

"In fact," added Mr. Templeman, "almost everything you heard him say he was voluntearing."

"That's correct."

He conceived that the general impression was that Caissie "wanted to get rid of everything" including his gun, story, wallet and clothing.

"Constable, recalling that scene you wouldn't by any means say he was natural."

"No sir. I wouldn't say he was natural."

"On one occasion at least you smelled liquor?"

"Yes sir, I did."

"And every once in a while you be shivered"

"That's correct sir."

The last witness called by the prosecution was inspector McLaughlan who interviewed Caissie about 3.05 a.m. after returning from scrutinizing the Grove Street apartment. He described Caissie as "very nervous. His hands were trembling."

He asked the accused if he wanted to make a statement, but the answer was negative. With OPP corporal Harold Howring he asked Caissie to change his clothes for articles brought from the apartment. The accused remarked they had not brought his best pair of pants and when offered a change of socks said he had not better put them on since they were "probably some of the wash that my wife takes in."

GIVEN STATEMENT

When he was finally being taken to the cells, the inspector said Caissie told him: "I'm sorry for being such a poor companion."

He again interviewed the accused at 9:05 when Caissie gave him the statement surrounding the shooting and signed it.

The inspector told Mr. Templeman of finding four empty 26-ounce rum bottles in the apartment while a pot on the stove still contained warm coffee.

"There was a general state of untidiness throughout the apartment".

"Somewhat — yes sir."

In his first interview with the accused man he described Caissie intermittently not answering questions, making exclamations and burying his face in his hands.

"He kept coming back to the events of the night"

"That's right, sir."

Said Mr. Templeman: "If I might use an expression — he was obviously bogged by what had happened that night and kept coming back to it."

"That's right sir," confirmed Inspector McLauchlan.

COURT OFFICERS ADMONISHED

Mr. Justice Moorhouse adjourned the trial at 4.35 p.m. yesterday after conclusion of the inspector's testimony.

During the day he twice admonished court officers. The first caution came after a morning recess when an officer readmitted the jury before the accused man had been returned to the dock.

The reason, constable, is this," the Justice reprimanded the officer, "the accused must be present during the whole of his trial. Let's not have the jury in before the accused is here.

Later he criticized the movement of spectators to and from the court room during testimony.

"People are not permitted to go out at will. I don't want to have interruptions occuring so frequently," the Justice warned.

"Gaps and Deficiencies" Exist Today in Facilities Provided for Aged Meet Told

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP)—There are "gaps and deficiencies" of a grave nature existing in the facilities provided the aged, in the view of Stanley W. Martin, executive secretary - treasurer of the Ontario Hospital Association.

He was guest speaker Tuesday during the three-day convention of the Ontario Association of Homes for the Aged.

"While no accurate evaluation of the situation in Ontario is available," he said, "it is estimated that over one-half of the nursing home beds in existence are below acceptable standards, either because of inadequacies in physical plans or lack of skilled personnel, or both.

"Proper nursing home care requires adequate medical supervision which is lacking in many of these institutions now taking care of chronically sick persons. Many long-term care institutions operating as nursing homes, do not provide adequate nursing care."

These considerations, and others equally serious, have brought about the present changes in government supervision and licensing of such establishments, he said.

HAS PLAN

"It is the plan of the association to develop programs specifically geared to the needs of the institutions in the long-term care field in co-operation with individuals from these institutions best fitted to diagnose needs and approach.

"We are hopeful our friends in the nursing homes and homes for the aged throughout the province will find it of some interest when the formal announcement of its availability is made in the very near future," he said.

Delegates heard that homes for the aged are being asked to care for more of the infirm and fewer of those who can fend for themselves.

The trend is for aging couples to seek independent housing—if they can find it—and the result is that the infirm are making the problem of established homes more difficult.

D. C. VanCamp, chairman of the special committee of the OAHA, and head of Grosvenor Home at Newmarket, gave a report which indicated preliminary findings of his committee.

"Attention will have to be given this increasing trend or we will not be doing the job expected of us," he said. "Governments also will have to pay more attention to this change in the care of aging people."

PENSION RISE HAILED

The $10 old age pension increase was hailed by delegates. William McWilliam, president of the association, said: "Members of the Ontario Association of Homes for the Aged welcome the announcement by the federal government that old age security pensions are to be increased $10, from $65 to $75 per month.

"It is felt generally that this will greatly benefit many older citizens throughout Canada, particularly those who are living independently in the community. Through this increase many will enjoy a better standard of living in the community and many others will be assisted to remain independent in the stream of community life.

"The effect this increase will have on homes for the aged cannot be fully determined at this time, but in most homes, residents will benefit from the increase in pocket money, and will contribute more toward their maintenance."

Jodoin Called "Gutless" Leader by SIU Head in Dispute on Great Lakes

WASHINGTON (CP) — Paul Hall, president of the 75,000-member Seafarers' International Union of North America, charged, Tuesday that Claude Jodoin, president of the Canadian Labor Congress, had "prostituted" his trade union position by lending his immediate legislation to put the SIU of Canada and other maritimes unions under government trusteeship.

He called Jodoin a "gutless" leader.

At the same time, Hall suggested at a press conference that Jack Leitch, president of Upper Lakes Shipping Limited of Toronto, had more to gain from the mysterious bombing of the company's ship, the Howard L. Shaw, at Chicago Saturday than did the SIU.

Denying that the SIU had anything to do with the explosion, Hall endorsed the reward of $1,000 offered by the Maritime Trades Department of the AFL-CIO for information leading to the apprehension and conviction of those responsible.

To this offer Leitch replied in a telegram to the Maritime Trades Department that the offer is merely an exercise in hypocrisy unless the department is prepared to withdraw its support of the SIU.

BLAMED SIU

Leitch charged that the SIU is responsible "for this outrage" in Chicago and for several other bombings and shooting incidents involving Upper Lakes and ships and customers in recent weeks.

Hall also criticized the U.S. government, saying the federal departments had treated the SIU shabbily in their "feud" with that Labor Secretary Willard Wirtz should mind his own business, since this is strictly a waterfront labor - management fight.

Wirtz announced earlier he will confer with Canadian Labor Minister Allen J. MacEachen in Ottawa today on the issue which sparked a series of official Canadian demands that the U.S. government take more action to protect Canadian life and property in U.S. waters.

The Howard L. Shaw has been tied up at Chicago since April 22. The SIU of North America and other sympathetic unions have boycotted the ship slammed by the CLC-supported Canadian Maritime Union.

WANTS CMU DROPPED

Hall said the only solution to this Great Lakes fight is that the Upper Lakes company cancel its contract with the CMU and return SIU members to their jobs. The Canadian SIU has been ejected from the CLC.

Condemning the Canadian government's decision to bring in legislation to place the maritime unions under trusteeship, Hall said that if the SIU is "locked out" of the Great Lakes, the union would continue its battle against management with whatever legal means become available. But there would be no retreat.

He said the Chicago bombing was regrettable because it would do nothing but harm to the SIU position. He added that if he had access to Upper Lakes records, now in the hands of Mr. Justice T. G. Norris who had investigated SIU activities, he could prove that certain incidents of violence were related to the activities of the company's private force of detectives.

Hall said these private detectives have complete access to company ships but the SIU has not.

As for Jodoin's position, "Jodoin acted in this case with as much viciousness as Adolf Hitler did in his prime."

Following the Chicago bombing, Jodoin had called for an emergency session of Parliament to consider the government's trusteeship legislation.

Commenting in Ottawa on Mr. Hall's remarks, Mr. Jodoin said: "I don't want to waste any words or time in commenting on such ridiculous statements."

STEEL MAN DIES

TORONTO (CP) — Wells Stevens (Ted) Byers, 68, chairman of the board of Ontario Steel Products Company Limited, died Monday in his Toronto home. Born in Brockville, Mr. Byers joined the steel firm in Gananoque, Ont. He was made president of the firm in 1953 when the head office was moved to Toronto and in 1962 was elected chairman of the board.

Aviation Chief Suggests Navy Can Help Promote Exports

MURRAY BAY, Que. (CP)—Commodore A. B. Fraser-Harris, director of aviation for the Royal Canadian Navy, suggested Tuesday that the navy help develop foreign markets as a means of promoting Canadian export trade.

He said the external affairs department has asked the navy to make only one foreign cruise during the 1964-65 fiscal year.

Commodore Fraser - Harris, speaking at a panel discussion at the annual meeting of the Air Industries Association of Canada, also said there is lack of a peace - time aim in the defence department and little coordination among the three armed services.

Dave Golden, deputy minister of industry and former president of the association, said the management of research and development in Canada is a "shocking condition" and that the situation is terrible.

Defence Minister Hazgett of Winnipeg, president of Bristol Aero-Industries Limited, and new chairman of the association, agreed that research and development are in a "chaotic state."

HITS GOVERNMENT

The roughest blast at the government was delivered by Donald Buchanan of de Havilland Aircraft Canada.

He said there is lack of coordination in government policy. While the trade department was promoting export sales, the finance department was slapping a sales tax on production tooling.

He said government export financing is inadequate and that controls on exports of strategic materials must be relaxed.

He also suggested that Canadian military attaches abroad be used to promote sales of Canadian products.

Another delegation suggested that Canada's foreign aid funds be used to aid Canadian industry.

Mr. Hazgett said defence policy should be used with the same end in view.

Pensions, Industrial Development And Education Outlined in Visit Of Ont. Liberal Leader to the City

By ROY PEACOCK

Co-operation with the federal government in a national pension scheme, industrial development for by-passed sections of the province and higher education were the three objectives planks offered by Liberal leader John Wintermeyer as he stopped briefly in Belleville yesterday.

Following a motorcade appearance through the downtown area, Mr. Wintermeyer and local party candidates "mainstreeted" along Front Street. Later the Liberal leader addressed a noon luncheon crowd of about 150 at the Hotel Quinte.

GOVT. NOT NEW CLAIM

"I refuse to admit that the Robarts government is a new government in the past few years," Mr. Wintermeyer said.

"It has in fact been a continuous government for the last 20 years and must be judged on its acts and omissions and commissions in that period."

The resolution of the Conservative government in Ontario must be wiped out," he declared before a cheering audience.

Mr. Wintermeyer said that for all Premier Robarts' talk of his government's record, he was offering no specific program for after the election.

On the other hand the Liberal party was offering three specific planks which it would put into effect.

First of these was the Liberal stand on pensions.

PENSION CANADA PLAN

Election of a Liberal government would see the end to the present dispute of whether the Canada pension or the Robarts pension plan would be carried out.

Mr. Wintermeyer said the Ontario Liberal party was entirely behind the Canada pension plan which was a "pay as you go plan", not requiring a great build-up of funds necessary under a private scheme.

This was possible because the entire credit of the country would be behind the Canada pension scheme.

He said it would take 40 years for the Robarts pension plan to catch up,"the Canada pension plan would do in ten."

TIED TO EDUCATION

Turning to the economical development of the province, Mr. Wintermeyer said this was tied in with education that one could not be mentioned without the other.

His party would not merely touch the fringes but would go fully into both problems.

"What is needed," he said, "is a government with a plan for the economical development of not only the large urban centres, but for other parts of the province which might have been by-passed in industrial development.

"I am not socialistic but I believe in economic planning. A government should not allow haphazard industrial development.

He said a Liberal government would provide tax incentives and cheap power to encourage location of industry in by-passed parts of the province and where unemployment was rife.

WOULD BRING EQUALITY

Turning to education Mr. Wintermeyer said it was essential the young people of Ontario be given the opportunity for technical and scientific learning to fit them for jobs in the world of today.

He said the educational program of the Ontario Liberal party was planned to go hand in hand with industry.

First there must be a new method of paying for education to relieve property owners.

Ownership of property should have no relation to education costs, it was claimed.

The Liberal plan would be to bring equality to education across the province.

REDUCE H.S. GRADES

The present 13 grades in public and high school would be reduced into 12 grades with no reduction in the quality of education.

The lack of technical education was declared to be making misfits of many of today's students. To correct this the Liberals would establish Ryerson type institutes across the province which would train young men and young women for today's specialized jobs.

A "job needs" assessment would be conducted to determine the type of training required for jobs in industry.

But a Liberal government would not stop at providing technological education. Post secondary school education for all regardless of ability to pay would be provided with the establishment of a University of Ontario at different locations in the province.

Belleville was one centre needing such a seat of learning, it was stated.

INTRODUCED BY CANDIDATE

Students with a 50 per cent mark would be eligible for entrance.

It would be a good university with degrees acceptable for any position.

The Liberal program would translate into reality the hope that no child be barred from a university education.

The Liberal leader was introduced by Frank S. Follwell, party candidate for West Hastings who said that after two terms at Ottawa it was "just like coming home to be again on the campaign trail".

"I am proud to be a member of the Wintermeyer team, the team which will bring back honest government to Ontario, the team which will bring an end to scandals and re-vitalize the province", he said.

Mr. Follwell said a Liberal government at Toronto would eliminate the nuisance sales tax on small purchases, and would make texts books free for all high schools in the province.

CANDIDATE OPTIMISTIC

Liberal candidate for Hastings East, Mr. Roy Sills of Thurlow township, said he too was happy to be a member of the Wintermeyer team.

The Liberals have been looking for a long time for a Moses to lead them out of the wilderness. I think we have found him," he said.

He felt confident that he and Mr. Follwell would break the stranglehold held by the Tories in Hastings.

"The Conservatives have been in so long in Hastings that they think all the Liberals are good for is to pay taxes. But there will be a change," he said.

Three other candidates in the Quinte district, Alex Williams, Prince Edward Lennox, Mayor William T. Mills, Kingston, and Mayor Jack Heenan of Cobourg, Northumberland spoke briefly.

Robert Temple, M.P. for Hastings South thanked Mr. Wintermeyer for his address, while Belleville Mayor A. M. Haig welcomed the Liberal leader to the city.

RARE, MEDIUM, WELL-DONE

By Geo. H. Carver, Sports Editor

The Grand Umpire called "strike three" on one of the most colorful, efficient baseball figures the Bay of Quinte District has ever known, the other day.

Walter Gerow, senior, who was "Mr. Baseball" in the Roaring Twenties in Belleville and later, Kirkland Lake and the Quinte district, went slowly from life's home-plate to Belleville General Hospital Monday night.

Those of us who lived, played and wrote baseball in those colorful eras will never forget the tall gaunt figure standing club in hand on the sloop of a dugout.

His passing will recall to the "old brigade" such famous teams as the 1919 Grand Trunks and the 1922 Nationals both of which brought to Belleville Ontario senior baseball championships.

Later he developed the famous "Indian" Jack Williams, who became the backbone of the Belleville pitching staff. He was one of the greatest southpaws Ontario ever produced. His easy motion and delivery, that sent balls whistling past many a frustrated batter, was a picture of sound performance.

Walt's existence as a player was short lived. He injured a shoulder during an exhibition game which retired him from active participation in the game for life.

He became coach and then coach and manager, piloting the Grand Trunks and later the Nationals through defeat and victory.

Quiet-spoken Walter Gerow knew baseball better than the rulebook's author. He loved the game. He loved his teams, and he loved to win.

He had the respect and confidence of any and every player who and he his dugout, the management and every fan who sat in the stands or bleachers. He was highly respected around the Central Ontario Baseball League and was regarded by the clubs and the Ontario Baseball Association as one of Ontario's outstanding baseball authorities.

He was a master strategist on the baseball diamond. Ron "The Colonel" Church, Peter Cole and many former Pirates baseball stars will attest to that as will those of Toronto, Peterborough, Oshawa, Kingston and other provincial clubs of the "Roaring Twenties" and thirties.

He was the epitome of the true sportsman. He was intensely loyal to his team and his players, his duties and his friends. As one of his former players puts it, "He'd never spoke unless he had something to say."

And Walt never said something sportswise unless he meant it. His criticisms like his praise were given in the soft-spoken voice, which was one of his natural characteristics. He was firm in his decisions but was never the "banging-Judge" type of coach or manager.

He demanded the best of his players — and got it through the media of his personality and ability to handle players both off and on the field.

I have seen a mere wisp of a smile wrinkle his face after his club had won a hard-fought victory. And I've seen the slight shake of the head and a spoken word the eyes when he offered the true sportsman's reason for defeat. "Credit they were too good for us today."

Walt was like that. As was said, he loved to win but defeat never rankled him nor caused bitterness. His attitude in reverses inspired his players to greater effort. And it usually paid off.

Walter Gerow's passing is a personal loss to this writer. I have known him for three decades and there was nothing shoddy about him. He never changed his colors, sports or otherwise. He was a true friend, a true sportsman and a credit to himself, his community and the game he loved so well.

Rest in peace, old friend.

Bo Belinsky Marks Return With Win

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Aloha Nui Kakou, Bo.

A great big welcome to you, Bo.

Bo, of course, is Bo Belinsky, baseball's shanai kane—hot boy—who was shipped off to Hawaii Islanders when Los Angeles Angels became disenchanted with his services.

But Bo's back.

They didn't carry him off the field at Los Angeles with lets dropping from his shoulders Tuesday night, but then he wasn't stunned when Angels family defeated Boston Red Sox 9-3 in 10 innings.

Belinsky left in the ninth inning when Red Sox started to connect. He allowed eight hits, struck out four and walked none before he left to read the reviews of his return engagement on the mainland. He should get 2½ stars.

Belinsky, who pitched a no-hitter for Los Angeles last year, was farmed out after compiling a 1-7 record, a 6.30 earned run average and a remarkable record for getting into trouble. He won four of five decisions with Hawaii while drawing large crowds.

SCREWBALL BEST

Notified that he was starting against Red Sox, the 26-year-old left hander who hurls the screwball is his best pitch, proved he hasn't changed much when he said:

"If I don't draw at least 12,000, I'll slash my wrists."

He fortunately changed his mind when he learned the game would be televised locally.

Attendance was 4,640.

While Belinsky was holding the centre of the American League stage, Kansas City Athletics knocked off the first-place New York Yankees for the second night in a row, 2-0.

Minnesota Twins regained second place as Bob Allison hit two homers in a 5-4 decision over Cleveland Indians, Baltimore Orioles knocked Chicago White Sox into third by beating White Sox 3-1 and Detroit Tigers and Washington Senators split, Senators won 9-8 before Tigers took the nightcap 4-1.

Belinsky went into the ninth with a 5-1 lead, having allowed only six hits—one a Dick Stuart's homer that gave him the league lead in that department. But when the first two men bopped Bo for singles, he was relieved. Red Sox then pushed across four runs to tie it. Angels won in the 10th when Leo Thomas cracked a bases-loaded single.

LAU HITS WINNER

Yankees' Ralph Terry, 16-14, and Diego Segui of Athletics were locked in a scoreless battle until the eighth when Charley Lau opened a two-run double. Segui, who had allowed only a fifth inning single by Elston Howard until the eighth, needed relief help from Ted Bowsfield and John Wyatt before he won 12.

Twins came from behind as Allison clouted a pair of two-run homers, his 34th and 35th of the season. Gerry Arrigo, recently recalled from the minors, shut out Indians over the final five innings for his first major league victory.

Catcher John Orsino collected a single, double and triple as Orioles edged White Sox. Milt Pappas pitched the first six innings but left when his arm stiffened and Dick Hall and Stu Miller finished up.

Minnie Minoso batted in three runs for Detroit in the opener, including the winning run in the eighth inning. Bubba Phillips homered for Tigers in the nightcap. Phillips and Norm Cash who homered for Detroit in the opener, each had five hits for the doubleheader.

Lightfoots Win Over Landscapers

Lightfoot Construction moved to within one victory of winning the Commercial softball league championship last night when they downed Barriage Landscapers 9-5.

Lightfoots lead the four-of-seven finals three games to none. The fourth game is slated for Prince Charles School tonight at 6:15 when Landscapers must win to stay alive.

As in Monday's tilt, Lightfoots moved well in front, 9-0, before Barriage came to life. Then it was too late and too little. Landscapers got three in the fifth and a pair in the sixth in a game that produced everything but the best of ball — and officiating to match.

Harry Powers stayed the route on the Lightfoot mound despite giving up 13 hits to the losers. He struck out five and walked a pair.

Bob Boyle went the distance in defeat, allowing ten hits. He struck out two and walked seven.

The teams were charged with five errors apiece.

Ron Hull hit a home run and two singles and Jack "Deacon" Whiting also hit a homer for Lightfoots. Don Smith had a double and single, Don Dolan two singles, Powers and Jim Sheridan one apiece.

All Barriage hits were singles, three going to Jerry Hill, two each for Tim Cook, Carl Roosebroom, Hugh Pearce and Don Wood, and one apiece for Joe Harvey and Boyle.

Al Zajr out beaks out at the end of the game when plate umpire Phil Scarrow failed to call fair or foul on an obvious foul ball past third base. The batter did not run and when the ball was finally retrieved and put into the infield, the batter was called out.

Barriages 000 032 0—5 13 5
Lightfoots 023 100 x—9 10 5

Batteries — B. Boyle and D. Wood; H. Powers and J. Sheridan.

U.S. Amateur Golf

Harris Moves Closer To Title

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP)—Meliodeus Labron Harris, ignoring the soggy going, moved closer to a second - straight United States amateur golf title Tuesday with a one-par effort few of his rivals could match.

The lanky 21-year-old Oklahoma State University mathematics student stashed over Waconda's Hills and narrow fairways for a 6 and 5 verdict over John McKay of Orlando, Fla.

That put the defending champion into the first of today's two 18-hole rounds along with 63 other shotmakers, including Gary Cowan of Kitchener, Ont. Cowan defeated Lawrence Ball of Allentown, Pa., 3 and 4.

Bill Pidlaski of Winnipeg defeated Don Murphy of Texarkana, Ark., 4 and 3. But another Canadian, Bill Wahaman of Victoria, lost 4 and 2 to Ed Seminjak, Butte, Mont.

Cowan, Wahaman, Pidlaski and Eric Hanson of Etobicoke, a Toronto suburb, all had byes Monday.

They qualified automatically to compete here because they were members of Canada's Americas' Cup team. Three other team members, Nick Weslock of Toronto, Jerry Thomson of Vancouver and Keith Alexander of Calgary had business commitments at home and did not stay for the current tournament.

Koufax Wins No 23; Cards Keep Pace

'Grandpa' Homers

By JIM RECKER
Associated Press Sports Writer

The remarkable Stan Musial set another major league record: Most home runs by a new grandfather, 1.

Sandy Koufax broke his own National League strikeout mark as Los Angeles Dodgers stayed three games in front of Cardinals in the National League pennant race.

Musial was up most of the night waiting for the birth of his first grandchild, then smacked a two-run homer as Cardinals defeated Chicago Cubs 8-6 Tuesday night, for their 12th victory in 14 games.

Koufax won his 23rd game against only five losses, and struck out nine Pittsburgh Pirates in a 4-3 victory. That gave him 276 strikeouts for the season. His old record was 269 in 1961.

Third-place Milwaukee Braves fell eight games off the pace, losing 4-3 to Cincinnati Reds. In other action, New York Mets whipped San Francisco Giants 4-3 and Philadelphia Phillies slugged Houston Colts 15-0.

Musial's first inning homer was all Bob Gibson needed to record his 17th victory. It followed a single by Dick Groat, just restored to the line-up after an injury, and was Musial's 11th of the year and 474th of his career. Musial also produced a run-scoring single.

GIBSON HOMERS

Gibson added a three-run homer in the second, with Groat on base again, this time with a double.

Wally Moon hit a two-run homer in the seventh for Dodgers to run the score to 4-3. Pirates got their first run in the bottom of the seventh with the help of an error. Bob Clemente hit a solo homer in the eighth for Pirates.

Hank Aaron hit his 40th and 41st home runs—tops in the majors—for Braves, but it was not enough. Johnny Edwards homered for Reds and Gordy Coleman, who also drove in a run with a double, broke a 3-3 tie with a homer in the fourth inning. The loss snapped a seven-game Milwaukee winning streak.

Cary Willey won his ninth game for Mets and his third of the year over Giants. He was working on his fifth shutout in the ninth, but Willie McCovey and Orlando Cepeda ruined it with solo homers. Mets struck for two runs in the first inning on four consecutive hits off Billy O'Dell. Jim Hickman homered in the fifth, his 18th for the run that turned out to be the winner.

ALOUS DOWN 1-3-3

Giants set a major league mark of their own when they used three Alous in the eighth inning. The Alou brothers, Jesus, Matty and Felipe, went down 1-3-3, the first two as pinch hitters. Felipe was the right fielder in the lineup.

Don Nottebart had pitched a no-hitter when he beat Phils in Houston last May 17, but he only got three men out Tuesday night.

Johnny Callison collected a homer, double and two singles to pace the 17-hit attack for Phils and Colts contributed six errors. Chris Short pitched the shutout, a four-hitter.

Kenmors Nip Brockville 1-0

Latchford Wins Hurling Duel

By PETER CARVER

A pitching lapse and a Brockville error in the bottom of the ninth enabled Kenmors to squeak by Brockville here last night in a superbly pitched 1-0 affair.

It was the locals third straight win their best-of-five Senior O.B.A. playdown series. O.B.A. officials decided to stretch the series to a best of seven series since the western teams are still playing and they will not come up with a representative for some time.

Kenmors reliable Bill Latchford and Brockville's Dave Smith hooked up in a tense pitching duel. Neither team could score and managed only five hits among them for eight and a half innings.

Smith, who was credited with fifteen strikeouts breezed along on a three-hit shutout until the last of the ninth. Bralley led off with a single and Soden doubled. Soden walked to load the sacks and Glen Clarke came up with none out. He hit a routine ground ball to the first baseman who threw the ball home to force Bralley at the plate. However the Beaver catcher fumbled and dropped the throw allowing Bralley to cross the plate with the games only run.

It was a pitcher's game all the way with Bill Latchford tossing a neat two hitter to come up with the win. He was never sharper nipping fourteen men on third strikes while walking only a pair. Only four Beavers got on base and just one reached third as Latchford set down the side five times. Both Brockville hits were infield singles.

Dave Smith pitched an equally fine game allowing only five hits while whiffing fifteen. He issued four free passes to first, two to Pete Weston.

Moe Hunter solved Smith's slants for two base hits, one a booming double off the centre-field fence. Glenn Clarke and Larry Soden each hit doubles while Bralley had a single.

The fourth game will be played this Saturday in Brockville and the fifth if necessary Tuesday night at the Fairgrounds. The winner of this series will meet either Galt of the Intercounty league, Amherstburg or Campbellville for the Ontario championship.

Third game in the three-of-five series is scheduled for the same park on Thursday evening.

G. Woodhouse pitched the victory, with A. Ryan catching. R. Slack was the losing pitcher, with J. Vens his battery mate.

Grant Parks paced the Firemen at the plate, collecting three hits, one of them a triple. Lyle Wannamaker rapped the ball for a home run and a triple. The winners collected seven hits in all.

Western Junior B To Play 40

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — The Ontario Hockey Association's Western Junior B League adopted a 40-game schedule Tuesday night and tentatively set Oct. 25 as the opening date of the 1963-64 season.

St. Marys Lincolns, last season's league champs, will host St. Thomas Barons in the opener.

Other participating teams will be London Nationals, Kitchenburg Mavericks, Sarnia Legionaires and Ingersoll Marlands.

Jack Oakes of Strathroy, a member of the OHA executive, said a Woodstock group had applied for admittance to the league, but later withdrew its application.

Oakes said that if the Woodstock club decides to compete, it will be placed in the Central Junior League along with Kitchener, Owen Sound, Waterloo, Stratford, Goderich and possibly Guelph.

However, the chances of Woodstock playing in the Central League appeared to dim Tuesday night when representatives failed to show up at a meeting of the league in Kitchener.

Green Gaels Look for Second Win

By PAUL RIMSTEAD

WHITBY, Ont. (CP) — Everyone—including the visiting Victoria Shamrocks — has congratulating coach Jim Bishop because his Oshawa Green Gaels are playing a wide-open Western style of lacrosse.

"Wowing style?" said Bishop Tuesday. "I don't recall the West inventing a running style of lacrosse. My teams have always been running teams—it's just that most running teams now are the West."

Whatever the style, the current Minto Cup series for the Canadian junior lacrosse championship is being called the best exhibition of lacrosse seen in the East in years.

In the opening game Monday night, when the Gaels upset the defending champion Shamrocks 10-7 to take a 1-0 lead in the best-of-seven series, it was wide open from start to finish.

"I've never heard so many favorable comments from people on the street," said Victoria coach Tom Druce. "Some hadn't been a game in years but won't miss any in this series. They'll be turning people away before its over."

The second game starts tonight at 8:30 p.m. EDT and the 1,200-seat Whitby Arena is expected to again be packed.

Crackers Seek First Win

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) —Indianapolis manager Rollie Hemsley has scheduled his ace right-hander, Fritz Ackley, to pitch tonight, hoping to make it three in a row over Atlanta Crackers in the battle for the International League Governor's Cup.

Cracker manager Harry Walker will counter with southpaw Harvey Branch.

Indianapolis overcame a 6-1 deficit and beat the Crackers 7-6 Tuesday night for a 2-0 lead in the best-of-seven series. Jim Koranda doubled two runs in the eighth to put the Indians ahead to stay.

Humphreys took the loss and Frank Kreutzer, third Indian pitcher, got the victory on two innings of relief.

The Tracks

TORONTO (CP) — Jim Fitzsimmons, the 33-year-old rider from Calgary, who now makes his home in Toronto, rode three winners at Woodbine Wednesday to move into a tie for second place in the race for leading rider honors at this 42-day autumn meeting.

He won the second on Remiller, the finale on Deal Me Aces and the featured sixth race, the Yorktown Purse, on J. E. Trundle Seagram's Windkin.

The favorite in the Yorktown, a five-furlong sprint for three-year-olds and up, was Muskeg with champion jockey Bon Turcotte in the saddle. However, Fitzsimmons and Windkin stole an early lead and Muskeg, though he closed strongly, was 3½ lengths behind the winner at the wire. Cymar Stable's Quintain, which has been racing in Western Canada the last two seasons, was third.

Windkin earned $1,250, bringing his total for this season to $5,460. His time was 1:10 3-5 for the six furlongs.

Ottawa Recalls Derrick

OTTAWA (CP) — Freshman quarterback Tommy Lee has been placed on waivers and import halfback Don Derrick recalled, the Ottawa Rough Riders football club announced Tuesday.

The lagging followed deferral of a United States military medical until Oct. 11 for defensive back Larry DeGraw.

Lee, an import from Hawaii, had won the underdog spot to quarterback Russ Jackson this year but had appeared in only one league game. Derrick was picked up recently from Toronto Argonauts and then put on waivers Saturday because of the unforeseen classification of DeGraw as an American.

Frick Will Reorganize Minor Loops

CHICAGO (AP) — Baseball commissioner Ford Frick met with major league representatives Tuesday and received their full support of individual triple A working agreements for the 1964 season.

The assurance that each of the 20 major league teams will have a full working agreement with each of the 20 triple A teams gave the commissioner an opportunity to attempt geographic reorganization of the Pacific Coast League and the International League.

Frick said the Pacific Coast League, stretching from Hawaii to Oklahoma City, and the International League, extending from Toronto to Jacksonville, were operating only for the benefit of the airlines this season.

"Now that each club is willing to have a full working agreement with each triple A club we will attempt to make the two triple A leagues geographically compact through a realignment program," said Frick.

Chances are we might wind up with an eight-club league and a 12-club league. I have no idea what cities will have what teams but I'm sure we'll have no trouble in the matter after considering advance study and research."

Foresees Inter-Loop Grid Game

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Joe Foss, commissioner of the American Football League, predicted Tuesday an Inter-league championship game between the top teams of the AFL and the National Football League "could come about after the 1964 season."

Foss also said he would like to see Kansas City Chiefs of the AFL play the Dallas Cowboys of the NFL. The Chiefs, formerly the Texans, were moved here from Dallas this year. Foss noted that the AFL and NFL began operating in Dallas the same year, and that the Cowboys now are regarded as a top contender for the NFL's Eastern Division title.

Musial Pays Tribute To Spahn

By JOE REICHLER

NEW YORK (AP) — There are few ballplayers about whom other ball players talk. Babe Ruth was one. Ted Williams was another. Among the active they talk about are Stan Musial, Willie Mays, Mickey Mantle and Warren Spahn.

They talk about Spahn's endurance, his coolness under fire, his contempt for hitters. They talk about his pinpoint control, his variety of pitches, his perfect timing, balance and faultless delivery.

All have combined to make the Milwaukee Braves southpaw one of the greatest pitchers of our time. But there are other reasons for his greatness.

"It's his concentration," said Musial, who probably has engaged in more hand-to-hand duels with the 42-year-old Spahn than with any other pitcher. "He never gives you the pitch you are looking for. It's useless to try to outguess him."

"I've been hitting against him nearly 18 years and I haven't been able to figure him out yet."

"I always try to get the hitter to hit my pitch, not his," said Spahn. "And I never pitch to the hitters the same way from season to season. That's because there is always the possibility that the hitter gave considerable thought over the winter to the way in which I pitched to him the preceding year and he might be looking for those pitches the next."

"It's his confidence," said Fred Haney, general manager of Los Angeles Angels who was Spahn's skipper during Braves' pennant winning years.

"He walks out there with the sort of snap that shouts confidence. You can tell he means business—that he's the boss—just by the way he stands on the mound and breathes defiance down the batter's throat."

NOT AFRAID

"I live on competition," said Spahn. "I'm at home on the mound, I won't be afraid of the hitter. I may respect him but I won't fear him. The pitcher must always remember that no matter how good the hitter is, he's only human. So it comes down to this. It's one human being against another."

"I'm not as fast as I used to be," conceded Spahn. "I've got to compensate. How? By being smarter, by being more observant, by being more alert. If I did my best. I always do."

"I don't know of anyone who likes what he's doing as much as Spahn, unless it's Willie Mays," said Alvin Dark, San Francisco Giants manager.

BASEBALL FUN

"I've never considered baseball hard work," said Spahn. "I'm fortunate to be engaged in a business which is fun compared to other businesses.

"After what we went through overseas during the war, I never could consider anything else tough. Compared to life in the army, pitching is a racket.

In order to protect my racket I made up my mind a long time ago I'd give 100 per cent of myself at all times. The least I can do is give my best."

Dave Mann Makes Quick Recovery

Mann injured his knee in the opening game of the season Aug. 9 and underwent an operation to remove a badly torn cartilage.

Dr. John Palmer said: "Usually a cartilage operation of this type requires about eight weeks' recovery but here it is four weeks and Dave is ready for action. I never heard of anyone getting over this operation so quickly."

Senators Nip Cubs 5-2 In Opener

The Senators nipped the Cubs 5-3 in the first game of the city Peewee baseball league finals last night, both clubs coming up with a top effort.

Fielding by both clubs was exceptional but centre-fielder Fobert, of Senators, saved the game for his team by racing back to steal two home runs from Cub sluggers with men on base in both instances.

Fobert also led his club at the plate, hitting well and scoring three times. The winning battery of McTaggart and Probert also played good ball. McTaggart allowed just four hits.

Ted Shaw pitched a five-hitter and also led his team at bat for the Cubs, getting strong support from catcher Arnott.

Time and place of the next game has not been decided at this time.

Senators 101 010 2—5-5-2
Cubs 000 010 1—2-4-3

Batteries — McTaggart and Probert; Shaw and Arnott.

Take Stiff Measures to Stop Doping

DONCASTER, England (AP) A security guard was thrown around the stables in Doncaster Tuesday to prevent dopers from getting at the seven thoroughbreds entered for Wednesday's St. Leger—last flat classic of the British racing season.

A 10-foot-high steel fence with barbed wire protected the horses, security men were on guard around the clock and well-fanciied horses were switched from stable to stable in special protective measures.

Reason for the big precautions was Ragusa, trained in Ireland, owned by Jim Mullion and an odds-on favorite to win the St. Leger, first run in 1776. It's feared that somebody might try to "get at him."

Doubts still surround Frenchowned Relko who won the English Derby three months ago. Inquiries are continuing into whether Relko was doped.

Horse Sale Brings Total Of $221,000

TORONTO (CP)—The Canadian Thoroughbred Horse Society ended its annual two-night sale of yearling race horses here Tuesday registering total receipts of $221,000 for 113 fledgling runners.

Top price for the 59 sold Tuesday was $4,200, paid by Mrs. Verna C. Canty of Ste. Marguerite, Que., for a bay filly by Chop Chop out of Eternal Flower.

Average price paid Tuesday was $1,956, compared with $2,820 Monday.

Prices ranged down to $300, far below the $1,200 to $2,000 estimated cost of keeping a horse from its birth until it goes to the yearling sales.

Average price over the two nights was $1,956. The record in the 36-year history of the society's sales was set in 1959 when 36 yearlings brought prices averaging $3,028.

Chatham Signs Sudbury Star

CHATHAM, Ont. (CP)—George Usitalo, 24, was signed by Chatham Maroons manager Gus Morison to an International Hockey League contract Tuesday.

Usitalo is the first to sign a contract for next season, Chatham's first in the IHL. The Sudbury native was second in team scoring last year, his first with the Maroons, with 24 goals and 28 assists in 37 Ontario Hockey Association senior A games.

The Trots

CAMPBELLVILLE, Ont. (CP)—Karen Sota paced the mile in 2:07.2 Tuesday night to win the $1,500 featured race at Mohawk Raceway.

Karen Sota paid $4.20, $2.60 and $2.80 with second-place Joe Symbol returning $3 and $2. Nonny C. Grattan paid $3.60.

The Quinella returned a lucky $218.20. Wind Song was the sixth to pay $9.80 and Mary Dillon completed the payoff with an $11.20 place return.

Braves May Shift To Atlanta

CHICAGO (AP)—The Chicago American says Atlanta, Ga., will become the next new city to field a major league baseball club if and when Milwaukee Braves move.

In a story by sports writer James Enright, the American says it is the opinion of several of the game's leaders that the Braves may ask and receive permission from National League club owners to move the franchise to Atlanta.

Major league owners were in Chicago Monday for a meeting reported to have been held by baseball commissioner Ford Frick to help chart the future of the major leagues.

Sport Snapshots

By DON HANRIGHT

OTTAWA (CP)—Pro hockey has pulled out of Ottawa and many feel it will be years before it returns. It may even be gone for good.

After three seasons here with thin crowds, Sammy Pollock closed out operation of Hull-Ottawa Canadiens of the Eastern Professional Hockey League after the 1962-63 season.

This would have been a civic catastrophe in the hey-day of the Ottawa Senators of the NHL or the famed old Silver Seven who satisfied Ottawa's insatiable appetite for pro hockey for many years.

But few mourn the Habs' departure. Even the diehard fans saw it coming; a declining interest in pro hockey everywhere outside the NHL; the local ban on Sunday sport; competition from TV.

Despite this, Pollock insisted his move was only temporary and that the club will return if somebody builds a new hockey arena. However, he didn't say who should build it.

All that Ottawa has is a 7,800-seat civic auditorium built in 1923. Fresh paint every year hasn't been able to conceal the fact that it's run-down. It hasn't been filled to capacity in years. Estimates of what it would cost to put it in shape run around $100,000.

BOUGHT BY Y

In any case, the YMCA has bought the property and intends to raze the auditorium and put up its own building.

Somewhere on a city hall shelf are plans for a new arena. "They've been talking about it for 20 years," says Jack Hoffman, Ottawa Citizen sports editor. "But it seems that city hall couldn't care less."

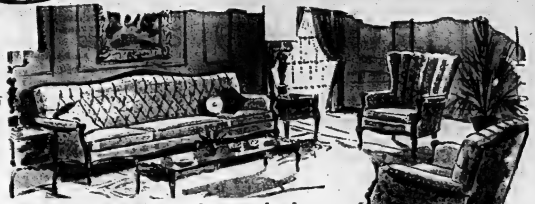
The city hasn't forgotten hockey completely. Last winter it had 63 outdoor rinks and operated 96 boys' leagues with 643 teams and almost 6,000 players. Within five years it will have six indoor rinks seating between 300 and 400 each. But this is hardly what Pollock wants.

"We've not interested in making professionals," says Alph Dubois, 41-year-old head of the Ottawa recreation department. "We're interested in getting boys out on the ice."

Dubois, a lifelong Ottawa resident who recalls when King Clancy, the Boucher brothers and other stars learned their hockey on the frozen Rideau River, explains the demise:

"It's a combination of many things common to many cities. We have another factor here. In my hockey days we couldn't even spell the word 'ski'."

Now the nearby Gatineau Hills come alive with skiers every winter weekend. Up to 10,000 are at Camp Fortune—billed as the world's biggest ski club.



For thousands winter means skiing, not hockey, and the city-run hockey leagues can't hold boys much beyond the age of 14.

Income Tax Explained

A column designed and written for the working persons, who are not in a position to employ the services of a professional accountant or visit an Income Tax Office.

By C. A. MILLER
Former Supervising Assessor
Income Tax Dept.

Many taxpayers who receive an inheritance from the will of a relative or the proceeds of a life insurance policy, are at a loss as to how this will affect their income tax return for the year it was received.

An income receipt of this nature need not be reported as it is neither investment or earned income. It is a pure capital gain and not taxable, it is only the income this capital earns when invested or the bank interest from it that becomes taxable income to the taxpayer.

If the inheritance if from a perpetuating estate and the taxpayer receives a sum each year until the estate is wound up, then the yearly receipts are taxable and must be reported.

The taxpayer should receive from the estate executors a T3 slip showing the amount he must report. The income on the T3 slip will be shown under the various categories from which it was derived. Any income appearing under the heading "Taxable Canadian Operations" is subject to be 20% dividend credits which is often missed by the taxpayer.

The taxpayer will also be allowed to take credit for any amount under "Foreign Tax Paid" should this item appear on the T3 slip. T3 slips are also issued by agencies and trusts.

A point to be remembered is that to be non taxable a bequest, inheritance or proceeds from a life insurance policy must be received in a lump sum. Refunds of pension contributions are not exempt as they are not a bequest, from a deceased person.

Question No. 1 — My son was killed in a car accident. I received $3000 insurance. Is this sum taxable?

Answer: No. It need not be reported on your tax return.

Question No. 2 — I received an inheritance of $1000 from an uncle. Do I report this?

Answer: No.

Question No. 3 — I received a refund of my late husband's pension contributions. Is this taxable?

Answer: No. Check with your local Income Tax Office as a special rate under Section 28 of the Income Tax Act may be to your advantage.

Will Attempt To Dispose of Surplus Tobacco - - Robarts

By JOHN LEBLANC

ST. THOMAS, Ont. (CP)—Ontario will attempt to break into the European and United Kingdom markets to dispose of 30,000,000 pounds of surplus tobacco in storage in the province, Premier Robarts announced Tuesday night.

Speaking in the heart of Ontario's tobacco-growing country, he said a delegation will leave shortly for overseas in the hope of opening up the new markets for the hard-pressed tobacco industry in co-operation with the federal government.

"We are not looking for bargain prices," the premier said in a general campaign speech in the centre of Conservative-held Elgin riding for the Sept. 25 election.

Mr. Robarts, addressing about 300 persons in a high school auditorium, said the tobacco delegation will consist of George Demeyere, chairman of the Ontario Flue-Cured Tobacco Growers Marketing Board, and George McCague, chairman of the Ontario Farm Products Marketing Board.

The tobacco board and the Ontario and federal governments are joint owners of the surplus tobacco which was purchased from last year's crops after marketing difficulties arose. Part of the purchase price came from a three-cent-a-pound levy on the growers against the tobacco sold.

The stored surplus tobacco consists of 7,000,000 pounds from the 1961 crop and 23,000,000 pounds from last year's. It was bought by the tobacco marketing board when marketing difficulties arose, with the help of a three-cent-pound levy on growers from tobacco they sold and loan guarantees from the federal government in 1961 and the Ontario government in 1962.

SOLD AT AUCTION

Ontario tobacco normally is sold at auction in the growing areas. None has been sold direct to the U.K. and continental markets.

Premier Robarts said after the meeting that the surplus tobacco is of grades that should be acceptable on the overseas market.

The premier said the sales delegation will leave for Europe in the next few days. He described the mission as a practical step to aid the tobacco industry.

In an address devoted mainly to agriculture, Mr. Robarts said the provincial government has been making a determined effort to improve exports of agricultural products generally.

"We are just as interested in developing markets for agricultural products as for our manufactured goods," he said. "We are determined that agriculture will gain strength and remain a full partner with industry in the general advance of the economic life of our province."

Earlier in the day, Mr. Robarts made two brief speeches to small groups where he broke no new ground. Then he travelled to his home,town of London where he spent the afternoon working on campaign business.

DROVE TO WOODSTOCK

From Kitchener in Waterloo North riding, where he spoke on Monday night, he drove first to Woodstock where he presented a government "A for achievement" award to the firm of Thomas Bulls Sons (Canada) Limited, established a year ago to make vehicles formerly exported to Canada by its parent company in the United States.

The award is given to firms for contributions to the Ontario economy in such areas as export sales, increased plant capacity, new product development, and the replacement of imports by home-made articles.

Speaking to the plant's 45 employees, Mr. Robarts said the new firm's activities are an example of what the government is trying to do in its "trade crusade" to have Ontario products supplant imports.

At the Woodstock committee rooms of Oxford candidate Gordon Pittock—trying to crack a well-entrenched Liberal seat—he used the same theme in a short speech to some 50 persons who responded to a window placard advertising coffee, cakes and the premier. The doughnuts were at the bun plant and the sandwiches at a refresher stop at Ingersoll enroute to London.

Interest Rates Are Exhorbitant Says Mac Donald

By DAVID DAVIDSON

ATIKOKAN, Ont. (CP)—Donald MacDonald, provincial New Democratic Party leader, Tuesday night accused "old party government" of allowing exorbitant interest rates.

"For years the government has tolerated interest rates that have amounted to nothing less than "legalized robbery," he told a Rainy River riding political rally in support of businessman Owen Lindsay.

Mr. MacDonald, on the fourth day of a tour of Northern Ontario, said that if his party were elected in the Sept. 25 Ontario election it would establish a bureau to "help consumers get value for their money and to protect them against the fixing of artificially high prices by large corporations."

The bureau, he said, would have the power to administer prices and ensure that goods displayed for sale would be clearly marked as to price and content. It would be a research and information bureau that would supply the necessary information to help them protect themselves."

"As consumers we are the most vulnerable and most unorganized group in our society.

PEOPLE BESIEGED

"We are besieged with advertising on every hand. We are pressured by salesmen. We are victimized by monopoly prices. And yet we are virtually defenceless against this ordinary sin on our pocketbooks."

Mr. MacDonald told the rally in this mining community that although interest rates are unjustifiable, "landlords are the worst area in which the provincial government can act. It can provide for "fai disclosure of the effective annual interest rate that is being charged through businesses and special payments of one kind and another."

But the mortgage field is another area where something can be done.

"In housing the government should re - enter the second mortgage field. This would drive the shyster operators out of the field."

Mr. MacDonald also suggested that the government set up a "genuine public fund" to finance tourism and industry at rates that would encourage development of Northern Ontario. He said that a New Democratic government would set up a department of co-operatives "to assist in the development of co-operative enterprises to the fullest extent possible.

"Consumer co-operatives and credit unions are the traditional organizations by which the individual has banded together with his fellow citizens to protect his interests.

Mr. MacDonald and his wife, who is accompanying him on the tour, drove here Tuesday from Fort Arthur, some 170 miles east. They were to fly today to Sault Ste. Marie for an evening rally.

WILL INTERVENE

GENEVA, Switzerland (Reuters) — The International Red Cross movement decided at its centenary congress here Tuesday that Red Cross should intervene to preserve world peace when simultaneously called on by states in conflict. It took this step by overwhelmingly passing a French - sponsored resolution approving intervention by the Red Cross international committee in the Cuban crisis last October.

Liberal Leader Charges PCs With Bungling

By BILL MacDOUGALL

COBOURG, Ont. (CP)—Liberal Leader John Wintermeyer Tuesday night accused the Progressive Conservative government of bungling by inaction Ontario's chances of sharing in the federal-municipal loan fund this winter.

"If a single worker is deprived of a job this winter because of Tory delay and indecision on this matter, let him blame (Premier) John Robarts," Mr. Wintermeyer told a crowd of some 400 who turned out for a rally, preceded by a 30-car motorcade led by a band and a troupe of majorettes at Cobourg West Collegiate.

A federal - provincial conference at the end of July to consider implementation of the $400,000,000 fund — Ontario's share is $141,000,000—had ended successfully and Premier Robarts then had said he did not need any provincial legislation to make the scheme work.

"A week ago when Mr. Robarts was up in Fort Arthur, he announced that special provincial legislation would be introduced after all," the Liberal leader said. The premier had announced he would convene a special legislature session as soon as possible after the election to pass the legislation, to allow Ontario communities to take advantage of the loans.

Then last Saturday in Owen Sound the premier had said the federal loans may be on their way to some municipalities in Ontario before the leaves fall.

IMPOSSIBLE TO MEET

If the Conservatives were re-elected "it would be almost a practical impossibility to convene the legislature before Oct. 25," Mr. Wintermeyer said.

"And even if the legislation were passed in a day, the federal board would not be got to the municipalities in time in order to permit them to lay on projects which will significantly alleviate unemployment this winter."

A Liberal government in Ontario would "on the day after the election authorize the federal-municipal loan board at Ottawa to make its loans directly to the municipalities in Ontario."

The Liberal leader also pledged for a bigger government hand in the economy. He said:

"The plain fact is that enlightened business today and enlightened organized labor today know that government intervention in the economy is necessary and desirable and that what has to be done is to work out machinery so that the forces of direction can be planned to produce full employment."

Mr. Robarts speaks only for the Tory side, the ultra-conservative side of business. He no more understands the views of progressive businessmen than he understands the views of progressive trade unionists."

The Conservatives had made valuable contribution in years gone by to Ontario, but the "Tory regime which rules this province of today is a monstrosity which has lost sight of, and lost touch with the public welfare."

SPOKE TO RALLY

Mr. Wintermeyer was speaking to a rally on behalf of Jack Hastings, federal candidate for the Northumberland. The riding was one of two long-time Conservative territories he visited Tuesday. He received an enthusiastic welcome at the beginning of his day's campaigning which included five stops in east-central Ontario.

He concluded his day of town-hopping at an old-age home here, where Hastings gave him a not-so-enthusiastic greeting.

After giving a luncheon address in Belleville, where he had gone by chartered bus from Toronto, the Liberal leader gave brief talks at Brighton and Colborne and toured portions of the RCAF base and met Mayor Jim MacDonald at Trenton.

In his speech at Belleville and his talks at Brighton and Colborne, he restated the Liberal platforms for the Sept. 25 general election, emphasizing what he called the hopelessness of the Progressive Conservative government's record, industrial and economic development, and education.

During his tour of the Golden Plow Inn at Colborne, Mr. Wintermeyer ran across a Conservative supporter who refused to shake hands. The man mumbled that "it is unfair" that the Liberal leader had a chance to speak to the residents at supper although "that other fellow" (Mr. Robarts) does not get a similar opportunity when he visits the home earlier in the campaign.

ADDRESSED RESIDENTS

Mary Broomfield, matron of the home, said later Premier Robarts arrived after supper and addressed the residents in the lounge. She said his visit was announced "two or three times" in advance.

"It's always a pleasure to shake hands with a Conservative," Mr. Wintermeyer said. "I'm a man, Bill R. Orr of Prince Edward County, in his 70s, refused to grasp the proffered hand.

Speaking non - politically to about 35 persons in the home's dining-room, Mr. Wintermeyer said that "we must assure that older people have comfort in the later part of their lives."

Police Chiefs Demand Lawyer Give Details

HAMILTON (CP)—A desire for improved public relations was the order of the day at the opening of the annual conference of the Canadian Association of Chiefs of Police here Tuesday.

The question of public image was behind a unanimous vote by the 200 delegates in favor of asking a lawyer who had accused police of psychological and physical third-degree methods to provide specific examples.

The police chiefs will send a letter to the secretary of the Canadian Bar Association, denying the comments made by Lawrence Corriveau, a Quebec City criminal lawyer, at the association's annual meeting, last week in Banff, Alta.

Mr. Corriveau said many persons are held incommunicado by police for several days and kept from seeing a lawyer, friends or family.

The motion was the first official act of a newly formed permanent committee on police ethics. To be headed by RCMP Commissioner W. J. Kelly, it will issue public statements on matters concerning police activities.

SHOULD USE PRESS

Association president, Police Chief Adam Dombowsky of Saskatoon, urged the police chiefs to counteract bad publicity and say the press is spread by police gospel and bring the public and police closer together.

At a traffic seminar, Regina Police Chief A. G. Cookson defended the use of radar speed traps. But he said such equipment should be well advertised and only put into use in the interests of good public relations.

The chiefs also agreed they are not in favor of a policeman trying to sell tickets to his policeman's ball or to walks his beat.

Joseph Brunet, director-general of the Quebec Provincial Police, said he thinks police solicitation of funds is bad public relations and "hurts the reputation of the profession," he said.

But they all agreed the police associations would have an increased financial problem if they simply abandon the practice.

AT THE BELLEVILLE DRIVE-IN — Behind the ominously barred windows of their melancholy Hollywood mansion Bette Davis tortures her back on Joan Crawford's anguished appeal for release from her macabre persecutions in this stark scene from "What Ever Happened to Baby Jane?", the surprise-filled Warner Bros. suspense drama opening tonight at the Belleville Drive-In Theatre. The two Academy Award winners are cast as aging sisters, each of whom had been a great star. In the tragi-comic title role, Miss Davis portrays a one-time child star with bizarre delusions of making a comeback while Miss Crawford plays a former film star whose career was ended by a crippling accident. 2nd feature attraction filmed in color "Manhunt in the Jungle", features an all-star cast.

Imogene Coca Not Worried About Name of New Series

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP)—Some television experts are fretting about the unusual title of Imogene Coca's new comedy series, Grindl. They find it hard to pronounce—and wonder whether it will be confused with a different comedy series, Glynis, on a rival network.

But it doesn't really bother Miss Coca much in these days before her first plunge into television situation-comedy.

"With my own name, how on earth can I worry about Grindl?" she asked. "People are used to having trouble with Imogene—probably most people call it eye-mo-jean, and Coca gets mixed up with cocoa. And then they settle for 'what's her name.'"

Her fan mail is notable for the misspelling of her name. Imogene checks over one affectionate letter addressed to "Emma Jean Kosher."

She made several efforts to change the name when she got into show business.

TRIED OTHER NAMES

"I tried Donna Hart, Helen Gardner and Jill Cameron," Imogene said, almost wistfully. "But somehow they never stuck."

When recorvillian came, it was as Imogene Coca, in New Faces of 1934, a Broadway revue. Six teen years later, she became a favorite comedienne in the wonderful Your Show of Shows with Sid Sc'caesr on NBC television.

As Grindl, she'll play a naive, well - intentioned illegnant worker. The show begins on NBC Sunday evening.

Another doctor arrives on the television screens this month—Dr. Richard Kimble. He won't be a dedicated healer but an innocent man who had been convicted of murder. David Janssen, once the jaunty private eye, Richard Diamond, will play the doctor in The Fugitive, a new ABC entry starting next Tuesday.

That boosts the number of evening television medical practitioners to nine, a larger group than lawyers, cops or cowboys.

It's Dull Day in Hollywood In Dark With Tina Louise

By JAMES RACON

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—It was one of those dreary days on the Hollywood beat that made you wish you had stuck with your original major in college instead of journalism.

First stop was 20th Century-Fox where Bob Mitchum was in the midst of an orgy scene for "What a Way to Go.

Director J. Lee Thompson kept shooting the scene over and over again.

I remarked to Mitchum: "Don't you hate these perfectionists like Thompson who want to shoot and re-shoot?"

"Yeah," answered Bob, "I especially hate it when we're doing this heavy dramatic stuff. Takes a lot out of an actor."

One of the starlets walked up. I recognized her as Barbara Bouchet, Miss Munich a year or so back.

"Honey, let's have lunch after the orgy," I suggested.

She had another date so I went over to Paramount.

DOING BUMPS

There Tina Louise was doing bumps and grinds on a stage. She plays a stripper in For Those Who Think Young.

She finished her number and took me in her dressing room. She was wearing what strippers usually wear.

"You know I've been away from town for a year studying method acting at the actor's studio," she enthused. I said I liked her method.

Then the lights went out in her dressing room.

So I went out looking for an electrician.

I couldn't find an electrician so came back and Tina and I chatted in the dark for a half-hour or so. Then her boy friend came in. He looked a little like Frankie Fontaine, Al Capone henchman. We kept chatting some more about method acting and the boy friend kept muttering something about, "How come the lights are on in the other dressing rooms?"

So I left. It's a living.

Grosscup Reports To Saskys

REGINA (CP) — Quarterback Lee Grosscup has decided to give Canadian football a try after all.

The former all-American from Utah State checked into the camp of Saskatchewan Roughriders Tuesday to squelch reports he had turned down a transfer offer from the Western Football Conference club in favor of a job with Oakland Raiders of the American Football League.

Grosscup said the confusion probably resulted because he had failed to report to Saskatchewan as scheduled. He said he notified Roughrider general manager Ken Preston that he had received an offer from Oakland and wished to think matters over for a few days. He then had a talk with Roughrider coach Bob Shaw and decided in Saskatchewan's favor.

THEY'RE LITTERBUGS

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—Torontonians always have been and always will be litterbugs of the worst type, C. T. Bell, commissioner of Parks and recreation in Toronto, said Tuesday. Litterbugs are especially active during the Canadian National Exhibition, he added.

At the Belle

JERRY LEWIS FUNNY IN "THE NUTTY PROFESSOR"

Jerry Lewis' new comedy, "The Nutty Professor," opens today at the Belle Theatre. It is Jerry's 12th feature since his break with Dean Martin, and in addition to playing the title role, he also directed the film, long and wrote the screenplay.

The Nutty Professor is one Julius H. Kelp, who teaches chemistry at a large American university. Professor Kelp is the diagnosis of the faculty due to his inept handling of his students and his wild experiments that frequently blow up the chemistry laboratory. Kelp, a bumbling, bespectacled type, finally hits upon a chemical potion that transforms him into a handsome, charming man about-campus. He becomes an hyp-league Jekyll and Hyde, and just like that renowned experimenter, his potion wears off at embarrassing moments, like just when he's about to make love to Stella Stevens. As can be expected, everything works out in the end, but there's many a laugh along the way.

The Nutty Professor was filmed on location on the campus of Arizona State University and includes an extra, practically the entire student body.

FOOTBALLER DIES

BETHESDA, Md. (AP)—Samuel Bithorn, 24-year-old football player, died Tuesday four days after surgery for a blood clot in the brain. He was injured Friday during team calisthenics but there was nothing to indicate a football injury.

AT THE PARK — Robert Lansing and "THE Precinct" face in the colorful Master Sergeant in "A Gathering of Eagles", story of America's mighty retaliatory striking force of bombers and underground Titan missiles. Rock Hudson heads the all-star cast of the film, co-hit for Mary Peach and Barry Sullivan. Scenes for the color feature were actually photographed at SAC'S Headquarter State at Omaha, Nebraska. "A Gathering of Eagles", opens Thursday at the Park Theatre for its first showings. Complete shows are at 7.00 and 9.10 p.m.

LONDON (CP)—Of the estimated 16,700,000 homes in Britain, close to half were built before 1900, about one-quarter before 1880.

At last count, 5,000,000 were without a bathroom—in another 11,187,000 homes, the bath was shared by one or more families. It is estimated that only about four per cent have central heating.

The clamor for such heating units is gaining momentum and the percentage is climbing steadily, but on the plumbing side experts predict new figures later this year won't show any appreciable improvement over the last 10 years.

Aside from the quality of much existing accommodation, a recent government white paper estimated the total shortage of houses at "somewhere between 500,000 and 1,000,000." Other experts, who disagree with the government's definition of a slum, say the figure should be much higher.

For thousands of people in low- and middle-income brackets the whole thing means living in squalid accommodations. For others it means the waiting list for up to 10 years before getting a council flat.

YOUNG COUPLES LEAVE

Many young couples despair of ever having a home of their own and hundreds of this year's bumper crop of immigrants to Canada have given this as a major reason for leaving Britain.

Rents and land values, especially in the cities, have skyrocketed since controls were lifted in 1957. In this atmosphere, dozens of powerful landlords have grown wealthy on the misery of others, particularly the poor and immigrants.

It all adds up to a monstrous headache for the government and local councils, together responsible for public housing in Britain. Also coming in for severe criticism is the building industry itself, accused of slow, old-fashioned methods.

"Why are houses still being built more or less as they were in the time of the first Elizabethans?" asked The Daily Mirror in a recent editorial.

A housing ministry architect has admitted a new method could cut the time for building a council house-of flats to three from 12 months and the government has established a special department to promote research into new and rapid methods.

LOOK TO CANADA

A housing mission back from Canada has presented as enthusiastic report on Canadian-style frame homes and said they could be adapted to British needs. Two hundred will be built as an experiment and the Canadian timber mission here has been flooded with inquiries from eager Britons dreaming of a centrally-heated, insulated, damp-free home.

The problem is to cost. Although no price has been established, it seems likely such homes will be well beyond the reach of the people who need them most.

The government says about 300,000 homes a year have been built since the 1920s but the majority were absorbed by the rapidly rising population. The target has been stepped up to 350,000 but this still isn't enough to make any great cut in the problem. It takes 125,000 a year just to keep up with the population growth.

The 10-year slum - clearance scheme started in 1956 aimed at clearing 97,000 a year but in 1961, the best year so far, only 75,000 came down.

MAKE NO COMMENT

The government's official figures make no comment on the more than 9,000,000 homes built since 1820. The 7,600,000 built before that are listed as: 800,000 slums; 2,500,000 "twilight" accommodations — an ill - defined term generally covering homes unsatisfactory but not "officially" earmarked for slum clearance; 3,000,000 still sturdy enough to be worth renovating and eligible for assistance grants; 1,500,000 up to standard.

The government gets its figures from local councils but the difficulty arises when some authorities estimate the size of their problem only in proportion to the number of houses they could reasonably hope to clear in the foreseeable future.

Self-Winding Wrist Watches Will Be Reward

VICTORIA (CP) — Beachcombers on Vancouver Island will be looking for free self-winding wrist watches next year, courtesy of a scientific and promotional project in Japan.

The gifts will arrive next summer when 130 small yellow buoys with waterproof watches attached start floating into coastal waters.

The buoys were dropped in June and July. Japanese fishing buoys found on the west coast of Vancouver Island usually take a year to arrive.

The eight-inch buoys will contain letters written by young people of various nationalities three reasons for their plans:

To study ocean currents;

To test the performance of the company's waterproof watches;

And to promote friendship between Japan, Canada and the United States.

Cross-Canada Survey

Every Province Experiencing Some Degree of Shortage Of Academic Teachers

By MEL SUFRIN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Quality, not quantity, is the word most often heard these days in discussions about Canada's shortage of teachers.

With an estimated 180,000 teachers joining 4,500,000 pupils in the post-Labor Day return to schools, it cannot be said that anyone is being denied an education.

But how good an education is another matter. Despite a great improvement in schools and equipment, the culture of the teaching is still regarded as the key.

A Cross-Canada Survey by The Canadian Press shows that every province is experiencing some degree of shortage of fully qualified academic teachers or specialists in such subjects as physical education, home economics and industrial arts.

High school principals in Ontario are talking of reaching into the ranks of retired teachers to help ease the shortage of qualified personnel. At a meeting in Hamilton they urged the department of education to review the policy of compulsory retirement at 65.

C. G. King, chairman of a seminar, said only 906 students entered the Ontario College of Education — the province's source of secondary school teachers—last year when the required number was about 2,500.

IMPORT TEACHERS

As with most provinces, Manitoba reports its shortage greatest in rural areas. But even Greater Winnipeg is having trouble getting qualified staff and 15 teachers have been brought in from Britain.

In British Columbia, which has grave shortages of specialty teachers in some rural high schools in the north, even Victoria has problems. There had been hopes of reducing the teacher-pupil ratio from 38 to 1 to 35 to 1 but the shortage foiled this and to meet the situation some persons not fully qualified to teach but who would make good tutors if they held certificates are being granted temporary permits.

Joseph Page, deputy minister of youth in Quebec, says the teaching situation has improved in the province, with more candidates than usual seeking positions. But Montreal reports major shortages in Grades 1 and 3 in Roman Catholic schools and as a result half-day classes will be continued.

There is also improvement in Newfoundland where, says Superintendent C. L. Roberts, fewer teachers lacking full qualifications are getting jobs each year.

RETIRED OFFICERS

Prince Edward Island and Nova Scotia report shortages among specialty teachers in physical education and household sciences—in higher grades but fewer problems in elementary grades. New Brunswick continues to experience a shortage in the northeastern part of the province.

The shortage in Alberta is mostly for teachers of industrial arts, commercial subjects and English, while Saskatchewan needs more home economics and physical education instructors.

An unusual situation has cropped up in Ottawa where in the last few years schools have been getting retired military officers, including colonels, captains, majors and even one air commodore. Military men usually retire about 44 or 45 and some choose teaching as a post-service career.

South Africa's Economy Face In Big Smile

Business is booming for the already prosperous white population and many new industrial projects are under way to boost the economy of Africa's most highly developed country.

The latest such project is a copper mining venture at Phalaborwa in northeastern Transvaal, where Canadian, American, British and German enterprise is combining with South African interests to establish one of the world's greatest new open-pit mines.

The Palabora Mining Company, controlled by Britain's Rio Tinto Zinc Corporation, will spend 74,000,000 rands ($103,600,000) before reaching the production stage in three years' time.

Shares in the project are held by Rio-Algom Mines Limited of Canada, the Newmont Mining Corporation of the United States, American Metal Climax of the United States and various South African companies.

A German bank, Kreditanstalt Fur Wiederaufbau, is providing loan capital totalling nearly $27,000,000.

STATISTICAL PROOF

Before Palabora chairman Brig. M. A. W. Rowlandson announced the venture, the country was already buzzing with reports of the boom which everybody had felt in the air for the last six months, but which official statistics have only now proved.

The Reserve Bank (the national banking institution) stated in its latest quarterly review that for the first four months of this year "income, production and employment increased substantially, while most other economic indicators revealed definite further upward tendencies."

Upward trends were noted in private consumption (without inflation), gold output, exports, and private fixed investment.

While the boom has been encouraged largely by government spending on defence equipment, on expansion of the large iron and steel corporation and by the government's 29-year Orange River project, one of the world's largest irrigation schemes, the Palabora announcement is the cherry on the top.

This scheme is reported to be the—biggest single-development mining project in the history of this country.

Besides copper, which will be mined at the rate of 38,500 tons of ore daily, there will be by-products such as phosphates, vermiculite, gold, silver and enough magnetite to start a new steel industry.

Lift Building In Two Stages By Helicopter

VANCOUVER (CP)—A helicopter has helped the B.C. Forest Service solve one of its trickiest problems.

The service has discovered that some careful preparation and the recruitment of a whirlybird can result in forest fire lookouts being built atop high, remote mountains.

The service was faced with the task of getting material and equipment to the top of Tangle Mountain, a 4,407-foot peak near Nanaimo on Vancouver Island.

To carry out the job by conventional means it would have been necessary to construct a road under difficult conditions and probably at prohibitive cost.

A helicopter was brought in and the prefabricated lookout building was lifted to the mountain top in two stages. It took just one day to complete the job.

Two loads of lumber for the foundation went in first, followed by the two sections of the actual building.

The top of the mountain was rigged and the helicopter couldn't land. The loads, comprising everything from dishes and a garbage can to the building itself, were dropped from a short distance above the rocks.

The lookout became the 25th established on Vancouver Island.

Three Victoria Cross Winners Lived on One Winnipeg Street

Because of this, Pine Street, a quiet residential byway in Winnipeg's west end, was renamed Valour Road in 1925.

It was so named because from one short block of its length during the First World War came three winners of the highest award for bravery under fire.

Only one of the three neighbors ever knew their street changed its name for only one returned from the war — Capt. Robert Shankland of the 43rd Battalion, The Queen's Own Cameron Highlanders.

Sgt. Frederick William Hall died in the action that earned him his VC April 24, 1915, near Ypres, and Sgt. Leo Clarke was killed shortly after winning his VC near Poziores Sept. 9, 1916.

Valour Road, because of the sacrifices of these three, may claim the finest fighting record of any single thoroughfare in the Commonwealth.

Capt. Shankland was in command of a small group of men near Passchendaele when they captured a ridge that, to their surprise, commanded the whole area around them.

HELD OFF ATTACKS

Standing off repeated German attacks, the group held the ridge while Capt. Shankland twice traversed through heavy fire to his company command post, finally convincing those in command that the position was strategically valuable and worth defending.

Sgt. Hall died in the second of two attempts to save a wounded comrade under heavy enemy fire. He was with the 8th Canadian Battalion.

Sgt. Clarke, with the 2nd Canadian Battalion, was detailed to clear enemy troops from a newly - captured trench and block house.

He still was rebuilding the block house when about 20 Germans attacked and most of his men were killed.

His citation reads: "He boldly advanced against them, emptied his revolver and afterwards two enemy rifles which he picked up in the trench."

Wounded, he continued fighting until the enemy fled, whereupon he chased them, killing four and capturing a fifth.

Capt. Shankland moved to Vancouver soon after the war and, except for those who take time to read a small bronze plaque at the entrance to the street, was perhaps one of few who know how proper it was to rename Pine Street as Valour Road.

Alaska Folk War on Bears After Attacks

FAIRBANKS, Alaska (AP) — Folks around here are so up in arms over recent attacks by black bears they're knocking the bears "off like mosquitos," says District Attorney Herbert D. Soll.

He is concerned about the wanton slaying of bears which recently attacked at least three men and killed a fourth. The bears were in a bad mood, officials said, because they couldn't get enough blueberries to eat.

Six bears were killed last weekend near Fairbanks and no attempt was made to salvage the meat or hides.

The wanton slaughter of bears is illegal, Fred Wolstad of the state fish and game department said Monday, even when the animal is shot in defence of life or property.

Meanwhile, folks on both sides of the fence are hoping for the blueberry crop to improve.

DIES OF RABIES

ROME (AP) — Diana Celia Hall, a 12-year-old British girl studying at the ballet academy of the Rome Opera Theatre, died of rabies Monday 2½ weeks after being bitten on the face by a black police dog known to all students of the school. She was given anti-rabies injections but they proved ineffective.

Companies Own Planes Can Save Time and Money

MONTREAL (CP)—Canadian businesses are beginning to find that, owning their own planes can save them time and money, says John Timmins, who saw the trend to corporate aviation in 1953 and founded a business to serve it.

Mr. Timmins estimates there are more than 600 business aircraft operating in Canada.

That the Timmins Aviation Limited payroll has grown from 35 to 175 employees is another indication of commercial aviation's growth.

Besides doing overhaul and repair work for corporate aircraft, Timmins Aviation installs modern and roomy offices in old and new corporate planes.

Is an airplane a luxury for a company?

"This is a question a lot of people ask me," says Mr. Timmins, "and the answer depends on how a company wants to own a plane.

"Take an Ontario contractor and his engineers going to a site in northern Quebec. With a commercial airline they would probably have to stop over several times and would need to drive perhaps 100 miles to the site.

"This would take them at least a day and would mean they would have to stay overnight. Two or three days would be involved in this trip, not to mention that the men might be exhausted at the end of it.

SAVES TIME

"Now, with a company plane, the men could go right to the site and return the same day. They could also discuss business on the way and could spread out blueprints in their spacious high-altitude office."

Mr. Timmins says having a plane also means a contractor can get to a construction site as often as necessary, instead of putting off such trips because of the time and trouble involved.

A plane can save a company many hours, Mr. Timmins says, though how much it saves is difficult to calculate.

"It's like my dictaphone here. Many people would call it a luxury and I couldn't say what it actually saves me. All I know is that it makes my business much more efficient by enabling me to turn out many more letters."

Corporate aircraft give companies access to more places, Mr. Timmins says. "There are about 6,000 air fields in North America, of which only 600 are served by commercial airlines.

"But perhaps the strongest argument for a company plane is the fact more and more costconscious businessmen are using them. Just this afternoon, for example, the president of a big Chicago company came to see me at 2 p.m. and left in time for a 5:30 p.m. business appointment in Chicago.

"I think the more and faster an executive can move around the greater his chances of making a profitable deal for his company."

Will Appear On TV Show

TORONTO (CP) — The three major party leaders in Ontario's Sept. 25 election will meet—but not debate—on CBC television Sept. 17.

Representatives of the parties agreed Monday on the ground rules under which Progressive Conservative Premier John Robarts, Liberal Leader John Wintermeyer and New Democratic Leader Donald C. MacDonald will face the cameras together.

Each will make a separate four-minute appeal to the voters, then they will together face a panel of journalists for a 30-minute press conference.

Totem Carver Kind to Waifs Of Community

By BRUCE LEVETT

CAMPBELL RIVER, B.C. (CP)—Hey, crazy white man. You think you know James Charles King?

Well, you don't.

You see him stand all day in dungarees, sports shirt and red baseball cap, chipping his story into a long cedar pole.

But you don't really know him.

And the tourists stop to watch.

"Hey, crazy white man. You going to take my picture?"

This is the Jimmy King the chops the story of the whale, the grizzly bear and the man in the sun—the symbols of his clan—into a long cedar pole outside the plush new hotel that commissioned him to stand tourists see. They ask him the meaning of the faces in his totem and he tells them:

"On top is Indian. Down below is white man. Indian take plenty hair."

He tells them he is Chief Kla-Gwa-Ga-La, descendant of Indian royalty.

These are the totems the tourists see and these the tales they hear.

But speak to the girl on the cash desk in the drug store in the $1,000,000 plaza where Jimmy King works. Listen to the weekly editor. Ask tell of other totems and of another Jimmy King.

They tell you Jimmy was 12 when he left the reservation at remote Kingcome Inlet to learn the white man's tongue. He returned to carve a totem in memory of King George V to which coastal chieftains journeyed to place wreaths.

For seven years, until she died this spring, wherever you saw Jimmy King you saw his wife, whose blood lines to Indian royalty were firm and undisputed.

She was an arthritic and suffered from heart disease. Jimmy pushed her gently everywhere in a wheelchair.

They lived in a house filled with children, but when you ask Jimmy how many children they had, he answers:

The others? Indian waifs who wandered across his path.

"And I'm going to keep those kids."

"Now, crazy white man, maybe you know Jimmy King.

Missionaries Say Jungle Living Safe Despite Snakes

VANCOUVER (CP) — Despite 500 earth tremors a year, poisonous snakes and a constant threat of cerebral malaria, a Minnesota doctor and his family would live nowhere else but in the jungles of India.

Dr. and Mrs. Charles Merchant, missionaries who attended a Baptist General Conference here, say jungle living is every bit as safe as modern city living.

"You can cross a street and get knocked down by a car just as easily as you can be bitten by a poisonous snake," said Dr. Merchant. "You learn to live with these things and take precautions."

The doctor is on an extended furlough from the Baptist mission hospital in Tezpur, near Assam on the Communist China border in northern India, to take post-graduate work in surgery in Minneapolis, Minn., his former home.

At the 70-bed Baptist Christian Hospital in Tezpur, Dr. Merchant performs all types of operations except cardio-vascular and brain surgery. Such cases are flown to a state hospital in Vellore, 800 miles down the east coast.

HAVE SNAKE WATCHER

Their six children, ranging from 16 years to 30 months, never run barefoot as do children in more temperate climates. There is always danger of stepping on a death-dealing cobra or viper.

Instead, they go outside only when accompanied by a native girl, whose main job is to act as snake watcher.

Another danger is malaria.

The doctor's house, built of reinforced concrete, was claimed mosquito - proof. "But we put mosquito nets over the children at night just the same," said Mrs. Merchant.

"We've seen too much cerebral malaria at the hospital to take any chances."

As a further precaution the family boils all its water before drinking and takes malaria and typhus shots every six months.

"The Indians develop a certain immunity to these diseases but white people seldom do," Dr. Merchant said.

One year 500 tremors shook the Assam area. "That year our house sank four feet at the back," commented Mrs. Merchant.

But she adds: "It is a beautiful country. We have more than 200 different varieties of orchids growing wild. From our windows we can see the Himalayas on a clear day. And it is really exciting in the hunting season when the safaris go out after tiger."

FREEZES FUNDS

SINGAPORE (Reuters)—The Singapore government has frozen the funds of three powerful labor unions in an attempt to stop them using the money "to finance their Communist directives" in an effort to halt the Malaysia Federation. A government statement Monday said it would ensure the money remained to the credit of the unions.

London Subway Operating for Hundred Years

LONDON (AP)—The London subway, first in the world, is in its 100th year of operation. And it is still growing.

A century ago, even before advent of the automobile, there were monumental traffic jams in London. Horse-drawn vehicles of all kinds jostled each other on the cobblestones of crowded streets. It took hours to get across London.

The world's first subway had always been known as "the Underground."

But the construction was preceded by more than a decade of struggle to finance it. Money was hard to find, partly because of the Crimean War.

At last, in 1863, the line was ready and Londoners flocked to travel over the 3¾ miles from Bishop's Road, Paddington, to the western part of the city to Farringdon Street in the east-central section. The London Times then reported:

"Throughout the morning every station became crowded with anxious travellers who were admitted in sections. . . . The approaches to the trains could be compared to no other than the crush at the doors of a theatre on the first night of a pantomime.

"The platform gained, the next great struggle was for a seat. . . . Classification was altogether ignored. The holder of a first - class ticket being compelled to go in number three or not at all, and vice versa."

USED STEAM

There's only scat class today and there are 664 miles of route carrying 675,000,000 passengers a year. The trains are electrically propelled. A hundred years ago they moved along under steam power. The first electric line came in 1890.

Now an additional line is being constructed. The new Victoria line is due for completion in 1968. It will run from Victoria Station to King's Cross Station and out to Walthamstow in northeast London, adding 10½ miles to the present system.

Captain of Mayflower II Swallows RCN's Anchor!

That is—for any landlubbers present—he's retiring from the Royal Canadian Navy.

While retirement by 20-year-men with the rank of petty officer is not unusual, Charlie Church will leave a gap in the service. For he's a sailor with a difference. He's known the seas from the steel of a mighty warship, the surge of fine racing yachts, the wallow of double - ended whaling boats and the duplicate deck of the Mayflower.

A highlight of the 47-year-old salt's life came in 1957 when he was selected—the only Canadian—to crew Mayflower II on the Atlantic crossing that recalled the voyage in 1620 of the Pilgrim Fathers to New England.

He's also skipper of the 60-foot yawl Pickle, one of four vessels used by the navy to teach sailors how to sail.

"She's a great boat," said Church, starting to row out over Halifax Harbor where the two-master lay at anchor, "but it takes a while to get to know how to handle her.

"I'm just learning now but I haven't much time left. I'm swallowing the anchor."

CAME FROM FARM

He's quitting the career that began during the Second World War after he left the farm at Falmouth in Nova Scotia's Annapolis Valley and plans to spend "more time with the family than with the Pickle."

In his three years as captain of the Pickle, Church has handled her in numerous races, including the Newport, R.I., to Bermuda and the Marblehead, Mass., to Halifax ocean races. She was the first Canadian craft across the line in the Marblehead race. .

Before becoming skipper, Church served in many races on the Pickle and other yachts.

But racing takes only part of the Pickle's time. Many months the summer cadets and sailors take cruises to gain first-hand knowledge of a boat and the sea.

"Usually we take a trip down the southern coast of Nova Scotia, dropping anchor at a few fishing ports along the way. We get lots of recruits who can't even tie a knot. When we get through with them they have great respect for both the sea and the navy. And they know how to sail."

The Pickle was built in Germany 25 years ago as the pleasure yacht Hellgoland. After the war she was turned over to Canada as a war prize and the navy has been using her as a training ship ever since. Two of the navy's other yachts are on the east coast. The fourth is on the Pacific.

Since Church left his civilian shipwright job at HMC Dockyard here in 1944, he has served aboard the cruiser Quebec and at land establishments. He is vice-commodore of the Royal Canadian Navy Sailing Association which has nine squadrons across Canada.

That's Charlie Church, a sailor.

Armless Boy Steals Engine In Rail Yards

KANSAS CITY, Kan. (AP) — The armless boy hopped into a spare Santa Fe switch engine Monday and went rumbling blithely through the big Argentine yards while control tower men frantically switched the engine hither and yon.

Finally, finding himself headed down a dead-end switch, the boy stopped the engine, put it in reverse and was just picking up speed again when switchman Gene Schlehe jumped off another engine, leaped aboard the runway and slammed on the emergency brake.

Police took the boy to the juvenile home. They identified him as Larry Jones, 12.

"I always wanted to" was the reason Larry gave for running off with the engine.

The boy, born without arms, said he put one foot on the throttle and one on the brake. He tried to put on the headlight with his toes but couldn't.

Pothead Whales Taken Alive On Beach

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP)—The job turned out to be so easy that the general manager of the Philadelphia aquarium decided to take four pothead whales instead of two. It was a good thing, too, because two of the whales have since died.

The four potheads, eight to 12 feet long and weighing up to 1,000 pounds each, are natives of Newfoundland's Trinity Bay. And usually there is more call for them as mink feed than as aquarium exhibits.

But when Frank Powell of Philadelphia's Aquarama Theatre of the Sea came looking for potheads, an expedition was arranged. Fishermen with 10 motor boats got behind the whales as they fed in the bay. With guns they frightened the potheads on to the beach at Ballyvoe, a fishing community 20 miles west of St. John's.

"The first endeavor looked so promising, we decided to take four instead of the two originally planned," said Mr. Powell.

FOAM RUBBER BEDS

Loaded into crates, the potheads were transported to nearby Torbay Airport for the seven-hour flight to Philadelphia. They had to be watered and iced almost continuously to keep them alive.

The whales appeared to take it in stride, apart from the occasional snort when disturbed or when the tail when watered as they lay in their foam rubber bed.

However, the day after they arrived at their new home Brigus, a 10½ - footer, died of beating difficulties brought on by nervousness. Lung congestion several days later killed the end for Newly, an 11-foot male. But the other two seem to be doing fine. Once they feel at home they will be taught some tricks and then will go on exhibit.

Mr. Powell said the expedition cost about $25,000 but he expects the whales will pay for themselves, and he may be back for more next year.

Remarks a Fat Man Gets Tired of Hearing

NEW YORK (AP) — Remarks that fat men get tired of hearing:

"He's a fine figure of a man—in fact, several men."

"What made you so late for work, Roscoe? Get stuck in the subway turnstile again?"

"He doesn't need a knife and fork. Just put a shovel by his plate."

"I always like to invite that big fat fellow over there to our film previews. Whenever his fourth chin starts to chuckle, I know we've got a real hit picture on our hands."

"Hi, Tubby, what's new?" "They say nobody loves a fat man."

"Dieting never does Roscoe much good, because he always overdoes it. He thinks that if he goes on five diets at the same time he'll lose five times as much weight."

"He cut last amateur theatrical, Roscoe starred as the mob scene. He played it all by himself."

"Roscoe just dived into the swimming pool from the 11-foot board. Now, how are we going to get the water back in?"

"My, I can eat anything I want. Nothing seems to stick to my bones."

"Hi, Bubble gut. What's new?"

"Yes, sir, I know a size 50 coat fits you like a glove. But let's try this size 54 on you—I think you'll find it a bit more comfortable."

"Roscoe isn't really fat. He's just unbelievably plump."

"As I see it, it's a mathematical problem. If his tummy gets any bigger, his arms will no longer be able to reach the table—and then he's bound to start losing weight."

"The last time Roscoe played Santa Claus, the reindeer mutinied."

"They say that inside every fat man there's a thin man trying to get out. In Roscoe's case, there must be three men."

"Roscoe is so romantic. When he proposed to me, he went down on one knee. Then when I accepted him, I had to call the fire department to hoist him back up again."

"Here's a new game for you, kids. The first one to race five laps around Roscoe wins a quarter. On your marks! Get set! Go!"

KADAR MEETS TITO

Harvests Crop Of Mushrooms Every 8 Weeks

PORTAGE LA PRAIRIE, Man. (CP)—There is at least one vegetable producer in Manitoba who unfailingly harvests a crop every 5½ weeks all year round.

Under rigidly controlled conditions of warmth, humidity and light, L. C. Farmer grows mushrooms at the $500,000 plant of Western Mushroom Growers of Manitoba Limited 2½ miles west of here.

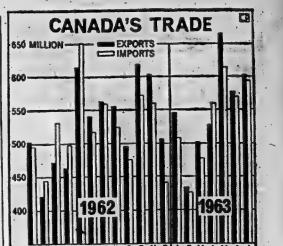
There are 12 separate growing houses under the plant's one roof and the whole process of handling the mushrooms, with the exception of the picking, is mechanized.



Pickers, generally women, enter the total darkness in which mushrooms flourish wearing miners' helmets with small lights at the front. A good picker will reap as much as 50 pounds an hour.

While the large, ripe, open mushrooms are still grown and marketed, the company has found a preference for the younger, smaller button mushroom with their milder flavor.

The largest single market for the company's product is a nearby soup plant which has an annual order of 300,000 pounds, about half the annual production of the mushroom factory.

CHANGES NAME

TORONTO (CP) — Ryerson Institute of Technology, which registered a record 3,000 students Monday, officially changes its name Wednesday. The school will become the Ryerson Polytechnic Institute during official ceremonies marking the opening of a new athletic and academic wing.

TRADE SURPLUS REPORTED — Canada had a favorable trade balance . . . an excess of exports over imports . . . of $138,100,000 for the first seven months of 1963 compared with a deficit of $131,600,000 for the same period a year earlier.

In the 12 months since July, 1962, there has been a surplus in every month except April, when the deficit was $32,400,000.

The rise in exports and decline in imports is due in part to the devaluation of the Canadian dollar's exchange rate in May last year, a move which enhanced the Canadian dollar return on many exports and made imports costlier. — (CP Newsmap)

Cross-Canada Survey

Fears of More Medicare Not Scaring New Students -- Medical Enrolment Up

By BRUCE STOVEL
Canadian Press Staff Writer

The number of people applying for admission to medical schools this fall is up all across the country.

Apparently fears of increasing government legislation in the field of medicine aren't scaring off young people.

"People who say applicants to medical school are falling off either in quality or quantity because of the threat of socialized medicine are, frankly, all wet," says Dr. Martin Banfill, assistant dean of McGill University's medical school.

A Cross - Canada Survey by The Canadian Press shows the number of applicants was higher than last year at all 12 of the country's medical schools. The population increase, spurred by the post-war crop of babies, was the most frequently - given explanation of the rise in applicants.

McGill, which has one of the continent's highest- rated medical schools, had by far the most applicants—1,121 compared with 934 last year. Only 104 are accepted each year.

In the Atlantic province's only medical school at Dalhousie University, Halifax, 179 applications were received for 75 first-year openings.

RISE CONTINUES

Dr. C. B. Stewart, Dalhousie's dean of medicine, said there has been an increase every year for the last five years. Students from Atlantic provinces made up 38 of the 179 applications, but staff fill about 50 per cent of the openings.

Quebec's two French-language medical schools also had more applicants. About 90 per cent of their students are French-speaking Canadians.

Laval University in Quebec City received 348 applications for 125 first - year places, up from last year's 205 applications. The University of Montreal had 241 applicants for 125 openings. Applications there have also increased in each of the last five years.

In Ontario, the University of Toronto had about 220 applications for 20 to 25 places. Last year there were about 200 applicants. The University of Ottawa, Queen's University and the University of Western Ontario all reported increases over last year in the number of applicants, but figures were not available.

At the University of Manitoba, Dean of Medicine L. G. Bell said applications for the first year class of 72 students have increased for the last three years. This year there are 310 applicants while last year there were 250-275.

RENOIRE DISPUTE

At the University of Saskatchewan, last year's bitter medical dispute apparently had little effect on medical college applications. There are 187 applications for admission compared with 126 last year and 117 in 1961-62. Only 40 are admitted each year.

Officials attributed the increase to population growth and a provincial scholarship program for medical students.

At Edmonton's University of Alberta, Dr. J. F. Cameron, assistant dean of the medical school, said 268 applications have been received compared with 196 last year. But, he said, this year 10 students are being accepted compared with 80 last year.

He said more opportunities for specialization have caused the increase.

At the University of British Columbia, a steady increase is reported for each year since a low in 1960-61. There were about 250 applicants this year for 80 openings.

Most universities reported a peak in applicants was reached in the early 1950s and then a gradual decline to a low reached about 1960. The reason was the tremendous influx of Second World War veterans who started arriving at medical school about five years after the war's end.

For example, McGill had an all-time high of 1,841 applicants in 1951-52. From there, a steady decline set in until 1961-62's low of 830.

Dr. Bell of the University of Manitoba and Dr. Armand Frappier of the University of Montreal said population growth has clearly reversed the trend.

Dr. Frappier says fewer French-speaking Canadians are choosing medicine as a career than other professions.

"It's a time of social upheaval in Quebec," he said. "Under the old system, a young man chose religion, medicine or the law. Not many other fields were even considered.

"Today, the young men are more and more going into engineering and business. More are entering teaching."

As evidence, he said the number of students at the university's engineering school, L'Ecole Polytechnique, has increased to 1,433 from 1,165 in the last three years.

Most universities, however, agreed with Dalhousie's Dean Stewart who said "the continued increase in medical school applications now is at a slope about parallel with the general increase in applications for other faculties."

SCHOOLS EXPAND

Mrs. Dorothy Schick, secretary of admissions at the University of Manitoba, said there is a trend toward the medicine faculty rather than away from it.

Officials at universities from Dalhousie to UBC said there is little indication other faculties are getting students who might ordinarily have gone into medicine.

Several of the universities mentioned expansion plans. Dalhousie is on a fund drive which Dean Stewart says could result in expansion of the medical school to 100 from 72 first-year seats. Laval is accepting a total of 143 students this year compared with 130 last year, and the University of Montreal plans to expand its first-year class. Alberta is increasing its first-year class to 90 from 80 this year and UBC plans to raise its first-year class to 80 from 60 in the next several years.

Italy in Midst of Biggest Drive Against the Mafia

ROME (Reuters)—Italy is in the midst of the biggest drive since the Second World War against the Mafia, underground gangs which operate protection rackets and dispense patronage in western Sicily.

But no one can tell whether the authorities will succeed in stamping out what has become accepted for more than a century in many poverty-stricken areas of that Mediterranean island as part of the natural order.

The Mafia is not one secret society or underground organization. It is a system whereby gangs, often mutually hostile, try to terrorize traders into paying money for "protection," for permission to set up new businesses, or to obtain commercial concessions.

These gangs are reported to use gangsterism actively in the food and related markets, in the building trade and in the automobile garage and repair business. Their traditional stronghold is Palermo and the surrounding area of western Sicily.

MANY KILLED

Killings take place when gangs or individual Mafiosi fall out. According to local reports, there were 23 slayings in the first half of this year and 49 in 1962.

Public attention has lately become focussed on the Mafia because of two parallel actions, in Palermo and in Rome:

In the first action, police with the precision of a military operation have been rounding up hundreds of Mafia suspects and interrogating them. In house-to-house swoops in Palermo, they have reported finding arms and ammunition, but have run up against the traditional "omerta," or refusal to speak to the authorities.

At the same time, they are compiling, and releasing to the Italian press, lists and photographs of all Mafia suspects.

Anger was aroused among both police and public by two bomb incidents June 30 in which nine persons lost their lives, including seven policemen. In each case a booby-trapped car blew up.

In the second move a week after these deaths and unconnected with them, a 30-member special all-party commission of both Houses of the Italian parliament opened an inquiry into the Mafia and how to eradicate it.

QUESTION TACTICS

Some critics are doubtful whether the Mafia system can be liquidated simply by bringing criminals to justice. They argue the Mafia will always flourish until the laws of the state are observed and respected above those of the Mafia, and until there is a real standard of honesty throughout the country.

The Rome Catholic daily newspaper Il Quotidiano said in a recent editorial: "At the bottom of everything is the decline in morality and in respect for the authority of the state."

A Palermo storekeeper who wanted to resist the Mafia, the newspaper explained, would first encounter a boycott of his goods, then suffer material damage to his premises and perhaps to himself.

Gangland Hoodlum Turns Into Publicized Informer

WASHINGTON (CP) — On Nov. 19, 1959, two U.S. narcotics agents, acting on a tip, swooped down on a Connecticut trailer camp and captured a grey-haired, swarthy New Yorker who apparently had his eye on an escape to the Canadian border.

They didn't realize then that they had captured a gangland hoodlum — a soldier in the dreaded, mysterious Cosa Nostra crime apparatus—destined to turn into one of the most publicized informers in the history of American crime.

Joseph Valachi, alias Joe Krago, alias Joe Russo, has since started to sing an interesting song for federal agents and Senator John McClellan hopes the brown-eyed, 59-year-old convicted dope pedlar and murderer keeps up the tune.

"My impression of my meeting with him is that he will make a potentially valuable witness and that he has a lot to tell," said McClellan, an Arkansas Democrat, in an interview. "I feel his knowledge is very valuable. He was not the top boss but he got into an area where he knows what went on."

Specifically, McClellan's Senate investigations subcommittee is interested in what Valachi knows about the narcotics rackets and the international rings that have spread into Canada, Europe, Latin America and the Far East. But the subcommittee is ready to hear what he may also have to disclose about gambling, prostitution and other vice operations.

WILL TESTIFY

Valachi, who has been singing song to federal agents privately, behind bars, for more than a year, is being groomed for a dramatic public appearance before the subcommittee. With rumors of an underworld price of $100,000 on his head, Valachi will be under the tightest federal security ever provided a public witness.

"We know his life is in danger and we are taking every precaution," McClellan said.

A justice department official who has participated in the questioning said Valachi has named incidents and places and disclosed names of gangland slayers going back to the prohibition era.

"There has been no information disclosed on Canadian activities in narcotics and Valachi appears still reluctant to go all the way in his disclosures," the official said.

When arrested in 1959, Valachi was charged with illegal narcotics operations. When he was convicted Feb. 19, 1960, he jumped his $25,000 bail. He disappeared for more than a month and then suddenly on March 2, 1960, he walked into a New York courthouse with his lawyer and gave himself up.

WENT TO CANADA

Federal agents later learned he had slipped into Canada when his conviction appeared evident and made his way to Toronto. Why did he pick Canada? And why Toronto? Did he have associates there? Federal agents are unsure.

They suggest Valachi decided to come back to the U.S. and give himself up on the misguided conjecture that he would get a light sentence. Instead he got 15 years. And while he was in jail, federal agents broke another narcotics ring, indicting 24 persons including Valachi. He got a concurrent term of 20 years.

The Cosa Nostra — or Our Thing—is reported to be somewhat like the Mafia, the Sicilian - rooted criminal organization, but not identical to it. The reported penalty for squealing in either organization was the same — death. Valachi named Vito Genovese, 66-year-old narcotics czar, as the Cosa Nostra leader, informants said. Genovese now is serving 15 years in a federal penitentiary.

At one time the two were in the same cell and there have been reports that Genovese kissed Valachi—the sign that Valachi was marked for death. But a federal agent who has studied events suggests the reports were exaggerated.

"Genovese may have kissed him figuratively but not in fact," the agent said.

KILLS PRISONER

In any case, Valachi was reported to have become jittery and later killed a fellow prisoner in the mistaken belief that the prisoner was sent to kill him. Valachi got a life sentence and then he started to talk.

Illegal narcotics operations continue, but federal agents feel that pedlars are finding it more difficult to get supplies. Seized drugs show that in many cases their purity content is only five per cent.

University of Manitoba Can't Seem to Stop Growing

WINNIPEG (CP)—The University of Manitoba can't seem to stop growing.

By 1966 there will have been $33,000,000 spent on its development since 1956.

Renovations, additions and new buildings costing $5,250,000 now are being done on the campus south of the city and at Winnipeg General Hospital.

A five - storey medical research and administration building at the hospital will cost $1,700,000 and at the campus are planned a $1,000,000 addition to the library, a $2,800,000 arts college and a $2,400,000 women's residence and food services building.

Already in the works are an $1,800,000 engineering wing, an $800,000 school of music and $800,000 school of music and fine arts.

The $33,000,000 program now is two-thirds completed.

In addition, new premises were built on the campus for affiliated St. John's and St. Paul's colleges, in downtown Winnipeg for United College, in St. Boniface for St. Boniface College. At Brandon, the Brandon College has added a spate of new buildings.

The campus now accommodates 8,000 students. Administrators estimate the growth of the university at about 10 per cent a year and expect it to level off at about 7,500 to 8,000 students.

Renovated 10 Downing Street Will Be Ready for Macmillan's Return Sometime in October

By DOUG MARSHALL

LONDON (CP)—One method Prime Minister Macmillan may choose to answer critics who write him to ask to make a triumphal return to his old home—10 Downing Street.

Barring more bulldozer strikes, the prime minister's official residence should be furnished and ready for him by October. Reconstruction, which included neighboring houses in the quiet Georgian cul-de-sac off Whitehall, has taken four years and cost nearly £3,000,000.

This is seven times more than the original 1958 estimates. It would have been cheaper to raze the structure and build something more appealing but most Britons think the cost of reconstruction was worth it.

Parts of both the Elysee Palace and Washington its grand White House. London would never be the same without the familiar black door with large white numbers, the brass knobs, the iron railings and the Victorian gaslamp that symbolize three centuries of parliamentary history, and the decisions that governed an empire.

80-ROOM HOUSE

The unassuming doorway and narrow hallway—once described by Lady Margot Asquith as "liver - colored and squalid" —hide a large house of more than 80 rooms. Besides the living quarters there are offices and cloakrooms where a staff of 50 work daily.

Macmillan will probably be the first resident of 10 Downing Street to enjoy anything like the comforts of house. His predecessors, especially their wives, have been grumbling about the primitive conditions there since Sir Robert Walpole took over the place in 1735 and designated it as belonging to first ministers in perpetuity.

The structure rose on a swamp in the 1680s and apparently has been subsiding ever since. Even with reinforced concrete foundations the reconstructed building will have a permanent 10-inch lean to the right—a source of quiet satisfaction among Conservatives.

Only half a century after Walpole merged the building with a larger house behind it, the younger William Pitt was complaining about the decay of timber, spreading dry rot and irregular settlement.

Running repairs have been going on, at considerable cost, for the last 70 years and some prime ministers flatly refused to sleep in the house. Modern plumbing was not installed until 1916 and two near misses in the 1940 blitz necessitated emergency bottreuses under the main floor.

LIMIT GUESTS

By the 1950s guests at 10 Downing Street parties were being deliberately limited because of fears that floors would give way. Finally a ministry of works report concluded that "the building is structurally unsound and the risk of fire is substantial."

The works ministry didn't know half the story. They conducted their survey while Macmillan was still in residence and had to operate largely by guesswork. Later, workmen discovered that the 300 - year - old timber foundations had completely rotted away, that walls were held upright by paper and rendition and that every floorbeam needed replacing.

Under architect Raymond Erith, a specialist in 18th-century buildings, a steel - frame skeleton has been inserted on concrete foundations. The original brick shell remains and the simple but expensive interiors have been restored in their former positions.

Macmillan and his wife will move back in a house of antique silver, Restoration fireplaces, Regency staircases, and Victorian paints that the ghost of Gladstone would find perfectly familiar.

But they will no longer need to worry that the 1½ tons of ministers who concentrate in the cabinet room every week or so may suddenly sink en masse into Downing's cellar.

Group Trying To Stem Tide Of Migrants

VANCOUVER (CP)—With the concern over the number of professional Canadians migrating to the United States, one group in this country has been trying to stem the tide.

The Technical Service Council, operating out of Montreal and Toronto, acts as a central clearing house for professional people ranging from company presidents to recent university graduates.

N. A. Macdougall, general manager of the non-profit service, was in Vancouver sizing up prospects of opening a western office, either here or in Calgary.

He said the council was founded in 1927 when 20 to 30 per cent of all Canadian university graduates were heading south. "The government would take no action . . . so a group of industrialists and educators got together and organized the council to keep some of these people in Canada."

Since its inception, the group has placed about 8,500 engineers, scientists, executives, comptrollers, plant managers, geosidents, accountants and others.

The organization has been successful in achieving its original aims, Mr. Macdougall says.

"Many Canadians are coming back from the U.S. and we even have some Americans inquiring about opportunities here."

The general manager says the council is sponsored by several hundred industrial concerns which supply an annual retainer.

The Recorder Now Enjoying A Revival

VANCOUVER (CP)—The recorder, a musical instrument that reached its popularity zenith in the 16th century, is enjoying a revival in British Columbia.

The B.C. Recorder Society, headed by Rev. John Low, is sparking the comeback. The society held its first convention at the University of British Columbia's wooded estate in West Vancouver.

Mr. Low says the revival began five years ago when the university's extension department opened a night school course for the recorder.

Recorder lessons now are required in the elementary school program and many community centres are sponsoring evening sessions.

There are five ranges of the instrument from soprano to conta-bass, ranging in length from a few inches to four feet.

The recorder preceded the flute and was a favorite instrument of Henry VIII and Samuel Pepys, Bach and Hindemith both composed for it.

Mr. Low says children take to the recorder easily and that it gives them a good sense of tone.

One Vancouver school, Strathcona, has 350 children taking recorder lessons and teacher Jean Laverock shows the children how to make the instrument from bamboo lengths.

Mr. Low is also enthusiastic about the use of the recorder in church.

"In earlier times members of the congregation would sit in the church gallery and play," he says. "It was a folk thing and everyone participated in the music of the church."

Tiny British Island Colony Of Bermuda Has Its Problems

By MARTIN DIER
Canadian Press Correspondent

HAMILTON, Bermuda (CP)—For a tiny British island colony of 22 square miles, Bermuda has its problems.

The tourist industry — mainstay of the economy—is healthy. There is no indication that the annual flood of some 140,000 visitors on which most of the 45,000 permanent residents depend for a living is about to subside.

But there are plenty of trouble spots elsewhere in Britain's oldest self - governing colony, dotting the Atlantic 600 miles southeast of New York.

The economy, town and country planning, job training and employment, are among the subjects on which the government has called for reports.

Another subject is the Bermuda civil service. A Canadian firm of management consultants, Urwick Currie Limited of Montreal, has been hired to suggest ways of increasing its efficiency and saving on administration costs.

UP TO ASSEMBLY

All this is due for consideration when the new 36-member House of Assembly convenes in October.

The 26 white and 11 colored members were elected last May 16 in the first general election ever held under universal franchise.

In the election last May, how ever, all men and women 25 years of age or older were eligible, with property owners having an extra vote. Nearly 12,500 cast ballots—86.5 per cent of those eligible.

Another novelty was the formation of Bermuda's first political party—the Progressive Labor Party headed by colored lawyer Arnold Francis.

The party got nine of the 65 candidates and had seven elected. Its members have promised to vote as a group on all issues before the House and are expected to wield influence, since all other legislators are independents.

The economy is one of the first problems the House will be asked to tackle in October.

DEFICIT ON PAPER

A review of the colony's financial resources was called for when statistics showed a deficit of £232,902 ($705,390) for the first six months of 1963, although revenue increased by £86,286 ($261,786) over the corresponding period last year.

So far, the deficit is only a deficit on paper. Bermuda started 1963 with a surplus of £403,364 ($1,221,890) and still has a favorable balance of £170,462 ($516,500).

But two costly items are on the agenda for the October session of the House — a school-building program and a system of old age and widows' pensions.

New sources of revenue are called for in a report on town and country planning by Thorneley Dyer.

He suggests the immediate adoption of long-range plans for hedgely-unfiered development so that Bermuda can meet the needs of a resident population of 63,000 and handle 220,000 tourists a year by 1983.

TOURISM ALWAYS TOPS

Another report submitted by economist Henry Richardson supports Dyer's contention that tourism will continue to be Bermuda's main industry and recommends that tourist facilities be expanded to meet competition.

The Canadian survey of the civil service is expected to be about five months too complete.

Patrick H. Irwin, manager of the firm, is investigating finance and control.

C. Bruce Rose is dealing with government organization and David E. P. Armour with personnel. A Montreal chartered accountant is to join the team later this month.

Boa Constrictor Becomes Pet Of 16-Year-Old

HALIFAX (CP) — When 16-year-old Ronald Grant takes Jerry, his pet, walking near his home in downtown Halifax, passers-by usually stop for one look before they hurry out of the way.

It's not that Jerry is badly behaved or particularly ugly—one of Ronald's neighbors even thinks he's pretty. It's just that he's an eight-foot boa constrictor.

Jerry is one of two snakes acquired by Ronald's sister three years ago while she was working at the Canadian National Exhibition in Toronto. When the exhibition closed for the season a few snakes were left without homes and the two South American reptiles were sent to Ronald.

The larger died but Jerry thrives on his occasional meal of a rat or pigeon which he swallows whole.

Ronald exercises Jerry once a day, sometimes letting him climb the backyard fence. Frequently they take a walk together with Jerry coiled lovingly about Ronald's neck, arms and waist.

The snake is moderately well-behaved. He did bite Ronald's father once but it was not poisonous — they kill by constricting about their victim and crushing it to death.

Apart from the one woman who thinks Jerry is cute, neighbors "haven't said much," says Ronald.

NAMED TO CABINET

WASHINGTON (AP) — John Gronouski, 43-year-old Wisconsin State tax commissioner, was named Monday by President Kennedy to be U.S. Postmaster-General. Gronouski will succeed J. Edward Day, the original postmaster - general in Kennedy's cabinet, who resigned Aug. 9.

Crippled in Hunting Accident Youth Now Expert Marksman

EDMONTON (CP) — Seven years ago a bullet from a hunting companion's rifle smashed into John Mockler's spinal cord.

John slumped to the ground, paralyzed from the waist down. Wracked with pain, the 13 - year-old boy gave directions to his companion on how to find aid through two miles of rugged bush country.

It took four hours for help to arrive. All this time John lay on frozen ground unable to move.

Several days later, his mind still fogged by the effects of pain-killing drugs, he was told he would never walk again.

Today, John, now 20, is an expert sporting rifle marksman, goes big game hunting, fishing and swimming, and recently tried scuba diving. His is a inspiring story of one young man's efforts to live with his handicap.

"It was hard at first," he says, "but I had been taught that if you can't do things one way, you find another way. I had to be patient. It took almost four years to master that wheelchair."

John now does his hunting in a four - wheel - drive vehicle owned by a friend, Al Worthing, 34.

"We drive up and down the forestry trails until we spot something," he says.

Most of their outings are in the Edson region, 120 miles west of Edmonton, where John spent his boyhood years after moving with his family from New Westminster, B.C.

They moved in 1956 to Edmonton where John's father, Percy Mockler, a police victim, was transferred in his job with a power company.

Several years after the accident, the slender, dark - haired youth became interested in competitive shooting. He has since earned all Dominion marksmanship crests and plans to try soon for the gold shield, top proficiency trophy.

In recent months he has taken an interest in old weapons and has begun moulding and filling his own bullets. In a recent competition held by the Alberta Arms and Cartridge Collectors Association, an event for authentic antique weapons using black powder, he scored 21 of 25 in the 100-yard event using a .25-20 Winchester.

John owns his own car, a 1960 model equipped with hand controls he built himself. But last summer he chose to hitchhike on a 650-mile trip from Edmonton to Spokane, Wash., to visit relatives.

The trip took four days and he even got a ride from a U.S. border patrol car that picked him up 30 mi lessouth of the border.

John left school two years ago and has since worked at odd jobs, including that of city playground inspector. Now he's thinking of seeking work abroad, preferably in Mexico or Australia.

"I want to travel around a bit and see what gives," he says.

And 2 Children And 4 Children At Los Angeles

Melvin Jackson, 28, was booked on suspicion of murder Tuesday after police found the decapitated bodies of his wife, Evet, 23, their son, Miles, 4, and daughter, Kim, 2.

Police said all are Negroes and that Jackson was seated near the bodies reading Black Muslim literature when they arrived and broke down the door.

Internal Discord Has Twice Shipwrecked Social Credit Trying for National Front

By KEN KELLY

OTTAWA (CP) — Internal discord is no stranger to the Social Credit movement nationally.

Twice it has shipwrecked the party since Social Credit tried to widen its depression - era beachhead in Alberta politics into a broad national front.

Both times — once shortly after the Second World War and again this year — wide breaches opened between Quebec-based and Prairie - based followers of the monetary reform theories of the British engineer, Major C. H. Douglas, who devised Social Credit.

There are few similarities in the 1949 meeting of relations between l'Union des Electeurs and the Social Credit Association of Canada and the current conflict between the association and le Ralliement des Creditistes, a 1963 breakaway from l'Union.

But Real Caouette, 48, was involved in both, although a major figure only in the current battle which pits him as the federal party leader against the provincial leader, Robert Thompson, 68.

The 1949 break resulted from what Solon Low, national Social Credit leader at that day, called undemocratic and anti - Jewish aspects of l'Union. A white-bearded, gentle Quebec group, it had two things in common with depression - days Social Credit—a hatred of high interest and a belief in Major Douglas's monetary reform ideas.

SHUT OUT IN 1958

The current Caouette-Thompson dispute seems to stem largely from a leadership rivalry born in the mid-1950s when Mr. Thompson defeated Mr. Caouette for the national leadership at an Ottawa convention.

The first post-war struggle went on intermittently for years. It finally flickered out after Social Credit had been stripped of parliamentary representation in the 1958 election and after Mr. Caouette quit l'Union in 1957 to found le Ralliement the following year.

Both events seemed to offer Social Credit a new starting point for an effort to translate its remarkable western success into another bid on the federal scene.

Le Ralliement formed close ties with the national association. Mr. Low, in failing health after 13 years as national leader, stepped aside. Mr. Thompson, a chiropractor, educationist and African missionary, recently returned to Chilliwack, served in—first as national president, then a year later as national leader. Mr. Caouette, a Quebec auto dealer and Quebec leader of le Ralliement, became deputy national leader or, as he liked to say, co-leader.

QUEBEC MPS SPLIT

Thus the stage was set for a period of phenomenal electoral success in Quebec, a modest federal comeback in Alberta and British Columbia—and increasing strain between the two leaders.

The culmination was an open break this summer. The party's governing national council recommended that a national convention abolish the deputy leadership held by the talkative and uninhibited Mr. Caouette. The deputy leader then swung a convention of le Ralliement behind a demand for a new national leadership convention to oust Mr. Thompson.

But the break itself found only part of Mr. Caouette's Quebec wing behind their leader. Seven Quebec MPs threw their backing to Mr. Thompson Labor Day weekend. At least 11 stayed in Mr. Caouette's camp, at least temporarily held off committing himself.

After 26 years of trying to become a major national political force, Social Credit emerged with two parliamentary wings.

Social Credit's debut in federal politics came in the depression year of 1935, some eight weeks after the movement founded by William Aberhart scored a stunning victory in a provincial election to form the government of Alberta.

SPOTTY SUCCESS

The party's federal record since has been in sharp contrast to its unbroken terms of provincial power in Alberta from 1935 and in British Columbia from 1952.

Social Credit was largely confined federally to Alberta seats with an occasional success in Saskatchewan and B.C. At no time until Mr. Caouette's Ralliement soared to prominence in Quebec in the 1962 election did the party ever elect more than 19 MPs. An initial two-seat bridgehead in Saskatchewan soon disappeared. Its single Quebec electoral success between 1935—a 1946 byelection victory by Mr. Caouette—lasted less than three years.

Social Credit's first parliamentary leader was John Blackmore, a Prairie school teacher turned politician and money reformer. He led Social Credit MPs for the first five years from 1935 under the Social Credit label and from 1940 under the party name New Democracy.

Mr. Blackmore was a devotee of the political school which explained events in terms of conspiracies of international bankers, international communism, international Zionism or, Mr. Blackmore's favorite, the Anglo - Mongolian conspiracy.

LOW TAKES OVER

In this period, Social Credit sank from its 1935 high of 17 Commons members and from 18 of 21 Alberta and two Saskatchewan seats to 10 seats in the 1940 federal election.

Then another Prairie school teacher, Solon Low, replaced Mr. Blackmore. By 1945, the party was running once more under the Social Credit label and won 13 Alberta seats.

Mr. Low had considerable experience in practical politics. Elected to Alberta legislature in the 1935 Social Credit landslide, he became provincial treasurer two years later and on Mr. Aberhart's death in 1943 also became premier. In 1945, he started organizing a new federal assault.

The party having trouble with the party's Quebec ally, l'Union des Electeurs, which had formed a provincial movement in 1949. Warfare with the party's Quebec ally, continued sporadically.

In 1956, Mr. Low accused them of making a "pertidious" alliance with the Quebec Liberal party to run five Creditistes as Liberals in a provincial election, one of them Mr. Caouette.

Federally, the party lost ground after the 1940 split, dropping back to 10 seats. But in the wake of a Social Credit provincial victory in B.C. in 1952, the party won 11 Alberta seats and six in B.C. in 1953. Then, in the inconclusive federal election of 1957 that installed a minority Conservative government, it reached the high water mark of 19 seats—13 Alberta, six B.C.

CAOUETTE USES TV

Disaster struck the next year. The Conservatives under John Diefenbaker swept the country hitting right-wing Social Credit hardest by blanking them at the polls.

By then Mr. Low's health was poor. He had eased up after suffering a heart attack in 1953. However, he stayed at the helm temporarily while the party tried to rebuild after the 1958 debacle.

Meanwhile, Mr. Caouette had become disenchanted with l'Union, which Mr. Low had described as "a commercial affair based on Fascist tactics and thriving on suspicion and racial prejudice."

With 10 other dissatisfied Creditistes, Mr. Caouette laid the groundwork in 1957 for the birth the next year of le Ralliement and embarked on a vigorous organizational program which paid off four years later.

He displayed his considerable histrionic talents and down-to-earth oratory widely in a continuing series of television programs in Quebec. He became a familiar figure to Sunday afternoon TV viewers in many Quebec constituencies.

The Ralliement filled the political void left by falling conservative fortunes and disenchantment with the Liberals.

CHOOSE THOMPSON

When Mr. Thompson became national president in 1960, Mr. Caouette and all his Creditistes were on hand at the national association meeting, urging that the party undertake the kind of TV campaign which was bringing le Ralliement thousands of paid-up members in Quebec.

Le Ralliement sent the biggest delegation to the 1961 leadership convention at Ottawa where Mr. Caouette, with the tacit support of Premier Bennett of British Columbia, opposed Mr. Thompson.

Mr. Thompson, backed by Alberta's Premier Manning, was declared the winner on a secret ballot and the ballots immediately were burned. Scrutineers said more ballots were cast than there were voting delegates, explaining that some alternate delegates apparently voted by mistake. The result was announced after a hasty conference of the leadership candidates behind closed doors.

Apparently unified under this double leadership, the party went into the 1962 election. The Conservative government was cut back to a minority of Commons seats, but what surprised many was the remarkable Social Credit success in Quebec.

SURPRISE IN QUEBEC

While the party gained only two seats in Alberta and two in B.C., its former strongholds, Mr. Caouette's Ralliement sent 26 members to Parliament. The ebullient deputy leader was propelled suddenly into a national limelight which he clearly enjoyed.

The fast-talking Mr. Caouette soon was making statements which appeared to be in conflict with those of his national leader. But both denied there was any split, Mr. Caouette arguing that reporters even read exaggerated into Caouette ordering French fried potatoes and Thompson ordering mashed potatoes in the parliamentary restaurant. Both said they agreed completely on Social Credit doctrine and principles.

But there were serious public embarrassments for the party in Mr. Caouette's publicity. For example, Mr. Caouette, who admits he dodged the draft for military service during the Second World War, was quoted by a national magazine shortly after the election as saying Hitler and Mussolini were his political heroes.

MORE SPLITS

He later denied that he called them his political heroes but said he admired the economic policies of the two dictators, saying they lifted their people out of misery in the depression.

SUFFER LOSSES

He also appeared in public disagreement with Mr. Thompson in public declarations that his group would vote the Conservatives out of office in 1962 unless Mr. Diefenbaker replaced "austerity with prosperity." At the time, Mr. Thompson was saying publicly that another election would be wrong and the Conservatives should have a chance to bring forward a program.

This disharmonization continued throughout the eight-month period until the 1963 election. But open reports of disagreement evidently had their effect, for in the April 8 federal election losses were cut to 20 MPs. Mr. Thompson and the other three western Social Credit MPs were re-elected.

In the fortnight after the election it was by no means certain that John Diefenbaker would resign as prime minister and form the government over to Lester B. Pearson and his Liberals.

In that period, Mr. Caouette's backers allege, Mr. Thompson and the party's whip, Dr. Guy Marcoux, MP for Quebec Kent-monency, tried to swing a deal with the Diefenbaker government, exchanging Social Credit voting support in the Commons for two cabinet portfolios. The Thompson forces denied this. So did Mr. Diefenbaker.

MARCOUX QUITS

This charge by the Caouette faction usually is related to the action of eight Quebec Social Credit MPs who issued a public statement — later repudiated — in Mr. Caouette's publicity. For example, Mr. Caouette, who admits he dodged the draft for military service during the Second World War, was quoted by a national magazine shortly after the election as saying Hitler and Mussolini were his political heroes.

SUFFER LOSSES

He also appeared in public disagreement with Mr. Thompson in public declarations that his group would vote the Conservatives out of office in 1962 unless Mr. Diefenbaker replaced "austerity with prosperity."

Mr. Marcoux contended that a caucus meeting of Social Credit MPs dealt too leniently with the six who signed the statement of support for the Liberals. Their punishment, if any, was never made public, although Mr. Thompson later said three were "disciplined."

With this evidence of serious disagreement in the Social Credit camp, Mr. Thompson called on the national council—governing body of the party between conventions—to hold a meeting in Ottawa for a showdown between him and Mr. Caouette.

CAOUETTE ILL

Meanwhile, Mr. Caouette's health broke down. A diabetic, his non-stop campaigning in two elections had overtaxed him and he suffered a "kind of nervous breakdown." He missed most of the parliamentary sessions.

The national council met early in July and was immediately faced with a demand that Mr. Thompson be declared the sole leader and only spokesman for Social Credit on the national scene. There were demands that Mr. Caouette apologize to Mr. Thompson and Premier Manning for a letter the deputy leader is said to have written a Social Credit supp.-ter in Toronto. It attacked Mr. Thompson as Mr. Manning's creature and labelled the Alberta premier as anti-Quebec and soft on Social Credit doctrine.

The council agreed to ask a national convention to abolish the deputy leader's post and endorsed Mr. Thompson as the party's sole spokesman. The party constitution requires that a national convention be held by 1965.

Mr. Caouette, who had attended one meeting of the council with a number of Quebec supporters, assembled his followers after the council's action and issued a statement saying they stood by the 1961 convention decision making Mr. Caouette deputy leader.

SEEK EQUALITY

The statement also called for le Ralliement to be placed on "an equal footing in its capacity as representative of the French-speaking element in the national movement and in Confederation." Le Ralliement has four seats on the 21-member council.

In August, Mr. Caouette followed this up by calling a convention of le Ralliement at Granby, Que. He preceded it with a public attack on Mr. Thompson as being "subservient" to Social Credit principles and deaf to Quebec demands for equality.

Mr. Thompson retorted publicly that his deputy leader was trying to light a publicity fire for the Granby meeting, then called for Mr. Caouette's resignation from the federal party. He said he could no longer "overlook the irresponsible" statements or personal criticisms of the national leader and other Social Creditors.

At the Granby meeting—not attended by Mr. Thompson—Mr. Caouette persuaded several hundred delegates to approve a resolution disavowing Mr. Thompson as national leader, calling for a national convention to replace him and urging the 19 Quebec MPs to pick another man to lead them in the Commons in the interim.

SPLIT WITH THOMPSON

But Mr. Caouette apparently suffered a rude shock after the convention when a group of the Quebec MPs met in Montreal with Mr. Thompson present to issue a statement saying:

"Our voters elected us as Social Credit members, thus recognizing implicitly Mr. Thompson's leadership. We consider that only a national convention can modify the position of the national leader."

The Thompson group of Quebec MPs included Dr. Marcoux, who announced his return to the party fold and said a new Social Credit movement would be started in the provincial political field. Meanwhile, Mr. Caouette said he would lead a new national Social Credit party.

The Thompson supporters included MPs Maurice Cote, Chicoutimi; Marcel Lessard, Lac St. Jean; Gerard Girouard, Lasalle; Gerard Chapdelaine, Shawinigan; Gerard Ouellet, Richmond; party whip Jean-Louis Pruneau, Portneuf and Dr. Marcoux. In addition, there were the three western Social Credit MPs for a total Thompson group in the Commons of 11 MPs, including the leader.

CAUCUS IN QUEBEC

On the other hand, Mr. Caouette had been supported from the platform of the Granby convention by nine Quebec MPs—Gilles Gregoire, Lapointe; Gilbert Rondeau, Shefford; Raymond Langlois, Montmagny; Gerard Perron, Beauce; Charles Gauthier, Roberval; Pierre-Jean Deschambeault, Dorchester; Antoine Belanger, Charlevoix; Gerard Laprise, Chapleau, and Henri Latulippe, Compton-Frontenac.

After a meeting in Quebec City with 14 Social Credit MPs, Mr. Caouette said he had been pledged the support of two others — Robert Beaule, Quebec East, and Charles-Eugene Dionne, Kamouraska — bringing the number in his camp to 12.

He said he had one more supporter but didn't immediately name him.

Leopold Plourde, Quebec West, remained uncommitted, and Mr. Gregoire told reporters that Mr. Frenette could not be absolutely ruled out as a Caouette supporter.

Of the two Hiesups, Mr. Caouette's group included five of the six MPs who had signed the pledge of support for the Liberals—Mr. Perron, Mr. Boutin, Mr. Langlois, Mr. Rondeau and Mr. Beaule. The other was Mr. Plourde.

Sex Education Classes Flanned for B.C. Schools

VICTORIA (CP)—School and health authorities in Victoria, spurred by widespread ignorance of sexual matters among adolescents, are planning sex education classes.

The plans call for a pilot scheme of movies and lectures by a qualified and approved doctor at one school. About 300 students will be involved.

"It is an experiment—we are in the planning stage," says John Gough, superintendent of Greater Victoria schools.

"The school board believes young people are in need of this information. Our ultimate objective is to present such classes in all schools."

Dr. John Whitbread, medical health director of the Greater Victoria Metropolitan Board of Health, says the lessons will be factual, clinically detached and matter-of-fact.

"There's no doubt about it—this has been needed for years and years and years.

"We are responsible for school health services and part of our responsibility is to educate the public."

TRAIN FOR FAMILY

Dr. Whitbread says such classes will feature the normal physiological and anatomical development of the human body from childhood through adolescence to maturity.

"I think sex education is a bit of a misleading title. "Training for family living' is better but I suppose some people wouldn't understand what we were doing if we called it that."

Mr. Gough says it will take "a couple of months" to determine what the program will include, how many lessons will be given and what grades will be taught.

A preparatory plan of instruction, subject to an over-all understanding among school and health authorities, parents and religious leaders includes these points.

—Instruction will be given to segregated classes of all boys or all girls, likely at junior high school level;

—Students will be encouraged to submit anonymous written questions, deposited in a box, to the lecturing doctor;

—Parents' approval will be obtained before any student is permitted to take the course;

—Clergy will be likely consulted to make sure the course in no way conflicts with religious beliefs;

—Emphasis will be placed on morality and the dangers of immorality.

LACK INFORMATION

A resolution including these points, approved by school board trustees, noted:

"The majority of youngsters of adolescent age usually lack authentic information about sexual matters."

Trustees have seen a movie and tape recording of similar lectures given to school children in Chilliwack, B.C., and endorsed the resolution after watching them.

"Teachers will not be involved in initial stages," says Mr. Gough. "We will leave it to trained people from the health department and doctors."

Mr. Gough and Dr. Whitbread differed when asked if information about contraceptives and their use might be included in any lessons.

Dr. Whitbread says they will not be included.

"In the United Kingdom such information is given at family planning clinics but here you go to your own physician and ask him."

Mr. Gough said the classes "probably" could lead to such information as "a climax on the reproductive system."

But, he added, "we would have to get the reaction of the clergy first, and parents might say no at this point."

Blind Boy Now Confirmed Ham Operator

LETHBRIDGE, Alta. (CP)—Charles James (Chuck) Berry is a typical 13-year-old—freckled face, brush cut, jeans and sneakers.

But he has been blind since birth, and still has "seen" a good part of North America.

At his home in Conrad, Mont., he is a licensed amateur wireless operator. He was among 500 who gathered at Waterton Lakes National Park near here recently for the 29th annual Glacier - Waterton international "hamfest."

Chuck found an old radio set in the basement of his home a few years ago and happened to turn the dials to shortwave. His mother explained that what he heard were wireless amateurs talking to one another.

EARNED LICENCE

Chuck quickly learned the dots and dashes code and received his novice licence in September, 1961.

"I wanted so much to get on the air," he said.

Then he began studying for his general licence, learning most of the theory from a wireless operator in Conrad. He put the theory together with his code study and obtained his licence.

Now he makes regular contacts from his set—call letters K7QVI—and records them in his log book, Braille.

In his spare time Chuck built his own electro - magnet. He plays the electric organ, and is taking piano lessons.

As for the future, the boy says: "I like to mess around with electronic."

Maria and Otto Jelinek Begin Second Year as Pros But Still Talk of Retirement

NEW YORK (CP) — Maria and Otto Jelinek have begun their second year as professional ice skaters—still ebullient, still charming and still talking of retirement.

The Czech-born brother and sister from Bronte, Ont., who won the world figure skating championships in 1962, have said before that they'd quit skating for other endeavors, but they opened the 1963-64 season with Ice Capades when it began its new tour at Madison Square Garden.

Before the season ends May 10 next year in Los Angeles, they'll have skated nearly 400 performances in 25 cities in Canada and the United States, including Toronto and Montreal.

By then, they may be convinced they should skate another year. Maria says "no." Otto says "I don't think we know."

Whenever their decision to retire sticks, however, they'll leave a great void in the ice show with which they began their professional careers in August, 1962, here in the Garden.

WELL-LIKED PAIR

They are warm, outgoing individuals, each with a sharp sense of humor, ready wit and uncommon friendliness that have made them favorites with the rest of the Ice Capades cast.

"They're beloved by everyone in the show," said fellow Canadian and skating star, Johnny LaBrecque, a Montreal native who's been a comedian on ice for 14 years. "And with a show like this, that takes a special kind of person."

The Jelineks — Maria, 20, brown-eyed, brown-haired, five-foot-six and pretty; Otto, 23, dark-haired, five-foot-10, a muscular 165 pounds and handsome — were born in Prague.

They escaped with their family from the Communists in 1948, went to Switzerland for a year, then moved to Canada where their father became established in the cork business at Bronte, a Lake Ontario community between Oakville and Hamilton. The family now also has a thriving sporting-goods business.

Maria and Otto began skating in Prague and continued in Canada and their special talent is illustrated by the many honors they've won in pairs competition: Two bronze medals in world championships, fourth in the 1960 winter Olympics, and world champions in 1962, to name a few.

Evidences of their special human qualities lies in their popularity among fellow performers in a business where many are self-made and tend to resent the publicity and salaries received by amateurs from relatively well-fixed families, who turn pro and immediately get star billing.

"It's been very, very interesting," said Otto of their first year as professionals.

ENJOYS IT, BUT . . .

Said Maria: "I am enjoying it. It's very exciting and you see and do a lot, but I wouldn't want to do it too much longer."

Both emphasized the difference they'd found between competitive and show-business skating.

"Physically, it's just as strenuous here as in competition," said Otto. "But mentally it's not."

"In competition," said Maria, "the pressure is always building up to one big performance for a championship. Here you always have to be in good form and you have to go on every day, but the pressure's not the same."

They skate nine months of the year with the show, giving at least one performance a day and sometimes on weekends as many as three a day. They travel thousands of miles, sometimes by train, sometimes by air, and live either in hotels, furnished apartments or, as they did while spending six weeks in final rehearsals this summer in Atlantic City, in a rented house.

Otto enjoys the travel. Maria says she doesn't like it much.

"She likes to travel, but she hates to pack," Otto said with a laugh.

"I wish I had a room I could travel with all the time," said Maria.

MUCH TOGETHER

They get along well together, which is helpful since they spend so much time practising and performing together.

"It's easier to argue when you're brother and sister," said Maria.

Off the ice, Maria and Otto are together frequently, too, although they said this depends on circumstance.

"If my girl friend and Maria get along well," said Otto, "we're out together quite alot. If her boy friend and my girl friend don't get along, we're not together so much."

MORE

ADD XSS—Maria and Otto

Otto has a steady girl friend—in fact, he recently became engaged to Darlene Strick of Indianapolis, a girl he met skating, but not one of those in the show.

Maria says she has no romantic interests.

"Oh yeah," said Otto.

"Well, let's say no serious romantic interests," the interviewer said.

"No serous romantic interests," said Otto.

"No romantic interests," said Maria.

"Don't let her fool you," said Otto with a twinkle of laughter in his eye. "Come on, Maria."

PAYS WELL

Professional skating has paid handsome dividends for the Jelineks—"You can make the money you spend on it back in one year—and amateur skating is a very expensive sport," said Otto, without giving any figures. But what of the future?

"We've been saying every year for the last four years that this was our last year of skating," said Otto, who plans to enter the family businesses when he quits skating. "Whatever we say, no one will believe it anyway as far as retirement goes."

"At the end of this year, maybe. We're not sure ourselves—Maria is sure."

Maria, who plans to go to Europe to study languages so she can become an interpreter, possibly at the United Nations here, said: "This year and that's it."

Would Otto change her mind by the end of this season?

"He'd better not," said Maria.

Society, Political News From Space Age Papers

NEW YORK (AP)—Selected society and political news from space age newspapers in the year 2163:

London — A government crisis was averted after all members of the Labor cabinet swore in the House of Lords that they had not spent weekends en masse on the planet Venus.

Rome—Pius XV, in an eloquent appeal for universal peace, called upon all the inhabitants of the solar system to adopt eternal principles of social justice to avert the threat of calamitous sky-wide warfare.

Moscow — The new Tory government announced a 33-percent pay bonus for everybody, the invention of a new three-pants suit, and said the bureau of industry had turned out 3,200,000,000 swivel chairs during the current year.

Hollywood — Marilyn Elizabeth Glamour, America's most beauteous film star, celebrated her 112th birthday today by revealing she would seek her 37th divorce. "Of course, I'll marry again," she said wistfully, "if I can find the right man."

Satara — Local tribesmen, after spearing down 48 members of a fact-finding commission from the United Planets Organization, set up a new clamor for independence. A battalion from Ireland, a small country on the planet earth, was sent to placate them.

Belfast, Northern Ireland — A small bomb blew up half the city this afternoon. It was believed set off by Irish sympathizers of the Saturnese tribesmen.

Nairobi, Kenya—An expedition has been dispatched to the interior to check on persistent reports that a specimen of an animal long believed extinct, the elephant, still survives. The huge creature is four-footed, has a long nose called a trunk, and—according to legend — once labored for man and was beloved by children before it was hunted to death.

Washington, D.C.—The U.S. capital had a mystery on its hands today.

The federal government announced it had 500,000 persons on its payroll, but at the same moment its instantaneous computer census showed a total population of exactly 500,000,000.

AID UNEMPLOYMENT

The Canadian government's planned spending on the Unemployment Insurance Fund will be $58,000,000 in 1963.

McIntyre Arena Will Be Setting for Television Show

TIMMINS, Ont. (CP) — The McIntyre Arena, summer home of such world figure skating stars of the past as Barbara Ann Scott, Bob Paul and Barbara Wagner, will be the setting for a television show on the history of figure skating in Canada.

Stanley Clish, producer of the National Film Board's Canada at War series, is directing a half-hour film that will centre around Wendy Grisner, the Canadian singles champion from Toronto who will seek the Olympic title at Innsbruck, Austria, in January.

Wendy, who has trained at the arena for seven summers, was filmed while training with her coach, Sheldon Galbraith, the man who brought such stars as Barbara Ann Scott, the Paul - Wagner team and Don Jackson to fame.

Miss Grisner, the North American champion, finished second to Sjoukja Dijkstra of The Netherlands at the world championships in Cortina, Italy, last winter.

HAS WHEAT IT TAKES

She will face Miss Dijkstra again in January but her coach says he's sure Wendy "has what it takes to be a champion—smooth muscle flow, co-ordination, determination and an even temper."

Explaining why the film, tentatively titled Innsbruck 1964 and intended to be shown on CBC's Telescope program the week before the Olympic competition, is being shot, Clish says:

"I want to show the people of Canada the tremendous struggle that Wendy will have to wage for the next four months and the work she has done for the past seven years."

The arena, celebrating its 25th anniversary this year, has long been a Mecca for figure skaters and has built up a world - wide reputation as the summer home of champions.

This year 137 skaters from as far away as Japan trained for nine weeks. The skaters, who practise seven hours a day and six days a week, find the arena and this part of Northern Ontario ideal for skating. There are no city distractions and they are with other skaters and good coaches.

Jumping to Conclusions

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Jumping to conclusions:

Aside from good health the greatest gift the gods can give is an active sense of curiosity.

It is a form of human wealth more important than all the gold ever accumulated.

Man's progress—if it can be called that—springs almost entirely from his curiosity, and as a matter of fact a man's health can pretty well be measured by his sense of curiosity. It is when he is sick that he is inclined to feel bored, and wants "to get away from it all."

Curiosity may have killed the cat, but it helps human beings to live longer—and more happily.

The first sign a girl is considering marrying a man is her desire to straighten his necktie. But when she starts brushing the dandruff off the shoulders of his blue serge suit in public he's a goner for sure.

CRITICS CAN'T KILL

No really good book was ever killed by a bad critic. Ironically, however, many a bad book has become popular because a good critic knocked it.

Good advice is like castor oil. It can't do you any good unless you take it.

Many people take a melancholy satisfaction in having insomnia, feeling it proves that at least they are doing their fair share of the national worrying, when all it actually indicates is that they aren't getting enough physical exercise.

Those who perform some of the most essential chores in this world are most often among the least revered. A dog catcher performs a necessary service, but do you know of anybody who ever mentioned one in his will?

It's the guy who has to ask his wife for lunch money who borrows most from the other fellows in the office.

A woman dates the beginning of middle age not by her years or the sign of grey hair but by the fact she has to go from a size 12 to a size 14 dress.

Ancient Tree Is Believed to Be 300 Years Old

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J. (AP) — The Kilmer Oak, a stately white oak on the Rutgers University campus said to have inspired Joyce Kilmer to write the poem Trees, has succumbed to old age and will be cut down Sept. 18. The tree is believed to be 300 years old.

FROM THE MAIL BOX

Dear Pegg Rogers: I have just been through my wardrobe to see what I will need to buy for this fall and winter. I seem to own a lot of clothes, but nothing goes with anything! I am fisting [illegible] things that I can still wear.

My winter coat is only two years old, but it was not a practical coat. It has a stand-away collar, which is becoming, but draughty even when it is filled in with the wool scarf that came with the coat. It is in good condition and is black.

I have a three-piece grey jersey suit in good condition. The blouse is charcoal and the jacket and skirt are plain grey. A green, wool flannel dress and a blue, tailored crepe are the only dresses left with any wear left in them. I have a grey "tipbetween" coat, which can double as a raincoat. I don't own a hat, but the new tailored ones that I see advertised appeal to me.

I work in an office and I will need more changes. I wore the grey three-piece almost all last winter, and I am thoroughly tired of it. I have a couple of black handbags and three pairs of black pumps.

What should I buy to fit in with what I own? I don't have a lot of money to spend. — Signed — Miss T. M.

Dear Miss T. M.: As your coat is black, whether coat is only two years old, it would be wasteful to discard it. Why not solve the "collar problem" by buying or having made a mink-like collar for or fur fabric? Either fur or "pretend" fur is much warmer than wool and is very much in fashion for this coming winter. You might try the following fur fabric — leopard, persian lamb or any of the fake furs which go under all sorts of glamorous names and are even more elegant than their names. You will find the millinery stores full of matching hats. Purchase your hat first, then match the fabric in a scarf. Hats of real fur are not as expensive as you might think. Belgian hare (bunny rabbit to us) comes in tones of mink, brown, white and black. It is made up in hats to sell under ten dollars. A furrier will match your choice in scarf for a reasonable price.

I think you are missing a lot of fashion if you do not wear hats. For instance, if you buy a green hat to match your green dress, then match that shade in a blouse and you will give your grey suit a new lease on life. Wear the fur scarf with the coat regardless of what hat you wear. A ruby-red blouse and matching hat will make another change for the grey suit as would a blue hat and blouse in a shade to tone with your blue dress.

The addition of well-chosen jewelry, plus the necessary millinery, will make you feel more in step with the times. If I were you, I would concentrate on accessories to help you get the most wear out of the clothes you already own. After that, in a few months, you might apply the same thinking to a new three-piece suit in a different shade.

If you have a question on fashion, just write Pegg Rogers in care of this paper.

To Cure Cold Douse Head In Whisky

LONDON (AP)—For a cold take the juice of three double whiskies—and pour it on your head.

That's what happened at John Dowsett's pub, The Steam Engine.

"At first," said Dowsett, "I thought the three blokes were drunk."

The three men were Jamaicans. Said one of them, Hubat Taylor:

"Back home we usually use white rum to cure colds and headaches, but white rum's hard to get here, so we use whisky."

"I'm all in favor of this cure, naturally," said the publicanner. "My whisky sales have gone up about 50 per cent. The cure works, I know, I've tried it."

A spokesman for the British Medical Association, asked what he thought of it, replied:

"I'd say it's a woeful waste of good whisky."

They can buy small pies filled with fruit, meat or vegetables for about 10 cents, bean curd at two cents, strips of egg dough at 15 cents, small squares of meat in sauce at about 30 cents, fried chicken or duck at about 50 cents or a slice of fish and many other dishes.

OPEN LONGER

Restaurants, which used to close by 9 p.m., now stay open an hour or two longer. Some cafes and open-air stalls do steady business until the early hours of the morning.

Though basic foodstuffs, particularly grain, cooking oil and sugar, still are fairly tightly rationed for the home consumer, in restaurants ration cards are demanded only for rice dishes.

There is almost a glut of fruit and vegetables in Peking this year. Local newspapers have been running editorials telling people they are not buying enough to justify production and distribution. Supplies of fish, meat and eggs at the city's markets are officially reported more than double last year.

Eating habits have changed considerably in China since the Communist regime came to power 14 years ago. Gargantuan banquets are almost a relic of the past, except for foreigners and for Chinese on official occasions. But it is probably fair to say the majority eat more to eat over a given period, thanks to stringent controls aimed at fair shares for all.

Cheap Eating Places Spring Up in Peking

By ADAM KELLETT-LONG

PEKING (Reuters) — Cheap eating places are springing up all over Peking as the authorities cash in on China's improved food situation.

Many of the most famous—and most expensive — restaurants in this gourmet's paradise recently have opened new "economic food" departments where people can get inexpensive quick meals.

Cheap restaurants and pastry shops are opening almost daily in main streets and back lanes. A growing number of open-air food stalls add to the pungent smell of Peking's streets.

From early morning until late at night housewives, drivers of pedal-driven cabs and factory workers crowd these eating-

Warns Against Poor Manners

By DORIS CLARK

DORIS CLARK

DEAR DORIS — The letter signed "Embarrassed" struck right home, and I cannot help but suggest that you warn this girl that her uncouth flaunts will never change. He will not only continue these mouth-stuffing habits, but will become so repulsive that this refined lady will not be able to sit at the same table with him.

She will, also, probably find his social and marital habits will have the same sloppy nature. He has a different sense of values from hers, and will not only not enjoy or understand the same things, but will keep her from having or enjoying the finer things.

His greedy habits show also lack of consideration or thoughtfulness which will break her heart as well as make her ashamed to be with him. Each one needs an understanding and acceptance of the other's likes and dislikes, or the one with the higher refinements and ideals is forever ashamed and trapped.

This may break his heart now, but it will surely break hers later and make him unhappy too. Better stop and look for her real mate. — TRAPPED.

DEAR TRAPPED — You have my sympathy. If "Embarrassed's" fiance's bad table manners are evidence of a wide difference in culture, he won't accept her attempts to reform him anyway. But wouldn't you give him a single chance?

DEAR DORIS — I always enjoy your column and realize that you have been a wonderful help to so many people.

Next month I am planning on getting married. I am 25 and am marrying a man who lost his wife five years ago. He has four of a family, all in their teens.

Would it be proper to have the children at the head table with us? Also, do you send an invitation to the minister or just ask him to have his wife come? — MARRYING.

DEAR MARRYING — By all means have the children at the head table. You're marrying a ready-made family and will be the keystone in their happy home, we hope. You'll be on the giving end fairly exclusively until they find you're a pretty good sort!

No minister takes for granted his invitation to the reception. Address your regular one to him and his wife.

(There's a career to suit your talents. Ask Doris about the right one for you, enclosing a 5-cent-stamped, self-addressed envelope with your letter.)

Khrushchev at 69 Seems Comfortably Berthed at Top But Berth Has Its Lumps

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

This year ago this week, Nikita Khrushchev took command of world communism. He has brought it face to face with a revolution all its own.

Khrushchev once remarked that "for an old woman, a comfortable bed is full of lumps." Now 69, Khrushchev would seem comfortably bedded at the top, but the berth has its lumps.

Sometimes because of his measures, sometimes in spite of them, Khrushchev has presided at home over a burgeoning rebellion among the rising Soviet generation. Abroad the Soviet Union's heads as a great and rich power have clashed with the demands of a global conspiracy devoted to violent revolution.

Paradoxically, after 10 years, Khrushchev seems at the peak of his personal popularity in the Soviet Union although he has had many failures as the leader of world communism and has seen the movement split.

On Sept. 12, 1953, the party announced officially what long had been suspected: Khrushchev was its first secretary.

SHOCK TREATMENT

Three months later Lavrenty Beria, Stalin's loyal police chief, was executed as a "spy for the imperialists." A wave of subsequent executions in the secret police structure with declining power to inspire terror rang the installation.

Khrushchev early in 1955 forced Georgi Malenkov out as premier, then took chief office, took off on his own "peaceful coexistence" brand of diplomacy which he contended would give communism its greatest chance for world victory.

The biggest jolt of all came early in 1956 when Khrushchev denounced Stalin as "an egomaniac blockhead and murderous tyrant who had put to death tens of thousands of loyal Communists."

Anti-Stalinism became a potent factor in Khrushchev's struggle to thwart enemies who tried to overthrow him later. It had its dangers, too. The relaxation it engendered contributed to unrest in the satellites and revolt in Hungary, ruthlessly stamped out by Soviet arms.

WRITERS STUBBORN

De-Stalinization had a profound effect on communism under Khrushchev. Because of it the party failed to win a complete victory over rebellious writers and artists who briefly had taken the heady wine of free expression.

It probably will mean that gradually a newer generation, steadily taking over from the older, will change the character of Soviet communism. But it grits deepen and multiply among Communists around the world, de-Stalinization will have contributed much to that development.

Khrushchev's publicly expressed scorn of Stalin's cult of personality made him extremely popular when he tossed out of the hierarchy such old stalwarts as Vyacheslav Molotov, Lazar Kaganin and V. M. Molotov.

Now, with few exceptions, the old Bolshevik guard of Stalin men have moved in. While the leadership is a blend of Chinese party remains in the hands of men in their 60s, that of the U.S.S.R. is largely dominated by men in their 40s and early 50s.

It is a new party with new attitudes, fewer unsophisticated members and often less reliable, more subject to pressures in a more competitive society.

CAN WIN PEACEFULLY

A policy laid down by Khrushchev at the 1956 congress—that (1) world war no longer should be considered inevitable, and (2) that Communists can take power by peaceful and nonpeaceful means—had a deep impact on the world Communist movement.

Khrushchev seemed intent on using the deterrent power of Soviet military threats as instruments of great power politics.

(1) Do fourth powers begin to see for the Kremlin. There was basic conflict between the Soviet Union and the archaic form of autocratic central rule. These war fears and less justification for rigid dictatorship, and even the much touted menace of "U.S. imperialism" failed to provide the excuse among a population now accustomed to peaceful coexistence with the outside world.

(2) Khrushchev policies caused disunity in the Communist world and weakened Moscow's control over the world movement.

Inside the U.S.S.R. there were rising expectations of more and improved consumer goods clashing with Kremlin efforts to use the economy for world political ends.

Young liberals—intellectuals, writers, artists and even economists—were feeling their oats, sometimes to the point of near-rebellion.

These were only a few symptoms of deep Soviet change. Khrushchev, whether he intended it or not, has been responsible for much of it. If its pace continues — as appears likely—the Soviet Union will be a far different country from the one Stalin left at the end of his rule.

The price for the Kremlin is likely to be steady decline of Soviet influence over the Red bloc and the Communist party around the world.

Things One Might Never Know If He Didn't Open His Mail

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

If you want to stay sweet-tempered, don't cut down on your calories too drastically. . . . Hunger makes you irritable and angry.

Good and Bad: One tradition says that a gift of pearls to a bride will bring her happiness. . . . Another tradition holds that a bride's pearls "represent the tears she will shed in her married life." (But most girls are glad to get the pearls.)

Some people claim they can read from 2,000 to 8,000 words a minute. . . . But tests show that anyone who reads faster than 1,450 words a minute is actually skimming. (When I read that fast, it makes my lips sore.)

Our Quotable Notables: "There was never yet a philosopher that could endure the toothache patiently." — William Shakespeare.

Oldtime vaudevillians were noted among the most superstitious of performers. . . . They thought it brought bad luck to whistle in a dressing room, to throw a hat on a bed, or get a No. 13 train berth. . . . Many also thought it was courting disaster to deliver the last line of an act during a rehearsal, or to let a clock escape with a powder puff instead of a rabbit's foot.

Odd Legislation: In Kentucky, it once was a criminal offense to fire a gun that wasn't loaded.

Powerful: The heat created in the sun is equal to the energy produced by 1,000,000,000 hydrogen bombs exploding every second.

Nature Note: Zoo gorillas are often fed raw meat, but in the wilds they are strictly vegetarians. . . . The strongest ones that retrieve stumpily try to hide their heads in the sand when threatened probably arises from the fact that these birds, when resting, often squat down and stretch their necks out flat on the ground.

It was Elbert Hubbard who observed: "The world is moving so fast these days that the man who says it can't be done is generally interrupted by someone doing it."

Ann Landers

No Cause for Suspicion Of Husband's Secretary

ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS — My husband has been an executive with his company for many years. He has had the same secretary from the day he started. I know she is extremely valuable to him. He recently accepted a position with another firm and will be leaving November 15. He wants to take his secretary with him.

The secretary is married to a nice man and I can bet my life there is nothing between her and my husband except business. Never once in the many years they have worked together have I had cause to be suspicious. But I feel strongly that it would be improper to take the woman along because people do gossip and I don't think he should supply them with this juicy material. Do you agree — yes or no? — S.-t.

DEAR S.-t — Tongues have wagged from the beginning of time — both with and without valid reasons — so don't try to play a defensive game against gossip or you'll drive yourself out of your mind.

The only consideration should be this: Does your husband want the secretary to go with him? He does and therefore he should ask her.

DEAR ANN LANDERS — Please tell me if I am right or wrong. Is it good manners for a guest who is visiting in your home to answer the telephone in your absence?

I left the house for about an hour yesterday and my sister-in-law who lives in another city was visiting me. The telephone rang and she answered it. It was my daughter calling me long distance. We always call each other station-to-station which means we must pay for the call no matter who answers.

My daughter was very angry when she got her aunt on the phone, and I am steaming myself.

I say a guest has no right to answer the phone in someone else's home. I would no more think of answering the telephone in the home of a friend than I would think of opening her mail. Will you please express your opinion? — RING A DING.

DEAR RING — The natural reaction to a ringing phone is to answer it. If you have strong feelings that no one but you should answer the phone in your home why didn't you instruct your guest to let it ring?

Your sister-in-law was not prying. A ringing phone is not like a letter addressed to someone else. She meant to do you a favor. And you are clearly out of order, Madame.

DEAR ANN LANDERS — I've read your column for many years and am surprised this problem has never shown up in print. I can only assume that our neighborhood has the only nut of this kind.

A certain young mother who lives a few doors away has three children under six years of age. She has allowed her children to run loose in the neighborhood with pink eye, measles, mumps and skin rashes of undetermined origin. Just last week my son caught whooping cough from the neighbor child.

Don't tell me to speak to her. I have. She says I'm a Fuss Pot and that she believes in letting her children "wear out their little illnesses." In the meantime I hate to order my kids to stay away from her kids. Please tell me what to do. — FURIOUS MOTHER.

DEAR FURIOUS — Check with your doctor and make certain your own children are inoculated against all infectious diseases.

It is against the law to allow children with communicable illnesses to run loose. The next time the neighbor woman breaks the law tell her to keep her child isolated or you will ask your city health dept. to do it. She doesn't keep her child inside after that — go ahead and do it.

To learn how to keep your boy friend in line without losing him, send for Ann Landers' booklet, "Necking and Petting — And How Far To Go," enclosing with your request 30 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

MARK BOUNDARY

PLAN PLANE CONTROL

OTTAWA (CP) — An air traffic control system for high-flying airliners over Canada's 12 million square miles will go into operation October 31, the transport department announced Monday. The main job will be to keep the planes well apart from each other. It will not affect low-level aircraft such as bush planes.

Sinatra Accused Of Playing Host To Crime Boss

Nevada Gaming Board May Cancel His Licence

CARSON CITY, Nev. (AP)—Frank Sinatra, the gangling singer who branched out as an actor, businessman and gambling impresario, has been threatened with loss of his Nevada gaming license. He is accused of allegedly allowing a crime overlord to stay at the Cal-Neva gambling lodge.

Sinatra, in New York Wednesday night, was not available for comment.

The Nevada Gaming Control Board said Sinatra's guest at the showroom Lake Tahoe casino on the California-Nevada state line was Sam Giancana.

The board complaint submitted to the state gaming commission in Carson City Wednesday described Giancana, 54, of Oak Park, Ill., as "one of the 12 or 13 bosses of American crime." On Aug. 6 the justice department said Giancana was convocation, though it is not Cosa Nostra crime syndicate.

Nevada keeps a "black book" of persons barred from its premises; one of them Giancana, banned from any Nevada gaming establishment. Knowingly permitting one of them on the premises is ground for license revocation, though it is not a criminal offence.

The gaming board's complaint said Sinatra knowingly played host to Giancana at Cal-Neva, flying 200 miles from Carson City, between last July 17 and July 20. Specifically, the board said Sinatra allowed Giancana to stay in one of the chalets adjoining the casino.

A separate complaint charges Sinatra representative, Paul D'Amato with attempting to prevent two state gaming agents who were "performing their official duties" from entering the gross win at the gaming tables at Cal-Neva Lodge." The complaint said D'Amato assaulted one agent.

Further, Gaming Board Chairman Edward Olsen said: "Profane words, obscene and indecent language, in a tone menacing in the extreme, (occurred) when Agent Ohlff talked with him by telephone about Giancana on Aug. 21.

Sinatra was in New York preparing for an appearance Friday at a United Nations staff party.

A table was reserved for him Wednesday night at a hotel lounge where Frank Sinatra Jr. heads the floor show, but the singer was not there. Officials of his son said Sinatra had been "in a meeting until 6 p.m. and he was so tired he said he thought he'd catch my show another night. He said he wasn't feeling too well—that it didn't sound too well—he was coughing a lot."

Sinatra owns 50 per cent of Cal-Neva stock and has held his gaming licence for three seasons.

Churchills Happily Wed 55 Years

WESTERHAM, England (AP) The Winston Churchills today celebrated 55 years of wedded life in the secluded quiet of their manor house in Kent.

No special celebrations were planned and no visitors invited to mark this milestone in the marriage that critics once said would never last.

"All the children will probably send them congratulatory telegrams," said Randolph S. Churchill, the couple's only son. "When they celebrate their 60th anniversary there'll be a whopping big celebration."

The Churchills also have two daughters, Sarah, blond and dimpled.

A member of Churchill's staff said the lack of festivities was no reflection that the 88-year-old wartime prime minister is ailing.

"My Winston promises in good health," he said.

The Churchill marriage dating to a gay evening in London in 1908.

Churchill, then 34, was a second hero, a handsome Irish soldier who had won cabinet rank. She was beautiful debutante Hon. Clementine Ogilvy, a Dragoon Guards colonel and granddaughter of the Earl of Airlie.

MANY ATTEND

At fashionable St. Margaret's, Westminster, more than 25,000 people jammed Parliament Square. Six hundred guests filled the church.

Pessimists predicted the marriage would wind up on the rocks.

"Clemmy likes her way too much," said one. "And Winston will never give-in."

Twenty-five years later in an autobiographical fragment My Early Life Churchill wrote:

"I married and lived happily ever afterwards."

RECOGNIZES LAYMEN

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Vatican sources say Pope Paul is considering allowing certain qualified Roman Catholic laymen to attend the church's ecumenical council when it reconvenes Sept. 29. The sources say the laymen — leaders of Catholic lay organizations — would be admitted as "witnesses," not as delegates with the right to debate and vote.

60 Men Test Technique Designed To Assist Them to Stop Smoking

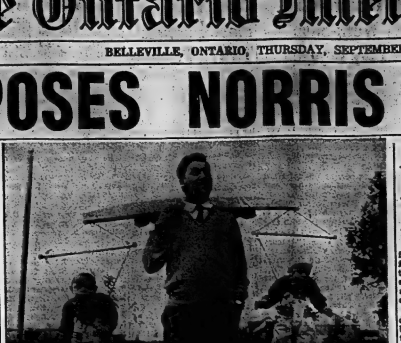
THE WEATHER

Synopsis: The storm centre that brought thunderstorms and heavy rain to southern and central sections of the province this morning is continuing to move rapidly eastward across southern Ontario.

Strong northeasterly winds are pushing colder air southward into southern Ontario behind the departing storm so that a few localities in southern and central Ontario will have gusty winds as high as 50 miles an hour.

to help smokers give up the habit. Among 60 volunteers in the test group is AP staff writer Michael Kraizberg.

By MICHAEL KRAIZBERG



BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—The seductive object inflaming the imaginations of 60 men today is the slim, white tubular shape of a cigarette.

Portions of the tempting vision are 60 volunteers in the throes of the second day of withdrawal from cigarettes. Symptoms and feelings are virtually unanimous—we miss it, very much.

We have undertaken this today to benefit ourselves and to help Roswell Park Memorial Institute perfect a technique that other smokers might use to drop the habit.

The program has been tried with success on the institute staff. This is its second test.

All Forty Aboard Meet Death As Plane Hits Pyrenees Peak

CP from Reuter-AP

PERPIGNAN, France — A French airliner crashed into a mountain peak in the rugged Pyrenees today, killing all 40 persons aboard. Rescuers reaching the scene reported no survivors among the 36 British passengers and four French crew members.

Police and civilian rescue teams reached the disaster scene after struggling through thick forests amid rugged peaks. They reported the airport said:

"First rescue team is on the spot. No survivors. Awaiting instructions."

The twin-engine Viking airliner crashed into a 5,250-foot mountain called Pic de la Roquette, 30 miles southwest of here, shortly after midnight.

It was on a flight from Britain to this town in southwest France where mountainous area where peaks lower 6,500 feet and the valleys are covered with thick fir forests.

TRYING TO LAND

Witnesses who heard the last message from the airliner's pilot to Perpignan control tower said the pilot was preparing to land.

He said he was experiencing bad weather but gave no indication he was aware the plane was off course and flying into the dangerous mountain peak region. control tower officials said.

There was speculation that the terrorists in the area caused the pilot's electrical compass to "wander," making him think he was flying in a different direction.

The Airnautic Airlines plane carried 36 vacationers from many parts of Britain on a charter flight.

Officials said the Viking lost radio contact with the Perpignan control tower while the approaches to the airport.

HEARD PLANE IN STORM

The wreck scene is not far from the little spa city of Vernet-les-Bains where residents reported they had heard an airplane circling Wednesday night as a thunder and lightning storm raged in the area.

A woman who lives near Vernet-les-Bains told of hearing an explosion during Wednesday night's storm.

"Around midnight a storm broke out and I was not able to sleep," said Madame Marcel Marchand, wife of a forester.

"The sky was lighted by great flashes of lightning and thunder rolled without cease. Suddenly there was the sound of a violent explosion. The sound was so great I knew it could not have been made by the thunder. . . ."

Pensions Remain Live Issue In Ontario's Electioneering

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

The federal government's portable pension scheme has turned out to be a portable issue—carried out of the federal arena to become one of the liveliest topics so far in Ontario's provincial election campaign.

Monday, Prime Minister Robarts said he hoped the pension question had been laid to rest for the rest of the campaign. But Wednesday, with voting day just two weeks away, hot words on the subject came from all three major party leaders.

The premier accused Federal Health Minister Judy LaMarsh of playing provincial politics when she said Tuesday Mr. Robarts' stand on pensions was unclear. He said he will deal directly with Prime Minister Pearson on the subject from now on.

Liberal Leader John Wintermeyer repeated his charges that Mr. Robarts is acting in the interests of private insurance companies and is trying to block the federal scheme in favor of his government's provincial pension plan.

New Democratic Party Leader Donald C. MacDonald joined the assault with a challenge to the Ontario government to get out of the pension business and leave the field to the federal plan.

At the last session of the Ontario legislature the Progressive Conservative government passed a funded pension plan to take effect Jan. 1, 1965. Contributions would be invested with private insurance companies and built up over a period of years.

The Liberal federal government, however, hopes to introduce a national pay-as-you-go scheme for larger pensions paid directly out of contributions.

Premier Robarts Monday was the only premier to personally appear at a federal-provincial conference on the subject in Ottawa. He said his government is opposed to the principle of a federal plan, and was willing to alter its own scheme accord-

Morale of East Germans Higher, No Sign of Revolt

By JOHN G. KEHLER

BERLIN (AP) — Dissatisfaction of the East German people with the Communist regime continues to be widespread, but after a week behind the Iron Curtain, this reporter found no evidence that a new revolt is being.

The morale of the people, despite tough political pressures and scarcity of certain essential food items, seemed higher than it was seven months ago when I last visited East Germany.

Because of the unusually severe winter and resulting serious food shortages, the mood of the people's mood then was explosive.

But East Germany since has had a good harvest and there certainly are no shortages of such staples as bread and potatoes.

On the other hand, butter continues to be short in supply—one half pound being allotted each person every 10 days. This butter is of poor quality and expensive.

Record Field In Election

TORONTO (CP) — A record field of 338 candidates will vie for the 108 seats in the new Ontario legislature in the Sept. 25 election, a compilation showed after nominations officially closed Wednesday.

An earlier unofficial count indicated that 336 would qualify before the 3 p.m. deadline, but the addition of six new candidates during interim hours over previously known more than balanced the withdrawal of four others who failed to file as expected.

There was only one case in which an unsuccessful attempt was made to file a nomination. That was in Cochrane North, where Andre Verreault, chosen earlier to run as Social Credit candidate, failed to make his formal application in the returning officer in Cochrane.

When it became apparent that M. W. Scott had missed the deadline, Alphonse Brisson of Cochrane attempted to qualify as a Social Credit candidate in his stead, but was told by Returning Officer W. A. Palangio that it was too late.

The Social Credit slate of four candidates announced Wednesday when William Trika made a last-minute application in Haldimand-Norfolk was qualified before the deadline. The party had

Sergeants Stage Revolt In Brasilia

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP)—The ministers of Brazil's armed forces reported today a group of sergeants had taken an elected and occupied the navy ministry in Brasilia but government control quickly surrounded the building.

The ministers in a communique said the sergeants were ordered to surrender or face attack. The communique said the sergeants were "practically" without any possible defence."

There was no immediate information on the result of the rebellion or the purpose.

War ministry sources said rebellious sergeants also had occupied the airport and the central telegraph exchange in Brasilia, the capital. The sources said the rebels also were surrounded by loyal troops and the uprising was considered to have been crushed.

Government communications with the capital were interrupted. Strict security measures were imposed on all persons and vehicles in the area.

CASUALTIES REPORTED

Unconfirmed reports reaching Rio de Janeiro, about 600 miles southeast of Brasilia, said at least one sergeant was killed and several wounded in sporadic shooting throughout the night.

The number of sergeants involved could not be determined immediately.

Airport authorities said all flights to Brasilia had been suspended.

Justice Minister Abelardo Jurema joined the military ministers in putting the communique on the upring.

This described the movement as "a criminal mutiny characterized" and said it was staged in protest against a decision Wednesday by the supreme electoral tribunal. This decision was that sergeants who were successful candidates for official jobs in last October's election were not eligible to hold office.

The sergeants ignored out to put down the rebels and by 6:30 a.m. the situation was under control, the communique said.

The military situation in the rest of the country was described as unchanged.

Wirtz Will Urge Labor Leaders To End Violence

Labor Secretary Talks To Pearson, MacEachen

OTTAWA (CP) — U.S. Labor Secretary Willard Wirtz flew back to Washington Wednesday to urge responsible American labor leaders to launch a "private" clean-up of waterfront labor lawlessness on the Great Lakes.

Mr. Wirtz told reporters after meetings with Prime Minister Pearson and Labor Minister MacEachen that he hopes that the trade union movement in Canada and the United States will find a solution to the problem of gangsterism and violence on the Great Lakes.

He made it clear that he prefers a private remedy by labor itself, rather than the public cure proposed by the Canadian government — an unprecedented trusteeship by the government over five marine unions, including the Seafarers' International Union of Canada (Ind.).

"It's a great believer that in the free labor movement there are elements for dealing with a situation of this kind," said Mr. Wirtz.

HOPES FOR ANSWER

Mr. Wirtz expressed hope that some way will be found whereby the assertion of the basic responsibilities of free trade unions in this country and in the U.S. will produce an answer to this problem."

Later, Mr. Wirtz said in a television interview that the responsibility "is for the right thing" like with the AFL-CIO, Canadian unions and other private interests."

Informants said Mr. Wirtz returned to Washington fully aware of the Canadian government's determination to press ahead with its trusteeship legislation when Parliament resumes Sept. 30—unless some alternative course is found to relieve the sense of violence and intimidation on the Great Lakes.

The trusteeship was proposed by Mr. Justice T. G. Norris after a year-long investigation of labor strife and shipping disruptions on the Great Lakes. The federal government's trouble on a ruthless drive for power by SIU President Hal C. Banks, who was described as a tyrant who terrorized both shipowners and sailors.

Time seems to be running out, however, for any last-minute effort by U.S. and Canadian labor to avert the threatened take-over of the marine unions

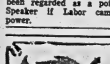
Date Sentence Back to Time Of His Arrest



Driving while his licence was suspended brought a nine-day sentence for Bernard MacMillan of Peterborough in Belleville today.

However, Magistrate T. Y. Wills dated the sentence from September 4th — the day MacMillan's arrest—thus allowing him to go free. He was also fined $25 for having a car registered in his name when not permitted to do so.

MacMillan, who is unemployed, said he bought the car for $80. He was dropped by Dean—to police who discovered he had not his licence in January, 1963, for impaired driving.

Dropped Gun After Hearing Two Noises

KITCHENER (CP) — A man accused of capital murder in the slaying of his wife testified Wednesday that his wife had told him she was leaving him and taking their daughter with her only minutes before the slaying July 23.

George Hudson, 43, of Kitchener said in Ontario Supreme Court that the last words his wife, Margaret, 42, said before she was slain were: "You will never see me or Mary again."

"Then she just left," Hudson added. Mrs. Hudson had been given custody of their six-year-old daughter by a family court earlier in the day.

The next thing I recall were two noises like shots. I saw I had a gun in my hand. I dropped it."

Evidence that Hudson is not "a responsible person" was given by Dr. J. D. Armstrong, medical director of the Ontario Alcoholism and Drug Research Foundation. He found Hudson "within what we call normal limits of intelligence and probably on the lower border.

HAD HIGH COUNT

He agreed with a previous expert witness that Hudson had probably had a blood-alcohol count of 2.5 parts P 1,000 at the time of the killing.

"With a 2.5 reading would he have the capacity to find the intent to kill?" a Crown defence counsel Joseph Mattson.

"I would have considerable doubts of his capacity to form an intent to kill in respect of being fully conscious of the consequences and meaning of the act," Dr. Armstrong replied.

Questioned by Crown counsel Harold Daufman, Dr. Armstrong said he "could not swear that Hudson would not know what he was doing." However, he said he was the accused would be "grossly incapacitated in terms of fully judging what he was doing at the moment."

The case is expected to go to the jury today.

Square Dancing Will Be Taught In 'Y' Program

Like many other youth groups, the Y.M.C.A. is in the process of getting its programs underway for the fall and winter months ahead.

With all its equipment held in readiness the "Y" is now putting the finishing touches on its program schedule. The first of these programs commences this Friday.

General Secretary, George Diamantides, said yesterday square dancing classes under the supervision of Mr. and Mrs. Merril Gordon, will start this Friday night at 7 p.m. Admission will be 30c for "Y" members and 50c for non-members.

These classes, however, are for the participants in last years square dance program, and a series of 8 instructor courses will be given to people who have had previous experience.

The prospective person who was given by Dr. J. D. Armstrong, medical director of the Ontario Alcoholism and Drug Research Foundation. He found Hudson "within what we call normal limits of intelligence and probably on the lower border.

Mr. Diamantides said the "Y" feels people should come out and play instead of developing cases of nervousness in front of the TV. Other sports have a place he said but many people are losing their zest for watching such sports should get some exercise by participating.

Membership in the "Y" is good for one year from the date of joining, and fees are not exclusive. There is a special discount of 10 per cent for each additional member of the family.

The amount one pays represents only a part of the cost of membership. Grants from the Belleville United Appeal, and interested citizens makes this reduced fee possible.

Theatre Guild 'Work-Shop' Play Enjoyed

There was a good turn-out of 30 people for the "workshop" production put on by the Belleville Theatre Guild in the Loft Playroom last night. The play, "When Shakespeare Ladies Meet," was primarily intended to give the Guild members experienced actresses and production staff practice in putting on a play.

A parody, by Charles Ward, told of what would have been likely to happen if the key female characters in Shakespeares play could have met to discuss the topic in which they considered themselves expert.

Cleopatra, from "Anthony and Cleopatra," Desdemona, from "Othello," Ophelia, from Hamlet, Katherina from "The Taming of the Shrew," and Portia from "The Merchants of Venice," all descended upon Juliet complaining that Romeo Lind with advice on how she should be running her affair with Romeo.

However, after offering their advice, each finds that the unsettled Juliet cannot take a lesson in love, despite many youth.

Director of the Theatre Guild, Marion Wilson, mentioned that this was not only the first play of this inexperienced group but also the first try-out for the newly-installed lighting system. She said lighting in the past has always been a problem and now she feels cases of inexperience will be in front of the TV. Other sports have a place he said but many people are losing their zest for watching such sports should get some exercise by participating.

The Guild is in need of new talent, Marion Wilson said and is looking always be a place for new people intending to join the Guild.

Will Likely Move Business To New Property

The village of Foxboro, or more correctly the township of Thurlow will in all probability have a business presently located in the city as a result of the purchase of the former canning factory property by Maurice Rollins of the Rollins Construction company.

Yesterday, following the announcement that he had purchased the canning factory property, Mr. Rollins said that eventually he would likely move his construction and lumber business to Foxboro.

Mr. Rollins purchased consists of eight acres on the west side of the river and more than 100 acres on the east side approximately 4500 feet of riverfront.

Where Does Front Street End, Question

Where does Front Street end and Station Street begin?

This is the other words does Front Street end at the Upper Bridge or at the Pinnacle Street intersection?

For easy reference purposes, the city public works department has officially refers to that section between the Upper Bridge and Pinnacle Street as being in the latter Street.

And with Front Street at this point running into a "y" formed by the Upper Bridge and the right turn along the river, it is a natural assumption.

But the city directory and the street numbering system has it as part of Front Street.

We don't suppose it really matters as long as a stranger doesn't try to find, say, the Knights of Columbus Hall at 380 Station Street.

The city directory has the address as 390 Front Street.

A hearty vote of thanks was tendered the entertainment committee for the successful picnic held on June 24 at Cove Beach. It is hoped that this will be continued next year as a district picnic and become an annual get together. Plans are underway for a Hallowe'en Dance on October 31, also a children's Christmas party. Mon details next meeting.

Practice of the initiatory degree was held after which a number of members gave a few well chosen remarks.

Lunch was served in the upstairs hall after Lodge closed in one room.

Nomination Day in Two Ridings Quiet

There were no surprises or last minute entries in the election ridings as the hustings for ridings as official nominations were held yesterday at Stirling and Picton.

Returning officers stated that the three previously nominated candidates in each riding would go officially to the polls on September 20th.

At Stirling only six or seven interested residents turned up for the official nomination for West Hastings Provincial Returning Officer Harry Morrow. The three candidates, W. Elmer Sandwick, Progressive Conservative; Frank S. Follwell, Liberal, and Ian Rielly, N.D.P., of Trenton had all previously filed the nominations.

In Hastings East, Clarks T. Rollins, Progressive Conservative; Roy Sills, Liberal, and Charles Clemens, N.D.P., of Marmora, are the official candidates.

Again it was a quiet nomination with those being officially in the race hours before the three o'clock deadline.

HELPED BY DRUG

We are being helped by jobelline, a nicotine substitute. We take two tablets daily—one with breakfast (before the cigarette-and-coffee urge is victorious (as if it was in my case Wednesday) and another with supper.

We are additionally helped by a vial of jobelline lozenges, flavored with enough cinnamon to bite the tongue. Popped in the use "as needed," that is, when willpower falters under a whiff of your neighbor's cigarette.

The nicotine substitute is expected to reduce the desire for smoking. Roswell Park doctors believe that nicotine in the substance that makes smoking so difficult to quit.

Because of the weight gains some people experience when they stop smoking, each morning we also take a pill to curb our appetites.

MAYBE WE AREN'T . . .

That is, we THINK we are taking those pills.

Only 30 of the 60 volunteers actually take pills that contain jobelline and the appetite depressant. The other half have pills that contain no drugs. Nobody knows whether he has active pills or fakes.

This is the "control" needed to measure the various factors working on participants.

Dr. Charles A. Ross, directing the experiment, says that in the initial test some institute staff members quit smoking with no aid but fake pills, imagination and will power.

Tories Are Bouncing Back After What Looked Like Certain Defeat in Election

By CAROL KENNEDY

LONDON (CP) — "A great party is not to be brought down because of a scandal by a woman of easy virtue and a proved liar."

Lord Hailsham's angry comment when the Profumo affair blew up in June looked to many people at the time to be a case of hopeless deflation on a par with King Canute's command to the ocean.

How, it was asked, could the Tories survive this one? Events had been conspiring against the government for some time and opinion polls showed the Conservatives sinking fast, with Labor at its highest peak of popularity for 17 years. It wasn't only professional satirists who were sniping at the establishment.

The reeking scandal uncovered by the war minister's confession of lies and loose living plus what looked like the prime minister's negligence in yet another security matter, would surely seal the Conservatives' fate.

So it was thought.

TORIES RECOVER

In fact, one of the most incredible aspects of the whole incredible sex-and-security tangle, as analysed in a fast-selling paperback called Scandal '63, is the resilience with which the Tories have bounced back from what three months ago looked like the post of no return.

Consider the situation June 18, a day after the stormy commons debate on the security aspects of Profumo sharing a call girl with a Soviet diplomat.

Macmillan had come out of the fray badly, his case virtually reduced to a plea for tolerance, because nobody had told him what was going on; he was unwilling to doubt a colleague's word; and anyway, he didn't like to make allegations.

Even his own backbenchers found it hard to stomach this. "Lest him never come back to us!" cried a Tory MP, cruelly quoting Browning's poem. The Lost Leader's the bowed and crumpled premier.

Next morning the headlines predicted doom.

"Mac: The end," bannered The Daily Mail.

"Premier likely to resign soon"—The Daily Telegraph:

The Daily Mirror hedged just a fraction: "His future, short of a miracle, will be brief."

The miracle happened. It was largely due to three things.

Firstly, the distasteful sight of the Tory party yelling for Macmillan's blood in a panicky attempt to save their electoral skins, yet hopelessly split over the succession.

Secondly, the sudden upsurge of sympathy in the country constituencies for a premier seen fighting for survival—a typically British reaction. There appeared to be a growing feeling it was unfair that he should be lynched because of "that girl."

Thirdly, the signing of the test ban treaty.

DIGS IN

Macmillan knew that if he could only gain enough time, a test-ban success might well tip the scales of his political survival. He prepared to dig in, fortified by the way opinion was swinging in the "sticks." Twice he publicly indicated he would only go when he was good and ready to go; on television he went so far as to say he hoped to lead the party in the next election.

To add to his worries, another spy story burst (Harold Philby, vanished foreign office correspondent who, it developed, had tipped off defectors Burgess and Maclean in time to help the Cambridge spy ring. Macmillan's old Etonian chum Lord Boothby had once said the sordid trial and suicide of Stephen Ward raised disturbing questions.

But . . . suddenly it was mid-July and Macmillan was still prime minister. His deputy, R. A. Butler, returned from Central Africa in triumph, having skillfully dealt with the perilous federation problem there.

Came July 25—and the test ban was signed. With a timing that practically obliterated the long arm of coincidence, it happened just an hour before Macmillan was due to be grilled before an inner cabal of backbenchers thought by many to be capable of finishing him off.

Mac had turned the corner. Even the Stratford byelection result, with the loss of 14 in the Tory majority, managed to exceed the margin of governmental gloom.

By mid-August, say the journalist authors of Scandal '63, the Tories and MPs were even considering that the affair had actually helped the Conservatives, deflecting public attention from serious electoral issues.

As the summer wore on, Lord Denning's judicial report on it all, it seemed that Mac had once again pulled it off.

Paving Work On 3 Highway Links Planned

Detours and one lane traffic will be the order of the day in the city next week as the city public works department commences a re-paving program on three sections of highway connecting links in the city.

City Engineer Wilbur Purcell said the first section to be paved are Dundas East from Burnham to MacDonald; North Front Street from Moira Street north to the approach of the new overhead railway bridge, and Front Street from the Upper Bridge to Pinnacle Street.

Weather permitting the repaving program will get underway early Wednesday morning, and is expected to be completed by Saturday. Paving preparation will be done by city forces with McFarlands doing the actual paving on a per ton basis.

The work will be part of the city's works department maintenance program for the year.

While the paving is underway, the existing detour around the railway bridge construction site.

There will be no detour while paving operations are underway between the Upper Bridge and Pinnacle Street, with traffic to be funnelled through while the work is in progress.

The re-paving work costs will receive 75 per cent provincial subsidy.

C of C Board of Directors To Be Named by Mail Vote

TRENTON — The next board of directors of the Trenton Chamber of Commerce may be elected by mail, the present board decided yesterday. The suggestion arose out of a discussion of plans for the Chamber's general meeting, this fall.

Chamber president George Kempf had suggested a dinner and dance, in conjunction with the business meeting. Jack Goldberg had pointed out that dinners and dances do not often mix well with business meetings. Percy McDonald had agreed, and suggested the best mess meeting be scrapped, and the dinner and dance idea retained. The business, he suggested, could be conducted by mail.

DIFFICULTY MASTERED

Most difficult problem, conducting an election of the board of directors by mail, has already been mastered, he said, by Brampton's Chamber of Commerce. The system there, he explained, is that a list of nominations is first examined by committee is mailed to all members, for their approval. Any member could add nominees to the list he said, by writing the Chamber office, including the name of the nominee, the age of the nominator and the seconder, and assurance that the nominee has agreed to accept the job, if elected.

The revised nominations list is then mailed out, Mr. McDonald said, and printed ballots are marked and returned by mail. In Brampton, the system resulted in about two-thirds of the total membership voting, he said. He suggested that few Chambers could expect that high percentage of members to turn out and vote at an annual meeting.

The system will be given a tentative trial, the directors agreed, but provision is made for hedging on the bet. If the initial response to the nominations list is satisfactory, the topic will be carried out by mail. If the response is not satisfactory though, the voting will be conducted at the annual meeting, in the regular manner.

New Building May Be Donated Says President

The building planned by the Chamber will be about 30 feet square and will probably include two storeys, a small meeting hall which may be rented out to town groups, and public washrooms. Jack Goldberg was appointed chairman of the building committee and Herb Simrod is in charge of raising the money to pay for the new building. Final plans will not be drawn up until the exact location of the land is known, and the donation of the land is completed.

The petroleum industry in Saskatchewan spent $101,000,000 last year, the provincial mineral resources department says in its petroleum and natural gas year book. This was $15,500,000 ahead of 1961 expenditures and $25,000,000 ahead of expenditures in 1960.

Membership Fee In C of C May Be Increased

TRENTON — Some Trenton businessmen want discounts on Chamber of Commerce membership. Chamber manager Nostrand Sprague told the Chamber's board of directors yesterday. The membership fees are already among the lowest for any town of Trenton's size in Canada, however and the Chamber has no intention of lowering them. There is a distinct possibility, in fact, that the fees might be raised for 1964. If the fee structure is reviewed, however, it might be made more flexible.

As things stand now, there is a minimum yearly membership fee, which applies to individuals and professional men, and the businesses employing less than four people. When the fourth employee is added to a business however, the rates jump to a new classification, which includes businesses employing four to ten people. A third rate is applied to businesses employing 11 or more people. In the industrial category there are only two groups. One rate applies for industries employing less than 20 people, another rate for industries employing 20 or more.

ON DIVIDING LINE

The firms asking for discounts, Mr. Sprague said, are usually firms just barely over the dividing line between two categories. Businesses with four employees, for example, wasn't see why they should be classed with businesses employing three people rather than with businesses employing ten people.

A review of the fee structure would probably provide for more complete graduation of the fees, which might put an end to requests for discounts, the Chamber decided. No discounts have been given so far, Mr. Sprague said, and none will be considered under a new fee schedule.

Another membership problem faced by the board of directors yesterday, centred around the special sales sponsored occasionally by the Chamber of Commerce. In each of the last two sales, Chamber director Percy McDonald told the board, several non-member merchants were allowed to participate. In all cases they paid their share of the immediate expenses of the promotion, but the directors did not like the idea of their riding on the Chamber's project.

Mr. McDonald explained to the board that the non-members had been allowed to participate on the assumption that they would, once they saw the benefits of Chamber membership, join the Chamber. It didn't work that way, however, and several of the items translated on both promotions. No final decision was taken on the matter, but board members agreed that future promotions might be for members only.

Second Printing Job Ordered To Be Completed

TRENTON — The town Chamber of Commerce yesterday took steps to clear up a situation which had, apparently, been causing ill feeling for more than a year. The Chamber had not, until recently been aware of the situation.

About two years ago, Chamber manager Nostrand Sprague, told the board of directors yesterday, the Chamber had ordered about 7,000 paper place mats, printed in three colors with Chamber of Commerce information. These mats were sold by Mr. Sprague, at cost, to local restaurants. The mats didn't sell very well, however, because other organizations were giving mats away, to help promote their own causes. Mr. Sprague managed to unload the 7,000 odd already printed, and the printing firm, Commercial Printing of Trenton was told no more would be required.

PLACED SECOND ORDER

Someone, however, had already placed a second order with this firm, for another 7,000 of the same mats. Mr. Sprague did not know about the second order, and had already been printed in two of the three colors by the time he told the printer no more would be required. The firm assumed the Chamber knew about the second order, and had consciously left it holding the bag.

The story came out a few weeks ago, when Mr. Sprague approached the firm to say that he had dropped its membership in the Chamber. The firm explained the situation, and the directors apologized for this interpretation of the events.

The board of directors decided yesterday to keep the printing job completed. What happens to the mats though, when they are delivered, was not decided.

Corn Roast Held

TRENTON—Trenton Rotary Club's meeting this week took the form of a outdoor corn roast, at Rotarian Eben James' house, on the south side of the bay. About 75 Rotarians and wives showed up for the affair, last night. Rotary official declined to weather and the setting for the event as "perfect."

Batawa's Air Cadets Hold First Parade

TRENTON—Batawa Air Cadet Squadron paraded last night, for the first time in a new season. Fifty two cadets turned out for the parade. Inspection of the squadron was by newly-appointed acting C. O. F/L. G. L. McGaughey of Belleville, and by members of the civilian committee.

Ten cadets were promoted during the parade. New Flight Sergeant for the squadron is Paul Duncan, of Batawa, Blair Elder of Stockdale and R. Cameron of Brighton were promoted to Sergeants. Three three and seven cadets promoted to Corporal, had passed the NCO's training course at Air Cadet Camp, Trenton, during the past summer. Formed just one year ago, the squadron won the shield for sports at the camp.

Chamber Has Become Group Of Merchants

TRENTON — Industry is apparently no longer interested in Trenton's Chamber of Commerce, Chamber president George Kempf told the Chamber's board of directors yesterday. Originally an organization of town industry leaders, with a small membership, the Chamber has become a group of merchants, with too few industrialists. And participation by industry is essential to development of the Chamber, Mr. Kempf added.

With a total membership of about 175 though, the Chamber is far from dead — in spite of what some people are saying, Mr. Kempf emphasized. "And I won't fold while I'm in town," he added.

NEW VICE-PRESIDENT

Ian Darling has resigned as vice-president of the town's Chamber of Commerce. His letter of resignation, received two weeks ago, was read at yesterday's meeting of the Chamber board of directors. The letter said Mr. Darling can no longer spare the time to handle the Chamber job, in addition to his own. Herb Simrod was elected to the vice-presidency in Mr. Darling's place.

DRAINS HUGE AREA

The area drained by South America's Amazon River, more than 2,053,000 square miles, is nearly twice that of any other river.

C of C Will Enlist in Tourist Area

TRENTON — The Chamber of Commerce will bring out a new tourist brochure and enlist in a tourist area for next summer, the board of directors agreed yesterday, in order to take advantage of the tourist information booths in service centres on Highway 401. Chamber manager Nostrand Sprague and Chamber director Gordon Shoniker will be co-chairmen of the project.

Mr Sprague told the Chamber's board of directors that he had failed in his first attempt to place Trenton tourist information in the booths. He had approached the Ontario Tourist Association, which runs the booths, and offered to supply brochures describing various motels and hotels which are members of the Trenton Chamber of Commerce. He was answered with a very definite "no".

If the Chamber would enroll in an organized tourist area, however, the Tourist Association would be happy to have Trenton brochures on which could include advertising by local motels and hotels — in all 18 service centres on the highway. Membership in a tourist area is not prerequisite because the Association and indirectly the tourist booths, are supported by levies on the tourist areas.

Budget for the planned brochure is about $500, the board decided. Most of the cost, it was assumed, could be recovered by the sale of advertising.

Effects Questionable

Eight Ontario districts are going to be given a running start in the race to attract new industries.

The areas served by National Employment Service offices located at Brantford, Cornwall, Windsor, Pembroke, Timmins, Wallaceburg, Elliot Lake and Chatham will enjoy tax concessions to new manufacturing and processing enterprises.

All of the centres will be glad of the aid, but officials of some of these municipalities do not like the accompanying tag of "depressed area." Some suggest euphemisms. For instance "slow growth areas" was one substitute term advocated.

There is more to this search for a nice-sounding substitute than is generally the case where such a switch is suggested. An area might qualify for the tax concessions without fitting the generally accepted conception of a "depressed" area. Particularly in communities which are largely dependent for employment on one or two large industries, it is quite possible for there to be large pools of jobless while the community as a whole keeps on growing.

In the final analysis, though, once the program is underway, it is unlikely that any stigma will attach to the communities receiving this kind of aid, no matter what name is applied to the program.

A more serious possibility is that the program will not really solve any problems, but will merely serve to transfer troubles from one municipality to another. If there is sufficient response on the part of those establishing new industries to make the program helpful to the areas where unemployment is now high, will there not be a danger that other communities, which would otherwise have attracted some of these new industries, will find their growth stunted?

What may happen is that the tax concessions will enable some new businesses to get established which would otherwise not have been able to start operations. If this occurs, the program will have a greater chance of benefiting everybody, by increasing the nation's gross national product.

There will, however, always be a danger that new industries, in effect subsidized, will cut into the demand for the products of already-established firms which are not receiving similar concessions.

It is much too early to be certain about this scheme's results, which are likely to be diverse. The program will need to be very carefully watched by those areas not accorded tax concessions.

Too Risky

Canada's approach to welfare problems has been called a dismal failure.

Amy Leigh, a Vancouver social worker, told the Institute of Public Administration that membership in her profession are sinking in an administrative morass. Prof. John S. Morgan of the University of Toronto said proof of social work agreed that local welfare workers are trapped in a mass of unnecessary regulations. Both recommended local governments be given much wider powers in administration of welfare programs. Local officials, it was argued, are in the best position to make decisions.

All this may be true. Transfer of authority might improve the lot of those needing help in 99 out of a hundred municipalities. Yet it is questionable whether this action should be taken. What might happen in the hundredth municipality deserves consideration, too.

Government accountants and inspectors may be penny-pinching, and hanged, but they are regular spendthrifts compared with some municipal politicians, particularly in rural areas where welfare recipients are few in number and especially if these recipients are "trashients," a classification which sometimes is attached to any person not born in the area.

Nobody who recalls how the needy were treated in some municipalities during the depression days can fail to realize the benefits to be gained by having senior governments exercise some overall supervision.

It is difficult to suggest how this can be achieved without some "interference" with local welfare administrators.

The best machinery in the world is of no value unless people operate it. It really doesn't matter what you do about automation, and mechanization, everything else, if you once lose sight of the most important thing—people—then you're bound to fail.—Lord Robens, Chairman of the British Coal Board.

Facts on Prime Ministers Of Canada Past and Present

By RICHARD JACKSON
From The Intelligencer's Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA — "He," grinned M. Gregor Guthrie, Conservative Leader John Diefenbaker's newly-appointed chief of research, before the Chief came along, all Canadian prime ministers hadn't been Liberals — it only seemed that way."

It was a glib answer, for remembering Sir Wilfrid Laurier and Mackenzie King, who raised political longevity almost to the status of a fine art, it did seem the Liberals had always been in the Parliament Hill seats of the Federal mighty.

Politics researcher Guthrie loosed his wry remark into the conversational pot over the coffee cups in the Parliamentary cafeteria the other dull day, when cabinet secretaries, some of the civil service class, a few early-arriving MPs and newsmen all the press corps held their regular Thursday assembly to kill an idle half hour in exchanging the family and government shop talk.

It turned out to be an entertaining and instructive 30 minutes, as the assembled experts drawing on their reserve funds of specialized knowledge considered the prime ministers.

Not any one prime minister individually, but them all, collectively.

And if this interests nobody but the political scientist in the eye of some high school student or college junior, helping him with a thesis, the reading political history — and if it does that, then the next few paragraphs should be helpful.

ONLY FOUR PROVINCES

First, off the top, they were not all Liberals.

Of the 14 prime ministers since Confederation, nine were Conservatives.

Of the five Liberals, of course you easily name Sir Wilfrid Laurier, Mackenzie King, Louis St. Laurent and Lester Pearson — but who was the fifth?

Alexander Mackenzie, resident of Sarnia, Ontario, remember?

Mackenzie, however, was Scottish born, and so was Sir John A. Macdonald.

Sir Mackenzie Bowell was born in England.

The other 11 were born in Canada . . . four of them, Arthur Meighen, Mackenzie King, John Diefenbaker and Lester Pearson in Ontario, . . . three, Sir John Thompson, Sir Charles Tupper and Sir Robert Borden in Nova Scotia, . . . three, Sir John Abbott, Sir Wilfrid Laurier and Louis St. Laurent in Quebec . . . and one, R. B. Bennett, in New Brunswick.

None has come from Newfoundland . . . Prince Edward Island or from the Yukon.

The average life span of the prime minister has been 77 years, 6 months. Sir Wilfrid Bowell living to 86, and one, Thompson, dying at 50, the only PM so far who did not reach 70.

Bennett and King were bachelors.

Of the 12 prime ministers who came after three, Laurier, Borden and Diefenbaker were childless, the other nine, all family men.

Laurier was an MP longer than any other prime minister, 44 years, Borden, 35 years, in fact, than any current member of the Commons . . . but as MP and senator, he served in the Parliament longest, 50 years, from Confederation through to 1917.

ALMOST A MONOPOLY

The legal profession has enjoyed a pretty cosy corner in the prime ministerial business, just as it always has in the Parliamentary rank and file, with about one-five of the PMs being lawyers.

The exceptions?

Tupper was a doctor . . . Mackenzie a stonemason . . . Bowell a printer . . . and Mackenzie King and Pearson, civil servants.

Before they became prime ministers, Thompson had been a judge and, like Tupper, a premier of Nova Scotia. Abbott and Bowell were senators.

(Meighen was a senator after being prime minister).

At 46, Meighen was the youngest man to be PM, and Tupper, at 74, the oldest.

Seven prime ministers were knighted: Macdonald, Abbott, Thompson, Bowell, Tupper, Laurier and Borden.

Tupper became a baronet and Bennett a viscount.

Mackenzie King, supposedly because of his dislike for Bennett and all princes, plans old R. B. Stood for, ending the controversial business of titles, so unless some future PM shares it, there will be no more Sirs in the East Block.

Finally, all prime ministers except Mackenzie, Abbott and Bowell were members of the Imperial Privy Council, and therefore, "Right Honorable" . . . an honor, no doubt, that the Queen has in store for Mike Pearson.

Lincoln Is Classed Great Human Being

By SYDNEY J. HARRIS

Purely Personal Prejudices: We respect Washington, we admire Jefferson, but we venerate Lincoln; the difference being that the first was a great American, the second a great mind, but the third a great human being in the perspective of history, it is always the total personality that counts for the most.

No phrase in politics is more dangerously inaccurate than a "middle-of-the-road" policy constantly changes as the road winds left and right. Today's "middle-of-the-road" Republican, for instance, is almost a complete opposite of his political ancestor a quarter-century ago.

A man who has thoughtlessly taken up your time recognized no obligation, as he would if he took your money — yet the former debt can never be repaid.

If we took the trouble to learn the jargon of philosophy, as we learn the jargon of an automobile, we would soon find that much of what we consider "difficult" or "intellectual" reading at least would have a translation or differential works in it, and much incomprehension is laziness, not lack of brains.

Why is it that the people with the most wind generally have the worst megaphones? Often they can't tell a five-minute anecdote without rewinding and ascending.It is not only annoying, the thing is more annoying than the person who tries to remember the name of a person whose name has no relevance to the story.

The most important lesson for efficiency (and for peace of mind) was expressed by Josiah Quincy, when he said: "Never you have a number of disagreeable duties to perform, always do the most disagreeable first."

The flounderers and the flubdubs never learn this lesson, and have no energy left for the next disagreeable task at the end.

Nothing makes a liar out of a man faster than being in debt.

Mussolini was taken to Germany to rally Italian fascist resistance against the Allied armies in Italy and returned to set up a puppet government in the north of his country. What Honor Is Due Dead?

Stratford Beacon-Herald.

How much honor is due to the dead?

The traffic coordinator of North York, a highly urbanized township in Metropolitan Toronto, is doubtful if the dead should be allowed to stop traffic, on the last ride to the cemetery. North York, with a population now approaching 90,000 has traffic problems and its traffic coordinator, Sydney Cole, says, he should be legislating to forbid funeral processions.

We can sympathize with the people who are able to afford late traffic, and to try to keep the vehicles moving smoothly on crowded streets. It is not understandable that Mr. Cole should reckon up the interference caused by funeral processions, and the labor time involved in putting constables at intersections, and then should come to the conclusion that his work would be lightened easier if there were no funeral processions on North York streets.

We think he is a bigger view is needed, though. It is not convenient for traffic directors to have traffic hindered by the removing vehicles, following in line behind a hearse. It is also not convenient for the relatives and friends of the one who is taking the last ride, to meet the fact of death in this way.

Death is not convenient.

Custom has established a variety of ways in which respect may be shown to the dead. The funeral procession is only one of those customs, and perhaps not the best. At the very least, though, it is a decent and orderly way to show that the man who is being buried, did in his lifetime acquire friends.

In this over - organized, over-regulated world, many people will come to the end of their days with little enough respect having been shown for the individual's worth. The tax laws, the zoning laws, the traffic laws, all force the individual to be a faceless number, and to conform. It is a small enough concession by organized society, that conformity should be suspended, for a minute or less, while a hearse and its following cortege go through an intersection against the red light.

It is not convenient, for those who are kept waiting while the funeral goes by, it is at least fair. Everyone can expect his turn to come.

Drippy Nose Could Be Result of an Allergy

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: What causes my nose to be forever dripping in a watery fashion? Nose drops help a little but not much. What can I do if anything? — Mrs. A. H.

It could be sinus infection, but I doubt it, because the services in such a case are not watery. They are thicker.

It could be an allergy. If this condition is mostly in the morning (or during the night) then suspect something related to bedtime. Some people are allergic to the feathers in a pillow, and find relief by switching to a foam rubber pillow. (Or vice versa.)

Or you may be sensitive to some cosmetic. Do you habitually use a cream on your face when you go to bed? If so, try omitting it for a few nights and see if that makes a difference.

If the drip is an all-day problem, watch your activity to see if there are certain days when it does not trouble you. Then you should. It is quite possible for drainage to be normal during the day when you are standing or sitting, to have a problem at night when you are lying down.

An examination of the nose would, probably, disclose such a condition very readily.

Dear Dr. Molner: This is just a short thank-you note to read the letter from a person who complained of itching, and you told him not to scratch it. I too am a sufferer of diabetes.

My husband has had an "itch" for two years and was advised to use talcum, as it might from perspiration. However, I sent him to a doctor and tests showed diabetes.

I'm sure he will find relief just knowing he is being treated for suspected.

Yes, treating the diabetes will relieve the itching and, of course, will guard him against more serious consequences of the disorder. Every little itch doesn't mean diabetes, but when it continues and has no other explanation, diabetes should be suspected.

Dear Dr. Molner: Will you please recommend a plastic surgeon in my area? — S. E. B.

I cannot recommend specific physicians or surgeons. When you require a specialist (including a plastic surgeon) consult your regular doctor or call the county medical society, which will give you the names of several specialists of approved qualifications. You can also contact the state or the appropriate department in a hospital of your choice.

Dear Dr. Molner: Is it all right to heat a whole jar of baby food when only a part of it is to be used? The remaining portion is then refrigerated for another meal. Is it safer to put just the portion to be used into another container to be heated? — M.

You can do it either way — the important thing is to be sure the remainder is refrigerated between heatings.

Crime Goes Professional

Brantford Expositor

To the rest of the world, long accustomed to think of Britain as a law - abiding land where policemen go unarmed (they still do), the $7,500,000 mail train robbery must have come as a surprise. Certainly it is the latest peak in a post - war rise in big, well organized crime in Britain.

Before the war the occasional smash-and-grab raider looted a jewelry store window. Payroll snatchers were as rare. The bank robbery was unknown. Most British criminals ran for a local, operated little above the level of a Bill Sykes generally alone. Now and then a cat burglar made the rounds of country houses and parties lifting personal valuables.

Signs that the brainy professional at the head of a gang had entered the British picture came in the 1950's with the rise in the lucrative jacking of long-distance trucks with valuable cargoes. Next there was a larger view in which gangs captured vehicles carrying cash and bullion between banks. These required skilled second timing and clever getaway arrangements. On the few occasions when members of such gangs were caught, sentences of from seven to 15 years were imposed. More recently the British gasped in astonishment when a dozen hooded, striped pants characters with furled umbrellas gathered at London airport, overpowered a large consignment of bullion from a strong room, and got clean away in a fleet of blue Jaguars.

These crimes, like the mail train haul, were so meticulously planned that a good deal of weight is given to the theory that the gang leaders had warrime commando skill training. Certainly the planners showed mental capacity far above that of the average criminal.

One response to this rising tide of criminality was a big expansion four years ago of a private detective and "security" service, which, for a fee, will safely transport trucks with guards for the removal of valuables from bank to bank and other places. Now a London firm which has hitherto operated from a single one quarter of Britain's available refuse carts, has turned to making security vans. One type has internally power-operated entrance doors without locks, keys or handles. There is also a pushbutton transfer hatch allowing money to be loaded or unloaded without opening the doors.

The mail train robbery has shown that arrangements by which banks send old notes to London for destruction and replacement need drastic overhaul, such as a spacing of despatch dates. Some provincial banks mailing such consignments on the same day. In this machine age, why not stamp or perforate "Cancelled" on each note before it leaves for London? To foil the criminal.

There must be modern methods.

Ann Landers

Extra-Sensory-Perception Used by Husband

DEAR ANN LANDERS — I have read a great deal about ESP (Extra-sensory perception) and I am sure I have it.

Frequently I know a telephone is going to ring several seconds before it actually does. Sometimes, when the phone rings I know who's on the line. I've had hunches about letters the day before I receive them. I often know precisely how certain people will finish a sentence even though they have said only three or four words.

ANN LANDERS

This uncanny ability has been with me for a long time. In school I always seemed to know when I was going to be called on to recite. I was also able to read a certain boy's mind. (I quit going with him.)

Now I have a strong feeling that a certain young man who is casual about me would make the best husband in the world. Should I tell him this? — MISS L.

DEAR MISS L. — I have only five senses and I'm not so sure about them, so please don't ask me to advise a girl who can read a boy's mind.

It is not very good sense (even taking ESP into account) to suggest marriage to a young man who is casual about you. Forget it.

DEAR READERS — Here is an open confidential to the 4,578 people who wrote to tell me that "Honor Your Father and Mother" is the Fourth Commandment and not the Fifth Commandment, as I said in a recent column. One reader even suggested that I accept 10 lashes with the tassels of an old prayer shawl.

There are various versions of the scriptures and the Commandments appear in different order according to which version of the Bible you're reading. The Bible which I read says "Honor Your Father and Mother" is the Fifth Commandment and I accept the apologies of all of you.

DEAR ANN LANDERS — I have been both camp counsellor and administrator in church camps for Juniors (boys between 9 and 21) for more than 10 years. Almost without exception whenever you see a homesick child who rebels against camp discipline he is reacting to overly protective parents.

I remember one mother in particular who returned to the camp gate after three tearful rendering farewells — using first one excuse, and then another. She was deeply hurt because her son didn't hang on to her skirt. The father of the boy finally led the sobbing woman away assuring her that the boy really did love her.

Children who are the problems at camp are invariably the ones who have been pampered at home. Their mothers try to prolong their infancy. Only once did I see a father who was changed the course of his life. — PENTWATER.

DEAR PENTWATER — Thanks for a fine letter. I hope Vincent's ma sees it.

DEAR ANN LANDERS — My daughter married a man I can't tolerate. He has an irritating voice and dramatizes every trivial incident until I could scream. I try not to be critical of him because I don't want to make my daughter unhappy, but it's impossible to be on guard every moment. My daughter becomes furious when I utter even one word of complaint against him.

I do not ask them to visit me. They come because they want to. What can I do to cure myself of this horrible feeling of revulsion against my daughter's husband? I despise myself for not being able to handle the situation better but I loathe the man and it shows. — OUTLAW IN-LAW.

DEAR OUTLAW — Suggest to your daughter that she arrange her visits for the most part when she can come alone. The less you see of her husband the better for all of you.

Ann Landers will be glad to bel pyou with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped-self-addressed envelope.

the "intelligentsia," such as scientists and engineers, can purchase any appliances without delay.

While complaints about food and other consumer goods have decreased since last winter, there is increased bitterness over political pressures.

Factory workers, probably because of the forthcoming general election, are subjected to at least two political meetings a week.

When the East Germans tried to revolt in 1953, the climate was entirely different. Food shortages were severe. Pressure to increase work norms were unbearable. Religious activity was being ruthlessly suppressed and many Protestant and Roman Catholic clergymen were jailed.

Now, instead of talk about an uprising, one hears more people express hope that the present East-West honeymoon arising from the limited nuclear test ban agreement eventually will result in liberalization of controls in East Germany.

Party Leaders on the Hustings

Roberts Linked With Insurers On Pension Plan

By BILL MacDOUGALL

WELLAND (CP) — Liberal Leader John Wintermeyer Wednesday night linked Premier Robert Roberts and members in the interest of private insurance companies and said the proposed Canada Pension Plan is superior because it would be available to all and give higher benefits.

He accused the premier of being "just a insurance company man" in his pension policy, which the Liberal Leader has criticized several times during the campaign for the Sept. 30 election.

Addressing some 85 persons, who tee-thirds filled a courtroom at the Welland County courthouse, the Liberal leader added:

"John Roberts is an insurance company man. He does not believe in a public system of pensions. He believes in a private system of pensions funded with the private insurance companies and their trust companies.

"That is why he brought in legislation requiring employees with 15 or more employees to have a funded pension plan. Such plans can only be obtained from the private life insurances companies and the trust companies."

WOULD COVER ALL

The federal plan would cover all and give them higher benefits—"a total pension of $175 a month in 10 years, whereas the Roberts scheme will pay $125 a month."

Mr. Wintermeyer said Mr. Roberts' belief in private pension is the reason "he has refused to make his own pension scheme voluntary and permit the operation of the Canada Pension Plan in Ontario."

"Well, the only future for John Roberts is back in his London law office in the games room of the London Hunt Club."

The Liberal leader said Mr. Roberts' trip to Ottawa Monday for a federal-provincial conference on the Canada Pension Plan was a "grand pilgrimage" that "was nothing more than political gimmickery and political drivel."

He accused the premier of not taking Ontario's welfare minister to the Ottawa conference although he said the premier had been accompanied by an official of the London Life Insurance Company, a Mr. Rudd, and by Gordon Gathercole, vice-chairman of Ontario Hydro who Mr. Wintermeyer said has made several public statements in recent months designed to endorse public confidence in the federal plan.

Mr. Wintermeyer made his remarks in support of Michael C. Pernesek, mayor of Welland, who is Liberal candidate for Welland constituency.

HITS ADMINISTRATION

Mr. Wintermeyer said: "The Tory administration in power today is a leaky ship with a motley crew and a captain who never took a navigator's course. They don't know where they're going, and they don't even seem to care. They are too busy plugging the leaks and covering up the rust and barnacles."

Entering the fruit - growing section of Ontario during the day, the Liberal leader visited Hamilton and St. Catharines to release fashion lodges arriving here during the afternoon.

At St. Catharines, Mr. Wintermeyer briefly outlined his platform to about 38 supporters of Douglas Sharp, Liberal candidate for Wentworth East. Mr. Sharp, in his remarks at the constituency's Liberal campaign headquarters, accused the NDP holders of the seat in the last legislature of "unscrupulous and dictatorial methods" in financing its Wentworth East campaign.

The NDP was asking $1 each from each of the constituency's 30,000 union members. If all the 30,000 union members were NDP supporters, "we might as well not run."

The Liberal leader's party then travelled in its chartered bus to St. Catharines where he addressed a luncheon meeting in support of John Sullivan, Mr. Sullivan, a 39-year-old lawyer, is seeking the Lincoln seat formerly held by Charles Daley, a former Conservative cabinet minister who is not contesting the seat this election. Robert Welch, also a lawyer in his 30s, now is the Conservative candidate.

From there, the party came here and visited the Welland County fair for an hour before adjourning in a b- At the fair, Mr. Wint- toured the midway and exhibits.

MacDonald Calls Federal Pension Plan Sound

By DAVID DAVIDSON

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont. (CP) — Premier John Roberts was challenged here Wednesday night to debate the portable pension field in favor of the federal plan.

"Getting out of the field altogether is the only way for the Roberts government," New Democratic Party Leader Donald MacDonald told about 150 persons at a Sault Ste. Marie polling election rally.

The NDP chief described Ontario's pension proposal as "at best a non-plan plan . . . not being operated by profiteering insurance companies."

"I wish Mr. Roberts would quit his doubletalk about wishing to co-operate with the federal government on a Canadian pension plan and get out of the field."

Mr. MacDonald said that now, in the middle of the election, Premier Roberts suddenly has had changed their minds about a provincial pension plan.

DOLLAR SIGN OFF

At a late afternoon meeting, Mr. MacDonald said that the dollar sign has been taken off educational opportunity on the public and secondary school level, but that this should be extended to higher education.

"The NDP has been urging for years that serious financial barriers to higher education should be eliminated," the NDP leader told about 30 members of the New Democratic Party club at an after-school gathering.

Mr. MacDonald also told the students that today "it is necessary in the professions and business to have an education beyond the high school level."

But increasing enrolment at the universities had created problems in Ontario that must be solved and raising entrance requirements was not the answer.

As a short-term solution, Mr. MacDonald suggested the use of television for instruction and criticized the government for not considering its possibilities.

"The failure of Ontario to experiment in the use of television when Quebec has already made the move is proof that the government is coasting with the universities. It is not working out a short term solution to the enrolment crisis."

WANTS MORE SCHOOLS

As a long-term solution he suggested the construction of more universities and technical institutes in the province.

The raising of university standards to eliminate those who could benefit from higher education was not the answer either. "Everyone does not have to be a first-class scholar to go to university," he said.

The NDP leader told the young people that from the start they had been welcomed in equal NDP membership with adults.

And his party favors lowering the voting age to 18 from 21. "If a person is old enough to fight and die for his country at 18 surely he is old enough to vote."

Earlier at a press conference Mr. MacDonald reiterated his criticism earlier in the campaign for the Sept. 30 provincial vote of the Progressive Conservative governments record in industrial safety.

"Progress in the matter of industrial safety must be bought with human lives. One wonders how many more lives must be lost before this government can be blasted into action."

Mr. MacDonald and his wife flew here from the Lakehead Wednesday morning. During the day visits were made to the Davey Home for the Aged and the almost completed group health centre.

Today Mr. MacDonald was to fly to Toronto and leave immediately for campaign commitments in Sarnia.

Premier Urges Re-allocation Of Tax Revenues

CHATHAM (CP) — Premier Roberts of Ontario served notice Wednesday of a cut-off in the flow of funds from Ottawa to Ontario if the Federal Health Minister Judy LaMarsh can the Canada Pension Plan, accusing her of politicking the issue, but promised to co-operate in doing business directly with Prime Minister Pearson.

"It has become impossible to deal with her," the premier said after reading quoted remarks of Miss LaMarsh suggesting hostility on the pension question on the part of the provincial government, now engaged in a general election campaign in which it has become the hottest controversy.

The Progressive Conservative premier addressed the Liberal minister—the federal cabinet member most directly concerned in the pension plan—

"I have no other course but to regard this statement as the minister on this question in fu ture," Mr. Roberts said.

WANTS REMOVED

Mr. Roberts had stated previously he wants the pension question removed from the provincial election plank in which Ontario Liberal Leader John Wintermeyer has been accusing him of trying to blockade the national plan.

He said later in a campaign address that it is time for a reallocation of tax revenue as between the different levels of government.

"I think we will have to meet to deal with the whole question of the allocation of revenues to fit the various responsibilities of government," he said.

Mr. Roberts said he can foresee more and more federal-provincial conferences developing in various fields and said that he "wouldn't be surprised if some of our present relationships would have to be altered."

We think that the allocation of Mr. Fields was a question that must be dealt with, though what we should have an eye on is closer co-operation with a view to creating new opportunities. If we create the atmosphere the revenue will naturally follow."

Talking to about 350 persons in East West riding, Mr. Roberts said his government is ready and anxious to co-operate wholeheartedly with the federal government "in any and all efforts designed to strengthen the position of Canada."

He was determined that no partisanship would stand in the way of Canadian progress.

MENTIONS PENSIONS

Mr. Roberts made only indirect and fleeting reference to his current row with Miss LaMarsh over Ontario's position on the Canada Pension Plan, saying he had been talking enough about the subject lately.

Record

three other candidates, in Grey South, Lincoln and Renfrew North.

A splinter group of the party known as Credit Action qualified with candidates in six Toronto ridings although two others had been expected to run.

The biggest group of last-minute filers were Independents, all in Metropolitan Toronto, where four qualified during the day. This brought the total of Independents in the province to nine, including Gordon Lavergne, who was Progressive Conservative member of the last house for Russell, in the Ottawa area. Premier Roberts and party authorities endorsed another candidate, and Mr. Lavergne decided to run as an independent PC.

One Independent, Howard Prentice, earlier expected to run in Lincoln, failed to file before the deadline.

Among the late Independents was Dorothy Cureatz, who qualified in Toronto St. Andrew and brought the total of women candidates to 15. She was an unsuccessful Social Credit candidate in the last Ontario election in 1959, when 10 women competed but none was elected. The other 1959 woman candidate in the field again is Mrs. Alice Kstool, NDP candidate in Welland.

As predicted, both the Progressive Conservative and Liberal parties nominated candidates at well in all 108 ridings, ruling out the prospect of an election day nomination day.

ADDS CANDIDATE

The New Democratic Party added one last-minute candidate before the deadline, in Yarkton East, making a total of 97 candidates for the NDP. The Communists are running six candidates, including Ontario Leader Nigel Morgan.

The 338 total, biggest ever in an Ontario election, marked the third time the number of candidates has exceeded 300. The previous record was 317 in 1943, when Vacant 6. All sitting Liberal and NDP members are running again. Fifty-four of the PC members at dissolution are running for re-election, and the party has added another 54 new candidates.

'Lines on Life'

By Dr. Stuart E. Rosenberg

We can not speak of a religious revival that is not also an ethical revival or a return to God which is not also a return to the Good. Society. Nor can we imagine a spiritual renascence, etc. that does not seek to assert the moral relevance of Religion in the habit and affairs of men, communities, cultures and nations. It is in this arena, particularly, that the "return" seems to founder; it hardly ever gets off the ground. Too often, religious laymen stand in the way. Consistently, they deny their churches and synagogues the moral right to speak out on issues which are patently moral and spiritual. They demand, too often, that "the things of Caesar and of God" be permanently separated, and that the religious society stand aloof, on the sidelines of life, to deal with the "business of the church." This "non-interventionist "attitude of many lay - leaders prohibits the freely organized religious communities from giving the kind of leadership to society which we are not getting elsewhere.

RACIAL TENSIONS

Racial tensions, anti - minority attitudes, indifference to international problems of great spiritual moment are often fostered within churches whose laymen want a socially respectable, more than an ethically enlightened, religion. Instead of being exercised by a church in a moral world - view, too many laymen succeed in converting the church to their own privileged, by declaring the really vital human issues to be out-of-bounds for the religious community. The moral isolation which results is surely the principal obstacle to the revival of spirit and because it is still so rampant in so many religious groups, no religious revival is yet in sight.

If we are to experience a true revival, one that history will recognize, organized religion must first be saved from its friends. It may never again be confronted by such a glorious opportunity. It must recapture the simplicity, the power and the urgency of the prophetic religion.

It cannot neglect its earthly, social function in a hurried retreat from the world. While it alone cannot expect to solve the world's dilemmas, it must teach the world how to look at the problems. It must move men to approach their enigmas with greater hope for their solution; ecumenism and expanded church - membership won't save the world. A vital religious attitude may.

How can organized religion function to help us face the problems of our time?

TRUE RELIGION

It must play its important role as the conserver of the ennobling values of the past. But it cannot be a conserver without also being a critic of values. It must not become a vassal of the state, perennially pleading "me too," fearful that its criticism of prevailing political fodments and economic habits brand it as treacherous and unpatriotic. It must play a catalytic social role. Firmly planted within society, it must yet retain its independence, and refuse to be dominated or exploited by seekers after power. It must never become the ally of nationalism for nationalism's sake. The true religionist understands well the phrase, "patriotism is not enough." It should be as critical of values that make the individual the measure of all things, as of a system that exalts the state for the benefit of its bureaucracy. Its task is to help create individuals whose concerns are social: to mould societies whose goals are human. And to achieve these ends, religious statesmanship is required — not mere churchmanship.

THE INTERPRETER

The adoption of such a role by organized religion can lead it to become the moral proponent, of the open mind. The contribution of the scientific method has not been its material results alone, but its steady insistence upon the need to bring new evidences, all the time. To function congenially in such an age, religion cannot permit its approach to go unheeded. It cannot rest its case uttering sacred cuckaz. Its past discoveries are important, but new discoveries are called for.

It must strive to become the interpreter of every noble striving, every precious human insight. And in the service of such ideas, it must risk the possibilities of unpopularity. A church that is willing to keep alive the search for truth, even under penalty of remaining in the military, earns for itself a vital place in the lives of men. In things of the spirit, numbers alone do not count.

Rylstone U. C. Marks 70th Anniversary

RYLSTONE — A large crowd attended the 70th anniversary services of Rylstone United Church last Sunday at which time the Rev. John C. King of the Havelock United Church was guest speaker and spoke on "Set Ye Up Waymarks, By the Way".

Special music was contributed by the choir and Mrs. Willoughby Sharp of Campbellford was guest soloist. Flower decorer presided at the organ and Mrs. Murray McKeljohn directed the choir.

A large number of former Rylstone residents attended from Rylstone and the surrounding localities as well as members of the neighboring churches.

Argyll Ch. I.O.D.E. Hears Talk on E.M.O.

The opening meeting of the fall and winter season of the Argyll Chapter of the I.O.D.E. was held in the Officers' Mess in the Armouries on the 2nd Wednesday in the month, the regular meeting night.

Following the treasurer's report, other reports were given by the different convenors. Seven members accompanied Mrs. Berkinshaw to the adopted children's camp for summer recess. Refreshments were served.

Plans were completed for a dessert bridge party, date set for a rummage sale.

The annual district dinner will be held in Campbellford on October 9th and an invitation to hold the October meeting in Belleville was welcomed. The second instalment of the series in E.M.O. was listened to with much interest. There has been a considerable amount of work given to this subject and the members showed their interest in a question period which followed. Col. Duffy is keenly aware of this work and the members felt privileged in sharing some of his findings.

Mrs. Lee Digby expressed the thanks of the Argyll Chapter and presented Col. Duffy with a small token of appreciation.

Nurses Discuss Problems of The Profession

Miss V. Joan Crocker, president of Quinte Chapter; Miss Martha Hamilton, vice-president of District 6; Miss Ann Enright and Mrs. A. Hart of Belleville were among the delegates who attended a weekend conference convened in Toronto by the Registered Nurses' Association of Ontario, September 7-8.

Representing 32 of the 46 chapters of RNAO, over 100 registered nurses at the conference from fifty Ontario cities and towns.

Speaking at the conference, Miss Laura Barr, R.N.A.O. Executive Secretary said: "Provision of health services is becoming more and more complex and expensive. Community pressure could precipitate some other group defining our role as nurses.

"Nurses themselves are dissatisfied with their public image and yet many have failed to accept themselves as independent workers with assets and strengths. If the profession is to interpret itself to the community then must be some unity of thought and conviction among our members.

"Through this province-wide study, we feel that Ontario's more than 40,000 registered nurses will examine their attitudes towards themselves and towards nursing, and in so doing will more accurately identify problems in nursing today."

Teacher Teases Pupil

By DORIS CLARK

DEAR DORIS — I passed this year, but I get the same teacher. He always teases me! What can I do to stop him? — TROUBLED PUPIL.

DORIS CLARK

DEAR PUPIL — Pretend to be slightly amused — never ruffled. A teaser keeps on only when he sees that he is getting your goat.

DEAR DORIS — I am 21 years of age. Following the birth of my son (10 months ago) I suffered a post-partum depression and spent a short time in the mental hospital. Since then my nerves and personality are not the same.

I feel I am an unbearable nuisance to my husband and friends. At times I still get terribly depressed and feel I'm becoming ill again. At these times I desperately want people to understand and help me, but I get exactly the opposite reaction.

I HAVE seen to impress upon anyone that to me this situation is urgent and important—even my doctor. Why are people acting this way? Have I drained them of their sympathy already? Have I become too dependent on others?

Yesterday I spoke with my baby's doctor who said that I am hypersensitive. He had various nervous habits, among them a head-banging syndrome. Consequently he will have to be handled very carefully and given sedation from time to time. So you see I really have to buck up somehow. — BAFFLED.

DEAR BAFFLED — For what comfort it is, your confusion is not uncommon. When climbing up from the pit which is mental depression, you do need a helping hand. Any small thing makes your uncertain foothold crumble.

Greater understanding will help both you and your husband in bringing about a happier future. I am sending you information about literature and books for your guidance.

The bodice featured a bateau neckline embroidered with pearls and sequins with long sleeves extending 45 points edged with pearls and embroidery. Her shoulder length veil was caught up to a crown setting of a single gardenia. She carried a bouquet of pink Sweetheart roses with trailing ivy.

The bride's only attendant was her sister, Miss Diane McIntosh dressed in yellow nylon net net and taffeta with mitts to match. Her headdress was a yellow band of flowers with petite yellow tulle veil. She carried a bouquet of white mums and Shasta daisies.

Mr. Arthur Bowers of Toronto attended his brother, while Mr. Donald McIntosh, brother of the bride of Belleville and Mr. Wayne Bowers, brother of the bridegroom, of Cannilton were ushers.

The reception was held at Johnny's Restaurant at the Belleville Plaza where the bride's table was centred with a three-tier wedding cake misted about the base with tulle. The colorful bridal bouquets completed the nuptial setting. The bride's mother received the guests wearing a Chanel style three-piece suit of beige linen, beige and light brown accessories and a corsage of red roses. The bridegroom's mother assisted gowned in flowered silk with a nylon over-lay and matching jacket, and white and denia corsage.

Marion Mallory's Contributions

by Mary Moore

We had our annual visit with the Mallorys at Mallory's Point and when we were arranging the date Marion said she had a new salad for me. Wyn said "Come to our place and bring it with you". So she did.

It turned out to be a chicken salad sufficient for a main course. Marion tells me it is by-walking through their part of the community like greased lightning and when I tasted it I knew why. Bridge hostesses may make it in advance.

MARION MALLORY'S CHICKEN SALAD:

3 cups (well packed) diced cooked chicken, 3 cups diced inner celery, well dried, ½ teaspoon salt, ½ cup whole blanched almonds, 1 ten-oz. can well-drained Mandarin orange sections, ½ cup (approx.) good quality mayonnaise, ½ cup dairy sour cream, delicate inner lettuce leaves.

In a bowl sprinkle the chicken and celery with the salt. Then lightly mix in all remaining ingredients except the lettuce. Put the lettuce leaves dry and line salad bowl with them. Turn in mixed salad. If desired, garnish top with a shower of extra blanched almonds and Mandarin orange sections.

Dinner Menus

THURSDAY

Baked stuffed Pork Chops; Beet and Cabbage Relish; Creamed Cauliflower; Glazed Sweet Potatoes; Apple and Celery Salad; Baked Custard with Sliced Peaches; Tea.

SUNDAY

Perfect Pot Roast (see Wednesday); Rich Brown Gravy; English Apple Chutney (see Friday); Corn Pudding (see Thursday); Broccoli; Tossed Greens; Pear Gingerbread Upside-down Cake; Lemon Sauce; Coffee.

NOTE:

Marion says that canned chicken may be used if you are up North where boiling chickens might not be available. This is delicious served with red currant jelly.

TARDY SUMMER DRINKS:

Marion also gave me her recipe for Lemon Tea to which she says Will, her husband, is addicted: Into a 2-quart pitcher put 1 cup sugar. Add 2 cups strong hot tea made by brewing 4 tea bags in 2 cups boiling water for 4 minutes. Stir well to dissolve sugar. Cut 2 large lemons in halves. Squeeze the juice from three of these halves and add to the tea and sugar. Slice remaining half thinly and add. Now add one full tray of ice cubes and fill pitcher with cold water (boiled if you are in the North). Let stand for 2 hours before serving. A thrifty, refreshing drink for thirsty lobbox visitors.

Lime Tea: Put 1-3 cup sugar into a 2-quart measure. Add one 6-oz. can limeade concentrate. Make tea by brewing 4 tea bags in the tea pot in 2½ cups boiling water for 5 minutes. Add and stir to dissolve sugar. Add one full tray of ice cubes. Allow to stand in refrigerator one hour before serving.

NOTE:

Please clip these two iced tea recipes for next year's heat wave.

Decoration Day Held by I.O.O.F.

STIRLING — On Sunday afternoon, September 8th, Stirling I.O.O.F. Lodge No. 226 and Laurel Rebekah Lodge No. 211 held their annual decoration service at Stirling Cemetery. The men gathered at the Lodge hall on Charlotte St. and were led by Maurice Bell and, approximately thirty members of the Stirling-Rawdon High School band as they walked to the cemetery. The flags were carried by Brothers Roy Tucker and Gordon Clarke with Guy Bradshaw as Marshal. Each man carried a bouquet of red and white gladioli. When they arrived at the cemetery they lined on the green turf in the shape of a cross by Noble Grand Hazel St. Pierre and Glenn Bush.

The ladies were marshalled by Sister Mary Hulin and each Rebekah member carried asters in variegated shades. A large mauve cross was placed as a central theme and as the names of the deceased members were read flowers were placed in their memory.

Noble Grand Joyce Richardson assisted by Sister Helen Hulin, Gladys Silke and [illegible] Rose each had a part in the service.

The Brothers took their places around the cross while Bro. Charles Carter read the list of deceased members whose graves were later decorated. The charge was given by Bro. H. R. Tompkins and Bro. George Weaver gave the prayers.

At the conclusion the band rendered special hymns for this occasion and then led the return trip to the Lodge hall.

CONFER ON TOURISTS

TORONTO (CP)—A conference of executives from newspapers, and radio and television stations will be held this fall to explore ways of expanding tourist travel between Ontario and Quebec, James A. C. Auld, travel and publicity minister of Ontario, announced Wednesday. Date and site of the conference will be announced later.

Polygamy Has Once Again Become Issue

KUALA LUMPUR, Malaya (Reuters)—Polygamy has once again become an issue between Moslem men and women.

It has resolved into a renewed clash between Moslem males demanding adherence to the laws of Islam, which permit a man four wives, and women demanding a better deal in divorce and marriage laws.

Putting the case for the men in the Johore state assembly, is Fatah Syed Mohammed Idrus, a representative of Malaya's ruling Alliance Party.

Idrus, husband of two wives and father of six children, told the assembly he seriously doubted the wisdom of a "one man, one wife" policy for Malaya.

He said it would lead to more prostitution and immorality.

Declaring that census figures show that Malaya has 20,000 more women than men, he asked, "what would happen to all these women?"

"The only solution is to allow a man to have more than one wife, provided that he can maintain all of them," he said.

CONDEMNS LAWS

The retort came in a statement from woman Senator Che Aishah Ghani, who accused Idrus of "trying to make excuses for preserving the existing marriage and divorce laws, which are unfair and unjust to Moslem women."

The marital rights of women are a recurring topic of dispute both in Malaya and in Indonesia, its sister Moslem state in Southeast Asia.

Many social and women's organizations claim the law should be read as permitting men to marry more than once, only if all the wives are given equal treatment which the organizations claim is rarely possible.

Even President Sukarno, the near-absolute ruler of Indonesia, was in trouble with the women of his country when he took a second wife some years back. Opposition among wives of Indonesian leaders was widespread and vocal.

DIVORCE EASY

In both countries, a major problem is the ease with which a man can divorce his wife. A declaration before a kathi, or Moslem priest, that the man wants a divorce, is often regarded as sufficient.

Among soldiers, policemen and other men moving from place to place, it has been a custom for men to marry when they arrive, and divorce when they leave.

The women abandoned have often had no future other than an eventual decline into prostitution.

SPEAKING OF MANNERS

BY PATRICIA LEWIS

MAIL CALL

Question: I know one should not break an engagement unless there's a serious reason for doing so. I thought I had plenty of reason not to attend a record party at a friend's home, due to a nasty summer cold, but she's pretty annoyed because I had to cancel out at the last minute. Isn't illness — even something fairly slight — sufficient reason to break a date? I would imagine any hostess would find this an acceptable excuse and react sympathetically — instead of adopting a belligerent attitude, as my friend has obviously done. — Mrs. C. Y. N., Chicago.

Answer: Illness, especially if it's something that may be transmitted to other guests, is sufficient excuse for breaking a date at the eleventh hour. It may be a nuisance to the hostess, and her plans may be upset a bit, but it's more polite to call off an engagement rather than risk infecting others or to ruin everyone's evening by coughing and sneezing all over the place. This certainly should be understandable to hostesses, and disappointed as she may be, she should appreciate the thoughtfulness behind the deed instead of getting angry about it.

Storm Clouds Grow Darker Over Education

"Just a Second"

By JAMES NELSON

OTTAWA (CP) — Political storm clouds over federal - provincial relations with Quebec in the touchy field of education are growing darker and more ominous.

By long precedent, the federal government has been responsible for the welfare and education of Indians and Eskimos, and has been responsible for the administration of Canada's far northern district. These have included the northern regions of Quebec province, as well as the Yukon and the Northwest Territories.

This year, the provincial Liberal government of Premier Lesage asked the federal government to turn this jurisdiction in northern Quebec over to the provincial authorities. A conference was held, and later Quebec Resources Minister Lucien Cardin accused the federal government of dragging its heels in the matter.

LAING IS BACK

Federal Resources Minister Arthur Laing returned Wednesday from a three-week 7,000-mile tour of the far northern Mackenzie and Arctic publishing visits to Eskimo settlements in Quebec—Fort Chimo and Great Whale River, on Ungava Bay and the southeastern shore of Hudson Bay, respectively.

At both places, the natives called meetings to impress on the minister their fears of a change in the educational setup. Most of their schools are run by Protestant missions, and education has been in English. They fear a switch to French, barring most of their contact with white men so far has been with English-Canadians.

Mr. Laing told reporters Wednesday night on his arrival here that the Eskimos are genuinely concerned, but seemed to be "more afraid of a devil they don't know than one they do know." There are about 23,000 Eskimos in Northern Quebec.

He gave no hint of what the federal government intends to do about the problem.

Bonarlaw

BONARLAW — The August meeting of the Springbrook Local of the Ontario Farmer's Union was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Spry. President Murney Bateman presided.

Plans were completed for the bake sale and for the county picnic. Prince Edward County will also be attending the picnic and plans have been made for a tug-of-war and a ball game between the two counties. There will also be races and contests for the children.

A letter from the Department of Agriculture was read. The milk industry enquiry committee will be holding a meeting in Belleville and all interested parties are invited to attend and present ideas concerning the condition of the milk industry. It was decided that the farm Union should prepare a brief and present members' views to the enquiry committee. The Farm Union feels that one board should handle the selling of milk at present time there are four boards.

Jeanne Williams attended the national Farm Union Convention and gave a good report of same.

Murney Bateman expressed thanks to Mr. and Mrs. Spry for the use of their home.

The ladies served refreshments and a social time was spent.

Income Level Of Old People Has Been Raised

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP)—Effective Wednesday, the $1,680 a year income level which governs admittance of elderly people to some public housing projects was raised to $1,800, Revenue Minister Garland said in an address to the annual convention of the Ontario Association of Housing Authorities.

In his first speaking engagement since being named to the cabinet, Mr. Garland said "higher pensions when they become effective will not be dissipated in higher rentals in any accommodation built under the provisions of the National Housing Act.

"There are 220 NHA projects in Canada lived in by more than 8,000 elderly people," Mr. Garland said. "Their rents will not be affected in any way by the increase in pensions."

Commencing on the $300 increase in the income limit permitted elderly residents of such housing projects, Mr. Garland said, "the increase in pension will not make any couple inadmissable to such projects nor will it affect the rents that they or the elderly occupants will pay."

The minister qualified his remarks on rental raises by explaining that because of changes in local taxes and costs of administration, rents may sometimes have to be increased.

He said he has instructed Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation to inform all limited dividend companies operating elderly persons projects that no rental changes were to be made without the written consent of CMHC.

"I have asked CMHC to recommend to our provincial partners in such schemes that there be no automatic increase in rentals to elderly persons because of the raising of pensions. Should a rental adjustment prove necessary for any reason all such federal-provincial arrangements, I would request a joint concurrence of the federal-provincial partners before any changes were made," he said.

Ont. Housing Authorities Should Take Part in Making Policy, Association Told

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP)—Members of housing authorities in Ontario are only vest collectors for the government and should be taking a part in policy-making decisions, W. F. Friesday, president of the Ontario Association of Housing Authorities said Wednesday.

Mr. Friesday told members of the association now holding their annual conference in Windsor that their views "very decidedly has got to be changed."

"Members of the housing authorities who serve without pay and who are dedicated citizens in the 38 communities in which we are, represented, want to participate in the decision-making process insofar as public policy is concerned," he said.

He said if the government wanted responsible citizens in its housing projects, it should take steps to produce a climate which would allow association members a voice in public housing and urban renewal projects "in a responsible fashion."

He said members—who are supposed to know what is required in their own municipalities—are never consulted either by the local municipality or by the province in their partnership as to the location, size and type of building to be built.

The provincial housing authority sees the job as one requiring government money to provide housing to those who need it, the need is social, physical or economic. The federal - provincial partnership more and more sees the job as a real estate operation with the consumer if it is not publicly expressed — is really to house people with a view to reaching an artificial target subsidy bearing little relationship to need," he said.

"Public money will be used to house people who can be properly accommodated by private enterprise," he said.

He said that from 1953 to 1962, the construction of 1,800 public housing units were built in Ontario. Of these, about 3,000 were subsidized and 2,200 were on a full recovery basis which could have been easily handled by private enterprise.

Republican Leader Backs Test Ban Pact

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate drive for ratification of the limited nuclear test ban treaty appeared today to have picked up more supporters.

Democratic and Republican leaders, working together to steer the agreement through Senate shoals, counted almost 80 votes in favor of the treaty to prohibit all tests except underground.

Only three days ago, an Associated Press survey found 75 senators were for it. A two-thirds majority is needed for ratification—67 if all 100 senators vote.

The drive got another big push Wednesday from President Kennedy and Republican Minority Leader Everett Dirksen.

In a letter, Kennedy gave the Senate "unqualified and unequivocal assurance that there will be no letup in the U.S. defence buildup if the treaty is put into effect.

GIVES IT DRAMA

But it was Dirksen who gave the so-called "great debate" its drama.

In a frequently impassioned speech, he threw his full support behind ratification without reservations or any formal "understandings.

"I am not a young man any more," he said. "I don't want it written on my stone 'He knew what happened at Hiroshima and yet he did not want to take the first step.'

"As a partisan, I would not like to have it said of myself or my party that when there was an opportunity to take a first step that, in the language of the old prayerbook, we refused to go the second mile.

Start Threshing Bumper Crop On Prairies

OTTAWA (CP)—Harvesting of the Prairies' bumper wheat crop is practically finished in southern districts and for the people as a whole, more than half the threshing is done, the bureau of statistics reported Wednesday.

The general picture at this stage: Wheat yields are generally good except in the Peace River area. Grain quality is generally fair to good.

The DBS report is based on information from field correspondents up to Tuesday night.

Conditions elsewhere in Canada:

Ontario—In the southwest, dry weather has meant lower prospects for corn and soybeans, but elsewhere warm weather is needed to mature the corn crop. Seeding of fall wheat is progressing. Mid-season peaches, pears and early grapes are about a week later than usual. The tobacco harvest is progressing.

Bad Weather Striking Hard At U.K. Fields

LONDON (CP)—Bad weather, striking hard at British sport and European grain fields, may improve the export prospects for Canadian wheat, grain authorities said Wednesday.

The Farmers' Union said cutting is five weeks behind schedule in parts of Britain and harvesters strike to cope with rain and cold winds that have battered cereal crops for weeks.

One source said the British and European crops are likely to produce poor quality because of late-harvest, flattening and sprouting, as well as in quantity.

"... wonder Canadian wheat would thus likely be in greater demand this last year."

"The extremely unfortunate harvest period has been general and to support the quality of their domestic production these countries will need the Canadian wheat," the source added.

Last year, Canada's wheat exports included: Britain 2,400,000 tons; West Germany 730,000; France 185,000; Italy 120,000,

Accused Says He Was Beaten By Victim

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — Lloyd McFadden, 28-year-old former London taxi driver, testified Wednesday at his capital murder trial that he killed William Henry Dorator of the nearby Oneida Indian Reserve April 5.

The sole defence witness, McFadden told a Supreme Court jury he fatally struck the 56-year-old father of 10 with a hammer-like tool only because Dorator was attacking him "like a wild animal."

He said Dorator was striking him from the rear of a cab with a large spotlight.

After beating Dorator off, he testified he abandoned the cab he was driving when he heard somebreathing coming from the back of the vehicle. He then scattered over the rear of the cab.

"I was very upset," McFadden told the court. "I didn't know what to do. I just started driving. The only thing I could think of was I'd killed a man.

"I didn't know what to do."

MAKES GUESS

McFadden said he guessed he must have driven to the end of a concession road, covered the body with paper, poured it with gasoline and set it afire. He recalled half - carrying, half-dragging the body from his cab.

Dorator's beaten and severely burned body was found the next morning in a shallow ditch in nearby Westminster Township.

Asked why he had not gone to the police when he discovered Dorator was dead, McFadden replied: "I don't know, I guess I just don't know."

He was arrested April 4 on a drunk charge.

The six-male Ontario Supreme Court jury was to hear the final legal arguments today.

Two Canadians Picket London Office of GEC

LONDON (CP)—Two pickets from Canada patrolled outside the downtown offices of British-born Canadian Electric Company—limited today, but apparently failed in their bid to see a top company executive.

Union officials Rod Lockhart, 34, and Dan Gilbert, 27, spent several hours in morning and lunch - time patrols protesting the dismissal of 150 workers by the GEC subsidiary, Amalgamated Electrical Corporation of Toronto.

But a GEC spokesman said in a statement:

"He is regarded as a domestic matter for Canada. We do not regard it as proper to interfere in any way."

The spokesman said the company plans no further meetings with Taylor and Lockhart, thus apparently frustrating the union men's hope of obtaining an interview with C. Lindley, GEC chairman and joint managing director.

Lockhart and Taylor flew from Canada early this week to make a personal appeal on behalf of the dismissed workers. Their action has drawn some attention here. It is thought to be the first time union officials from a Commonwealth country have taken their case thousands of miles to the home grounds of a parent company.

Communists Appear Ready For New Drive in Viet Nam

Canadian Press Staff Writer

The restless Communist Viet Cong guerrillas appear to be ready to resume hostilities at least their offensive in troublesplagued South Viet Nam after having relatively silent for some time.

The guerrilla forces indicated their readiness by launching co-ordinated attacks Tuesday on government, towns widely scattered over South Viet Nam's southern tip in one of the bloodiest battles in the area in many months.

The rebel forces until now seemed to be satisfied merely to sit on the sidelines watching the government of President Ngo Dinh Diem, a Roman Catholic lost popularity with the predominantly Buddhist population and with Buddhist Monk-led supporters of the regime.

They apparently figured that the longer the unpopular dictatorial Diem regime remained in power, the sooner the day would dawn when the population of South Viet Nam would turn toward them.

THE STIRRING

The stirring in the rebel ranks may indicate the Viet Cong forces feel the unpopular Diem is ripe to remind the population once again that they are ready to fill any political vacuum that would result from the downfall of the Diem government.

Diem, brought to power in 1954 with the popular support of the people, has lost support steadily for the last three years despite millions of dollars of U.S. foreign aid aimed primarily at fighting the Viet Cong.

Much of Diem's trouble can be blamed on his militant brother, Ngo Dinh Nhu, and Mme. Ngo Dinh Nhu, sister-in-law of the president, who are responsible for launching the attacks on the Buddhists.

Strong opinion is that no amount of foreign aid can carry Diem's regime to victory over the Communists and that a new government in the end may move to South Viet Nam's immediate problems.

U.S. IN DILEMMA

The current crisis has thrown the U.S. into a dilemma. President Kennedy has made it known that he is unhappy with the mistreatment of the Buddhists and at the same time the U.S. would find it disastrous to cut off aid from the present government.

The U.S. could only hope for a change in Diem's attitude—apparently there is not outstanding pro-American leader who'd be able to fill Diem's post.

Whether the Communist guerrillas will continue their attacks now that Diem's hard-line dictatorial regime gives way to a new government or whether Diem will try to stick it out amid mounting pressure from his ambitious brother as well as the U.S. is not known.

The Viet Cong will likely hold back their attacks and wait for the situation to continue to ripen in their favor should Diem suppress the coup and install his brother take over and aggravate the crisis.

HUNT KIDNAPPERS

STOCKHOLM (AP)— Police launched a country-wide search Thursday for a gang that kidnaped Amanda Ekgwall, 8, daughter of Jacob Engwall, president of a Swedish coffee firm. The girl was seized Wednesday and released unharmed later after an accomplice received ransom equivalent to more than $3,000.

Theft Brings Jail Term of Three Years

VANCOUVER (CP) — Douglas Brown, 25, Loomis Armored Car Company driver who admitted stealing $200,000 from his employer, Wednesday was sent to jail for three years.

Magistrate Gordon Scott, in passing sentence 48 hours after Brown pleaded guilty to a charge, said he was convinced him to compensate the company for the $22,305 still missing.

Scott said later that if he did not or could not repay the money, time could be deducted against his earnings after his release from prison.

In the largest such theft in Vancouver's history, Brown loaded more than $300,000 in cash and coupons into his car during the Victoria Day long weekend last May. He fled to Rio de Janeiro and his ejection from Brazil touched off international complications.

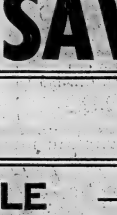
Brown admitted carrying out the theft on his own, but two other men are awaiting hearing on conspiracy with the case.

Magistrate Scott said it had been pointed out that Brown is ailed only about $300 from the theft and that the full amount had been recovered with the exception of about $20,000 of which Brown had no knowledge.

EXPECTED SHARE

"I do not see how Brown can claim credit for this," magistrate Scott said. "He fully expected to get his share of the spoils."

The magistrate said he had also been told Brown's wife and family is abandoning him and that this was punishment enough.



"I cannot help wondering how this family would have fared if his plans had been successful," he said. "Did he expect them to follow him as a fugitive from justice or did he plan to abandon them?"

The flight of Brown to Brazil, which has no extradition treaty with Canada, touched off international complications when he was bundled aboard an airliner and shipped out of the country to New York.

Attorney-General Robert Bonner of British Columbia said at the time such action appeared illegal.

Canada Closes Giant Wheat Deal With Reds

WINNIPEG (CP) — Canada has closed a deal for a giant wheat sale to the Soviet Union, an informed source said Wednesday. Exact size of the sale was not known.

The deal was made in Ottawa where Canada and Russia were negotiating a new trade agreement to replace an expiring three-year pact.

The Canadian Press reported Tuesday night Ottawa negotiators were talking about a 60,000,000-bushel deal worth $100,000,000 or more. But the completed deal is reported higher than that but not as large as the China deal announced six weeks ago.

Under that deal Communist China agreed to take a minimum of 112,000,000 bushels of Canadian wheat in a three-year period.

The Russia sale places Russia well up with the leaders of buyers of Canadian wheat. These include Japan, China, West Germany, Britain and Japan.

Details of the new Russia deal, including credit terms and the length of time over which the wheat will be shipped, were not announced. A formal announcement was expected in Ottawa shortly.

In Ottawa, W. C. McNamara, commissioner of the Canadian Wheat Board, said Canada has closed a new wheat agreement with the Russian trade delegation. He said, however, progress his been made in Canada's announced intention of closing a long-term deal with the Russians.

Ont. Residents Thought Sky Was Falling

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — To the residents of this city, sonic booms are old hat. But some residents of Ontario, Canada, and Niagara Falls, Ont., thought the sky was falling.

The 15th regiment of the North American Air Defence Command—headquartered here, holds defence training-mission exercises Tuesday night and Wednesday morning. Airmen in jets after simulated targets in the air from New England south to the Carolinas and west through Ohio.

Syracusans tunnelled their way under pillows. But many of their northern neighbors, unaccustomed to full - fledged aerial exercises and sonic booms, awakened with a start. One resident in Niagara Falls, Ont., said it appeared the whole city shook.

"This was a routine aerospace defence mission," a spokesman for the U.S. Air Force said. "We can't defend space without exceeding the speed of sound and when our fighter - interceptors pass the sound barrier they create a sound phenomenon called the sonic boom."

The spokesman admitted, however, that Tuesday's exercises were "somewhat extensive.

"We are responsible for 19 states," he said. "We try to have the boys fly more than 30,000 feet above the earth so that the sound of these booms will be dissipated before they reach the ground. But the 'enemy' doesn't move predictably, so that often our planes get close enough to the earth to give it a real shock."

Sensitive Problem Seen As Papal Audience Cancelled For Vietnamese Archbishop

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Archbishop Pierre Martin Ngo Dinh Thuc, brother of South Viet Nam's president, appears to have confronted the Vatican with one of its most sensitive diplomatic problems of modern times.

Its gravity was seen in reports by Vatican sources that a papal audience for the Roman Catholic prelate had been cancelled and Archbishop Thuc's admission that the Vatican had ordered him to be quiet about the political situation in his troubled homeland.

Church circles believe cancellation of an audience with Pope Paul would inflict on the Vatican wanted to avoid any appearance of a stand on President Ngo Dinh Diem's government, now broiled in a bliter struggle with Viet Nam's Buddhists.

Vatican diplomatic officials could not recall that any such situation involving a prelate with close ties to a ruling family had arisen since the Vatican ceased to be a temporal power a century ago.

Archbishop Thuc, who arrived in Rome six days ago, made an unscheduled flight to the United States Wednesday, insisting he had not sought a papal audience at this time.

The 65-year-old prelate said the Holy See had ordered him to keep silent and had withheld permission from the Vatican secretariat of state, he could not properly speak out beyond the confines of his archdiocese of Hue.

The archbishop denied that he had told an Italian reporter on his arrival in Rome that U.S. policies in Viet Nam were aimed at replacing Diem's regime.

Vatican sources said a private audience with Pope Paul had been scheduled on Tuesday, then cancelled at the last minute.

Archbishop Thuc said in New York he was to see the Pope Wednesday and return to Rome from resumption of the ecumenical council Sept. 29.

Medicare Plan May Be Shelved For Time Being

OTTAWA (CP)—One result of the drastic change in the federal government's contributory old age pension program may be to delay action for some time on medicare plans, observers say.

Administration officials say this unexpected new demand on federal revenues already strained by big pension costs means that much less money available for new health or welfare measures.

Informants say that if the commission recommends a health insurance program which involves great cost to the federal government chances of implementation are slim indeed, especially in the face of the additional heavy cost of raising the universal old age pension to $75 a month.

Trading Stamps To Cover World Says Promoter

NEW YORK (AP)—An international dialogue opened Wednesday over the much-discussed trading stamp.

Such stamps were denounced in Britain as a U.S. "manie" and as "protection racket" foisted on merchants. They were defended here as the retailer's salvation and a boon to customers.

Within the next decade, stamps will cover the world," said William H. Preis, an ardent and successful promoter of their use in the United States. A large Canadian-controlled retail chain is about to join the ranks of stamp givers in Britain.

Stamps savers will claim this year $800,000,000 in merchandise items, vacation trips and even fire extinguishers, more than $30,000,000 worth in 1958, Preis said. He added that use of stamps also is wide-spread in Canada.

The stamp contagion was attributed by a member of Parliament in Britain, John Stonehouse, a Labor MP spearheading a anti-stamp crusade, declared stamps were pushing up the cost of living for Britons; and promised a government investigation.

Stonehouse said consumers would be more ill served than they get back in merchandise premiums "and, furthermore, holding the retailers in a manner to give stamps is tantamount to a protection racket."

DEFUNCT STAMPS

Preis, outgoing president of the Trading Stamp Institute of America, replied that stamps have caught on in Britain in the last five years and "nobody has a gun at the merchants' heads."

The row in British commonwealth front-page newspaper attention, focussed on speculation that mail-stamp stores will put grocery prices up to 25 per cent to meet the stamp challenge.

Introduction of stamps has been slated by the 200-store Fine Fare group, controlled by Canadian Garfield Weston. The Fine Fare group is reported to be considering a halt issue.

Preis said that in Canada 19 of the 30 largest food chains—plus assorted other retailers—now dispense trading stamps.

He charged off recent bankruptcies of stamp companies in Connecticut and Long Island, pointing bills in 40 state legislatures this year (nearly all unsuccessful). "Without stamp ventures offering early cre'it in the store of issue, and ther problems in the U.S. stamp industry.

MUST PAY DAMAGES

ROME (AP)—Prof. Riccardo Galeazzi Lisi, personal physician of the late Pope Pius XII, has been ordered by a Rome Court to pay 8,000,000 lire ($14,000) in a damage bill. Lawyers for Prof. Carlo Biasiloi claimed he had received insufficient pay in helping Galeazzi Lisi draft medical articles. Galeazzi Lisi was widely criticized for selling deathbed photographs he took of Pope Pius in 1958.

SIGNS FOR CANADA — Canadian Ambassador Arnold C. Smith, 48, flanked by third secretary Kathleen Mayrell, signs the nuclear test ban treaty for Canada in Moscow. Smith has left for home after 2½ years as head of the Canadian Embassy, a modest building with a staff of thirty in the Arbat district of the Soviet capital. He is being replaced by Bob Ford, until now ambassador in Cairo. —(CP Photo from AP)

Canada's Home in Moscow In Quiet Street Chosen 20 Yrs. Ago by Torontonian

By ALAN HARVEY

MOSCOW (CP) — Canada's home-away-from-home in Moscow is a modest building in a quiet thoroughfare called Old Stable Lane.

In keeping with the quaintly rustic name, hardly anything about it is evocative of cold-war tensions.

A Soviet militiaman stands outside, obscuring the Canadian embassy sign, but his salute is pleasingly perfunctory, as though somebody had tipped him off about the rosy new era in East-West relations.

Fifteen minutes by taxi from Red Square, the embassy is in the Arbat district, an old residential quarter where Tolstoy and Chekhov lived. Children play in the courtyards and lovers stroll the streets in the evening, but bulldozers laying a broad new road suggest even the Arbat may go modern.

The site was chosen 20 years ago by Toronto - born Arnold Smith, then third secretary at the Canadian mission in Kuibyshev. Smith was appointed ambassador in February, 1961, thus returning as head man to familiar territory.

The 48-year-old ambassador, one of the youngest heads of mission in Moscow, left for Ottawa early in September to join the battery of assistant undersecretaries for external affairs. He will be succeeded by Bob Ford, ambassador in Cairo, due here in December.

Smith was held in high esteem by diplomats and newspaper men in the Soviet capital. His occasional private conversations with Nikita Khrushchev, including a three-hour, meeting last November, were the envy of his colleagues and suggested a special standing with the Soviets.

He has an unusual background. After study at the university of Toronto, Grenoble in France and Oxford, where he was a Rhodes Scholar, and at Gray's Inn in London, he took an offbeat job editing a newspaper in one of the Baltic countries.

He is probably the only top-ranking Canadian diplomat to have started in the service of the British government. In the pre-war summer of 1939 Britain needed every Baltic expert it could find, and Smith became a press attache at the British legation in Tallin, serving in 1940 in the British embassy in Cairo, after the Russians annexed the Baltic states.

He transferred to Canada's external affairs department in 1942.

Canada's official representation in Moscow totals some 30 persons, made up of 10 officers including service attaches and a clerical staff of 20. For those who lack a strong personal or professional interest in the Soviet Union, the posting doesn't seem a popular one.

No. 2 man is Albert Hart, the counsellor, who has served in Belgrade, Warsaw and Berlin. Hart is serving as charge d'affaires until Ford's arrival.

The first secretary is Ottawa-born Clifford Webster, 44-year-old specialist in Soviet affairs whose interest is shared by his Russian-born wife Heilieni and 13-year-old son Ian—spelled the Greek way—one of the few Western youngsters to go at school a pioneer camp, Soviet equivalent of a summer camp for Boy Scouts.

Mrs. Webster, born at Baku in the Caucasus, shrugs off her fluency in five languages by explaining that her father was a Greek shipowner and that she has lived in several countries.

In a capital like Moscow, where Westerners live fenced off from Muscovites in "diplomatic ghettoes," isolation breeds an incessant social round calling for talented and tireless hostesses.

Canada is well served by, among others, the multilingual Mrs. Webster; the ambassador's wife, the former Evelyn Stewart of Toronto; and by the 26 - year - old cultural attache, Mrs. Kathleen Berton Murrell, formerly of Ottawa and a cousin of television personality Pierre Berton.

The decorative Mrs. Murrell met and married a Moscow on her first posting abroad, a romance that caused some raised sighs among newspaper correspondents whose contacts at the embassy were mainly with the popular "Kathy."

Her husband Geoffrey is a third secretary with the British embassy and often acts as interpreter on official occasions.

The Canadian colony is small. Virtually the only resident population is from the embassy. Tourists apart, there are occasional short-term visitors such as pretty Steffi Brown of Vancouver, a 20 - year - old skater who came to Moscow in June with the Vienna Ice Revue of which she is the only Canadian member.

Most London newspapers are represented in Moscow. Some diplomats consider it strange that the only permanent Canadian correspondent in the Soviet capital is John Web of The Tribune, a Communist paper published in Toronto.

Think Chinese Are Trying To Provoke Kremlin Action

By GEORGE STYBERTSEN

MOSCOW (AP) —Communist China's current Russian-baiting campaign apparently is aimed at provoking the Kremlin to break state or party ties with Peking. So far Moscow has not risen to the bait.

Seeming to sense danger, the Russians are displaying a patience that must be galling to Premier Khrushchev.

Aside from propaganda attacks linking Khrushchev with the "imperialist enemy," the Chinese set up a rowdy two-day demonstration on the Soviet-Chinese border in Siberia last week that outraged the Russians.

The government newspaper Izvestia told its readers Tuesday what it said went on at Nanshki, a border point, when the Peking - Moscow Express crossed from China Friday.

Chinese passengers openly displayed contempt for the Russians by defying customs officials, roughing up passersby and—in a crowning indignity—by urinating in public in the railway station, Izvestia reported.

SENT BACK

Instead of jailing the Chinese, the Russians, on instructions from Moscow, sent the Chinese back to China Saturday. Soviet border guards confiscated anti-Soviet literature.

These and other recent provocative actions indicate a deliberate attempt to infuriate the Russians.

China might want a break in party or even government relations, hoping to force Moscow to take the step or to give the Chinese the pretext for rupturing relations.

But Soviet propaganda organs, in heaping abuse on the Chinese, keep well within guidelines laid down by major party statements.

Kremlin propaganda chiefs now are believed working on a reply to Peking's charges last week that:

1. The Russians "enticed and coerced" several thousand members of a Chinese national minority group into fleeing to the Soviet Union.

ENDED REVOLT

2. Khrushchev had decided to "abandon socialist Hungary to counter - revolution" and only crushed the 1956 Hungarian revolt at Peking's insistence.

3. The premier returned from a meeting with President Eisenhower in 1959 to press Peking to recognize the Nationalist Chinese regime on Formosa and accept the "two Chinas" formula for settling China's differences with the West.

4. Russian leaders have joined the United States, India and President Tito of Communist Yugoslavia — a favorite Chinese whipping boy—in a "holy alliance" to halt people's revolutions and restore capitalism.

There is speculation in Moscow that the Chinese might be building up to a discussion of Khrushchev's activities as one of Stalin's top lieutenants and other hitherto unpublished details of his career.

EFFECT UNKNOWN

The Russians, who until a year ago were telling told that bilateral ties of eternal friendship joined China and Russia, have been hit in the last six months with a bewildering barrage of sensational revelations of Soviet-Chinese enmity. The effect on their credulity is difficult to gauge.

All that Westerners in Moscow have been able to learn is that most Russians profess firm opposition to the Chinese line.

There is scattered evidence of growing uneasiness over the prospect of serious trouble with China.

One Russian, familiar with details of the latest Peking attack, said after the Nanshki incident: "What are they trying to do? Do they really want to start a war?"

RARE, MEDIUM, WELL-DONE

By GEO. H. CARVER, Sports Editor

Yankee built can read about their Whitey Ford, Al Downings, the Bombers and whatnots; Dodger fans can go in ecstacies over their Koufaxs and Drysdales but to a host of Milwaukee addicts and thousands of fans of the town that beer made famous, there is only one pitcher . . . and he is the fabulous 23-year-old Warren Spahn.

For here is a forkside pitching machine, still a potential 20-game winner at his age, a perfectionalist who has the greatest come-all record of any lefthanded hurler in baseball.

He has won more games, struck out more batters, pitched more innings and won 20 games (13) than any other southpaw. He has also pitched more shutouts, (59) than any other National League hurler. Spahn is within striking distance of Eddy Plank's major leagues record for leftbanders of 64.

Old "Hookjaws" is no night-clubbing, girl-wacky Bo Belinski. And perhaps in this fact lies part of the secret of his mental longevity and greatness. For from October to February of each year he forgets about baseball, crowd adulation, handshaker, back-popping, etc., and retired to his 2,500-acre ranch near Hartshorne, Oklahoma.

"It gives me a wonderful change of pace" he says. "Popularity is fine and baseball to me is more of a love than a job, but there comes a time when a man gets tired of challenging hitters and travelling."

"He wants to relax — away from people, and from cities and from baseball. He sort of recharges his batteries. Then he's ready to start, fresh again when spring training time rolls round again."

"The big thing about spending the winter on the ranch" says Spahn, "is that I don't ever get far out of shape and I reserve my enthusiasm for baseball. I work as hard as I want to. I'm my own boss. Some days I go out with my foreman, feeding cattle, mending fences or doing something else. If I feel like it I just sleep in the morning or maybe fish or hunt."

Spahny is a mild-mannered man even after losing heartbreaking games such as that 1-0 loss to the Giants in July after a 16-inning mound duel. He talked without bitterness to reporters.

"Sure I want to win" he smiled. "I wouldn't be pitching if I didn't. But the important thing is that I can still pitch good ball. Losing tough games like this is but a part of pitching."

His 15-inning feat even in defeat caused amazement throughout the baseball world for this perhaps was his most remarkable performance. Pitching such a marathon at 42 was a great source of satisfaction to the fabulous southpaw.

Five days later he came back to shut out the Houston Colts, then developed elbow trouble. Manager Bobby Bragan came in for criticism over the 15-inning stint but within three weeks Spahny was back into winning stride. Next time out he tossed a six-hitter to beat the Reds.

You know the rest. The marvellous moundster has been winning since and the other day chalked up his 20th victory for the thirteenth time in a remarkable pitching career.

Lou Burdette, a roommate of Spahn for eight years when he was with the Braves, says "There was always personal competition between us and I know that helped both of us. He even went out and threw a no-hitter after I tossed mine in 1958. . ."

"Spahny doesn't know what it means to quit" said Burdette, "He's really one of the game's greatest competitors. And I know personal pride had kept him going all these years."

The great lefthander is all sincerity on the mound but has as good a sense of humor as anybody. He and Burdette formed a fun loving pair. Once they chartered a helicopter to ride over Los Angeles although the Brave had no insurance to cover such activity.

The pair entertained early arrivals with antics in the outfield. Occasionally Spahn gave the long ears of a rookie attending his first training camp, He'd put on his cap sideways, hook his glove over his belt, walk like a hillbilly and ask, like Mortimer Snerd "I'm the new pitcher. Where's the ball park?"

Series Worth $6,000 Extra Per Man ★ ★ ★ ★ ★

Loot-Hungry Yanks Prefer Dodgers

By JIM BECKER
Associated Press Sports Writer

New York Yankees are all wrapped up in a pennant race, the other pennant race. There's loot involved, lots of it.

The Yankees, who always count the winning World Series share in their annual income estimates [illegible] April, are openly favoring Los Angeles Dodgers for the National League flag in the battle with St. Louis Cardinals.

They figure a World Series with the Dodgers will be worth some $6,000 a man more than one with the Cardinals. The arithmetic is simple. There are some 55,000 seats in O'Malley's arena in Los Angeles, and all within naked eye distance of home plate are called boxes, at $12 a copy. St. Louis has only 30,000 seats, few in the $12 group.

Meanwhile, the Yankees moved a step closer to their own annual American League pennant — clinching party by whipping Kansas City Athletics 9-3. The second-place Minnesota Twins also won, 3-2 over Cleveland Indians.

NEED 3 WINS

In other AL action, Chicago White Sox edged Baltimore Orioles 3-2, Washington Senators trimmed Detroit Tigers 6-5 in 10 innings and Aubrey Gatewood pitched a four - hitter in his major league debut as Los Angeles Angels defeated Boston Red Sox 4-1.

"This nonsense has gone far enough," Yankee manager Ralph Houk told his players at Kansas City, after the Yankees had lost two straight to the Athletics.

Mickey Mantle and Whitey Ford agreed. Mantle smacked a three-run homer in the first inning and added a single and double. Ford won his 22nd game, against six losses, his fifth straight, with his fourth complete game in his last five. Joe Pepitone also hit a two-run homer, his 24th, for the Yankees.

HITS GRAND SLAM

Harmon Killebrew hit his 36th homer — a grand slammer — and Earl Battey his 20th as Minnesota stayed one - half game ahead of the White Sox in their battle for second place. Leo Stange, tagged for two solo homers by Cleveland's Fred Whitfield, won his 10th game for the Twins.

Eddie Fisher went the distance for the White Sox against Baltimore, winning his eighth with a three-hitter. Dave Nicholson homered for the Sox and broke a 2-2 tie with a sixth-inning single by Camilo Carreon also homered and rookie Pete Ward, a native of Montreal, stroked two doubles.

Dick Phillips let off the 10th inning with his 10th homer for the Washington visitors, Hank Aguirre working in relief, gave up the homer. Rocky McAuliffe homered for the Tigers.

Gatewood, a 25-year-old right-hander just brought up from Memphis, lost his shutout bid in the ninth when Dick Stuart tripled and scored on Russ Nixon's sacrifice fly.

Commercial Softball Champs

Lightfoots Win Crown

Sweeping through the playoffs without suffering a defeat, Lightfoot Construction added the Commercial softball playoff championship to their trophy shelf last night.

Lightfoots topped Barriage Landscapers 7-1 to take the finals in four consecutive games.

The winners won the Frank Foilwell Trophy as playoff champions and the O'Connor Jewel Box Trophy for capturing the regular-schedule pennant.

As was the pattern in the last three games, Lightfoots took an early lead and were good enough to hang on to it. They scored three in the first on hits by Gervin, Sheridan and Whiting, a long fly ball and two stolen bases by Whiting.

A dropped fly ball, a walk, passed ball, stolen base and Gervin's single made it 5-0 in the fourth. Whiting and Dolan singled and Hull tripled for a final pair of runs in the top of the seventh.

A throwing error and Soule's fly ball got Barriage' lone run home in the bottom of the seventh.

Georgia Young wound up a successful season for he and his club by pitching a two-hitter on the Lightfoot hilltop. He struck out four and walked a pair.

Joe Harvey was the Barriage starter and loser, giving way to Bob Boyle in the fifth. They allowed eight hits, struck out three and walked six.

Carl Boomhower collected both Landscaper hits, a double and a single.

Ron Hull's triple was the winners' only extra base hit. Rusty Gervin, Jim Sheridan and Jack "Deacon" Whiting had two singles apiece while Don Dolan got the other one.

Linetups — Lightfoots: T. Garvin, J. Sheridan, J. Whiting, D. Dolan, R. Hull, R. Young, D. Smith, J. Garvin, E. K. Brooks, E. Powers, R. Buffett, C. McKenna, G. Young.

Barriages — C. Boomhower, H. Pearce, T. Cook, J. Hill, B. Boyle, R. Turner, B. Loe, L. Soule, G. Wood, B. Cooney, J. Harvey.

Umpires — T. Hulme (p) and J. Telworth.

Yankee Fans Impatient

Wait A Whole Year For Pennant

NEW YORK (AP)—This town has been gripped with pennant fever.

After a wait of nearly 12 months, New York Yankees are about to clinch the American League pennant. You can almost feel the excitement in the air as the Yankees drive on toward the flag.

Fans who have waited patiently since last October for a pennant are starting to stir. There are plans to celebrate the momentuous event by printing stories about it in all the newspapers in eight-point type.

To sample some of this fever of excitement, an AP reporter interviewed a number of people standing in the long line waiting to get into the Radio City Music Hall.

"The magic number is four," the reporter said to a lady with sore feet from New Jersey. "What do you think of that?"

"If they think I'm going to wait four hours to see Doris Day they're crazy," she said. "Charlton Heston, maybe, but Doris Day, never. Two more hours and if I'm not inside I'm going down the street to see Ben Hur again."

The reporter spotted a sentimental father in line, holding a baby in his arms and another by the hand.

"The Yankees are about to clinch the American League pennant," the reporter said. "Are you excited about it?"

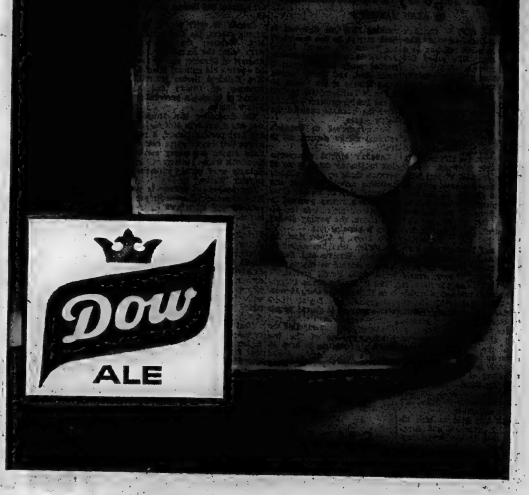
"What's you say? Here, hold the baby," he said to the reporter. "We'll be inside pretty soon and then you can go," he said to the little girl.

"The Yankees are going to win the pennant any day," the reporter said.

"You mean they don't always win?" the man asked.

"No, not always," the reporter said, drying off his notes and handing back the baby.

The reporter moved along the line to a young man with a sports section under his arm.



"Are you excited about the end of the season?" the reporter asked.

"The end? It's just starting. The Giants play the Colts next Sunday in the opener. I hear Unitas is hurt. If he's out the Giants will murder them Colts," he said.

"Oh, you're a football fan," the reporter said. "But what about the Damn Yankees?"

"That show closed a long time ago," he said.

Dodgers Clobber Pirates, Cards Win

Wills Stars

By MEEK RATHBY
Associated Press Sports Writer

The experts pointed a finger at St. Louis Cardinals when they began their belated bid to overtake the National League-leading Los Angeles Dodgers, and turned thumbs down.

The verdict: Pitching not strong enough.

They may have something there. Just last Sunday Cardinal pitchers gave up two runs.

They haven't allowed any since, Ray Sadecki and Curt Simmons and a six-hitter by Bob Gibson, extending the Cardinals' latest winning streak to five games while producing the 14th victory in the last 15 games.

Tonight, it'll be Ernie Broglio's turn for the Cardinals. He should be ready, although right now he ranks as the weak link in the pitching staff. He was tagged for two runs by Pittsburgh Pirates Sunday.

WILLS PACES DODGERS

While the Cardinals kept up the pressure, Maury Wills applied some for the Dodgers against Pittsburgh, stroking four hits, starting three rallies and driving in two runs as Los Angeles...maintained its grip on the top spot, by halting the Phillies 5-4.

In other NL action, Vada Pinson collected two homers, including his 1,000th major-league hit, and Gordy Coleman hit a grand slam in Cincinnati Reds' 14-3 chumping of Milwaukee Braves. Houston's Dick Farrell four-hit Philadelphia Phillies 4-2 and New York Mets defeated San Francisco Giants 4-3.

Sadecki, (9-8) started against Cub ace Dick Ellsworth, (20-9) and pitched strongly, allowing only four hits in 5 5-3 innings, but was bothered by periodic wildness and manager Johnny Keane decided to bring in Taylor. Taylor allowed only a single the rest of the way.

The Cardinals got to Ellsworth for two runs in the second inning after Dick Groat, playing with a bruised chest, led off with a single, Singles by Bill White and Ken Boyer then filled the bases and Stan Musial lifted a long sacrifice fly that brought in the only run St. Louis needed. The second run of the inning scored on Curt Flood's grounder. Mike Shannon's two-run homer in the eighth wrapped up the scoring.

Wills led off the first and third inning for the Dodgers with singles and each time stole second and scored—Tommy Davis driving him in both times with a single and a sacrifice fly. Wills drove in two of three Los Angeles runs in the fourth with a double, then doubled in the sixth and scored on Frank Howard's single.

RELIEVES DRYSDALE

Don Drysdale started for the Dodgers but gave way to Pete Richert, who in turn needed Ron Perranoski's relief help. Richert, tagged for a homer by Smoky Burgess, got the victory for a 4-1 record. Bob Veale, 3-2, took the loss.

Jim Maloney won his 22nd game as the Reds pounded the Braves. And, in an eye-opening bit of strategy, Don Pavletich was lifted for a pinch - hitter by manager Fred Hutchinson in Cincinnati's nine-run fourth inning rally after hitting a two-run homer his first time up in the inning. The pinch hitter was Coleman.

The Colts won when rookie Jim Wynn hit a two-run homer that snapped a 2-2 tie against the Phillies. John Bateman stroked four singles for Houston. Both runs off Farrell were unearned.

The Mets got the job done against the Giants as Al Jackson pitched a seven - hitter and Tim Harkness cracked three singles. Orlando Cepeda hit home run No. 30 for San Francisco.

Tweed Celebrities Dinner Huge Success

By GEORGE H. CARVER
Sports Editor

TWEED — This lovely mid Hastings village was sports minded in a different bigger way last night.

Some 320 sportsmen from "nine to ninety" saw and heard a galaxy of luminaries from the sports world at the first "Celebrities Dinner" held here.

The head table was an autograph hunter's dream. Head liners of the world's sports pages gave their names and experiences in the funds-raising campaign for the Tweed - Hungerford Community Centre.

The "tab" was ten dollars a plate and a substantial amount collected at approximately $2,500 will help line the fund exchequer.

The dinner was an outstanding success and the Canadian Legion Branch No. 428 committee under the chairmanship of Jim Halpenny earned a well deserved pat on the back.

With "Red" Storey and Lorne Ivan Graham, J. A. Thomson, Rev. Dunham, J. Wallis Moffat and Jack Rashleigh as "Commander" Zone 3.

"RED" STOREY"

The Hungerford-Tweed Community Centre is an overall $80,000 project which will include an ice arena which collapsed some time ago.

To date approximately $70,000 has been raised for the centre now under construction. A stage and dance floor will be operated all year round. The artificial ice surface will measure 180 by 80 feet.

The project is under the supervision of a committee enlisted by general chairman Harold Casselman. Members are Harry McLean, treasurer; Roy Wannamaker, secretary; Stewart Lessard, building chairman; Ted Courneyea, finance and Wally Moffat, publicity.

THE REDHEAD

Ray Alvin Storey "the Ole Redhead" wowed his audience. Master of the bon mot and colorful yarn, the popular raconteur regaled the diners with his famous hockey-spiced stories.

He recalled the time...when a Montreal fan tossed a bag of peas at him during a game. The Canadiens captain rushed out on the ice and to all intents and purposes was given me hell" by Red. "What he actually said was "Wait until somebody throws a hunk of bacon at you and I'll make you the first pea soup you ever ate."

On another occasion he elected to drive a friend's car to Toronto to keep a refereeing date. He had no licence and was picked up by the police of Bowmanville.

He told the law who he was and what he was going to do and asked them to telephone the Leafs' Conn Symthe. When told of his predicament Smythe said "Keep the Rum there all night. We don't want him."

Once in Boston while officiating an enraged fan roared at Storey "We've got a town named after you. Marblehead."

A New York fan sent him a gift lavishly wrapped. It was a large cork with a card that read "This is for the hole in your head."

Anecdote and story rolled off the Storey tongue in sharp humorous sequence. He had his audience on seat-edge, his personality dynamic out and before the table, "Red" was at his after-dinner best and received a standing ovation at the conclusion of his talk.

Rudy Pilous, a marked minister also had his audience in spasms of mirth with stories told in various dialects.

Lou Fontinato, who will never play hockey again, said he wanted to be a defenceman because "I believe it is better to give than to receive. But eventually I received. I never had the idea that I would get any better." said the former Canadiens star.

Bob Feller turned back the pages of baseball time with stories of his younger days with the Cleveland Indians in a serio-humorous talk.

Frank Nighbor, the inventor of the poke check, recalled hockey days with the Ottawa Senators. The seventy-year-old former centre star looked twenty years younger with a slim figure and sparkling personality.

Member of Parliament "Red" Kelly spoke briefly. "Parliament needs me," smiled "Red," but I think I shall be able to spare the time to play for Punch Imlach."

Syl Apps and "Teeder" Kennedy spoke briefly, as did Aubrey "Dit" Clapper and Gordie Bell.

Dave Mann of the Toronto Argonauts and Lloyd Percival of the Sports College of the Air were unable to put in an appearance.

All the celebrities congratulated the Village and its committees on the building project and "Red" Storey, here through the courtesy of Imperial Distillery, climaxed this phase of the talks with "If you really want it bought up I'll come here and referee the first hockey game for you."

The dinner was held in St. Carthagh's Hall with the ladies of the Catholic Women's League of the village serving a delicious repast. The special guests received gifts of handsome leather wallets.

After the dinner the guests were entertained at the Legion Hall.

Who Is Going To Play For Who?

Jones Motors and Woods-Horlock, this city's representatives in OBA and OASA play-downs, are facing tough games this weekend — and also a problem.

Jones open the Ontario Baseball Association semi-finals in Hamilton on Saturday afternoon at two o'clock.

Woods-Horlock meet Oshawa People's in the third and decisive game of their OASA zone finals series in Cobourg Saturday afternoon at five o'clock.

And here is where the problem crops up!

There are five players who play for both of these Belleville juvenile teams.

Up until now, playdown games have not clashed and the five players, Bob Ethier, Bobby Moon, Mike Chartland, Bobby Boyle and Carl Boomhower have been able to play both baseball and softball.

Saturday's - scheduling will force the players to make a choice and one club or the other will face an important game with a skeleton lineup. There is a chance that one club or the other will be forced to forfeit.

An official of the softball team said yesterday that efforts were being made to have Saturday's game changed to another day but the possibility did not look good.

Bombers Rested, But Hurt

WINNIPEG (CP) — Winnipeg Blue Bombers, rested but still hurting, head into the second half of their schedule Saturday night against the unpredictable Ottawa Rough Riders.

Two regulars will be missing for the defending Grey Cup champions and a couple more are question marks.

—Definitely out are relief quarterback Hal Ledyard, with a damaged shoulder suffered in the Bombers' victory over Toronto Argonauts, and offensive centre George Druxman who broke a bone in his forearm during the 30-7 beating administered by Montreal Alouettes Monday.

Coach Bud Grant said Wednesday ends Bill Whisler, with a cracked rib, and Ernie Pitts, also with shoulder trouble, are doubtful.

This leaves Grant to continue the juggling act he has been performing most of the Western Football Conference season.

Jack Brusell will start as Druxman's replacement but as insurance Gyles Letourneau announced Wednesday he had picked up Cec Luining, a 10-year Canadian who was a surprise pre-season cut.

The Riders will get their first look at an old teammate, halfback Doug Daigneault, in a blue uniform. Grant said Daigneault, picked in trade with Ottawa for Joe Williams, will be in the lineup.

Grant, whose Bombers are tied for third place in the WFC with Saskatchewan Roughriders at four wins and four losses, is ready for trouble with Ottawa.

Would Turn Stadium Into Bowl

TORONTO (CP)—Mayor Donald Summerville wants to turn the CNE football stadium into a 45,000-seat bowl.

His plan calls for a thorough study of linking the proposed giant bowl to the downtown area with a rapid transit line.

In an interview, the mayor said yesterday he will devote time solving what Controller Philip Givens has described as "murderous" traffic jams after games.

Mayor Summerville said the present 30,000 - seat stadium yields the city a profit of $40,000 a year.

Grab Three-Game Lead

Joyces Blank Flyers 6-0

By GARRY ALEXANDER
Staff Sportswriter

TRENTON — Joyces Realty picked up where they left off a couple of weeks ago in the R. and D. softball league finals here last night, blanking RCAF Flyers 6-0 for a commanding three-game lead in the 6-of-7 circular set.

The ball diamond threatened to turn into a battle field several times during a heated evening's action which included everything from umpire baiting and name calling to plenty of lyrical action from the fans and a player ejection.

The teams even failed to agree on the time of the fourth game in Belleville Saturday. League Commissioner Cliff Belch finally settled that by calling the game for five o'clock at the CNRA diamond.

Plate umpire Mike Whalen, who took a rough riding from both the RCAF team and fans, faced a howling group of the latter surrounding his car when he tried to leave the park. The crowd finally broke up without any damage being done.

It was a night of too much Blaine Healey for the Flyers once again. He fanned a two hitter for Joyces, striking out ten and walking none. He faced only five men over the minimum, one batter being hit by a pitch.

Healey's delivery was the cause of plenty of excitement, the Flyers claiming it was illegal and riding Whalen for not doing something about it. RCAF left fielder Don Cole was ejected

Television Sometimes Can Be Pure Enchantment

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP) — Numbed by overdoses of cliche comedy and trivial plots, we forget that television sometimes can be pure enchantment.

Wednesday night, in the premiere of the Room of Freedom, a CBS series, television became a magic carpet, flying us back 2,400 years to a Greek hillside where the theatre was born.

With Alfred Lunt as an entertaining guide, and Lynn Fontanne helping out, the audiences were seated in the ruins of the Theatre of Dionysus. There, talented performers, including Miss Fontanne, Alfred Drake and Donald Madden, enacted short scenes from plays which were milestones in theatre development.

To illustrate the earliest Greek theme—man against the gods—there was a portion from Aeschylus' Prometheus Bound. Sophocles' Antigone came next to show a more sophisticated conflict for man's struggle against man. And finally, after Miss Fontanne had admonished parents to ship the children to bed, there was a risque comedy scene from Aristophanes' Lysistrata, obviously the father of all-bedroom farce.

It was an absorbing adult hour and proved incidentally that an educational program doesn't have to be dull.

It's going to be Sophia Loren in Rome and October's Peter Sellers Taylor in London. The projected special has a sponsor, it has not settled on a network . . . ABC has signed Mrs. Ngo Dinh Nhu, the controversial sister-in-law of the president of South Viet Nam, for her initial U.S. television appearance—on a Sunday Issues and Answers in October.

Open Training Camp

Habs Have Five Vacancies

By JOE DUPUIS

MONTREAL (CP) — Montreal Canadiens, third-place finishers in the National Hockey League last season, opened an eight-day training camp at the Forum Wednesday with at least five key positions on the team to be filled.

For the once-powerful Canadiens, it was an unusual position having to find faces for so many spots. About 60 players—only 15 of them holdovers from last year were in camp.

Conspicuously missing was masked goalie Jacques Plante and veteran Don Marshall who Phil Goyette, traded to New York Rangers last year in a sensational deal for goalie Gump Worsley.

Missing too was rugged defenceman Lou Fontinato, who broke his neck last winter and is through with hockey, and rearguard Tom Johnson, a 12-year veteran with Canadiens who left Boston Bruins. Johnson injured his eye last year and there were doubts he would ever play hockey again.

Veteran left winger Dickie Moore, who announced his retirement last year but returned to the Canadiens' threatened to trade him, skated with the team but was non-committal about any plans of returning.

"He's out there isn't he," coach Toe Blake said, "that's all we want."

NOT APPROACHED

General-manager Frank Selke Jr. said Moore hasn't been approached yet about signing. Big Jean Beliveau, who said he put in a hard, busy summer as a Quebec City brewery representative, reported at his playing weight but skated only briefly.

Winger Gilles Tremblay underwent two groin operations during the summer but said he was "feeling fine."

Vice - president Ken Reardon said the Canadiens would have to fill positions left vacant by the departure of Plante, Goyette, Marshall, Fontinato and Johnson.

Worsley, of course, is a certainty to start the season as the team's regular goalie. But both Cesare Maniago and Charlie Hodge, substitute goalies last season, will be fighting for the job too.

Training gets serious today with the camp divided into four teams for four daily workouts. The Canadiens play their first exhibition game Sept. 30 at Washington against Baltimore Clippers.

They are listed for 11 pre-season exhibitions, eight against American League teams and three against Omaha, their new Central League farm team.

Coach Blake, probably more serious than he's ever been at a training camp, had a message for the players: Work, work, work.

"I'll be standing right by the scale to see that there's no foolishness around with the weight figures," he said.

"We've got a lot to win back. Finishing third last year was a low point for this team."

MOVED FROM CANADA

The farmhouse owned by the father of Thomas Edison at a museum near Detroit was moved there from its site near Vienna, Ont.

Evangelist Billy Graham To Trade Jokes With Benny

By JAMES BACON

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Evangelist Billy Graham, who has always faced millions in person and on television, is nervous. He's going to trade jokes with Jack Benny.

"And he's not half as nervous as I am," says Benny.

Benny, who is funny, was on the platform last Sunday night when 134,254 people jammed Los Angeles Coliseum for the windup of Graham's crusade.

Graham will top the show Friday for showing Sept. 20.

"I have been on all kinds of television programs but usually just as a guest being interviewed," says Graham. "I've never been a comedian before."

"When Jack asked me, I accepted because he is such a wonderful man, a man of great character who has given so much of his time and talent to make the world forget its troubles.

"I told him that I have been a fan of his since I was five years old—which is hard to do since I'm 44 and he's 39."

GIVES SAMPLE

Benny: "I was so nervous when I called you. But I guess you didn't detect it."

Graham: "Yes, I did."

Jack: "How?"

Graham: "After the conversation, you reversed the charges."

Benny: "Well, I . . . I always do that."

Graham: "On a local call?"

Graham tells Benny he has always considered him a fine violinist.

This so shakes up Benny that —for the first time in his radio and television career—he admits he is older than 39.

"I'm really 47," quips Jack. To which Graham counters:

"Jack, I'd suggest that you come to some of my meetings."

Italia Humbles Roma 7-2

TORONTO (CP) — Toronto Italia humbled Roma 7-3 Wednesday night to force a fourth game in their semi-final series of the Eastern Canadian Professional Soccer League. Italia had won one game previously in the best-of-three series, and the fifth game ended 1-1 at the close.

The winner of the Italia-Roma bout goes for the title against Montreal Cantalia, which defeated Hamilton Steelers 1-0 in the Montreal-Hamilton eight in the fourth and last game of that semi-final.

The result left the Fielding leaders at the two teams move to Atlanta for the rest of the best-of-seven series.

Indianapolis went into the ninth trailing 5-1 but almost pulled the game out. The rally was interrupted by a fight between Jim Napier of Indianapolis and third baseman Ed Bressyn of Atlanta after Napier slid into third base hard. Neither was injured, but both were thrown out of the game.

Gun Club Plans Annual Mackenzie Hull, Hay 'Hot Line'

ST. CATHARINES (CP) — Rookie John MacKenzie combined with veterans Red Hay and Bobby Hull to form the hottest line in camp as Chicago Black Hawks completed their third day of training Wednesday.

MacKenzie, an all-star left winger in the American Hockey League last season with Buffalo, is making a strong bid to make the National Hockey League Hawks this year.

He scored a pair of goals, Hay had two and Hull added another in the two - part scrimmage.

Coach Billy Reay said he will keep the unit intact for exhibition games this weekend against Toronto Maple Leafs, defending Stanley Cup champions. The teams meet in Peterborough Friday and back here Saturday and in Kitchener Sunday.

At Peterborough the Leafs said they will experiment with each of their three forward lines for the weekend games.

The Leafs will have one new man on each forward unit. Mike Corbett, 20-year-old up from junior ranks, will continue to play with Frank Mahovlich and Red Kelly as manager - coach Punch Imlach continues his search for a right winger for his "big" line.

Jim Pappin, a minor league veteran of three years, will be on right wing with Bob Pulford and Dick Duff for two games. Johnny MacMillan, a fringe Leaf for two seasons, will join Bob Baun and Carl Brewer. Dave Keon, also for two games.

Howe Shoots For Record Of Rocket

DETROIT (CP)—It was the same old story Wednesday as Detroit Red Wings held the first scrimmage of their training period. The opening goal was scored by the great Gordie Howe.

However, the intra - squad game finished in a 3-3 tie, with Norm Ullman scoring three goals and Andre Pronovost two.

Handling the net minding chores were veteran Terry Sawchuk and rookie Bob Champagne, 21, from St. Jerome, Que.

Working on Howe's line were leftwinger Parker MacDonald and another rookie, 19-year-old Pit Martin from Hamilton Red Wings of the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A League.

Howe's goal indicated that he is ready to pass Maurice (Rocket) Richard, retired Montreal Canadien great, on the all-time goal-scoring list once the National Hockey League season begins.

Richard finished with 544 goals, well ahead of Howe, Ullman and Howe, 35, will start the season with 540.

Will Add Six Players For Finals

ST. CATHARINES (CP)—Joe McNulty, manager of St. Catharines Athletics, Eastern Canada senior lacrosse champions, said Wednesday his team will be ready for the Mann Cup finals which open in Cornwall next Tuesday.

McNulty also selected seven defenceman Bill Castater and forwards Wayne Thompson and Bruce Wanless of Brampton, forward Glen Lofton of Brooklin, and forwards Floris Tourchingdon and Rod Crawford of Port Credit.

The Athletics, who won their first Ontario championship in 17 years earlier this week over Port Credit, will meet either Vancouver or New Westminster in the Canadian finals.

The first four games in the best-of-seven series, all in Cornwall, will be played next Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday nights and Sunday afternoon.

WINS IN N.Z.

AUCKLAND, New Zealand (Reuters)—Colin Greenhalgh, a slender 22-year-old from England, won the New Zealand open golf championship Wednesday. Gayle Hitchens of Vancouver, Canadian Open champion in 1962, was narrowly beaten in the final on the Consolation Plate event.

Six-Team Circuit Organize Senior Hockey

GUELPH (CP)—C. G. Patterson, president of the Ontario Hockey Association, said Wednesday night final arrangements have been worked out for an OHA senior league next season.

He said the clubs in the league will each play a 40-game schedule, beginning Oct. 26 and ending March 1, 1964. The top four teams will qualify for playoff competition. Details were worked out at a meeting at Dundas Tuesday night, he said.

Two entries from last year's Senior A league will continue operation: Galt and Woodstock. Welland, Oakville and Port Colborne will move up from last year's Intermediate A league, and Guelph will field a new team.

Two teams from last year's Senior A league—Windsor and Chatham—have entered the International League, and a third, Kitchener, will field a Junior A team.

Sarnia will not field a team since officials decided the costs incurred in travelling would be too high.

Mr. Patterson said the league champion, to be decided in the playoffs, will then play the top finisher between Windsor and Chatham in the IHL.

Galt and Woodstock were eliminated in Senior A playoffs last spring by Windsor and Chatham. Welland won the Intermediate title last year, and Port Colborne was the two previous years.

FURKEY IS DONE

CINCINNATI (AP)—Bob Furkey, one of baseball's top right-hand pitchers a year ago, apparently has had it for this season, Cincinnati manager Fred Hutchinson said Wednesday. Bothered with a sore shoulder since spring training, Furkey has won six games and lost 10, next year, the Chargers said.

QUITS CANADA

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—Bert Coan, former Kansas University halfback, has returned here from Canada after his plans to play for Toronto Argonauts in the Canadian Football League fell through. Toronto wanted to sign Coan for the rest of this season and next season but he couldn't accept the offer because of a contract commitment to San Diego Chargers when six games and lost 10, next year, the Chargers said.

Powerful Lobby Forming Against Pension Plan

Insurance and Trust Companies Lead Way

OTTAWA (CP)—The government is bracing itself for massive pressure against the Canada Pension Plan.

Letters and phone calls already are streaming into Welfare Minister LaMarsh's office. Most are from insurance and trust companies, and other commercial groups.

The view here is that the peak is still to come.

It is shaping up as the most powerful, most influential and best-heeled lobby ever to hit Ottawa.

If the trust and insurance companies become solidly arrayed against the federal retirement pension proposal, they will make up a financial blec of staggering size.

Assets of both groups total about $10,000,000,000. Added to this is $7,300,000,000 in estate, trust and agency funds being administered by trust companies.

1,140 PLANS

At the end of 1960, trust companies had three-quarters of the private pension business in the country. They had 1,009,127 workers covered by 1,140 retirement plans.

Insurance companies occupied the rest of the field with pension annuities. These covered 469,230 workers in 6,564 group plans.

No one can even guess how many of these employees would drop part or even all of their private pension plans when they start contributing to the federal earnings-related scheme.

If the government weathers the storm of protest from these companies, they themselves are appointed for life and need have no worries about electoral support.

17 DIRECTORS

An incomplete tally — some directors have interlocking directorates — shows at least 17 senators who are directors of Canada Life Assurance Co. and trust companies. Included are five cabinet ministers.

Many senators live lat themselves as Conservatives. The rest are either Liberals or independents.

Typical of the campaign expected to be launched by the insurance and trust companies was a speech last Monday of D. E. Kilgour, president of the Great-West Life Assurance Co.

"Let's raise a storm," he exhorted his audience of chartered life underwriters.

He said the government has pushed the panic button on pensions. The country was in danger of stepping into an economic mess if the Canada Pension Plan is allowed to enact legislation vitally affecting the

Plastic Smothers Baby

A four - month - old twin boy was found suffocated by a polythene sheet covering his crib mattress at his Wallbridge home Lia morning.

Mark Laing, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Laing, R.R. 2, Belleville, w s found by one of his parents shortly after 6 a.m.

Provincial police, who were called after the child's death had been confirmed, say the boy was lying on his back in the crib. His twin brother slept in an adjoining crib.

The polythene sheet enveloped the child during the night and his breathing drew the plastic into his mouth.

No inquest will be held. The incident was investigated by OPP corporal John Thompson.

Frost Predicted In Many Areas Of Province

TORONTO (CP)—The public weather office today predicted widespread frosts tonight throughout southern and central Ontario — more severe than on the night of Thursday which damaged unprotected crops in some regions.

A weather bulletin said temperatures which plunged to the low 30s Thursday night will drop even lower and will be combined with clear skies and light winds.

Ground frost damaged unharvested tobacco crops and in the Holland Marsh area stayed alert through the night with smudge pots, ready to protect crops. It appears, however, held off the frost.

In large arctic air masses dropped temperatures to 24 at White River, 28 at Moosonee, 29 in the Sturgeon area and 36 at London and Toronto.

London's temperature set a record for the date, bettered by two degrees the record of 38 degrees set in 1937.

Other records were established at Toronto, 36 (39 previously), Trenton, 37 (38), North Bay, 30 (32), and Sudbury, 33 (34).

ON GOODWILL MISSION

KARACHI (Reuters) — Pakistan will send a seven-man goodwill mission to Peking for Communist China Federal Day celebrations beginning Oct. 1, Karachi newspapers reported Friday.

Near-Riots Break Out at Probe Of U.S. Students' Visit to Cuba

WASHINGTON (CP) — Repeated near-riots erupted Thursday as a congressional un - American activities committee investigated a group of American students who visited Cuba this summer in violation of passport restrictions.

Twice on Thursday the hearing room of the House of Representatives committee erupted into a screaming, pushing struggle between police and bearded youths, shrieking girls and college students.

Chairs tumbled over, fists flew and a shrill voice shouted "Fascist, Fascist."

No one was arrested nor was anyone reported seriously hurt.

The third disturbance broke out when an unidentified man tried to speak at an evening meeting set up by the Student Committee for Travel to Cuba and billed as a reply to the House investigation.

As members of the audience swarmed around, police surged into the room and escorted the would-be-speaker and three cohorts down the stairs with the four intruders shouting:

"The Communist party is Jewish . . . the American Nazi party is the only foe of communism."

"Shut up, you filthy Nazi," a woman screamed over and over as the meeting turned into turmoil.

The kendoff witness before the committee was Barry Hoffman, a 26-year-old Boston real estate man who went along on the Cuban trip after telling the FBI and Central Intelligence Agency he would be glad to report to them about it.

Hoffman said the 39-member group, which spent two months in Cuba, was no ordinary one.

"Ordinary American students do not defy their government and do not travel to Cuba in violation of the law," Neither do ordinary American students cheer Mao Tse-tung and applaud the shooting down of an American helicopter in Viet Nam when they see it in a movie, Hoffman said.

Meanwhile, George Lincoln Rockwell of American Nazi party paced outside the hall with a collection of his tanshirted supporters.

Ontario Party Leaders Swing Spotlight on Youth Problems

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Youth provided a partial change of pace Thursday as two of three party leaders swung the political spotlight onto the education planks in their platforms for the Sept. 25 Ontario general election.

Liberal Leader John Wintermeyer, however, continued to hammer away at statistics that Progressive Conservatives plan to block the federal government's pension plan scheme, which he has called the most vital issue in the campaign.

Donald C. MacDonald, New Democratic Party leader, said in Sarnia unemployment among the province's young people is a "growing and desperate problem," and he outlined his party's "charter for youth."

Premier Robarts spent most of his major speech of the day in Windsor explaining his government's five-year tax foundation plan for Ontario schools, which he said will provide equality of opportunity for every young person in the province.

Mr. Wintermeyer touched on education only briefly as he outlined his platform in heavily French-speaking areas of eastern Ontario. He promised his party would begin the teaching of French at an early age in primary schools.

Today the Liberal leader planned to fly to the Lakehead while NDP Leader MacDonald was to visit Oshawa. Premier Robarts was to attend a cabinet meeting in Toronto then fly to Sarnia.

Mr. MacDonald said a Lambton West election rally his party

Fear Russia May Devise System To Render U. S. Missiles Harmless

WASHINGTON (AP) — Russia may be developing a system of deactivating United States missiles in their silos with the electromagnetic energy from exploding high-yield Soviet nuclear weapons, the magazine Missiles and Rockets reports.

"It could mean that the U.S. has invested billions of dollars in a 'Maginot Line' of Atlas, Titan and Minuteman missiles which could be rendered harmless by the new Soviet development," the magazine says in an article.

It says fear of this is behind the strong opposition by many high U.S. military officers and nuclear scientists to the limited nuclear test-ban treaty now being debated by the Senate. The generals want more testing to determine whether such a para lyzing effect is possible.

The magazine says Gen. Thomas S. Power, commander of the Strategic Air Command, made this point in his testimony before the Senate preparedness subcommittee in opposing ratification of the pact.

"The testimony was severely censored before release, with any reference to the electromagnetic pulse phenomenon deleted from the text," Rockets and Missiles says.

If the Russians do develop such a missile paralyzer, the magazine says, they "could effectively neutralize the major portion of the U.S. deterrent force in its silos."

Cabinet Prepares For Meet

OTTAWA (CP) — A sweeping look at world affairs and study of legislation to go before the resumed parliamentary session occupied the federal cabinet Thursday at an all-day meeting.

During the morning sitting, the cabinet studied draft legislation to establish an independent commission to redraw the 265 electoral ridings on the basis of population shifts recorded in the 1961 census. The job has been done in the past by a special Commons committee.

In the afternoon, the ministers studied the agenda for the United Nations General Assembly which opens next week, and prepared a set of policy instructions for External Affairs Minister Martin, who will head the Canadian delegation.

Prime Minister Pearson, who will spend most of next week at the UN meeting in New York, said following the afternoon session that some appointments to government boards and commissions were made and more would be announced later.

Mr. Pearson said legislation for the parliamentary session which resumes Sept. 30 headed the cabinet work.

MAKES REPORTS

Interviewed by reporters before and after the cabinet sessions, Mr. Pearson said:

1. Arthur Menzies, Canadian high commissioner in London, has come to Ottawa for discussion of Anglo - Canadian affairs and sought the interview a few weeks ago. Whether any other cabinet visits of Mr. Menzies in London will be discussed would depend on Mr. Drew. The former cabinet leader of the Progressive Conservative party, appointed to the diplomatic corps by former prime minister Diefenbaker, is at retirement age.

2. Ontario Premier Roberts who said Wednesday he will bypass Health Minister Judy LaMarsh and deal directly with the prime minister on the Canada Pension Plan, has not been in touch with Mr. Pearson. The prime minister declined to comment on the statement Mr. Roberts and Miss LaMarsh.

3) Appointment of a general manager to oversee plans for the 1967 world's fair in Montreal, a new post not contemplated in the original plans, will await consultation with Commissioner-General Pierre Dupuy, former ambassador to Paris, and the new deputy commissioner-general, who will be appointed by the end of the week, probably today.

Mr. Pearson brought to calling Parliament back into session before Sept. 30 to deal with the whole shipbuilding industry will await the outcome of discussions between government, union and shipowners' authorities in the United States.

Buddhist Thant Calls Viet Nam Situation Chaotic

Takes Stand Upon Issue On Eve of Debate in UN

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The political-religious-military tangle in South Viet Nam brought this remark Thursday from United Nations Secretary-General U Thant:

"I cannot think of another country where the situation is as chaotic as in that unfortunate country."

A Buddhist, Thant at a press conference in New York accused the Diem government of what is called discriminatory processes and substituting force. The world organization's chief executive officer thus took a stand in the crisis that already has involved U.S. President Kennedy, Pope Paul VI, President de Gaulle of France, and Viet Nam's ruling family.

Treatment of Buddhists in South Viet Nam will be debated in the UN general assembly opening next week. Opponents and critics of President Ngo Dinh Diem, a Roman Catholic, have accused his government of discrimination; the government charged Communist infiltration of the Buddhist movement and invaded pagodas with troops and police.

SUMS UP POSITION

Kennedy summed up his administration's position Thursday with this press conference remark in Washington:

"We want the war to be won. Communists are to be contained and our men to come home. We want them to be seen as over (against the Communist Viet Cong guerrillas) host."

The president added that the U.S. government already had made plain its disapproval of what it terms the repressive policies of Diem's regime against Buddhist leaders and other critics.

Pope Paul has said he is profoundly disturbed over the Buddhist - Vietnamese government conflict. He sent a special message to the delegates of nine Southeast Asian nation 13 days ago expressing "painful concern" over the clashes there.

THANT CRITICIZED

"The secretary-general of the United Nations has made a grievous seems to be completely oblivious of the fact that in his own country he has recently thrown a duly elected government into jail," a Viet Nam radio broadcast declared.

"Mr. Thant seems also unaware that a plot has been hatched between foreign agents and adventurers to overthrow the duly elected government of Viet Nam by force."

'We Want War to Be Won'

JFK Soft-Pedals Criticism of Diem

WASHINGTON (CP) — President Kennedy has soft-pedalled public criticism of the anti-Buddhist Ngo Dinh Diem regime in South Viet-Nam, saying only that he will pursue policies that lead to victory over the Communist Viet Cong.

"We want the war to be won, the Communists to be contained and the Americans to go home," he said in his first press conference Thursday. "That is our policy."

At the same time he expressed increasing concern over tensions between India and Pakistan, and Pakistan's improved relations with Communist China, describing the situation there as "very unsatisfactory."

He was sure, he said, that Pakistan would not align a neutral security pact with the Chinese for this would shatter the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization. But the U.S. expected continued contacts from Pakistan against U.S. military aid given to India, threatened by possible Chinese attack "this fall."

Kennedy said that if India is beaten by China it would not be "a most destructive blow to the balance of power." And yet help given India "adversely affects the balance of power" with America. At Karachi, President Mohammad Ayub Khan told a reporter he might be compelled to buy military parts with the Chinese "if India continues to be hugely strong."

The president tried to focus attention on the nuclear test ban treaty debate in the Senate and the positive side of the American Negro rights issue, with white schools in 150 southern cities opening their doors to Negroes in recent weeks, but he was peppered instead with ques-

London Woman Found Strangled In Her Bed

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — Two teams of detectives were combing Ontario Thursday in their today to find the murderer of Mrs. Carolina Weldman, found strangled in her London home by her two daughters and a son-in-law.

Police, who consider the strangling a clear case of murder, were working on "some clues," but refused to elaborate on their investigation.

The 82-year-old woman, described by neighbors as "well-liked" person who rarely went out at night, was found tied with the sash of a housecoat wrapped around her neck.

Her body was discovered by Mr. and Mrs. Carl Peckham and Mrs. Gerald Dunleavy of London when they called at her downtown London apartment. They were going to tell her that her brother, Fred Hartelf, 70, of Wartburg, near Stratford, had died Wednesday.

Probe Gasoline Explosion

Find Driver Negligent But Brave

SUDBURY (CP)—A 27-year-old truck driver, who said it never dawned on him to warn people that gasoline had leaked from the fuel truck he was both accused of negligence and commended for bravery Thursday night by a coroner's jury investigating an explosion that took eight lives.

Edward Thorpe, a driver with the Shell Oil Company at Sudbury, was the only witness at the inquest into the death of Linda Duguay, 14, of nearby Hanmer, whose body was found charred when a combined service station and restaurant blew up last Aug. 31 in Hanmer.

The jury found a "degree of negligence" on the part of both Thorpe and Shell Oil and the driver for not measuring the amount of gas in the service station's underground tanks and for not standing by during the filling process, and the company for not drilling its drivers sufficiently in handling highly volatile liquid.

And it recommended a series of steps for government and industry to take to prevent a recurrence of such disasters.

The jury also commended Thorpe for "risking his life in removing his tank truck to a safe distance despite a fire in his clothes and on the truck after the explosion, "thereby preventing possible further loss of life."

Thorpe was in the basement of the service station with two boys and a woman, trying to clean down some 400 gallons of gasoline which had spilled from his truck, when the gasoline was ignited by a spark from some machinery in the cellar.

"Next thing I knew there was a big ball of fire," Thorpe told the inquest.

"Then I looked around and saw blue sky through the timbers. I climbed out and moved some debris to let a lad out behind me."

Thorpe said he heard someone about to move the truck,

Says Sukarno of Indonesia Will Continue to Harass Malaysia

By BORIS MISKEW
Canadian Press Staff Writer

President Sukarno of Indonesia, who has persistently tried to block the formation of the federation of Malaysia, has indicated he will continue to harass the new Commonwealth nation after its inauguration Monday.

Sukarno was largely responsible for the delay in the formal birth of the new independent country when he and the Philippines called for a United Nations survey to decide whether the people of North Borneo and Sarawak actually wanted to join Malaya and Singapore in a federation.

And as the final details were worked out in Kuala Lumpur, Malaya, on the eve of the proclamation of Malaysia, Sukarno came out with a threat that Indonesian armed forces will remain on the "highest possible alert."

He said Indonesia is strengthening its border defences in Borneo following what has been described by an Indonesian official as increasing incidents on the border with Sarawak.

CHANGED STAND

The UN survey delayed the proclamation of Malaysia from Aug. 31 to Sept. 16. It was set up after Indonesia and the Philippines—who had opposed establishment of Malaysia—changed their stand and said they would welcome it if it would be acceptable to the people of the two British colonies.

The nine-man UN mission has completed its report, which indicates 100 per cent of the population of North Borneo and 75 per cent of the population of Sarawak favor formation of the federation.

Britain did not stand in the way of the UN survey but British is committed to the defence of Malaysia after its birth and therefore would be forced into a showdown with Sukarno should Indonesia interfere with the new state.

It is doubtful Indonesia will consider invading North Borneo territories but Sukarno may resort to a guerilla campaign launched from Indonesian soil.

'NEO-COLONIALIST' PLOT

In 1961, the strong Indonesian Communist party charged that Malaysia was a "neo-colonialist" plot and Sukarno's government seized the opportunity to further advance the accusation.

However, Premier Tunku Abdul Rahman, one of the men behind the federation has promised that Malaysia will be a "bastion of democracy and a bulwark against communism."

Indonesia, with a population approaching 100,000,000, cannot blame her opposition to Malaysia on fear; the new federation will consist of a mere 11,000,000 people.

Despite heavy economic aid from the Soviet Union and the United States, Indonesia—potentially one of the world's richest —has been plagued by economic difficulties since it gained sovereignty from the Dutch in 1950.

Neither the U.S. nor the Soviet Union wishes to see Malaysia born into violence and Sukarno may think twice before he launches a guerilla campaign—if only to preserve the flow of foreign aid.

Street Widening Approval Given By Board

TRENTON — The CNR tracks Dundas Division will be moved within the next two months, town officials hope. They will be on new ground though — only about 25 feet.

Ontario Municipal Board approval for widening of Division St. came through yesterday, and a letter informing the CNR of the result should be delivered today. The tracks will be re-routed in a curve, between Dundas and King Streets, to a maximum of about 27 feet to the west of the present straight tracks.

The widening of the street, which will be partly paid for by the railway company, will begin as soon as the tracks are moved. The provincial subsidy of 75% will come through as the street is a connecting link between two portions of Highway 33, north and south of the town.

Another road job in Trenton, the widening and paving on Sidney St., has already begun. Carr's Electric Ltd., of Belleville, sub-contractors for Raynor Construction, began excavations for the 32-inch pipe two days ago.

Power Service Disrupted by Falling Trees

TRENTON — Gusty winds of above 30 m.p.h. yesterday blew down five trees in Trenton, and disrupted power service for several hours throughout the district. In Trenton, falling trees and broken limbs took out power lines in Lorne Avenue, Marmora St. and Middle St. Trees fell without damaging lines along Dundas St. W. between Queen and Lorne Sts., and on Dundas St. E. near Gilbert Hill, the power line pole, and about five pole-lengths of power lines were down in the grove, at the foot of Dufferin St.

North of the town, the Frankford office of Ontario Hydro reported seven poles broken, a small transformer short-circuited and burned c.f, and at least fifty feet of power line. Most of the broken lines were caused by falling trees.

Temperatures last night dropped to 36 degrees at the Dominion Experimental Farm, Smithfield, and to 37 degrees at the R.C.A.F. station. Tomatoes at the farm were reported safe. In Brighton, Ralph Banbury, agricultural representative for Northumberland reported no frost damage in the immediate area. Negotiate Bill Between Town And Motel

TRENTON — Negotiations have begun, town solicitor Rod Campbell said yesterday, between his office representatives of the Redwood Motel, just outside the town limits. The motel, according to the town, now owes more than $3,500 in sewer bills for the past two years. Although the motel is outside the town limits, it is connected to the town sewer system, and the price of this service has been disputed.

Town Council decided, on September 3, to give the motel one week to either pay the bill or lodge an appeal with the Court of Revision. Failing one of these two events, the town planned to cut off service to the motel. The week was up, yesterday.

Study Possible Library Co-op For This Area

The possible formation of a regional library co-operative is being studied, following a special mid-summer meeting held at the Corby Public Library which was attended by library officials from Peterborough and Kingston.

The meeting was also attended by a representative from the provincial library service and also a committee member of the Ontario Library Association concerned with regional development.

The Ontario Legislature has already passed the necessary legislation for setting up of regional libraries in Ontario. To form such a regional co-operative it is necessary only for library boards in cities of 15,000 or over to petition the minister of education stating willingness to participate.

All district librarians attending the Belleville meeting agreed to place the matter before their boards and try to form a regional co-operative in this area.

Wind-Toppled Tree Blocks Emergency Entrance at Hosp.

The emergency entrance to Belleville General Hospital was partially blocked for close to half an hour Thursday as gale-like winds during the afternoon rainstorm knocked over a driveway poplar tree.

The tree crashed across the emergency entrance driveway, brushed the corner of the hospital, struck a parked car and carried telephone wires leading to the nurses' residence to the ground.

Hospital maintenance crew workers were on the job right away and despite the heavy rain soon had the driveway cleared.

The blocked driveway didn't delay any admissions to the hospital. Cars merely came in the other way.

United Police Force Will Fight Crime

HAMILTON (CP)—Provincial police and the RCMP are working on a plan to bring about a "united police force" to fight syndicated crime if it ever gains a foothold in Ontario, Attorney-General Fred Cass told the convention of the Canadian Police Chiefs Association Thursday.

He said meetings to bring this about have already been held with the Ontario Police Commission and RCMP Commissioner W. Harrison.

Mr. Cass said: "If the full force of the law is to be brought against such groups as syndicates seeking to invade our country, there must be the closest liaison and co-operation between the RCMP and the provincial and municipal forces in Ontario."

The minister hinted that police forces of other provinces might be included in the united force. He said great improvements are taking place in the OPP under its new commissioner, Eric Silk.

Metropolitan Toronto Police Chief James Mackey said there is no organized crime in Canada and certainly none in Ontario.

"As for the Mafia," he said "it does not exist here."

In an interview, Chief Mackey said: "The threat that U.S. crime syndicates might move into Ontario is less today than it was a year ago."

Claims Official Cannot Serve Two Masters

At a Chamber of Commerce meeting yesterday at the Queen's Hotel it was announced by Mr. J. R. Reynolds, the city manager, that a report would be made to the Industrial Commission here in two weeks.

The report would result from a study of the dual organization set-up of the Chamber of Commerce and the Industrial Commission. At present both organizations are using the same staff and headquarters.

It is now questioned whether or not this is a wise system. "The secretary manager serves two masters," Mr. Reynolds said. "It will become impossible for this to continue because it is resulting in the delaying of problems brought before both groups."

The report will be submitted to the Industrial Commission here in two weeks. It may then be referred to the Chamber of Commerce.

Labor Minister Outlines Details Of House Plan

HALIFAX (CP)—Labor Minister MacEachen today outlined the details of the government's $500 income payment plan for Canadians who buy homes built this winter.

The government's plan to pay $500 to the first owner of every home built between Dec. 1 and March 31, 1964, was originally announced by Mr. MacEachen in his report to Parliament in June on the over-all employment and manpower development program.

In giving the details in a speech today to the Halifax Board of Trade, Mr. MacEachen defined what a winter-built house is under the new program, who may receive the payment and how to collect the government's $500.

Aim of the new scheme—to be called the Winter House Building Incentive Program—is to stimulate winter work in the building industry and create jobs for "thousands of people" in the building trades, he said. This was expected to create more business for manufacturers and suppliers of building materials and "eventually provide a boost for the whole economy."

Here are the details announced by the minister:

1. A winter-built house means a single dwelling, or a multiple housing structure of not more than four units, on which the major part of the construction is completed during the period from Dec. 1 to March 31 next year.

COMPLETION DATE MAY 31

2. Construction may proceed in the period but must stop after Dec. 1. This means that the foundation and sub-flooring must be laid before the severely cold weather. The dwelling must be completed on or before May 31, including interior painting, landscaping, walks and driveways.

3. Dwellings must meet normal, accepted standards for City and Town Planning and must conform with local bylaws. They must have four or more rooms and must contain adequate heating and sanitary facilities and space for cooking, eating, living and sleeping.

4. All homes to be built under the program must be certified as eligible by a labor department inspector, who will make an on-site visit to ensure that the building has not progressed beyond the first-floor joist stage by Dec. 1. The inspector will file a final look on or before March 31 to see that the building has been completed.

5. The $500 payment will be made to a person who has a home built for him by a contractor, or to a person who builds his own home or acts as his own contractor. The inspective could also be paid to the first purchaser of a house built for sale under the program.

Because inspection is an essential part of the program, the minister said that application for the incentive must be made by the owner or by the builder.

If work on the house is to be started before Dec. 1, the deadline for applications is Nov. 10. For work started after Dec. 1, the application must be filed 10 days before inspection, which must be made before the first-floor joist stage is reached.

Mr. MacEachen said an important by-product of the program will be to demonstrate, with modern building techniques and the knowledge of Canadian builders, a winter-built home is "at least as good as one built during the summer months."

Clarke Rollins Meets Voters At Reception

Last evening a reception was held at the Tops Motel introducing Clarke T. Rollins, Progressive Conservative candidate for re-election in the riding of East Hastings to the electorate. Well over 300 persons jammed the Four Seasons Room to meet Mr. Rollins and enjoy the hospitality hour. A buffet lunch was enjoyed, and suitably imprinted rain bonnets were given to all the ladies present.

The candidate was introduced at some length by Gerald Joyce, the riding's public relations officer, who also was chairman for the meeting. Mr. Joyce, besides mentioning Mr. Rollins' municipal experience, made note of several accomplishments of the member since being elected to the Legislature in 1959, including his direct intervention which prevented the Ontario Hydro's 300 employees being moved from Central Region. Through his efforts the Region became larger with several new residents coming to the city from Ottawa. Mention was made of the $400,000, Ontario Provincial Police Headquarters' building in the riding at Belleville during the speaker's tenure of office.

Mr. Rollins spoke easily and casually to the group, mentioning his pet project of having the Belleville to Bancroft road re-built in order to bring the North Country's tourists to this city.

He said it was a privilege to be able to serve the people of East Hastings and he has attempted to serve them well. He repeated his promises of 1959 that he would give 100 per cent of his time to the representation of his riding.

The speaker received a standing ovation, and it was very evident that, although it was not for many the first time that they had met their member personally, they were certainly his supporters.

Organ music was enjoyed during the entire reception with Mr. William Long at the console.

Complains to C of C About Kiwanis Circus

The Chamber of Commerce yesterday re-iterated its stand that they would not be used as a Better Business Bureau.

A letter received by Mrs. Myra D. Watson charged that Kiwanis club with misleading the public. Kiwanis had operated a "cheap circus" in a public park charging a dollar for admission, she said.

The Chamber of Commerce decided to refer the matter to the Kiwanis Club and the members decided not to put the letter on their records.

Saintless Belleville Needs Substitute to Get Tourists

Ernest Kneisel, of the Hotel Quinte, believes the lucrative tourist industry is completely by-passing Belleville. He was speaking at the monthly luncheon meeting of the Chamber of Commerce at the new Queen's Hotel yesterday.

Mr. Kneisel said the tourist industry was one of the largest in Ontario. If Belleville could produce some attraction to draw large numbers of tourists it would be comparable to a large industry moving into town.

Some towns not nearly the size of Belleville attract tourists by having a patron saint. Towns which have a saint and have erected a shrine to honor him. These towns actually are flooded with tourists who come to see the shrine.

"If we had a saint we could fill Belleville" he said, "but we don't so we have to think of something else." Belleville has a great many old Victorian homes, of these were bought by the city, he said, and made into a museum it would mean a great many tourist dollars flowing into the city.

Belleville should have a theme on which to base such a scheme, he said. For example the year of Confederation, 1867 would be right in the centre of the Victorian era.

Mr. Kneisel then read some tourist publications put out by the provincial government. One mentioned Picton and Trenton individually and lumped Belleville, Tweed and Foxboro together with some reference to Cheddar cheese.

To start with, Mr. Kneisel said, the city would need statistics in terms of dollars and cents of what it would mean to Belleville if the tourist industry were enlarged.

The ideas presented by Mr. Kneisel were then discussed among the members. One suggested talking the scheme over with the Belleville historical society and possibly get some new ideas on it.

Chamber Will Pick up Tab For Teachers

This year the Chamber of Commerce has decided not to impose itself upon the Northern Electric Company when it gives its annual tour of the city to the new teachers in town.

At a Chamber of Commerces luncheon meeting held yesterday the members believed that it would not be right to ask the Northern Electric Company to continue to pay for the luncheons of all the teachers on the excursion.

This year teachers will be picked up in the morning and refreshments will be served at the expense of the Chamber of Commerce.

What Is Behind Bid for Wheat?

Many Canadians must have rubbed their eyes with amazement when they read that Russia was contemplating making a major purchase of Canadian wheat.

It is not clear whether the deal is as near consummation as first reports indicated.

This, though, does little to alter the implications of the proposed purchase. If it is being considered at all, it means that Russia feels she has good use for this wheat. Hesitation in signing a contract may involve no more than an effort to obtain the best possible terms, or may arise from the consideration of other possible sources of supply.

Why is Russia contemplating such a purchase? In the case of China, which has become one of our wheat customers, it has been generally conceded acute need was responsible for these purchases. Much has been written of late years of Russia's difficulties in increasing agricultural production. There have, however, been no stories of famine. On the contrary, almost all visitors to the Soviet Union, some of whom have been allowed to travel widely, agree that the Russian people appear well fed. Moreover, if there was any pressing scarcity of breadstuffs, the Russian would be more likely to buy lower-grade grains, particularly rye, to which he is unlikely the Russians will use our hard wheat to turn out Western quality white bread, but the end product will probably be superior to the black bread which is the standard fare in Russia and much of Eastern Europe.

It would almost appear as if the communists had decided to improve the quality of the foodstuffs of at least a portion of the population. An alternative possibility, which has been advanced, is that this wheat is to be used as a political weapon, though in what way is not clear. A third explanation, which might apply if Russia was a capitalist country, would be that she is eager to find a market for exports and intends to make the purchase of Canadian grain provisional upon the Canadian purchase of certain Russian goods. While the final contract may carry some such stipulation, it is almost certain to be altered after making it simpler for Russia to finance the purchase of the grain. As far as is known, Russia has no problem regarding the marketing of surpluses, there being a need at home for all she produces. It follows that she only exports in order to finance the purchase of goods in which she is in even greater need. That wheat should come in this category is amazing. The simplest explanation is that she contemplates an important rise in the living standards; an increase in meat consumption, for instance, could divert home-grown coarse grains to the feeding of livestock, with Canadian wheat replacing these grains for the milling of flour.

Switch Sides

Any who doubt the value of military discipline should take a look at the situation in the U.S. South.

Tuesday morning five units of the Alabama National Guard were called out by Governor George C. Wallace. They were ordered to keep Negroes out of white schools at Birmingham, Mobile and Tuskegee. At 7.14 a.m. that was their duty. At 7.16 a.m. their task was to ensure that Negro children were kept out of these schools. At 7.15 a.m. President J. F. Kennedy had signed an order taking over control of the Alabama National Guard from state authorities.

Actually the guardsmen were pulled away from the vicinity of the schools. But, in the past, they have been used to assist in desegregation, a policy with which the majority of the guardsmen probably do not agree. Yet they have done their duty well. They gave the impression that they changed sides as easily as pro football or hockey players.

One of these days, though, there is going to be a hiccup in communications and some guard unit, acting under federal orders to facilitate desegration, is going to come face to face with another guard unit still acting under state orders to maintain segregation.

That is when discipline will get the acid test.

Just as much sunlight falls on an acre of sea as on an acre of land, and yet only one per cent of our food comes at present from the sea. The sea covers 67 per cent of our planet, and must be made to do its share. In short, however many millions more this planet can support, now it is plainly only producing a small fraction of the food that it could be producing.—B.B.C. science correspondent Anthony Smith.

Newspapers Plagued by Crackpots

By SIDNEY J. HARRIS

It is pitifully easy, of course, to laugh at crackpots, and anywhere more so than in a newspaper office, which is besieged daily by crackpots of every description — as well as by those defying all description.

When we stop deriding, or despising these obsessed creatures and try to analyze their motives, I think we find the same basic drive in all of them: the deep desire to bring order out of chaos.

A crackpot is a person who is looking for a guiding principle in life. He wants to be able to put his finger on one wheel in the machinery of life, and say "This is what makes everything turn around."

He may think "the answer" is to be found in the pyramids, or in dietary habits, or in a new kind of currency, or wherever he may be, he thinks the world is all of a piece, and that he has found the key to it.

It is commendable that he looks for a guiding principle in life; most of us are too easily pro pleasure-and-profit-bent to mind even a few moments thinking about fundamental questions. In one sense, we are not a good society for serious enough to become crackpots.

"A fanatic," he has been said, "is merely a person who seriously proposes what no one else preach." Society in one respect, is indebted to its fanatics for achieving what reasonable people never thought possible.

Where the crackpot goes wrong is in his refusal or his failing-to recognize the diversity of the world.

One of the wonders of God is His infinite originality. The universe (as scientists are only now beginning to discover) is not a cold, mechanical operation, but an organism of tremendous variety. When we get into the heart of an atom, we find that it has more freedom than scientists of the past would have imagined.

Fundamentally, the crackpot is looking for a religion, having unsatisfied with the traditional forms.

Now, it is better to look for a religion than to be unconcerned about the questions it tries to answer, but a religion cannot be something smaller than man — and all the crackpot solutions solve only a fraction of man's problems.

"The world's home a of many mansions" a certain book tells us, as an comforting reminder that diversity, and not uniformity, makes for goodness. Nobody has exclusive possession of the key of living well — otherwise, the Potter would have seen to it that all His pots were cracked in the same way.

GLEANINGS FROM OUR FYLES OF BYGONE YEARS

20 YEARS AGO

September 13th, 1932.

The Ladies Auxiliary of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers of Canada have presented two mobile trailer kitchens to be used by the Canadian troops in Great Britain. The project was sponsored by the Winnipeg Auxiliary, Golden West Division. No. 471. Throughout Canada, the auxiliary has 1,200 members. They began collecting funds in September, 1941.

In 1942, the main line railway canteens in the London area served 2½ million meals and for-teen million cups of hot beverages. A service of the same dimension was carried on during the blitz. Funds for the second canteen, which the ladies hope will be used for the troops in Scotland, were forwarded to the Receiver General in July of this year. There is a very active branch of this organization in this city which has contributed largely to this very war cause. Mrs. W. A. Morgan and Mrs. N. Williamson are president and vice president respectively of the local auxiliary.

Even the cucumber family is doing what it can to increase production, it was revealed this morning at the meeting of the Ontario Intelligencer when Mr. Cook of Strachan Street displayed a Green Gherkin "cukie" which was very long — 17 inches. Whether or not this is a record for size in the cucumber family, nevertheless, it is a legal novelty of honorable mention in increased production annals. The cucumber weighed two and one-half pounds.

Middle-Aged Computers

Milwaukee Journal

It need to be that "the old days" referred to some vague but glorious period in the distant past. You thought of a time when Napoleon was in the saddle or the Hittis red schoolhouse.

But even this simple concept seems to be changing in these fast stepping times. The other day a headline in one of those electronics firms crossed the desk.

"In the old days — five or ten years ago . . ." it began, then went on to explain how you need to have by virtually upon feed instructions to a computer. But, not any more.

Apparently all you have to do now is give the machine a single command and away it goes. One computer was designed to play blackjack and proceeded to make a fortune operonest to the casinos. Another mechanical monster recently spent 48 hours calculating the motions of the moon, stars and planets for 600 years as they cruised over ancient Babylon. With this information, historians are said to be able to pinpoint to the hour events like Cyrus' capture of Babylon.

Well, if this development pace keeps up, a lot of those electronic brains we marvelled at in the 'fold days' are going to hit paunchy middle age mighty soon. This gives us some considerable concern. But the blasted things are so smart they're liable to start organizing for retirement benefits and severance pay.

Royalty Punctual

St. Thomas Times-Journal

When one or more of the upper echelons of the British royal family are planning to go places, the schedule is worked out almost to the fraction of a second. The police headquarters in London keep a schedule of time between Buckingham Palace and any number of places that the Queen or some other member of the royal family is likely to visit. The result is royalty is always exactly on time — or almost always. There must have been a slip-up somewhere if they are even a few seconds out.

The other day, Princess Margaret and the Earl of Snowden attended a dinner at the home of the Earl of Dalhath several miles outside Edinburgh. After dinner the party was to drive into Edinburgh to see one of the Festival plays in the Lyceum theatre. The Princess and her husband drove in a Jaguar car.

People in the vicinity might have wondered why the police rained a bunch of criminals "casing" the theatre as it slowly emptied to the evening. After half a dozen turns around, it stopped at the entrance and the royal party emerged. The party was a minute or two too soon and the chauffeur was pleasingly trying to use up the unscheduled time.

At last year's trooping of the color, the Queen's party was met by some unaccountable manner 20 minutes behind time. A workman was working on the tower to fix the bands so that the music and parade should synchronize.

Queen Alexandra was a stickler for punctuality. She gave time schedules and King Edward VII gave instructions that the days when royalty was to be comfy. They were excellent berthcompanionship. The clocks in Buckingham Palace which set the standard for when all timepieces were adjusted ten minutes fast so that she was sure to be ready to go at theright time.

Splinter Groups Encouraged

Stratford Beacon-Herald

When the pay increase bill went through Parliament, five weeks ago, there was one feature which we thought was bad, and we said so at the time. The provision of an extra $4,000 a year for the leader of any party in the House which could muster as many as 11 members in the 265 - seat House of Commons was tacked on to the pay raise bill, apparently as an added attraction for the smaller groups on the opposition side, and it went through with the rest of the bill, and became law.

The main political news of the past four days has been the breaking of the Social Credit Party, and the rift between the followers of Robert Thompson, and the followers of Real Caouette. The Party has had 23 members in the House of Commons, and Dr. Gilbert Marcoux, of Quebec City, has been sitting as an Independent, although he was elected a few months ago as a Social Creditor.

Back on Aug. 6, in the week in which the $4,000 extra for leaders of 11-member parties went through, we commented: "It will be worth the extra $4,000 becomes available to anyone who can muster the leadership of 11 members in the House, there is going to be' silent pressure although not obnoxious underlings, to get 11 followers and a new splinter. It has no doubt already occurred to the Socialists, of the Social Credit party, that if he could muster as many as 12 members, when a party revolt against Leader Robert Thompson, and think up a new label for his doings, there would be an extra $4,000 a year in it for Mr. Caouette."

That was the prediction only 33 days ago, and Mr. Caouette has been losing no time in making the prediction come true.

There are not very many ways to split 23 members, into a possible 24th, into two groups which will each have at least 11. The Thompson side or on the Caouette side as a matter of principle only, it is worth noting, that the result would be to put at least 11 on each side.

What is happening? The news is still confusing, and the statements made by various Social Credit people do not yet make a clear picture but it now appears that the Thompson splinter will have at least 11, and the Caouette splinter will have not fewer than 11.

There is good sound reason, in the public interest, for paying a good salary to the official Leader of the Opposition. The idea of having one opposition leader adequately financed for the work of organizing an alternative government, is good in itself.

The reason for paying extra salary to the Leader of the Opposition is the same reason a good reason for not paying extra salaries to leaders of splinter parties in the opposition. The object, in paying the extra salary, is to help some potential prime minister to get around, to travel and to build his team for the day when the voters decide to change governments. This object is defeated when there are two or three separate opposition forces. Spending 24,000 of taxpayers' money to encourage the splintering of the opposition is not only a waste of money, it is worse than waste. It is spending money to ban bad government.

The current antics of the Social Credit Party will, no doubt promptly, to illustrate the point. When Parliament reconsed for the summer, we had an opposition plus three splinters.

When it reconvenes, we will have an oppositionplus three splinters.

Cabbies Buck Fare Boost

Cape Breton Post

Taxicab drivers have been in the thicks of news from around the country for some time.

In the seaside town of Waymouth, Nova Scotia, the organized taxi drivers went on strike against the application of a 33-cent-a-ride increase in cab. They said she couldn't cope with different customers.

The head of the cab organization is that she is going to brush up on her wrestling and weight lifting. This suggests the possibly difficult customers had better beware.

Another case of taxi story coming from Buenos Aires raises the explanation that wonders never cease. Those Argentine taxi drivers are opposing the application of a 33-cent-a-ride increase in cab. They said she couldn't cope with different customers.

There may be method in the madness of this latest sort of tips are they going to get from passengers after the fare goes up 40 per cent?

To Your Good Health

Start Off Each Day With Hearty Breakfast

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: I am a girl of 16, 5 feet 4, and I weigh 107. I eat two well-balanced meals a day but very little breakfast. I usually get sick when I eat breakfast.

I would like to gain about 20 pounds. I look like a scarecrow in shorts and swim suits. I'm willing to exercise or do anything. — L. T.

Do anything? Well, for one, eat a good breakfast. For two, have some patience.

I suggest that you get up 30 minutes earlier, so you aren't rushed, and have a glass of juice, an egg, a slice of toast, and a glass of milk. And see that your figure gains next year. Or maybe when you are an old, old lady of 19 or 20. Take things more slowly and more calmly in the morning and you will not feel sick after breakfast.

Dear Dr. Molner: I recently read how a man with kidney trouble is helped by a machine that cleanses the blood, but I understand this is quite expensive.

Couldn't such a patient be hooked up, so to speak, with tubes, to a healthy person, so the latter's kidneys could assume the extra load? I suppose they have already thought of this and there is some reason why it can't be done. — W. S.

Yes, it's been thought of, but why risk having the healthy person's kidneys break down, too? The blood of the two people can be compatible, and to make sure of this is a difficult and costly task.

As a matter of fact, such interchanges of circulation have been performed successfully, as a substitute for an "artificial heart" during an operation on that organ.

A more efficient artificial kidney machine has now been designed.

Dear Dr. Molner: Recently I bought a new corset. Ever since I have had an itch all over my stomach. Could it be allergy? — M. C.

Allergic would be more that just an itch. More likely you are sensitive to something in the corset — rubber, dye, starch, sizing. Occasionally tiny microorganisms in the fabric will cause skin irritation. The use of good washings may rid the garment of whatever is bothering you. Some people have to wash new shirts, underwear, etc., before wearing for that reason.

Dear Dr. Molner: I am 19 and have not started my period. Is something wrong with me? From my sister, who is 12, has started. — N. W.

There's a great deal of variation from the middle teens, but by 19 you should be starting. Check with your doctor. He, in turn, might check with you to see an endocrinologist (gland specialist) since menstruation is a function of glandular secretions.

Note to T. M.: Beware of people who promise or guarantee the that they can cure arthritis. Some kinds of arthritis can be corrected (bursitis, for example) and others (rheumatic gout) can usually be controlled, but no cure for arthritis has been found. It can, however, be eased a good deal.

Much heart trouble is preventable. Write to Dr. Molner in care of The Chicago Sun-Times Syndicate, P. O. Box 188, Dundee, Ill., for your copy of his booklet, "How to Take Care of Your Heart," including a long, self-addressed envelope and 25 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

Color Means Little Here

Hamilton Spectator

That Canada is not as colorconscious as some other nations is a fact of which most Canadians can be proud. True, there is race prejudice in this country and there are vast misunderstandings between the French and English-speaking peoples. But, prejudice has not been able to prevent capable men and women of minority colors or creeds from reaching positions of importance and esteem in the nation's political business and educational life.

Not only have Jews joined the Cabinet but Japanese citizens of the nation, but in provincial life there has been no bar against posts and other positions of grave responsibility and honor. Municipalities have elected them to high office. This is as it should be, and merely follows the British tradition established in Great Britain years ago.

Indians, too, have been elected to public office in this country and that, too, is as it should be. Only recently James Gladstone, is a member of the Senate and others of his race will undoubtedly follow him to "the other place" in years to come.

Canadians who are often accused of being hypocritical about their own acts of race prejudice in other countries, should remember these facts and maintain the good work necessary. They should also recall recent events in Toronto which saw two Negroes nominated to run for seats in the Ontario Legislature, one by the Liberal Party and one by the New Democratic Party. As Canada has no color bar to speak of, these nominations were not the token apologies of a stricken conscience, but merely the act of ordinary Canadians citizens nominating the best candidates current — rather, that, too, is the way it should be.

Mind you, there is still too much race prejudice in Canada. But on the whole, Canadians live and let live and judge their fellow citizens on their merits. They make up their own minds and don't have too many "set" opinions. And that is the way it should be.

Judge Adjourns Fall Assizes Until Monday

Ontario Supreme Court Justice E. G. Moorhouse yesterday evening adjourned the Hastings County Assizes until Monday, with most civil actions disposed of.

Next week the grand jury of the Assizes will be asked to render its verdict on a capital murder case against 23-year-old Leonard Joseph Coombs, of Toronto. If the seven - man jury have found sufficient evidence to support the charge, they will return a true bill against Coombs, putting him on trial, in the stabbing death of a girl friend, Sharon Margaret Frost, 18, of Actinolite.

The jury heard all testimony earlier this week, but its decision was not announced to the court by His Lordship.

The Assizes have been called to reconvene at 11 a.m. Monday.

Jury Visits Scene of Shooting Melee

BARRIE (CP) — An Ontario Supreme Court capital murder trial moved Thursday into a barber shop, the scene of a shooting melee that occurred shortly before the shotgun slaying of a 33-year-old army sergeant, May 26.

Mr. Justice R. A. Richardson, presiding over the trial of Sgt. Leonard Demille, 32, ordered the move to give jurors a clear picture of the scene. They had become confused when shown photographs and charts of the building.

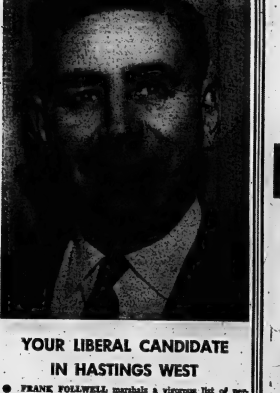
Witnesses said Demille, stationed at nearby Camp Borden, had entered the shop, threatened to kill his estranged wife and fired two shots that narrowly missed her.

An hour later, witnesses said, Demille walked into the sergeant's mess at Camp Borden and killed Sgt. Herbert Wilson with a shotgun blast.

Mr. Justice Richardson cautioned jurors before the move that there was to be no discussion in the barber shop.

"I'm not going to have the trial there," he said.

Witnesses said there had been a close relationship between Wilson and Demille's wife. Demille had complained two days before the shooting that she had entered Camp Borden with Wilson. A letter barring her from the camp was read to the court.



Sgt. Raymond Roy said Demille had told him that he was being blackmailed, allegedly so his wife could get a divorce.

The trial continues.

would take special measures to provide more job opportunities for the young.

"It is intolerable that thousands of young people—and school will be opening in a week—should have to stand idle on the streets because our unemployment economy cannot absorb them," he said.

MUST BE EQUAL

Mr. Robarts ended his day of stumping through mostly - Liberal East County by declaring that his government "will not tolerate any system of education where there is anything but equality for all our young people, no matter who or where they may be."

He capped his speech with announcement of a new building which will double the educational capacity of the Windsor Institute of Technology, which has operated in temporary quarters since it was founded in 1958.

In an earlier speech in Leamington, the premier appealed for the return of a strong majority government to strengthen the province's hand in future dealings with the federal administration.

Liberal Leader Winstemoyer's continued assault on the pension question Thursday fastened a denial of one of the oldest questions Premier Roberts has raised about the federal Canada Pension Plan.

He said the plan would not seriously harm the economy by reducing the amount of capital available for economic development from private pension plans, because insurance companies and trusts, which were allowed to invest 75 to 15 per cent of their funds in new development and expansion, were investing only 10 per cent.

Mr. Winstemoyer said insurance and trust companies are "engaged in a campaign of lobbies this province has ever seen" to persuade people to vote Conservative and sabotage the federal pay-as-you-go plan in favor of a funded provincial plan based on investment with the private companies.

Powerful

future of every Canadian without public inquiry "because somebody dreamed it up in an election campaign."

"There will have to be political pressure with teeth in it."

One of Mr. Kliguer's main arguments:

The typical employee in a "pension plan now" was paying five per cent of his salary—perhaps more—with his employer matching it. His money now was being accumulated and invested in bonds, stocks and mortgages. It was one of the prime sources of capital for public and private investment.

SAVINGS DROP

For the employee, these contributions meant savings. No one could say how much would be shifted to the Ottawa plan. But Mr. Kliguer estimated a reduction in annual savings in the range of $400,000,000 to $600,000,000 a year.

This would be a blow to Canadian capital formation when it is most needed, he posited.

So far Ottawa has not answered this argument.

Asked about opposition to the plan, Miss LaMarsh said at a Tuesday press conference that the same interests were "Paul Revering it all over the country" when the Saturday pension was created.

It was not clear which period she had in mind.

The federal position—the one the government proposes to raise to $75 from $65 monthly, if Parliament agrees—began in 1927 but it was subject to a means test Ottawa and the provinces shared costs 50-50. In 1951 the federal share went up to 75 per cent. Wasn't until 1952 that the means test was abolished and the pension made payable to everyone aged 70 and over.

Frost Asserts Education Biggest Problem

TORONTO (CP)—Former Ontario premier Leslie Frost said Thursday night education has become the biggest single problem facing the province and all of Canada.

The Ontario government will be spending about $700,000,000 a year on education by 1967, said Mr. Frost, and citizens of the province may have to do without some things they would like in order to provide the funds.

Mr. Frost was officiating at the opening of Leaside High School's new vocational wing held in conjunction with the suburban town's 50th anniversary celebrations.

adding: "I drove it away. My clothes were on fire. I jumped out and rolled on the ground in order to get my burning clothes. I then put the flames out on the back of the truck with my jacket."

Thorpe, one of eight people injured, was in hospital a month recovering from burns.

RAW BUILDING FLOAT

Germaine Swina, a neighbor, said she heard an explosion and cried: "When I first saw it, the building was floating in air. By the time it takes to take a deep breath, the building crumbled in a billow of white smoke."

Killed in the explosion with Dalilah Matte, 26, one of the lessees of the station, and her daughter Norma, 4; Mrs. Matte's mother, Alma d'Amour, 44; Mrs. Matte's sister, Mrs. Estelle Cloutier, 36, and her son, Vincent, 17 months, both of nearby Shawville as well as Jeanne Marcil, 15, of Hanmer, a customer in the restaurant, and Raymond Genereux, 18, an attendant at the station.

Thorpe testified that Mrs. Matte told him there were only 13 inches of gasoline, equal to 169 gallons, in a 1,000 - gallon tank on the property originally.

Thorpe said he did not verify the gasoline but began pumping gasoline from his truck into the tank, then went into the restaurant with two cans of oil and had a soft drink there.

RUSSES OUTSIDE

Told by a passerby that the tank was overflowing, he rushed outside and stopped the valve, but he admitted it never crossed his mind to call the fire department or warn others around the station.

Harvey Jordan, a chemical engineer with the fire department, said that if the basement windows at the station had been [illegible] rather than at ground level, the explosion would never have occurred.

He also said the underground tanks were closer to the building than the three-foot minimum limit set by provincial law.

The jury suggested frequent tests of tank truck drivers on safety regulations and a strict adherence to construction regulations relating to gasoline stations.

Ann Landers

Looks Like Shaved Rat When Ma's Through Cutting

ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS — I am a boy 13 years old with a terrible problem. My mother is a very nice person but she is not a very good barber. She cuts my hair and my little brothers, too, and she does a lousy job of it. For a week after a haircut, I am ashamed to leave the house. All the guys in the neighborhood call me when I am going to the electric chair.

I have told my dad how I feel about this but he says haircuts by barbers cost a lot of money and we can't afford it. He also says my hair grows like a weed and I'd have to go every other week.

Is there a solution to my problem? Or do I just have to suffer with it until I am old enough to earn some money so I can buy haircuts on my own? — SHAVED RAT.

DEAR S. R. — Ask your dad if he will take you to a barber college. The prices are cheaper there because students do the cutting.

The price of haircuts is no joke these days. But they haven't gone up any more than most other commodities and services. It just seems that way to us old fogies who remember when a shave and a haircut was two-bits.

DEAR ANN LANDERS — Maybe you or some of your readers can help me. I am a woman past 40, never married, and have kept myself busy and content with a multitude of interests.

About three years ago a close male relative for whom I've always had a great deal of affection and respect, started to keep company with a girl 30 years his junior. These two have been carrying on an immoral relationship and everyone in town knows it.

What I want to know is this: What is the correct way for me to think about this relationship? How do people deal with an ugly affair which reflects dishonor on the whole family? I need an answer. — LIBRA.

DEAR LIBRA — You say you've kept yourself busy with a multitude of interests. Perhaps you have not kept yourself busy enough.

It's days and when people whom we admire and respect disappoints us, but a mature individual does not allow himself to become engulfed because others do not live up to his standards. One of the secrets of real contentment is to live and let live.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Jodoin Tells U.S. Boss To Mind His Own Business

By ROBERT REE

OTTAWA (CP) — President Claude Jodoin of the Canadian Labor Congress Thursday accused U.S. Seafarers' union boss Paul Hall of trying to apply "dictatorial methods" to the entire North American labor movement.

Mr. Jodoin charged that Mr. Hall is trying to use his position as president of the AFL-CIO Maritime Trades Department to divert public attention from the lawless record of the Seafarers' International Union in Canada.

In one of the toughest blasts ever hurled across the border at a U.S. trade unionist, the president of the 1,600,000-member CLC in essence told Mr. Hall to mind his own business and stay out of Canadian union affairs.

Mr. Jodoin was commenting on a move by the executive board of the Maritime Trades Department to promote a split in relations between the AFL-CIO in the United States and the CLC in Canada.

The MTD board wants the question of future Canadian-U.S. union relations raised at the next AFL-CIO general board meeting—including the possibility of ending co-operation with the CLC and forming a new central labor body in Canada to represent international unions.

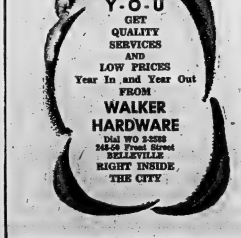
HAS 98 UNIONS

The CLC is made up of about 98 international unions representing some 872,000 workers, plus 18 national unions with a membership of 156,000. Another 20,000 unionists belong to locals directly chartered by the CLC.

"It is unthinkable that international unions would even consider ordering their Canadian members to comply with the wishes of Mr. Hall," said CLC President Jodoin.

"Matters concerning the autonomous labor centre of Canada must be worked out by labor in this country by Canadian workers."

Mr. Hall is president of the AFL-CIO Maritime Trades Department as well as vice-president of the AFL-CIO itself. He gained both positions in the control of Mr. Hall, obviously using his position as president of the Maritime Trades Department, is trying to apply the dictatorial methods of the SIU to the entire labor movement of North America, he said Mr. Jodoin.



TRY TO DISTRACT

"This is simply an effort on the part of the SIU to distract attention from its record in Canada as disclosed in the Norris inquiry. It will not be successful in preventing the much-needed clean-up of the situation on the lakes."

Mr. Justice T. G. Norris found that during a year-long investigation of labor strife on the Great Lakes that the SIU in Canada is dominated by American-born Hal C. Banks, who was described by the judge as a ruthless, power-hungry man of the "stuff of the Capones and the Reifas."

The judge blamed Banks' drive for power for violence, strife and terror on the Great Lakes.

YORKE — HOLMES

A lovely wedding was solemnized in St. Thomas Anglican Church, Belleville, recently when Barbara Ann Holmes, daughter of W.O. 2 C. T. Holmes and Mrs. Holmes, Middleton Park, Trenton was united in marriage to Lowell Chester Yorke, son of Mr. and Mrs. K. H. Yorke, Hastings County Home. Archdeacon A. E. McConnell officiated before a background of white and yellow Shasta daisies on the altar and bouquets of large white 'mums on the chancel steps.

Mr. Johnson presided at the organ and accompanied the soloist Mrs. W. Warren in her rendition of "The Lord's My Shepherd" and "O Perfect Love".

The bride, given in marriage by her father W.O. 2 C. T. Holmes wore a bridal gown of silk faced peau featuring a fitted bodice with scooped neckline and short length sleeves. The skirt was enhanced with front and back floating panels edged with white lace and covered with embroidered organza. The back panel flowed to a slight train. Her headdress was a band of satteen roses with embroidered organza veil to match the panels of her dress. She carried a bouquet of white and pink sweetheart roses mixed with stephanotis and entwined with trailing green ivy.

Miss Janice Holmes of Trenton (Middleton Park) sister of the bride, as maid of honor was dressed in a pale yellow organza over taffeta dress with matching cape with ruffled edging. Her headdress was of yellow organza rose with yellow tulle veiling. She carried a bouquet of white and yellow stadiol. The bridesmaids Miss Judy Vermilyea, Miss Elaine Yorke, Miss Donna Yorke, all of Belleville were gowned in dresses identical to the maid of honor, but in blue. Each carried a basket of blue and white flowers. The junior bride-maid, Miss Marilyn Holmes of Trenton was similarly attired and carried a basket of yellow flowers.

Mr. Ron Poste, Belleville attended the bridegroom, while Mr. Bruce Reid and Mr. Robert Prentice, both of Belleville, and Mr. Trevor Holmes of Middleton Park, Trenton, ushered the guests.

The reception was held in the Comso Club R.C.A.F. Station Trenton where the bride's table was centred with a three-tier wedding cake flanked with white and pink tapers. Multi colored gladioli lent a colorful accent to the nuptial setting. The bride's mother received wearing a dress in tones of pink and brown covered with pink organza with matching three-quarter length coat, beige accessories and a corsage of pink carnations. Assisting was the bridegroom's mother who wore a cranberry colored dress with matching jacket, white and black accessories and a corsage of white carnations.

For the wedding trip to Lake Placid and New York the bride chose a natural print dress in blue, gold and brown tones featuring a full skirt draped at the back, a matching hat trimmed with blue organza, brown accessories and a blue tinted gardenia.

Guests were present from Grand Rapids Michigan, Ottawa, Toronto, Smiths Falls, St. Hubert Quebec, Trenton and Belleville.

Diocesan W.A. Hears Talk On Japan

The September meeting of the Ontario Diocesan Woman's Auxiliary took place at St. Andrew's Church, Wellington with the president, Mrs. W. H. Mitchell presiding. The rector, Rev. J. J. H Rogers opened the meeting with prayer and a warm greeting was extended to those present by the president of the Wellington branch, Mrs. Rod Blower.

Miss Penelope Fisher, a missionary who is on furlough from Japan was the guest speaker. Miss Fisher is to return to Japan shortly and will be stationed at Hokkaido, a city on the most northerly island of that country. Hokkaido has a winter season of five or six months with plenty of snow and cannot boast of the cherry blossoms which many westerners associate with Japan.

The speaker who is a graduate of the Anglican Women's Training College in Toronto maintains the teaching of Christianity in Japan presents many problems, the first difficulty being the language, and secondly the Japanese are well-off materially and the educational standard is high, making them quite happy and content with their present way of life. One half of one per cent of the total population adheres to the Christian faith and a visitor has a 200 to one chance of meeting a Christian and a 2000 to one chance of meeting an Anglican.

The presiding bishop of Japan, Bishop Yashiro recently stated, continued the speaker "that loneliness contrives to make 80 per cent of foreign persons who work in Japan return home and never return. Therefore if the work of ministeries is to continue successfully prayers and support must be forthcoming in a sincere and earnest manner."

Mr. W. Davarin of Wellington thanked the speaker and Mrs. F. Neilson of Stella thanked the ladies' of St. Andrews for their hospitality. Archdeacon T. McConnell of Belleville said the closing prayers.

Welder's Mask Being Used By Sculptor

TORONTO (CP) — Kyrytna Sadowska is an artist who works in a welder's mask.

The tool she carries is for the steel fashioned into large-scale sculptures.

And perhaps her severest critic is her welding teacher who says the joints she welds are messy.

Mrs. Sadowska is a native of Poland who has exhibited tapestries and ceramic figures and only recently became convinced that metal sculpture was where she belonged.

"I do everything the hard way," she said. "Years ago my teacher in England told me: You would have a much better feeling for metal than for clay; I will organize classes for you in metal sculpture.' But I refused, as have so many techniques, I thought, I'd better stay with ceramics.

"Now, of course, I've found that teacher was right. Clay is nothing next to sculpture. Metal has no limits. She knew I am for larger rather than small things."

Although she had to stop welding while finishing a commission for four bulk headings for the new Winnipeg airport, her studio is becoming more crowded with welded sculptures and, she says, "I am nearly ready for an exhibition."

ESCAPED IN 1939

Mrs. Sadowska escaped to England after Hitler's attack on Poland and spent the Second World War years there before going to Brazil with her late husband Konrad.

The Canadian deputy trade commissioner saw her tapestry and invited the couple to come to Canada. They came, in 1949, to teach handicrafts in Halifax for the Nova Scotia government.

Mrs. Sadowska resigned to go to Montreal to exhibit and in 1953 she and her husband, a ceramics artist, moved to Toronto where they both lectured at the Ontario College of Art.

When she decided to turn to metal sculpture, she took lessons from a welder who worked in a furniture factory next door to her studio.

As an artist, she had used the molten metal to give surface texture and suggest hair and features. The welder saw only faulty joints.

However, when the six-foot sculpture, Artist on the Croat, was shown at an art show last winter he turned up with his wife and was proud of the recognition the piece received. It later went to the spring show of the Montreal Museum of Fine Arts.

CLASH IN KARATE CLASS — Ann Landy (left) and Elisabeth Huska clash in a Toronto karate class run by Mas Tsuruoka. Ballet-Like Art Form Known as Karate Now Being Learned in Toronto

TORONTO (CP)—They say it takes all started 8,000 years ago through an Indian prince's observations on eagles and tigers, the deadly, ballet-like art form known as karate.

However it started, karate as it now is being learned by a number of women in Toronto is said an excellent way of keeping trim while exercising the mind and learning a mode of self-defence that can maim or kill with a single blow.

Karate rates as a sport that is a physical extension of the philosophy of Zen Buddhism.

"It helps me keep fit," says Mrs. Ned Paige, one of the women taking classes at the academy in Toronto run by Mas Tsuruoka. Her husband and two children also are avid fans and Mrs. Paige adds: "What I especially like about it is it keeps calm and relaxed. I'm more patient with the children than I used to be."

Mr. Tsuruoka says women like the formal movement that means the art of karate. It's a way to keep trim and youthful looking. But they also like to know they can take care of themselves should a thug try to molest them."

Mr. Tsuruoka started his karate classes for women 18 months ago when he read of attacks on nurses, waitresses and others whose work forced them to be out alone at night.

SPEED IS ESSENCE

"In karate it's speed that matters," says Mr. Tsuruoka. "There's no throwing or grappling. It's all striking with the hand or foot and women can learn to do that very well."

Legend has it that a wealthy Indian prince who lived 5,000 years ago became fascinated by the way eagles and tigers stalked and killed their prey. He studied their methods and found they would work on men as well as animals.

He perfected his striking techniques, determining to which points on the human body a quick sharp blow would bring instant death.

Later Chinese monks, whose religion forbade the use of knives or spears, adopted the karate technique as a method of weaponless self-defence.

The movements were taken up by Zen Buddhists who used them in preparation for experiences of enlightenment.

In its philosophy of calmness and mental detachment, karate is similar to judo. As a sport no physical contact is made be-

Avondale H-S Hears Talk On Safety

Sergeant R. W. Blatchford, officer in charge of the safety program in the Belleville elementary schools, was guest speaker at a well attended meeting of the Avondale Home and School Association, held Tuesday evening in Avondale School.

Sergeant Blatchford noted that children learned traffic safety both from the example of adults, particularly their parents, and from the constant repetition of certain safety rules. He emphasized the fact that children imitated the actions of their parents and therefore the success of the schools' safety program depended, to a great extent, on the parents' conscientious observance of safety rules.

The Safety Department with the co-operation of the Board of Education and the teachers attempted to teach all Belleville elementary school children six basic safety rules, explained the guest speaker. To do this various techniques were used including movies, Elmer the elephant (who never forgets his safety rules), the Elmer flag, and in the Kindergarten and primary department, the "Walk with Sergeant Bluebird."

BICYCLE SAFETY

In addition to the observed Sergeant Blatchford, bicycle safety was taught in the Junior and Senior rooms and recently a selectrical safety had been added to the safety program, in Grades seven and eight. He urged parents to co-operate with the Safety Department by making sure that every child who owned a bike could ride it safely.

A lively question and answer period followed Sergeant Blatchford's address. The guest speaker was introduced by Mrs. T. Soside and thanked by Mrs. I. Knight.

During a brief business meeting chaired by Home and School president, Mrs. Ken Hall, Mrs. R. Riedel, the school principal, Mr. H. Horwood, introduced the teaching staff and outlined school routine. Mrs. K. McDougall reported that after-school Craft Classes would be offered again this year and that sufficient interest had been shown to suggest the use of her two classes. Reports were also read by Mrs. P. Everard, Mrs. C. Lucas and Mrs. D. C. Harvie, and lunch was served by social convenor, Mrs. J. Ellis and her assistants.

British Girls Can Spot Married Men

By ROD CURRIE

LONDON (CP)—Girls, can you spot a married man on sight?

British girls can. At least 6 out of them say they can.

If true, possibly it's nature's way of compensating for the fact that 24,000 husbands are not marked — they don't wear wedding rings.

In fact a wedding ring is such a rarity with men that Joanna Rebecca West, author and journalist, remarked in her account of a recent sensational court trial that the bewigged judge was wearing one.

Ronnny Bain of The Daily Herald took it from there. A ring isn't necessary for a woman to spot a married man, she wrote.

"As any woman will tell you, he has a tell-tale white patch with wearing a ring or not. Married men are either quietly confident or sadly resigned to their lot."

Her acid test is the mention of children. "A chap who has any will usually react to the mention of first teeth, first steps and first term at school."

HUSBANDS FLIRT

And Miss Bain also says married men flirt more than bachelors.

"These married chaps can get quite dangerous thinking knowing it's all a game and that they are soon catching the train home to wife and children.

"It flatters their vanity. But their married status is what we fooled."

Miss Bain invited her readers to send in their favorite test for spotting married men.

A librarian wrote that she could spot a husband not by the books he borrowed but by the fact he dropped his feet on the mat before entering.

CHECK CHANGE

A former salesgirl said married men carefully check their change—beckoning staff it into their pockets with hardly a glance.

A typist thought on a sure test handed down to her by her mother — "If his ears droop, he's married." Another said most pipe-smoking men are married.

One woman wrote that all married men have a "tolerant-of-the-world look" and look puzzled as to how they got caught.

And so, girls, if you spot a pipe-smoking man with drooping ears and a puzzled frown, who stands counting his change, it's 10-to-1 he's somebody's husband.

Women's Activities

ST. ANDREW'S W.M.S.

The September meeting of the Evening Auxiliary of St. Andrew's Presbyterian W.M.S. was held at the home of Mrs. G. R. Miller with Mrs. J. R. Hitchie as co-hostess. During the business session of the meeting a quilt top pieced by Mrs. S. Hay for the supply activities was displayed. A report was given on the afternoon devoted to the ladies of the Court Home at which time 23 residents were taken for a drive and afterwards entertained at tea at the cottage of Mr. and Mrs. Ken Hill, Shannon Park.

Mrs. John Craig, guest speaker dealt with the Presbyterian Training Centre held at Albert College in July. Mrs. Craig felt that the highlight of the Training Centre was the Bible Study. She also enjoyed the different types of worship services and the demonstrations and skits used to illustrate what could and was being done by the church in the mission fields at home and abroad.

Mrs. Miller introduced the Study Book for this year which is based on India. She told something about the religions and beliefs prevalent among the people with whom the church works and about the impact the church has made on those who are Christians.

Lunch was served at the close of the meeting.

St. Michael's P.C. of C.W.L. Hold Supper

St. Michael's Parish Council of Catholic Women's League of Canada was commended for its fall session with a Community supper. The members assisted at a morning Mass celebrated by the chaplain, Rt. Rev. Monsignor J. P. Sullivan and proceeded to the League rooms where they were welcomed by the president Mrs. J. R. Rashotte.

A pot-luck supper, attractively arranged by Mrs. R. Goodyear and her committee, was enjoyed by all.

Mrs. J. R. Rashotte introduced as guest speaker, Monsignor Sullivan who gave an interesting and enlightening address on Ecumenism, which he said may safely be described as the studied effort to give visible unity to the Christian Church. Christian unity is God's will and Christ's desire to achieve it. Both Protestants and Catholics have tried but their terms were not acceptable to the other. Now the attitude is 'let's talk it over' to see if we are as far apart as we think. This is known as dialogue.

ECUMENICAL MOVEMENT

In 1834 Bishop Doyle of Kildare wished to start communication between Catholic and Anglican churches in Ireland. But that was to achieve. The actual Movement was essentially Protestant and found its principle expression in the World Council of Churches, until Pope John XXIII summoned the Council to renew the life of the church and to make it relevant to things on both sides. It was his feeling that during the past centuries, Catholics and Protestants had been guilty of extremes and that if one gave oneself over to a period of self examination and determined just wherein one had strayed from the teachings and practices of the early Church maybe others would do likewise.

The noted Protestant Theologian Dr. Karl Barth has called the Council a challenge to non-Catholic churches to renew themselves asking them to look on the Vatican Council as an occasion to throw away the dust from their own door with a shovel but nevertheless a mighty broom.

The speaker was thanked by Mrs. A. Whalen.

The reports were read by the various convenors. Speaking for the Citizenship and Immigration Committee, Mrs. H. Brown reported that the League had sponsored two new Canadians and had sent a donation to the Canadian Bible Society to provide Bibles for new Canadians.

Magazine convener Mrs. Paul Kelly urged all members to subscribe to the Canadian Messenger. A worthwhile publication. She read an except from the July issue referring to the Encyclical Pacem in Terris on the Fundamental Liberties due each human being.

The Social convener Mrs. F. R. Ross asked the co-operation of all in making a success of the dessert bridge in September.

A request for canvassers for the United Appeal was made by Mrs. H. Brown. All members were asked to assist in any way they could.

Miss United Appeal will speak at the next regular meeting.

Boxes of clothes have been sent to the missions. More boxes will be sent as soon as there is enough to make a worthwhile donation.

FRIDAY

Dinner Menu

Pan-Fried Perch Fillets; Lemon; Frenched Green Beans; Corn with Chive Pepper and Onion (see Tuesday); Raw Cauliflowerets and Radish Rose Garnish Salad with Italian French Dressing; Ice Cream with Butterscotch Sauce; Coffee.

ENGLISH APPLE CHUTNEY

(Repeated from March 14/61)

4 cups chopped green tomatoes (see variations), ½ cup salt, 4 cups chopped dark brown sugar, 18 medium-sized sour apples, 3 medium Spanish onions, 2 lb. green ginger, 3 minced green onions, 3 oz. chili peppers, ¼ cup mustard seed, 2 lb. Sultana raisins.

Sprinkle chopped tomatoes with 2 tablespoons of the salt, let stand 12 hours; drain. Dissolve rest of salt and sugar in vinegar. Peel and slice thin or chop apples, ginger and onion. Put all ingredients in kettle, cook gently until apples and onions are tender (about 30 minutes). Seal. Variations: Tomatoes may be omitted, using more apple. Or use ripe tomatoes, or seeded raisins. One cup minced mint leaves may be added. If green ginger is not available, use candied.

LETTER:

Re Dried Parsley: I plant my parsley in the house about mid-March as it is slow germinating and transplant easily in May. As soon as it is a good size I pick the outside leaves. (The more the leaves are picked the more the parsley grows, otherwise it will go to seed). I have mentioned picking before parsley goes to seed. It does not go to seed the first year, but comes up early in the spring the second year and then goes to seed (that is if it wasn't picked). I either spread the leaves on paper in the oven or take small bunches, put stems together and wrap paper around them and hang up one on your shoe strings (that is if the air is washed) until the water is all out. I let it in the sun to completely dry out it will bleach or turn brown,) I then put it in a jar or tin which has a pilot light, for a day or until it is quite dry, then I seal it up over on for a few minutes up to about 300 deg. (be careful not to burn it) until it is very crisp. It will crumble right off the stems which take longer to dry. I put it through a sieve and put it in air-tight jar. This way it stays green and I can pick parsley grow. I keep picking outside large leaves — Lovina G. B.

ANSWER:

Thanks for the lovely green sample and for these careful instructions, Lovina.

Australia's New Marriage Act Raises Minimum Age

By HAROLD TILLEY
Canadian Press Correspondent

CANBERRA (CP) — Australia's new Marriage Act, which has just come into force, raises the minimum ages for marriage throughout Australia and prohibits marriages between persons who have become closely related by adoption.

The main reason for the new act was the desire for a single marriage code to replace widely differing sets of conditions in each State, the Attorney-General explained.

The minimum ages for marriage have been lifted from 12 to 16 years for girls and from 16 to 18 years for boys.

Parents may not waive the minimum age requirement at all. A court may do so in "exceptional circumstances" if the parties is above minimum age; but pregnancy is not acceptable as a reason on any account.

PARENTS MUST AGREE

Even where both parties are above the minimum age but one or both are under 21 years written parental consent must be in the hands of the celebrant to make a marriage valid.

Children born out of wedlock are legitimized by the subsequent valid marriage of the parents.

A provision in the act which has been heavily criticized in public or parliamentary discussion is the extension (for purposes of the prohibition of the marriage relating to consanguinity to adopted persons.

A man may not marry his adopted niece unless specially permitted by a Supreme Court judge to meet exceptional circumstances (excluding pregnancy) but the court cannot give permission in any circumstances to a marriage where the relationship through adoption has become that of parent or brother or sister.

A spokesman for a spokesman said the whole idea of the law was that an adopted child is absorbed into a new family as if effectively as if born into it. For example, an adopted boy is regarded by a girl in the same family as her brother. Hence marital relationship between the two is prohibited.

An address expressing best wishes for a long and happy married life was read by Miss Judy Wood. Elaine was presented with a number of lovely gifts for which she expressed appreciation.

Games and contests arranged by Miss Linda Reid and Miss Evelyn Frost were enjoyed by all.

Lunch was served by the hostess and her assistants. The table was prettily decorated with flowers, candles and a miniature bride and bridegroom.

White Family Adopts 2 Half-Negro Children

TORONTO (CP)—Linda Derrien is a seven-year-old strawberry blonde who on first hearing that some people discriminate against Negroes said:

"I think they must be nuts or something."

The remark is a reflection of Linda's environment. For not only is discrimination far from the minds of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Derrien, they have in recent years adopted two half-Negro children.

"Since we came from Holland, where color prejudices is absolutely unknown, it seemed perfectly natural to adopt a child or another race," says Mrs. Derrien.

"We first got the idea from a newspaper article about the difficulty of placing these children, though my husband and I have always liked dark skin anyway."

Cindy, now five, was the first child adopted by the family. And when four - month - old Timmy joined the family he was welcomed with a baby shower given by neighbors.

BREEDS GOOD WILL

The family experiment in integration has proved a catalyst of goodwill in the Scarborough suburb where the Derriens have lived.

"This is the nicest thing that ever happened around here," said one of the neighbors who wrote for a chance to babysit for the friendly, wel-behaved Derrien children.

Twenty other Toronto families have adopted children of mixed racial backgrounds this year. They were encouraged by a joint project of the Metropolitan Toronto Children's Aid Society and the Social Planning Council who are trying to find homes for these children, until recently considered unadoptable.

"We're quite aware that our children might encounter difficulties," says Mrs. Gary Kennedy who, along with her own two children, has adopted half-Negro Cindy, 4, and 16-month-old Kim, part Chinese and part Chippewa Indian.

"But we feel that if they have families who live and support and accept them, they'll have the strength to deal with these problems which they will meet anyway."

MIXED MARRIAGE

Mrs. Derrien and Mrs. Kennedy are unconcerned about intermarriage. They hope their girls will marry for love rather than for racial considerations.

"But a boy friend's parents might not be so unconcerned," says Mrs. Kennedy, "and so just in case Cindy's future does not include marriage, we hope she will have some confidence."

Social workers were impressed by the complete naturalness with which the children were accepted in the two families. One result is that the children discover they color with relaxed curiosity and display no preference for either white or colored playthings.

The parents are hopeful that this lack of self-consciousness will continue and perhaps become a general trait of a new generation that will simply not consider the color of a person's skin important.

HODGE-PODGE

They're back again and this third meeting they claim will be final even if it takes until election day for them to settle the affair . . . Johnny Valentine, the shaggy-shocked blonde U.S. wrestling champion goes against mild-tempered Gentleman Jim Hady here tonight in the third section of the grunt-and-groan trilogy . . . Last week the gentleman had the champion rolled like a half-soused cohen in a neat abdominal stretch but the gorilla breezed and the wing-ding was dubbed a draw — or something . . . Don't try it on Cal, Helen, if you know what I mean . . . The card looks like a honey, 12 in the "09" with Lorenzo Parente a popular signor heavyboots meeting Tommy O'Toole of the Dublin O'Toles and Tony Marino who also enjoys a big chunk of popularity here tangling with one Mike Valentino, no relation to Rudy.

Baseball games do not come much better than that thriller of this week between the Kenmore and the Brockville Beavers. It was a tight hurling duel and could have gone either way. Bill Latchford deserved the win and Dave Gale deserved a better fate. But the former did wear and an error gave the Belleville tosser the big break and the Kennies came home with their third straight victory could be different tomorrow afternoon in Brockville where the teams clash in what could be the finale if the Beavers are the down-easters. But if they come up with the same brand of the game they played here in that 1-0 thriller, the series could easily be extended. If it is the clubs clash again here next Tuesday, I understand.

Everyone is entitled to one or two goof's during a lifetime with newspapermen no exceptions. There was so much wit and humor flying around the table at the fine Celebrities Dinner in Tweed the other night that this reporter omitted entirely the name of Trent Hall the excellent master of ceremonies. My apologies Trent m'lad. You did an excellent job and your own excellent sallies kept the party in good form, the audience on seat-edge and the guests in excellent humor. I hope that spares the verbal axe when we meet again. Trent is the highly efficient public relations bloke of the Ontario Jockey Club. He is also a free-lance writer, a former newspaperman and a writer of repute. That should grant me a further stay of execution.

The second bobble of the week came when we omitted the name of Joe Kelleher from the line-up of the famous 1919 Grand Trunks baseball team which the late Jimmy Gerow took to an Ontario championship. Joe was a third-baseman and outfielder on the squad and was rated one of the best in the Central Ontario Baseball League. Incidentally Walter Gerow was given that terrible accident with some familiar faces appearing at the funeral. Among them were "Stoof" Gibson, well-known hurler of the good old days and Bud Wilkins a jockey-else mound artist of the thirties.

"I belong tae Glesgy" trilled Sonny Liston the other day as he swaggered down the streets of the Scottish city wearing a kilt, playing the bagpipes and kissing pretty girls. . . . Sonny borrowed a set of pipes and it took longer to get a caterwaul out of them than it did for him to dispose of Floyd Patterson. Hundreds cheered him as he strutted through the centre of the town in highland attire. . . . He wore a magnificent red-and-blue kilt of the McBeth clan, a black jacket with silver buttons and a dagger tucked into a tartan stocking. His manager went to six stores before he could find a kilt that would fit. Later he saw two flyweights fight and as a bit of a trick he added up one man in each hand and held them shoulder-high.

The first meeting between belligerent, defenceman Howie Young and fighting forward Reg. Fleming was not what had been expected, Young surprised everybody in the Black Hawks training camp when he stepped in as peacemaker in a brief skirmish between Fleming and Hawk goalie Glen Hall. Young obtained by Chicago in a trade with Detroit during the summer, has been noted for his temper flare-ups and penalties while with the Red Wings. Fleming too, was noted as a battler. But when the latter came swinging at Hall, claiming the veteran goalie had tripped him, Young moved in quickly between the two and stopped the brief scurry.

Win Over Twins Will Do It

Yanks Can Nail Down Flag Tonight

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

A middle-aged gentleman of Italian extraction, called Frankie by his intimates, just might have a bit of the bubbly tonight.

But that's no surprise. He's been sipping some with startling regularity since 1923. Not that he's a toper. No sir. It's just that it could be something of an occasion.

No, not the release of a movie. This Frankie never made one. And he sings only in the shower. And he wears unfashionable pin stripes.

Frankie Crosetti, the New York Yankee third base coach, has been wearing those pin stripes since 1932, either as a player or coach. In that time he's hoped to celebrate 21 pennant clinching parties with the traditional champagne.

If Yanks whip tonight, and they could, it will be his 22nd pennant winner, including seven as a player and 15 as a coach.

Yanks took another long stride toward the 1963 pennant —their fourth in a row, 15 in 15 years and 28th over-all—with a 5-3 victory over Kansas City Athletics yesterday.

MINNESOTA WINS

Minnesota Twins edged Cleveland Indians 3-2 in 10 innings and Los Angeles Angels blanked Boston Red Sox 2-0 in the only other American League games.

The Yankee victory, which came behind Stan Williams, reliever their magic number to two, meaning any combination of Yankee victories and Minnesota defeats totalling two secures the flag for Yanks.

They'll try to nail it down in Minnesota tonight in the first game of a three-game series. Either right- hander Jim Bouton, who would be shooting for his 20th victory, or Hal Downing, 13-4, is expected to go for the pennant-clincher.

Crosetti, a player-coach in 1947 and 1948, waved home Yogi Berra, another player-coach, with the Yanks' first run in the second inning Thursday, scored on a single by Hector Lopez.

John Blanchard hit a two-run homer in the fourth and Berra and Tony Kubek singled in the other New York runs in the fifth and sixth.

Williams, who has won eight, allowed eight hits and walked six, but Athletics left 13 men on base. Norm Siebern drove in both Kansas City runs with a single in the fifth.

Minnesota managed to retain mathematical life when Bob Allison hit a bases-loaded sacrifice fly with none out in the bottom of the 10th, breaking a 2-2 tie with Cleveland.

Earlier, Jimmy Hall hit his 32nd homer for Twins, breaking Ted Williams' league record for a rookie. Indians tied it in the ninth on back-to-back homers by Max Alvis and Fred Whitfield.

At Los Angeles, a gathering of only 7,000 fans, smallest in Angel history, was on hand to watch Don Lee's four-hit shutout of Red Sox. Lee, aided by Albie Pearson was the key hit in Angels' two-run seventh inning.

Four Left In US Amateur

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP)— George Archer of Gilroy, Calif. Deane Beman of Bethesda, Md., Dick Siderowf of Springdale, Ark., and Charlie Coe of Oklahoma City gained the semi-final round of the United States Amateur golf championships Thursday with victories in a pair of wind-swept rounds.

Archer, a gangling rookie cowboy, will oppose Beman, former British and U.S. amateur champion, in the first of today's 36-hole semi-finals. Sikes, twice the U.S. public links champion, and currently the intercollegiate king, goes against the veteran Coe in the other. Saturday's title round also will be at 36 holes.

Duck Flights Said up 30 Per Cent

WINNIPEG (CP) — The autumn duck flight on the Prairies will be at least 30 per cent larger than last year's, Ducks Unlimited (Canada) predicted Thursday.

The private conservation organization based its forecast on a summation of reports from the three provinces and an aerial survey of northern concentration areas during the first week of September.

Wildlife authorities previously announced a general week-earlier opening of the hunting season and an increase in the daily bag limit to five birds from four, although the ban on shooting canvasbacks and redheads was continued.

Ottawa Meets Bombers

Als Shoot For Top Against Esks

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Montreal Alouettes will be aiming for first place in the Eastern Football Conference Saturday when they meet Edmonton Eskimos in one of two Canadian Football League interlocking games.

Ottawa Rough Riders also move west to meet Winnipeg Blue Bombers. A third western game has Saskatchewan Roughriders meeting Calgary Stampeders.

Alouettes, tied for the eastern lead with Hamilton Tiger Cats, could move into top spot with a win against the western cellar-dwelling Eskimos.

The Eskimos, still looking for a quarterback to lead them from the wilderness, have five to choose from but the likely starter is import Lynn Amadee obtained a week ago from Toronto.

Alouettes, scheduled to meet British Columbia Lions, western conference leaders, Monday, are expected to play a passing game during their toughest weekend of the schedule.

CONTINUES JUGGLING

Coach Bud Grant of the Blue Bombers will continue the juggling act he has been performing most of the season.

Relief quarterback Hal Ledyard, with a damaged shoulder, and offensive centre George Druxman, with a broken bone in his forearm, are definitely on the injured list.

End Bill Whisler, with a cracked rib, and Ernie Pitt, who also suffered a shoulder injury are doubtful starters.

'Gabby' Grandslams 'Bums' Win

Cards Keep Pace

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

John Roseboro, nicknamed Gabby by his Los Angeles Dodger teammates because he speaks softly, rarely carries a big stick.

But he wielded one at Pittsburgh Thursday night, belting a grand slam homer and a run-scoring single to produce all the runs in a 5-3 victory over Pirates that maintained Dodgers' three-game grip on the National League lead.

The second-place St. Louis Cardinals won their sixth consecutive game and 15th in the last 16 by blanking the pitching of Ernie Broglio and the slugging of Bill White and Stan Musial for an 8-3 victory over Chicago Cubs.

Dodgers have 16 games remaining. Cardinals 14—including a three-game series between the two clubs at St. Louis start-ing next Monday. Tonight, Dodgers will be at Philadelphia, for a twi-night double-header against Phillies and Milwaukee Braves invade St. Louis.

Dodgers will be at a slight disadvantage, with Sandy Koufax forced to work against Phillies with only two days rest and can fit into the pitching rotation without having to work during next week's Jewish holidays.

FACES SPAHN

Koufax, 23-6, will pitch the second game, with Bob Miller, 9-8, taking the mound in the opener against Phillies. Deanie Bennett, 8-3, and Chris Short, 6-11, will go for Philadelphia. Cardinals will start Curt Simmons, 16-7, against Braves' Warren Spahn, 20-8.

In the only other games Thursday, San Francisco Giants' Juan Marichal four-hit New York Mets 6-0, and Philadelphia defeated Houston Colts 4-1.

Roseboro, 30 - year - old left-handed switching catcher, is hitting only .246 with nine homers and 48 runs batted in. But he supplied the power early against Pirates, slamming his grand slam off Bob Friend, 16-15, in the first inning, following singles by Jim Gilliam and Wally Moon and a walk to Ron Fairly. Moon then walked for the third and eventually scored on Roseboro's single.

Pirates, meanwhile, could manage only four hits off Johnny Podres, 15-10, through seven innings. When they started to connect in the eighth, Don Pavletich brought his 1.00 earned run average into the game and preserved the victory in his 61st relief appearance.

WHITE HOMERS

White hit a two-run homer, driven in a third run with a bases-loaded walk and also collected a single. Mizell rapped singles his first two times up against Larry Jackson, 14-15, and scored the game's first run. Dick Groat, showing no signs of the chest injury that sidelined him for four days, contributed a single, double and sacrifice fly to the attack.

Broglio brought his record to 16-8 with an eight-hitter, but he missed an opportunity to provide the Cardinal staff with its fourth consecutive shutout. Doubles by Ellis Burton and Ken Hubbs in the seventh inning snapped a string of 36 scoreless innings by St. Louis pitchers, then John Boccabella and Jim Schaffer homered in the ninth for Cubs.

Marichal, who hit his first major league homer, also got home run support from Felipe Alou and Ed Bailey. Marichal brought his record to 22-8 with the victory, and struck out 13 Mets.

Ray Culp, 13-11, set Colts down on five hits while Roy Sievers and Tony Taylor hit homers for Phillies.

Giants Face Colts

Packers, Bears In Opener

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

Green Bay Packers and New York Giants, pre-season favorites in the National Football League, face a rugged test in opening day games.

The Packers, minus suspended Paul Hornung, are at home to Chicago Bears. The Giants, who play six of their first eight games on the road, open at Baltimore against the Colts.

Two Saturday night games and five Sunday afternoon contests make up the opening week-end slate in the NFL.

The American Football League, which opened last weekend, has only three scheduled games. Boston Patriots are at San Diego and Denver Broncos at Houston Saturday night. On Sunday, Buffalo Bills are at Oakland.

Detroit at Los Angeles: The Lions' defensive unit will miss suspended Alex Karras but not against the Rams who are having quarterback problems.

St. Louis at Dallas: Tom Landry thinks he has tightened up his defensive unit which killed the Cowboys last year. Don Perkins, Amos Marsh and the alternating passing pair of Eddie Lebaron and Don Meredith could outscore the Cards who miss John Davis Crow.

New York at Baltimore: The Giants balled against Philadelphia in their final exhibition but may find the Colts' defensive unit too tough.

Chicago at Green Bay: The Packers did it in an exhibition game 26-7 and should repeat when it counts.

Pittsburgh at Philadelphia: The Steelers lack air punch with Ed Brown at quarterback but the Eagles still are vulnerable.

Minnesota at San Francisco: Norman Van Brocklin has the Vikings playing like champs.

Washington at Cleveland: Jimmy Brown is healthy but the Browns still are experimenting up front.

Argos Sign 'Skins' Back

TORONTO (CP)—Toronto Argonauts continued their search for a smashing fullback Thursday when they signed Ron Kercher, a 215-pound halfback from Washington Redskins of the National Football League.

The Argos, in last place in the eastern conference of the Canadian Football League, have fullbacks Larry Hickman and Jon Kercher on the bench through injury and illness, respectively.

'Red' Kelly, Bower Sign With Leafs

PETERBOROUGH (CP) — Goaltender Johnny Bower and centre Red Kelly signed National Hockey League contracts with Toronto Maple Leafs Thursday, indicating both are ready for action this season.

Bower, listed as 38 in NHL record books but suspected of being at least 43, established a goals-against average of 1.6 for 10 games as the Leafs won the Stanley Cup last spring.

It is believed Bower's contract called for a salary in the neighborhood of $18,000.

Bower is the oldest active player in NHL history, but he is also one of the most active and well - conditioned in Toronto's training camp here.

"I don't care if he's 50 as long as he stops pucks," commented manager-coach Punch Imlach.

Kelly signed earlier in the day, ending any speculation that he might have to give up hockey in favor of his political duties as Liberal member of Parliament for York West in Toronto.

"We'll play it by ear," said Imlach. "I realize he has great responsibilities in Ottawa, and I also know he won't miss anything that's vital to us."

Beginning his 17th NHL campaign, Kelly scored 20 goals and had 40 assists in 86 games last season.

Errors Lose Game for Crackers

ATLANTA (AP)—Indianapolis Indians capitalized on four Atlanta errors to defeat the Crackers 7-5 Thursday night and gain a 3-1 lead in the best-of-seven final for the International League Governor's Cup.

A victory here tonight would clinch the cup for the Indians.

Johnny Kucks and lefthander Frank Kreutzer locked in a scoreless pitching duel going into the sixth inning. But after Kucks struck out the first two batters, Les Johnston singled to spark a rally that brought in four Tribe runs.

Jack Kubiszyn, who made his first error in 63 games last night, bobbled Lou Vassie's grounder to start the scoring.

PROCLAMATION:
About Whisky, Bottles, Labels Etc.

One day while we were contemplating a number of our Wiser's whiskies, in different bottles, each with brilliantly individualistic labels, we were struck by the absurdity of the whole thing. We are not really selling bottles, or labels . . . just good Wiser's Canadian whisky.

So we decided to select just one good bottle and try it for most of our different brands. We chose our squarish bottle . . . attractive, popular, easy to pack for travelling; in short a delightfully functional bottle.

The whisky, as always with Wiser's is older than other whiskies on the board in virtually every price class. Thus if a mellow age-in-wood interests you, you will find Wiser's offers just about the best values in whisky today.

If you like well-aged whiskies, here are some good values: Wiser's De Luxe, 10 years old; Wiser's 101, 6 years old; Wiser's Old Rye, 5 years old; Wiser's Special Blend, 4 years old.

Pete Ward of Chicago White Sox is being hailed as the hottest baseball prospect ever to come out of the north.

But before Canadians swell with pride over the chances of a native son being named Rookie of the Year in the American League, there are a few things worth noting.

It's true that Pete was born in Montreal. It's also true that his father is Jimmy Ward, the old National Hockey League star.

But the young third baseman is hardly in a class with the Mountie or birch bark canoe as a symbol of Canadianism. Indeed, Pete speaks with a broad American accent.

It's hardly likely he picked up any baseball knowledge in Canada en route to the major leagues. He was only six when his father moved to Portland, Ore., to manage that club's team in the Western Hockey League.

As for stories that Pete gave up a hockey career to concentrate on baseball, the fact is he hasn't played hockey since he was 14.

"But I still skate quite a bit," Pete offered hopefully in a telephone interview from Cleveland where the White Sox were playing the Indians.

"What are your real recollections of Canada?" he was asked. Do you still visit here and do you have many Canadian friends?"

Pete hesitated. "Well," he said, "I have some relatives."

Jimmy Ward gained fame with the old Montreal Maroons as a forward line with the late Hooley Smith and Baldy Northcott. He still makes his home in Portland but now is involved in hockey only to the extent of picking the three stars at Rockaroos home games.

He's proud of Pete's baseball prowess, but there's a feeling that he would have been equally prouder if his son had made the National Hockey League.

"He's still a hockey fan," said Pete. "His and Mom saw me play ball for the first time just a couple of weeks ago. He'd never seen me even in college or the minors."

One story had it that Jimmy, on seeing Pete hit a ground ball bounce off his cleat, said: "He should have been a goaltender."

Pete's prospects of being named Rookie of the Year aren't exactly based on his fielding talents. White Sox officials have said he can make the big play but that he sometimes messes up the soft ones.

At the plate, however, it's a different story. Pete will finish among the top 10 hitters. He's batting in the 290s, has reached the 20-mark for homers and is second in doubles.

"But Gary Peters (a teammate) should win the rookie title," said Ward. "His pitching has been fantastic."

Despite Ward's modesty, he seems to have a decided edge over Peters at this stage.

Just how good was Pete at hockey?

"Well, Dad says I might have made it. But I gave it up pretty young. He organized a hockey program in the Portland high schools but by the time I got there it folded."

Pete hastened to add, however, that his older brother, Jimmy Jr., set a scoring record in 1955 at Michigan State University.

"And I'm still a season ticket holder for games at Portland," Pete says. "I almost saw my first NHL game last season in the playoffs but we got to Detroit an hour too late."

When Ward first attended the White Sox camp this year, he was pictured as a brash young man who said: "I hit in the minors and I'll hit up here."

"But I didn't say anything like that," he protests. "I said that Al Lopez (manager of the White Sox) wouldn't have me up here if he didn't think I could hit."

Pete has proved to everyone that he can hit — for average and with power.

And though Canada has little claim on him, the records will always read that he is from Montreal, even if he does speak with that American accent.

NHL Training Camps

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Punch Imlach, manager and coach of the Stanley Cup champion Toronto Maple Leafs, may have to add another body to his reading list — a foreign - language dictionary.

Imlach, preparing Leafs for three National Hockey League exhibition games against Chicago Black Hawks during the weekend, has indicated he will dress three European players for the third game.

Left winger Carl Oeberg and goaltender Kjell Svensson, both members of last year's Swedish international team, will probably be joined by George Kren, a former Czechoslovak international player.

The two Swedes were invited to Leafs' training camp in Peterborough by Toronto officials, and Kren, who escaped from Czechoslovakia and moved to Toronto, came along to try out.

Kren has no illusions about making the hard-hitting NHL immediately. "I'm not in a class with those players," he said. "But if I work hard, they may be able to use me on one of their minor league farm teams."

The foreign contingent will play against Hawks in Kitchener Sunday. The teams also meet in Peterborough tonight and in St. Catharines, Chicago's training camp, Saturday night.

Some big-name signings highlighted training camp news Thursday.

Leafs announced the signing ov veterans Red Kelly and Johnny Bower. Kelly's signing ended speculation that he might have to give up hockey to continue his duties as a Liberal member of Parliament for the Toronto riding of York West.

In Montreal, Bernie (Boom Boom) Geoffrion became the first player to sign a 1953-54 contract with Canadiens—and then suffered the first injury of the Habs' training camp.

HIT OVER EYE

Geoffrion, beginning his 14th season with Montreal, suffered a two-stitch cut over his right eye. Injuries have hampered Geoffrion, one of the all-time leading goal scorers' through much of his career.

In Boston, the Bruins opened their camp and coach Milt Schmidt made it official that veteran defenceman Doug Mohns would be shifted to centre in pre-season drills.

Bruins began two-a-day sessions with 29 players on hand, and Schmidt said that Eddie Johnston gives the team more goaltending insurance than in many years.

The Black Hawk training camp watched the first meeting between new teammates Howie Young and Reg Fleming—and onlookers shook their heads in amazement.

When Fleming and Hawk goalie Glen Hall began to scrap, Young jumped into the fray immediately—as a peacemaker. He broke up the brief skirmish, and the practice session continued.

YONKERS, N.Y. (AP)—Meadow Skipper, the colt who was expected to beat Overtrick if such a thing was possible in the $156,157 Cane Futurity, did just that. But whether he can do it again next week in the Little Brown Jug at Delaware, Ohio, remains to be seen.

A crowd of 34,000 at Yonkers Raceway Thursday night watched two of the fastest pacers in history battle it out in the one mile Futurity, second richest harness race of all time. It was a near world record performance for three-year-old pacers.

At the finish it was a two-horse deal, as 19 others finished far back. Timely Beauty was third.

Earle Avery, 60, a native of Woodstock, N.B., moved Meadow Skipper in front in the final quarter mile, and then held off a furious closing finish by the favored Overtrick, driven by John Patterson, of Salton, Ont.

The winner paid $6.70, $3.40 and $2.80. Overtrick paid $2.80 and $2.60, and Timely Beauty returned $8.80.

Meadow Skipper, owned by the Clearview Stables of Norman Woolworth, Winthrop, Me., won by three - quarters of a length. He took down first prize of $89,753.

Meadow Skipper was clocked in 1:58 4-5, compared with the world mark of 1:58 3-5 for three-year-old pacers on a one-half mile oval set by Ballot Hanover and Nancy Hanover in heats of the 1952 Little Brown Jug.

TORONTO (CP) — Addison Hall Stable's Monarch Park galloped to his sixth consecutive win by taking Thursday's featured $2,600 Parkway Purse at Woodbine.

The four-year-old son of Chop Chop won with ease from five opponents, taking the 1 1-16-mile event by more than four lengths. Bill Beasley's Majestic Hour was second a half length in front of Gardiner Farms' Ramsay 2nd.

Monarch Park paid $2.10, $2.60 and $2.20. Majestic Hour returned $3.80 and $2.40 and Ramsay 2nd $3.10.

SUSPEND DRIVER

CAMPBELLVILLE, Ont. (CP) — The Canadian Trotting Association Wednesday night suspended for the remainder of the harness horse racing season a St. Paul (Dennis, Que., trainer-driver from any of its raceways.

Theo Turcotte practised "inconsistent driving," the association's zone 8 branch here ruled after a lengthy investigation into a race Aug. 27 at Toronto's Greenwood track when Turcotte took a purse at 16-to-1 odds.

26 Harness Horses Die In Flames

LEWISTON, Me. (AP) — A general alarm fire flattened five horse barns at Lewiston Fairgrounds early Thursday, killing 26 harness racers, three of them owned by Maine's Governor John H. Reed.

Hugh Connor, track publicist, said 26 of the horses perished in the flames that also destroyed three sheep sheds. The 26th horse had to be destroyed afterwards.

Earlier, Reed's trainer, James McKinney, reported to the governor 29 horses had died, including three of the eight in his stable.

Blue Sky S, stabled with Reed's horses, was destroyed. The animal suffered a broken leg in a fight with another of the terrified animals that were rescued.

Track officials estimated the building loss at $80,000 to $85,000 unofficial estimates placed the value of the dead animals at approximately $100,000.

The cause of the blaze is under investigation.

Robarts Explains Five-Year Plan For Education

By JOHN LeBLANC

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP) — Ontario's tax foundation plan for education will produce equality of opportunity for every young person in the province, Premier Robarts said Thursday night.

The premier spent most of an election campaign address explaining the five-year plan announced earlier this year to take effect in 1964. It hinges on government grants to iron out variations in local ability to take care of education.

Mr. Robarts spoke to about 250 persons at an Italian community hall in support of Mrs. Cameron Montrose, a former schoolteacher and one of the most formidable vote-getters in Windsor history who has topped the poll in 16 of the 17 years she has been a member of Windsor's city council.

She is trying to unseat Liberal Bernard Newman in Windsor-Walkerville. Mrs. Montrose is one of three Conservative women candidates for the Sept. 25 general election.

Premier Robarts told the group that his government "will not tolerate any system of education where there is anything but equality for all of our young people, no matter who or where they may be."

GOES TO TORONTO

Late Thursday night Premier Roberts flew to Toronto by chartered plane and was to attend a cabinet meeting this morning. He was returning to southwestern Ontario in time to address a meeting at Sarnia tonight. Saturday he campaigns in the Ottawa area.

Earlier, in a speech at Leamington, Mr. Robarts had appealed for a strong majority government in the Sept. 25 general election to strengthen Ontario's hand in future dealings with the federal administration.

Minority government would be the worst thing that could happen in Ontario, the Progressive Conservative leader said in a campaign speech as he stumped the southwest corner of the province.

Unemployment Growing Worry Says MacDonald

By DAVID DAVIDSON

SARNIA (CP) — Unemployment among Ontario's young people was described here Thursday night as a "growing and desperate problem" that could only be solved by economic planning.

NDP Leader Donald MacDonald told a Lambton-West election rally in this southwestern Ontario city that a government formed by his party will take special measures to provide more job opportunities for the young.

"It is intolerable that thousands of young people—out of school and eager to work—should have to stand idle on the streets because our unplanned economy cannot absorb them," Mr. MacDonald said.

"Aside from raising the general level of economic activity through effective planning, a New Democratic Party government will take special measures to give job opportunities to young people."

He said an NDP administration would recognize the fact that skills being taught today would become obsolete within a generation and that children in school now may in 20 to 30 years be doing jobs "we haven't even thought of."

In outlining what he called a "charter for youth," the NDP chief said "it's about time we had a government which can move with the times, a government which can think big and can think young."

He said that his party would establish a consumers' bureau if elected Sept. 25 to help people "get value for their money and to administer fair marketing legislation." A provincial agency would be set up to oversee all consumer credit transactions to ensure that rates were reasonable and dishonest practices eliminated.

". . . decent housing must be brought within the financial scope of young married people . . . mortgage money has to be made available at reasonable rates of interest."

Liberal Leader Says PCs Trying To Block Plan

By BILL MacDOUGALL

CORNWALL (CP)—Private insurance companies and trust companies are fighting for the Progressive Conservatives during the Ontario election campaign so that the Canada Pension Plan will be sabotaged, Liberal Leader John Wintermeyer charged Thursday night.

And, he told an audience of about 300 at a rally in a church hall here, the arguments on which these companies base their opposition to the plan are invalid.

The speech was one of Mr. Wintermeyer's harder - hitting ones in his campaign on the subject of pension, which he has called the most vital issue in the Sept. 25 election.

The Liberal leader also said that L. E. Coward, chairman of the Ontario Pensions Commission, is a vice-president of a consulting firm on pensions for private insurance companies and private industries.

SUPPORTS HANLEY

Mr. Wintermeyer spoke in support of Peter Manley, 38, seeking re-election in Stormont constituency after he spent a wet day travelling through the easternmost parts of Ontario, leaving behind him a trail of left-out and slightly grumbling supporters.

Mr. Wintermeyer said insurance and trust companies "are engaged in one of the heaviest lobbies this province has ever seen" in order to sabotage the Canada Pension Plan.

"The purpose of this lobby is to induce the people of Ontario to vote Conservative in this election."

Mr. Wintermeyer said a main argument of the lobby was that the Canada Pension Plan would draw off savings needed for investment and development of Canada.

But the insurance companies and trusts, which were allowed to invest up to 15 per cent of their funds in new development and expansion, were investing only five per cent.

"Of that five per cent, over three per cent is invested in shares of American companies and only 1¾ per cent in Canadian companies," he said.

A newspaper advertisement on behalf of the Conservatives which promised "pensions for all" was a lie. The Ontario plan does not cover the self-employed, the farmers, the professionals or seasonal workers, Mr. Wintermeyer said.

Rain delayed his chartered DC-3 plane's takeoff from Toronto to Ottawa and by the time he reached Hawkesbury, he was two hours behind his schedule Cutting short a scheduled stop there, he hurried by chartered bus to Alexandria.

Several of the crowd of about 65 there remarked that many more were on hand at the appointed time but left before Mr. Wintermeyer arrived. Estimates of their numbers varied, but all agreed that there were "a lot."

The Liberal leader had to cut out stops at Rockland and Alfred and a scheduled late afternoon visit to city hall here. He was to spend the night here before flying to the Lakehead today.

The Liberal leader at Hawkesbury reviewed his platform for the Sept. 25 election and promised that a Liberal government would have the teaching of French begun at an early age in primary school.

Home Owner Should Pick Favorite Color for Carpeting

"Deciding on the color of a carpet for her new home often throws today's homemaker into a tizzy," says Betty Barrymore. "She is afraid she'll grow tired of it or that she will be unable to change her color scheme."

Not so, says this well-known carpet consultant and decorator, who maintains that the secret of successful selection is to choose a favorite color. There is little danger of tiring of this shade, she says, and because it is a favorite it is easy to plan several color schemes around it.

CAN BE CHANGED

"Today's blue and white room with a favorite blue carpet can be drastically changed in a few years' time to a sophisticated blue and green room. By that time the drapes will need replacing, the furniture re-upholstering and the walls will be ready for a new paint job. Color changes can be made in this group while the blue carpet remains."

"Later, when these same items again need refurnishing, the blue carpet can become the accent rather than the dominant color in the new decorating scheme," she continued. "For instance, a switch to creamy beige and brown with a touch of apricot in ashtrays and cushions will create an inviting blue and beige room."

If a new carpet must be selected to go with present furnishings in the new home, Betty advises you to decide which colors will remain, which items will be recovered or replaced, when you move to the new surroundings. The colors that remain will provide the key to the selection of the new carpet.

"For example, the room is basically beige and brown. The walls have been painted a very pale beige. The drapes, a simple textured beige, are in good condition. The chesterfield and one chair must be recovered so these can be disregarded. One chair, a dark brown, must stay. Our homemaker therefore must incorporate the beige drapes and brown chair into the new decor but would like to escape the beige family. She could select a warm copper tone for the new carpet and re-do the sofa and chair in a beige-brown copper stripe or small pattern. Leave the drapes for the present as they tone in with the beige walls."

Later when both are ready to be discarded, Betty Barrymore suggests new drapes in a color that will complement the new carpet, such as dull green or turquoise. The walls can be painted a paler tint of the drapery color. By this time the brown chair will be ready for re-upholstering or slipcovers and a plain fabric in a deeper shade of the wall color would be a good choice.

DECORATING SECRET

"This is how to give your room a lift with a new carpet now and gradually work a complete color change over the next few years," says Betty, adding, "of course the secret to this long - term decorating is buying a good quality carpet to start with."

"This need not be an expensive one," she continued, "but if you select a Traffic Rated carpet to suit the traffic conditions in your home it will wear well and look lovely for years."

To explain traffic conditions, she said that a family of four with two young children and a dog, with the TV set in the living room would be wise to select a carpet rated for heavy traffic which sells for as little as $12.95 a square yard. On the other hand, if the same family had a family room or den for the TV and the living room was more or less out of bounds to the children and their pet, a medium traffic rated carpet would give satisfaction for many years, she said.

Don't be afraid to choose your favorite color for your new carpet and if you pick a good quality one it will perform well through many re-decorating jobs and you'll not tire of it."

"And," she added, "it is easier to take care of a carpet if you like the color."

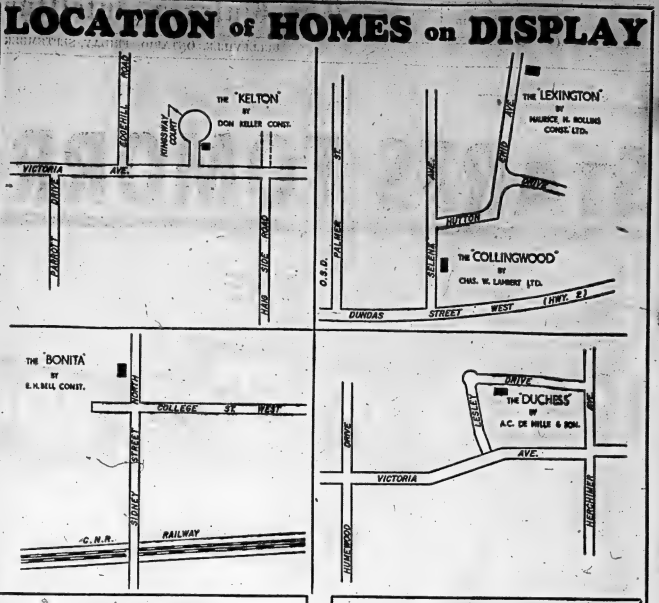
Kitchen Now Showplace Of Home

Oops - your kitchen is showing! In today's home it certainly is. The kitchen is often part of the dining area and sometimes a section of the living room. Invariably it is within easy reach and vision of any part of the main floor. Even if you close it off with a door, you try and hide it. One of the first places a guest wants to be shown in a new home is the kitchen - she'll ask to see it.

And not only has the kitchen become the showplace of the home, it is so comfortable you can't keep people out of it. Why is this so? Because people who plan homes have gotten around to a better understanding of the homemaker who knows a fact that has always existed - the kitchen is the "heart" of the home. Manufacturers, retailers and builders, having bowed to madam housewife's superior intuition about these things, have joined forces to supply us with an unbelievable selection of beautiful kitchens. Even the strictly budget-home doesn't stint in this area.

Hollywood-dazzling appliances, for instance, that really do cut down on work. Story-book wallpapers that wash, and cosmetic soft paint. The table and chairs have returned to the kitchen. And so has the traditional warmth of a patterned floor. But there's a difference - it's a modern, easy-living floor.



The warmth of wood color - in practical linoleum or vinyl asbestos is now offered by Domion Oilcloth and Linoleum Co. Limited in two forms - - linoleum planking strips in 4" x 24", vinyl planking strips 4½" x 18", as well as 9" tiles in the same shades.

Many design varieties can be achieved by using the strips and tiles in combination with each other. Tasteful for any room in the home whether modern or traditional.

Whether you're considering floors, walls, appliances or what-have-you, they're worth an investment - - because your kitchen's in the "limelight."

New Plumbing Products Featured In Today's Better Home Values

Radical developments in design and function qualities of plumbing fixtures have taken place in recent years and the home buyer should be aware of the changing trends. Many new concepts of convenience coupled with a wide range of colors available give great scope to the builder's selection from the stand-point of style and utility ensuring a better product for his customer.

But despite these innovations, there are certain qualities a buyer should look for when he is in the housing market. As the basis for all plumbing facilities, it is important to have a good drainage system.

Possibly the most serious cause of trouble in connection with health and the best assurance of protection from health hazards is to provide a pressure-tight long-lasting plumbing system.

Corrosion can eat into the pipes and cause dangerous leaks unless the material is of heavy wall construction such as that used in case iron soil pipe. Sharp objects such as misplaced nail or screw driven into masonry may also puncture the pipe if this material is used. In the course of the normal day a plumbing system is expected to carry some 300 gallons of waste for an average family so it is most important that the pipes provide continuous, trouble-free service. Cast iron is thoroughly reliable for plumbing vent and drainage purposes both inside your house and from house to street, because it has a proven record of performance and safe operation. Cast iron will safeguard your family's health as long as your house remains standing.

Careful attention should be given also to the fixtures (bathtubs), basins) and to the fittings (taps faucets), Bathtubs for instance, have been traditionally manufactured from enamelled cast iron. Although slightly higher in price this type of tub should always be considered when the higher quality product is desired. Bathtubs manufactured from enamelled steel have made their appearance on the market of later years. These tubs are attractive in appearance, light in weight and easy to maintain.

Vitreous china, which is the most sanitary material for the manufacture of plumbing products, is used exclusively in the toilet combinations produced in Canada. Vitreous china provides a strong, sturdy fixture which will rendar long service and is very easy to keep .onsecf'ficow very easy to keep clean. Too few people realize the contribution to health, comfort and convenience that is made by this unique product in plumbing fixtures.

Although all flush toilets may appear to be the same in operation, there are many varieties of flushing action available. The materials used and the method of operation of flush tank fittings have undergone many drastic changes. In some cases, the appearance of plastic materials in flush tank fittings have added greatly to the improvement of operation and reliability over the long years of service life. The selection of a closet combination for a new home should be made by the builder and the home buyer with the assistance of the plumbing contractor giving careful consideration to the many types and designs of toilets now available.

Washbasins are new on the market in a very broad range of materials. Vitreous china, enamelled cast iron and enamelled steel have all been used in a variety of designs and sizes to provide a very wide selection for the home builder and home buyer.

Once again vitreous china ware should be considered as the best quality type of fixture. Enamelled cast iron basins should be regarded as a medium quality fixture and suitable for installation when the fixture would be subject to a great deal of rough use. Enamelled steel basins, although somewhat limited in the design range, will provide satisfactory service at most cost. A proper study of the types and designs of basins will permit a great variety of design treatments in bathroom planning.

Kitchen sinks are available in enamelled cast iron, enamelled steel and stainless steel with the latter becoming very popular with many homeowners. For kitchen installations this material is ideal as it will absorb a great deal of abuse without damage, presents an attractive appearance over a long period of time and is easy to clean.

In faucets or taps, an almost infinite variety of styles and types are now on the market including the easily-operated lever-type and push-pull faucets. The ruggedness and inexpensive and the home builder and buyer should take great care in selecting a plumbing or mechanical contractor. The plumbing contractor is the best source of advice and information on the right fixtures to do the job. Advice of this type can ensure the home owner of many years of satisfactory service from the plumbing installation in his new home.

Need Enough Thermostats To Avoid Woes

When you're buying a home, whether it's new or from a former owner, it's a good idea always to accept the thermostats. It could save a great deal of trouble.

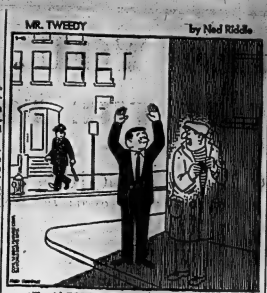
Counting thermostats is particularly important under the following circumstances: If the house has a spread-out floor plan; if you intend to make use of a finished basement area; if one of its features is large, concentrated glass areas, such as picture windows; if there is a room or rooms over unheated areas such as a garage; if it is a split level home; if living and sleeping quarters are in distinct areas; and, as a general rule of thumb, if the house has an overall area of 1400 sq. ft. or more.

Under any of these conditions and, in fact, under others as well, the number of thermostats to install whether or not the house has some control. If there is not more than one, it can be taken for granted that heat distribution is uneven.

Although several factors sometimes can be combined, one thermostat can hardly be expected to meet all conditions in any but the smallest homes and still do an adequate job.

Even the finest thermostat, says Honeywell heating engineers, can measure the temperature only in the area in which it is located.

Basically, some control offers a means of controlling heating and cooling according to the needs of each major living area. It uses a separate thermostat to regulate the temperature of each. The result is that you can select the temperature you want in each individual area, no matter what the weather, without upsetting the comfort of the other areas.



A separate thermostat system for each major area can result in substantial fuel savings while, at the same time, it provides a high level of comfort throughout the house.

Under the conditions listed above, a house becomes especially vulnerable to the effects of the sun and wind. Almost invariably the result is overheating in some areas and underheating in others.

Zoning can be utilized to meet the requirements of multi-storey homes, open ceilings, unusual floor plans, wings, porches, variations in wall construction, fireplaces and other local causes of heat loss or gain.

Since the concept of dividing a home into areas for heating purposes was introduced by Honeywell some years ago, it has been embraced by builders and heating engineers to a marked degree particularly since new equipment has lowered costs. Today, zoning is considered to be essential for most modern homes. Builders are discovering that prospective buyers are unwilling to put up with heating problems, of which there have been many, for the sake of some more "glamorous" advantage.

There is a growing demand for some control, too, from those who own older homes. In many instances installation can be made at a moderate price. The governing factor is whether or not the duct work needs to be replaced.

Prospective Home Purchasers Should Make Decision Now

Thinking of buying a new home? Well, it's time to stop procrastinating and put your plans into action. At least, that's the advice of many experts in the housing field after a study of the housing market.

It's true that the tax on building materials may be reflected in the prices of some of the new homes on the market, but the Government has stated that it will arise the present four per cent tax to eight per cent by spring. So today's buyer can save money.

In addition, the experts point out that those buyers in most areas across Canada are enjoying the fruits of a long period of study and research by builders and manufacturers aimed at producing the finest housing available in the world. Our community has an opportunity to see the results of this program in the Parade of Homes being sponsored by the Belleville Home Builders Association which features the latest housing trends in comfort and convenience.

There are a number of reasons why today's home buyer is getting real value for his dollar. Quality in construction and material is one of these factors. Building materials being used in new homes are superior in durability to those utilized for dollars and thousands of hours of research have brought about improvements even in such basic items as wood and concrete products.

Great progress has also been made in construction techniques employed by the home builder. A constant process of field testing and experimentation with building methods conducted by the National Home Builders Association Research Committee in co-operation with Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation and the National Research Council has contributed greatly in this field.

Easy terms of mortgage funds, which over the years have been a great problem to the residential construction industry, are simple in the present time and the steady supply of money has led a tendency to decrease getting interest rates.

Another important point for today's prospective home buyer to keep in mind is that of 'choice'. Builders are finding it more difficult to locate land with the necessary community facilities for good home construction. The excellent location available in a community this year may not be had at the same price — if at all — 12 months from now.

The shortage of land suitable for development has been responsible for a continuing pressure on the selling price of homes. By utilizing improved techniques in their operations home builders have been able to maintain attractive prices on new homes.

But the prospect of a reduction in housing costs is virtually out of the question. Every penny spent for a new home today is well invested. Facing the prospects of rising costs and limited choice, those who know the housing market say, 'now is the time to buy'.

Word Mortgage No Longer Frightens Home Purchasers

The word 'mortgage' is one many people would like to avoid using in connection with their lives, but if mortgages were not available most Canadian families would be living under unhappy conditions.

A mortgage shouldn't be frightening or, for that matter, mysterious. After all, it's just another way of saying 'loan'. But when you think about it, a mortgage is actually more of an investment than a loan for it is a means of forced savings. To the millions of families, who have one, their mortgage represents the only way they could have bought their homes. How else could many of these families have raised the equivalent of three or four years of paycheks in just a matter of weeks.

In simple terms, a mortgage is a document containing a written promise from the borrower to repay to the lender the amount of the loan on a house, together with a specified amount of interest. The property serves as security for the loan, and can be foreclosed by the lender if the payment of principal and interest are not made in accordance with the terms of the mortgage.

Payments on interest and principal of the loan are normally scheduled through a plan of regular monthly payments. As the payments are made, the interest, which initially represents the biggest share of the monthly payment, decreases and the payment on the principal borrowed by the same amount. The monthly payments result in a gradual reduction of the loan balance until the debt is paid.

There are two types of mortgages which purchasers will find being used in connection with homes for sale in Canada. These are:

NHA Insured Mortgages - These loans are made under the terms of the National Housing Act, 1954, for new home construction and are generally obtained from approved lenders such as banks, life insurance, trust and loan companies.

In order that the lending facilities of the NHA are available to all, Section 40 of the Act, authorizes the crown company, Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation, to make loans to home owner applicants when they cannot be obtained from approved lenders.

However, before applying for a loan from CMHC, the prospective purchaser must first have applied and been refused a loan from an approved lender. The borrower must produce written evidence that the application has been turned down by two lenders, including the bank or insurance company with which he normally does business. In smaller centres, where lending facilities may be limited, written evidence from one lender is all that is required.

To be eligible for an NHA loan, applicants must have:

(a) Sufficient equity. The applicant must be able to provide the difference between the amount of the loan and the total cost of the house. CMHC requires evidence that the borrower is supplying out of his own resources, at least 5% of the total value of the house and land. Equity may be in the form of cash, or a combination of cash land and labor.

(b) Sufficient income. The annual mortgage charges for principal and interest plus municipal taxes should not exceed 27% of the applicants gross income for a single-family dwelling and 29% for a home-owner duplex and home-owner semi-detached house where one loan covers both units.

(c) Credit-worthiness. The applicant must have a satisfactory credit record and must be financially capable of meeting the payments under the mortgage and his other financial obligations.

The new maximum NHA loans for detached houses are $14,500 in the case of three bedroom homes and $18,500 for four-bedroom units. The loans are repayable over a period of 25 years at 6½% interest per annum.

Conventional Mortgages - This is any type of mortgage, which is not insured or guaranteed by the Federal Government. The terms of the loan are agreed upon between the lender and borrower. Conventional first mortgages by law cannot exceed 66% per cent of the cost of a home.

A home builder or his agent normally can suggest sources of financing and make the necessary arrangements to assist you in becoming a home owner.

Choose Region As Cautiously As New Home

Most home owners will agree that selection of a good neighborhood can do much to contributing to a happy home life. The proximity and convenience of schools, churches, shopping and recreational facilities cannot be over emphasized.

The home buyer should also give attention to the availability of protection for health and safety. Adequacy of public utilities, zoning regulations and public transportation are equally important.

Thought should also be given to the relationship of your future property to its surrounding as well as the type of soil and terrain keeping in mind the landscaping plan desired. The purchaser should also be sure and enquire concerning taxes and assessments.

A development of acceptable design incorporates carefully-planned, well-built homes, which harmonize with other homes in the neighborhood.

The home itself should be architecturally attractive, constructed of quality materials and featuring good workmanship. The size and arrangement of rooms, the methods of heating and lighting, and the amount and type of household equipment included are of major concern.

Another factor to consider is the adaptability of the house to future changes in family needs.

The decisive point, of course, in selecting a new home is whether it is the kind of house which will provide for harmonious living according to the pattern of your family life.

Developments in Paint Industry Ease Household Maintenance Jobs

Today's homeowners, faced with the normal problems of maintenance, can find solace in the fact that interior and exterior coatings offered by the Canadian paint industry are far superior to those available just a few years ago.

Spectacular developments in polymer chemistry and important technological advances are mainly responsible for the greater covering capacity and durability of the new paints.

"Today's homeowner can be assured that from the point of view of improved color retention, film integrity, resistance to blistering, faster drying, greater ease of application and range of colors, we have made great progress", says Dr. N. P. Beckwith, vice-president of the Canadian Paint, Varnish and Lacquer Association.

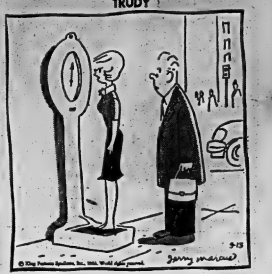
Oil paints, alkyd paints, water emulsion paints, water solubles paints and many others emerging from the laboratories are significant improvements over the white lead and raw linseed oil paints which, in the old days were mixed by painters on the spot.

CHEMICALS AID

Ready mixed paints came into their own on the wave of wartime chemical developments. Much more recently the advent of exotic chemicals led to the production of new exterior paints which cut brushing time in half and overcame many of the problems of blistering, peeling and scaling.

Even clear coatings are much better than they used to be with spar varnishes giving away to polyurethanes and silicone-modified alkyds.

It seems certain that more and more exciting finishes will reach the market in the near future, exploiting new chemical knowledge and fulfilling the ultimate functions desired by all homeowners.



Today, for example, flat latex house paint is in about the same position as interior latex paint was in 10 years ago. But prospects of achieving gloss finishes are bright and acceptance will grow as improvements are made in gloss and adhesive qualities.

NEW DEVELOPMENT

Another new development involves the solid epoxy compounds. The coatings they produce impart a smooth, easily washable finish to such relatively inexpensive materials as concrete and cinder blocks. Because they are resistant to heat, sunlight and moisture, these finishes are certain to win increasing popularity in the household painting industry.

Whether he brushes, dabs, sprays or rolls on his paint, the householder is always searching for more durable paint, brighter colors and easier application.

The industry, is constantly striving, through laboratory research and through rigid tests under all conditions likely to prevail in Canada, to meet these demands.

ARREST RIGHTIST

TOKYO (AP)—A rightist was arrested Thursday on charges of threatening two former cabinet ministers who have been working to promote trade with Communist China. Soekichi Inoguchi, 32, was accused of mailing threatening notes to the former ministers wrapped around rifle bullets.

BUILDERS OF HOMES IN BELLEVILLE'S BRAND NEW WEST PARK VILLAGE

New Housing Market Exploits Versatility of Aluminum Products

Inhospitable Sable Island, the aptly named "graveyard of the Atlantic" 150 miles off the coast of Nova Scotia, is home to a few hundred wild ponies and a handful of government employees.

Housing these folk who operate lighthouses, observing and weather stations in an environment of wind-whipped sand and slashing salt spray has long been a problem. Most building materials are rapidly reduced to ruins under this furious combination of the elements.

In 1954 it was necessary to replace housing which had been built only three years earlier. A switch was made to aluminum covered dwellings which today remain in prime condition.

WITHSTANDS SEVERE WEATHER

While climatic conditions are somewhat more moderate in most of Canada, this does serve to illustrate how well aluminum withstands the severest tests of weather.

Until recently the full potential of aluminum as a building product had not been fully exploited in Canada, although such items as siding and raingoods have been marketed successfully in the U.S. for a number of years.

But now aluminum producers have developed new and improved residential components and are actively pursuing both the new housing and renovation markets.

One of the biggest influences in the promotion of aluminum building components is expected to be the Alcan Design Homes, being marketed by Alcan Design Homes Limited, a subsidiary of the Aluminum Company of Canada, Limited.

Alcan had homes designed incorporating as many proven aluminum applications as were practical and harmonious. After seeing strict specifications, it then franchised leading builders to build and sell these homes in five Canadian centres and supported them with marketing and advertising help.

This promotion is already showing its effectiveness. Sales of aluminum building products, especially siding, rose in the latter part of 1962 and distribution of them across Canada is increasing. In an effort to meet this growing demand, Alcan has installed a second coating line at its Kingston, Ontario, works to produce the painted sheet from which most of these items are fabricated.

Aluminum is an obvious material to use on the outside of a house. It is weatherproof and easily formed, bent and cut into gutters, downspouts, louvres and siding profiles and is available in a wide variety of colors and finishes.

The reason behind aluminum's somewhat recent appearance on the residential building scene is the slow evolution of the high standards required in the factory application of the baked enamel finish; At Alcan's Kingston Works vinyl or acrylic enamel is heat-bonded to the metal to provide a finish so tough that the coated sheet can withstand fall 180 degree bends.

Aluminum siding comes in a wide variety of styles and colors. The baked enamel finish is guaranteed for ten years against blistering, peeling, checking and crazing — technical experts anticipate a life of fifteen years or more — and the metal itself will last the lifetime of the house and the owner.

If a change of color is desired it is easy to repaint. The sanding and scraping needed on materials which deteriorate with moisture is not required and, since aluminum is non-absorbent, less paint is needed.

BONUS BENEFIT

Aluminum siding also produces a bonus benefit in comfort inside the house. Bare aluminum has remarkably high heat - reflecting properties; even when coated it helps to push the heat from your furnace into chilly areas often found near outside walls in the winter. During the summer, it assists in reflecting the rays of the sun to make the house cooler and helps achieve maximum efficiency from air conditioning systems.

Aluminum products to cover the underside and ends of the eaves are available in colors to match the siding, extending the protection to the treacherous areas under and around the overhang. This same weather and water resistance is provided by light and strong aluminum raingoods.

The use of aluminum vents and louvres which require a minimum of maintenance virtually eliminates the business job of repainting at roof level.

In the past aluminum windows have sometimes had problems with condensation. This has been solved by the creation of a thermal barrier between the interior and exterior metal section.

Other important uses to which aluminum can be put in home construction include doors, door handles, hardware, lighting fixtures, ductwork, insulation backing and heating equipment.

Study the Plans Before You Buy

Recognizing a good interior floor plan will take a bit of practice, according to the Clay Brick and Tile Institute, but there are several basic questions you can ask yourself about any house.

Without going through any other room, can you go directly from:

Living Room to Bathroom?
Kitchen to Dining Area?
Kitchen to Bedroom Area?
Bedroom to Bathroom? (without being seen from other parts of the house)?
Back or Side Door to Kitchen?

Basement to Outside?

A house with a good floor plan will have living, sleeping, and working areas clearly separated from each other, yet coordinated not only with the other areas but with the sun and the outdoor area. It should be easy to reach the porch, patio, or terrace from the house for pleasant outdoor living.

Let's examine each room separately:

KITCHEN:

The Small Homes Council of the University of Illinois studied kitchens in more than a hundred recently developed homes and concluded that more than 90 per cent has insufficient base cabinet storage, 77 per cent had insufficient wall cabinets, and 67 per cent had inadequate counter space.

In addition, a Cornell University study of efficient kitchen design recommended that the distance from refrigerator to sink to range should form a triangle with a walking distance of 13 to 20 feet. There should be counter space on both sides of the sink and alongside range and refrigerator.

Finally, the kitchen should be a bright, cheery place with proper lighting (good orientation will give the room bright morning sunlight), ventilation, and sufficient room to prepare a meal.

LIVING ROOM

Is it bright and airy, is it large enough, is it located to avoid through traffic? Look for the extra touch of glamor provided perhaps by exposed brick walls or a brick fireplace.

DINING ROOM:

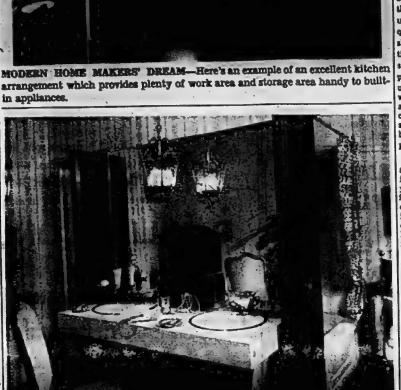
Briefly abandoned by designers, the dining room or area is back with new emphasis. Families who have lived in homes without dining rooms or areas are emphatic in declaring their importance. You should be able to reach the dining room directly from the kitchen, while the kitchen sink and dirty dishes should be screened from view — possibly by a handsome brick divider.

BEDROOMS:

Are adult bedrooms big enough to hold a desk or vanity and chairs as well as bedroom furniture? Will your present furniture fit the new room? Children's rooms need adequate wall space and enough room for study and play.

BATHROOMS

Bathrooms should be centrally located and have plenty of storage space. Today, extra bathrooms are much in demand and will prove an important resale feature later.



LAUNDRY:

In one-storey homes, a laundry near the kitchen and bathroom is ideal, but it should not be located where food is being prepared. There should be adequate storage for soap, detergents, etc., counter space for sorting, and space enough for ironing. The clothes dryer should be located on an outside wall and vented; this is a must.

Utility rooms in two-storey and split-level homes should have similar facilities, while a clothes chute to the laundry area can be a boon.

MODERN HOME MAKERS' DREAM—Here's an example of an excellent kitchen arrangement which provides plenty of work area and storage area handy to built-in appliances.

Buyer Should Carefully Study Home Design

If you are in the market for a new home you are probably in a quandry as to what basic concepts should be considered in choosing a house. When someone speaks of a "good" home they are often referring to various features that are considered in a particular design to provide the utmost in comfort and convenience.

Here are some of the qualities which can produce such a desirable home.

INTERIOR DESIGN

The prospective home purchaser should look for a house that incorporates the efficient use of space and includes adequate storage areas. Rooms should be attractively proportioned and special attention should be paid to traffic patterns in these rooms, particularly in the kitchen where the work area is of prime importance to the housewife. The location of doors and windows should provide the best possible lighting and ventilation.

MODERN PLANNING

If you are dollar - conscious and anxious to get the most for your money, you should look for interiors planned in the modern manner. "Open Planning" is an idea popular with builders today in attaining better utilization of space and the minimum number of wall partitions used to avoid waste. The all - purpose family room, open or Hollywood kitchen, the easy access of patios and gardens are the result of open planning.

Some other recent innovations in room design include the L-shaped room, which combines living and dining areas or the sleeping and dressing areas. The T-shaped living room combines living, dining and kitchen or recreational space.

Careful study of the various house plans offered today can mean years of harmonious living for you in the future.

Adequate Hot Water Supply Essential for Growing Family

One of the household conveniences, often given too little forethought by a home buyer, is the hot water heater. No-one would tolerate a television set which only worked efficiently at certain hours. Yet, according to the Canadian Institute of Plumbing and Heating, they "make do" with a similar inconvenience when they own a water heater which fails to supply all the hot water needed whenever it is required.

At one time or another, everyone has had the unpleasant experience of the water running suddenly cold in the shower or bath. This automatically signals that the hot water supply has run out. The housewife does not often know, however, when the hot water turns cold in her automatic clothes washer. At the start of the wash cycle it may be hot, then turn cold long before the tub completely fills. The same is true of automatic dishwashers. Neither laundry nor dishes will wash clean in cold water.

Most new houses are equipped by the builder with an automatic water heater powered by electricity, gas or oil. In many cases, the installation is made on the basis of a specified minimum size and energy input depending on the size of house, number of bathrooms, etc. This is often found to be completely inadequate when automatic dishwashers, laundry equipment and other extra demands of a growing family are made on the facilities. The prospective home owner who looks ahead can, however - by paying as little as $30.00 more - have the builder install a larger unit. This small amount of money is well spent as it avoids a much larger expenditure in the future.

The minimum size water heater will not be adequate as the family grows and hot water consumption goes up. In most cases it will not satisfy the demands of a new automatic dishwasher without affecting the supply of hot water for other household needs. There is no need for such water heaters. If the home owner is forced to buy a new larger water heater in keep up with increased hot water consumption, the minimum cost will be at least $100.

Heating System Important When Making Home Purchase

In the selection of a home, the prospective buyer may have spent hours, even weeks, on inspection and "shopping around" for appearance, style and conveniences. But it is an unfortunate truth that insufficient attention is often given to one of the most important parts of the home — the heating system.

This single feature, more than anything else, will make a house a warm, comfortable bedroom and sometimes frustrating place to live. It must be properly suited to the house and it must be adequate in performance to the job you will expect.

There are heating systems on the market today which will meet every requirement of the most careful buyer. In addition, you may choose a heat distribution system which gives complete freedom of furniture arrangement in every room.

MANY ADVANTAGES

The ultimate in heating facilities may be secured today with hydronic heating (the science of heating and cooling with liquids). It will pay you at the outset to look into its many advantages.

Hydronic heating utilizes compact and attractive boilers which may be fired by the fuel of your choice. The boiler heats water which is circulated by a pump and silently carried through small pipes to the radiators. Modern radiators may be had in the new streamlined free standing type, the concealed cabinet type, the concealed type, which is recessed into the wall and, most modern of all, the baseboard type.

This baseboard design replaces the conventional wooden baseboard and blankets the outside walls with a gentle flow of warmth as well as emitting radiant heat at floor level, giving even temperature in all parts of the room. Why at the outside wall? Because that is where heat is being lost and by keeping the outer walls warm, the best in heating is experienced. Hydronic heating also eliminates the need for basement ducts and the restriction of head room. It allows you to fully use the basement as desired.

THERMOSTATS IMPORTANT

An important feature to be watched in any heating system today advises the Canadian Institute of Plumbing and Heating, is the method used to control temperatures. In a compact bungalow it is often possible to control the heat in all rooms by a centrally located modern thermostat which starts and stops the heating system and maintains an even temperature throughout — not hot and cold spells but a steady flow of heat in all rooms.

However, the trend is towards spread out construction, ranch style, split levels with the more active living areas in the basement. Here, one thermostat is not enough; you must control the amount of heat from each area to be heated. Proper controls can be installed on your hydronic heating system to allow you to control room temperatures in playroom, living areas, bedrooms, garage, according to your requirements. Since all heat is supplied by one boiler, hydronic heating is flexible enough to allow these features at small additional cost.

There are many plus features available with hydronic heating. You can include provisions for automatically melting the snow off driveways and walks — no more shovelling. An exclusive feature of hydronic heating. You can provide your domestic hot water requirements with a special coil installed in your boiler. Check all these features with your builder and plumber — you will be surprised how economical it is to have them.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Spencer were Sunday afternoon guests of Mrs. Ben Acker and-called on Mr. Acker who is a patient in the Belleville General Hospital.

Wallbridge U.C.W. held their pot-luck dinner on Wednesday with a good attendance. Proceeds of the dinner were $25 and plans were discussed to prepare for the bazaar to be held November 20th.

The Rev. and Mrs. W. E. G. Dovey spent a couple of days with Mr. and Mrs. Frank Harris. They were returning from their vacation visiting relatives in B.C. and Trail.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Garrison had dinner with their parents Mr. and Mrs. Harold Garrison before leaving for their home in Prescott.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Harris were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Pound.

Mr. and Mrs. George Moore and family of Greenwood were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Spencer.

Mr. and Mrs. Ted Evans and Susan were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. Reg Skinner.

Mrs. Lawrence Ketcheson and Miss Maude Mallory of Toronto called on Mr. and Mrs. Frank Harris on Monday last. It was 63 years since Miss Mallory and Mrs. Harris had met and they reminisced of the happenings during those years.

Mrs. Cecil Smith, Nancy and Michael have left for their home in Regina having spent the past two months with her brother George and other relatives and friends here.

The farmers are busy preparing their land for fall wheat. The recent rains have helped for plowing.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Cole and boys Billie and Jackie spent the weekend with relatives in Kingston.

FEATURE MAYS

A Man Called Maya will be an hour-long NBC-TV feature program Oct. 6 on Willie Mays, centerfielder with the San Francisco Giants.

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The tourist asked the young actor for his autograph, then gushed, "You look just like your father."

Robert Walker, 33, smiled and thanked her. Some might have considered his forbearance remarkable. As an actor doing well on his own, he is constantly reminded of his resemblance to his late father.

"I don't mind," he says. "My father was a handsome man and a fine actor. It's a compliment to be compared to him.

"But if people are still comparing me to him 10 years from now—then I'll be worried."

Bob seems to have a better chance than most of the second-generation performers who are trying the show world. In his third film he has the title of Ensign Pulver, Josh Logan's sequel to the smash Mister Roberts.

Two omens appear favorable:

1. It was in a service company, See Here, Private Hargrove that Robert Walker Sr. achieved stardom.

2. The Pulver role did wonders for another young fellow, Jack Lemmon (Oscar, 1955).

HAS DOUBTS

"I don't think it will do as much for me," Bob said. "A part is never as great the second time."

He made certain the performances would be his own.

"I had seen Lemmon in Mister Roberts when I was a kid," he said. "Josh wanted me to see it again. I didn't want to. I can be imitative, as when I saw George C. Scott and for a while I was George C. Scott all over. I didn't want my Pulver to be Jack Lemmon.

"But I did meet Lemmon at a party at my mother's (Jennifer Jones) house. We had a long talk about the role and he was very helpful. He still has a great affection for Pulver."

Bob's salary for Ensign Pulver has been reported at $18,000 a small fee in today's market.

"But I don't think $18,000 is chicken feed," he said. "As a matter of fact, I would have done this part for nothing—and I'm not against money. I've got a wife and two kids, so I can't be."

Look out! Here comes a stampede of elephant jokes! Jack Hutton today offers a few that would tickle the ribs of even Tarzan and friend.

Teen-Age Canada

"Elephant Jokes" Recent Craze of Teen-Age Set

By JACK HUTTON

What were the last words spoken by Tarzan as he fell below a herd of trumpeting elephants?

The answer, which you know if you've followed the recent craze of "elephant jokes": "Who greased that vine?"

Does that get you where you live?

If you chuckled, you're one of the "in" people who have been laughing all this summer at probably the funniest and most improbable set of jokes invented anywhere — the jokes about the elephants.

No one knows exactly who dreamed up the first one. But the first one I heard was: "How did elephants get flat feet?" The answer: "From jumping out of trees."

The next question is, "Why won't pygmies go into the forest between 4 p.m. and 6 p.m.?" The answer is that elephants jump out of the trees between those hours — and the pygmies parents already made the mistake.

Why, I wonder, stayed awake all night dreaming up those lines and other gems like these?

WHAT ELEPHANTS

Question: "What did Tarzan say when he saw the elephants coming?"

Answer: "Here come the elephants." Or this one: "What did Tarzan say when he saw the elephants wearing sunglasses?" Answer: "Nothing — he didn't recognize them."

No one, as far as I know, had heard of these jokes last winter. Since then they swept across both Canada and the U.S. Even the staid New York Times recognized them as a new phenomenon.

VOILA!

I don't know when it happened, but the jokes went international at some point. Question: "What did General De Gaulle say when he saw the elephants going over the hill."

Answer: "Voila les elephants going over the hill."

Question: "But what did the elephants reply to General de Gaulle?" Answer: "Nothing. They can't speak French."

I'll confess that I've wondered about my own sanity and sense of humor when I watch teen-age friends roar with laughter over samples like this one. Question: "How do you put four elephants into a car?" Answer: "Two in the front and two in the back."

The technique, I've gathered, is to deliver these jokes with a poker face and yield the answer after just the right pause. If your delivery is too rapid-fire, it somehow spoils the ridiculous effect.

HERE'S MORE

Here are other samples in case you're an "elephant-keeper":

Question: "How can you tell if there's an elephant in the shower with you?" Answer: "When you can't close the shower curtain."

Question: "Why do elephants wear purple braces?" Answer: "To keep their trousers up."

Question: "Why are elephants gray?" Answer: "So you can tell them apart from the blueberries."

That's as many as we can take right now. But if you have any other elephant jokes to add to the collection, send them in and we'll include them in the column.

Re-runs Were at Least Profitable for Actors

By CYNTHIA TUPPER

NEW YORK (AP) — Television's summer viewing may not have been wildly amused by the re-run season but a lot of actors profited.

Statistics for July, released by the Screen Actors Guild, show that residual payments to performers for re-runs were close to $1,000,000, almost half again as much as they were in the previous year.

Part of the 45-per-cent increase resulted from a boost in the minimum re-run payment to $1,000 per show from $90 for performers. Perhaps more important is the fact that last season re-runs started earlier than ever—some even in April. There were more repeats, hence more money.

During the next three weeks, new programs and old programs with new material will be launched so fast and furiously that no individual viewer can sample them all.

STARTS TONIGHT

The action starts tonight. International Jamboree resumes on NBC (7:30-8:30 EDT), with acts from the Munich circus. First guest-host of the season will be Harry's Girls, also on NBC at 9:30.

On CBS-Network, another NBC series, bows in Saturday night (7:30-8:30), followed with the first program of Jerry Lewis's new season.

ABC will present three new series Sunday evening, from 7:30 to 10:30. They start with The Travels of Jaimie McPheeters, a new horsing adventure series, followed by Arrest and Trial, a 90-minute action show that starts with a man - hunt and ends in a courtroom. Finally, there's the debut of Mr. Grand, the big - money show which is alleged to be positively, absolutely final.

There's also NBC's Grindl, starring Imogene Coca, at 8:30.

Wooler

WOOLER — Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Austin spent Saturday in Kingston.

Mrs. J. C. Herrington returned home from Ottawa on Saturday afternoon.

Morning services in the United Church was in charge of layman Rosser Leavitt. A vocal solo was rendered by Mrs. John Macmillan. The Mission Band leader, Mrs. James Pulham was in charge.

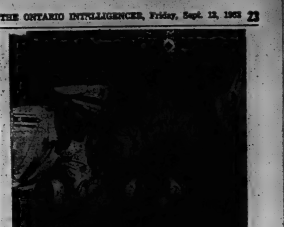
At the Belle

Jerry Lewis says he now controls "The Nutty Professor."

There's no doubt about it — Jerry Lewis is funnier than ever! Since breaking his partnership with Dean Martin he has made 12 movies, each of them successful, and each one usually funnier and better than the last. Where some movie-makers deteriorate due to an inability to come up with something new, Jerry Lewis has gone from theme to theme, mercilly romping his way across the motion picture screen, and always developing a new comic situation with a different twist.



In his latest effort, "The Nutty Professor" now showing at the Belle Theatre, Lewis directs his zany attention to the academic milieu of a large university. Here he enacts the role of Julius F. Kelp, a Chemistry Professor in a modern-day, Ivy-league Jekyll and Hyde.

Unknown to the good professor, this charming student, played by Stella Stevens, has designs on him for a long time. For some unexplainable reason, she loves his goofy appearance and his wild antics. But before she knows what happened, she is swept off her feet by the dynamic and dashing Buddy love.

Stella Stevens plays her role to the hilt, and emerges as the epitome of the luscious and wholesome college girl. Her recent roles have been a far cry from powerful drama to high comedy, but she is extremely competent in whatever she does.

A choice array of color features will be exhibited on the same program.

Ever Hear of a "DIURETIC"??
Maybe not. But you should know what a "Diuretic" is. It helps you get rid of those aches and pains that you should not have. You likely understand how important the kidneys are in maintaining good health. Also that if the kidneys fail to function properly excess acids and waste material remain in the system. This may result in backache, rheumatic pains, nagging headaches, dizziness, other kidney irritations and bladder disturbances often followed by backache, tired feeling and disturbed rest. Try Doan's.

A Loving Husband Helps

By DORIS CLARK

DORIS CLARK

DEAR DORIS — I just read in one of your columns a letter written by "Not Too Late." By the letter, he might have described me to a T.

Please point out to him that his love and understanding will do wonders. Since your letter came last year, my husband has taken a deep interest in ways he can help me in my "I can't" feelings.

Quarrelling will certainly not help. Now he lets me blow off my steam; then, first chance we get, we have a talk. We talk of every little thing, so then we know exactly why certain things are done. It has made what were big problems turn into silly jokes.

I find that even if it jolts him in some way, it always brings us closer together. After talking about it we know the reasons for feeling or acting a certain way, and suddenly it doesn't exist any more.

And you know for the first time I can feel how much I really love my husband and how much he and his happiness mean to me. All because we talk, talk, talk things over. I suddenly feel like actually doing things, not just thinking of doing them. I even find myself keeping a few worries to myself now. Why should we both worry when one of us is enough!

I owe it all to my kind, patient, understanding and loving husband. Well, not all. You get some credit for pushing me in the right direction, Doris. I feel like life is really worth living after all. — MUCH BETTER.

DEAR MRS. MUCH BETTER — I'm thrilled. And Mr. "Not Too Late", it's not too late for your troubled mate, either.

DEAR DORIS — My brother of 18 is just a hood. Whenever my dad says anything to him he threatens to leave home. We have been told he can leave and we can't do anything.

Last night he spent the whole night out and came home at 8:30 in the morning. We have good reason to believe he has been getting alcohol from somewhere.

My dad went to take his car keys and my brother drove away speeding with my dad hanging out the door. Fortunately he was not hurt. He treats my mom and dad like a piece of dirt. —JANET.

DEAR JANET — Poor reward for loving care. Yet I'm wondering about the misguided indulgence which has created the mixed-up rebel who is your brother.

The threats are going the wrong way. Couldn't your dad say: "No work, no food?" Ask 18 a boy is responsible for his own support. And such a boy should just never have the car.

Skilled counselling from a worker who knows boys could help your dad to get control of his son before it is too late.

DEAR DORIS — For witnesses at my wedding, I have to pay for their flowers, I think. Is this right?

We are going to be a little short on money, so would it be all right to buy paper cups and plates to save our hostess a lot of trouble and work at the reception? — AUTUMN BRIDE.

DEAR BRIDE — You supply your attendants' flowers, the groom his best man's boutonniere. Those are the usual witnesses.

Even an informal wedding reception calls for the best china. Could you donate the cost of paper plates to the hiring of a maid-by-the-hour to help with the clean-up?

Sunday School Lesson

Learning While in Pits

By ROY L. SMITH

It is an indication of intellectual maturity when we begin to think in abstract terms. But this does not mean that the immature are incapable of thinking great thoughts.

Some of the greatest, and most basic ideas of life and faith, have been incorporated into the myths and legends of the people. The American Indians, for example, were wrestling with some of the greatest ideas that ever dawn upon the human mind when they designed their ancient legends.

That there are some basis of historic fact in the Hebrew tales concerning their patriarchs is true, of course, but as they are stories have come down to us they represent the philosophy of the Hebrews' faith, rather than a mere effort to report events.

PIT NOT FATAL

The young man Joseph had gone through a terrible experience, when his brethren had dumped him into a pit, and then sold him into the hands of the trader. It must have come as an awful shock to the young braggart.

The Uniform Sunday School lesson for September 15: "Joseph in Egypt" Genesis 37 through 50.

But that there was something very rare within his spirit and character is evident from the fact that he did not accept the pit as the final judgment on his life. As he cowered at the bottom of the pit, in terror of what might happen next, it is quite probable that he did the clearest thinking he had ever done. He saw himself as his brothers saw him, and determined to do something about it.

It is not enough to admit to one's self that he has been a fool. The really smart person begins at once to cure himself of his foolishness.

It happens many times that the most valuable lessons we ever learn are those we learn while in pits. Many a man has learned how to think straight while in trouble, and if he really learns that lesson; the trouble represents an actual gain.

This is not to say, of course, that any man needs to go hunting for some pit in which to think. There are enough pits in the average man's life, that he does not need to go hunting for them. It is to say, however, that every pit has some contribution to make to life, and whenever we find ourselves in a pit, the first thing to do is to begin looking for the thing we can learn there.

IMMATURITY OF REVENGE

It is a long way from a pit in the desert, to a throne at the heart of an empire. But it is a much longer journey from the arrogance of youthful ignorance to the forgiveness of a man in power.

The stories of Joseph as we have them in the Old Testament leave out so many portions of the story which would make such wonderful reading. The probabilities are that Joseph had some bad days in the court of Pharaoh, before he arrived at the vice-regency. A lad as conceited and as bumptious as Joseph was in the fields of his father's ranch, could hardly have been cured of all his boorishness by one residence in a pit.

Joseph's maturity appeared in his ability to forgive his brethren. They had been a rough, coarse, hardened crew the day they tossed him into the pit. And, except for the fact that they were cowed by their humble when they appeared in Egypt, they were probably about the same kind of men still.

But Joseph had changed. He had learned to forego revenge.

No man has made greater growth than one who has learned to treat generously those against whom he has a grievance.

THERE'S A HINT HERE

It is very probable that Joseph's ability to deal generously with those who did him dirt was one of the reasons he had ascended to a position of power.

The pastor of a famous church found himself in a situation where he had to settle a matter with a difficult layman. It happened that he knew something very discreditable about the offending individual, but he had to have the consent of a grab little woman if he were to use the evidence. In replying to his request for permission, she said "I think you are big enough to deal with him on a different basis." And that remark saved the preacher from committing a great folly.

Huge Russian Wheat Sale In Offing

Said to Be Worth Over $500,000,000

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada's biggest grain sale ever to a Communist country is expected to be concluded this weekend or early next week with a mammoth sale to Soviet Russia, informants say.

The deal is said to be worth more than $500,000,000 with more than 300,000,000 bushels of wheat expected to be shipped in what would be the largest single order ever received here for wheat in one year.

Recent grain sales to Communist China would be dwarfed.

Informants also indicated "that a sale of trade agreement, under stood to be in the final stages of negotiation with Russia, may provide for additional grain sales.

With an immense wheat crop of 481,321,000 bushels, only slightly less than 1957's record harvest, forecast for this year's crop of huge magnitude may help lessen the prospects of a major increase in surplus wheat stocks.

Terms of the grain sale to Russia are believed to involve shipments within one year on a cash-and-credit basis.

BRITAIN HOLDS RECORD

Britain is the leader of any kind Canada has ever received was the 1946-49 long-term wheat deal of 600,000,000 bushels with Britain.

Reports that Russia is on the verge of making major purchases from Canada was given additional support Friday in Montreal grain trading circles.

Ship brokers say they have detected in the last few days a spiking of activity by Russia in the international ship-charter market. Already some vessels have been chartered by the St. Lawrence River and Black and Baltic Sea ports, while others are being chartered to ply between Vancouver and the Siberian port of Vladivostok.

Russia, one of the world's big grain growers, has not officially said how much it may be in the market for Canadian grain. However, there have been reports of a major wheat freight in some of its grain areas.

Officials here also report that most Canadian wheat exports this year had a poor harvest, which may spur other Canadian sales.

FARMERS BENEFIT

The prospect of a major sale to Russia had its impact in several ways Friday.

1. There was heightened activity in the Winnipeg grain exchange.

2. The Canadian wheat board took further steps to reappraise the soft wheats grade specification.

As a result 1,000,000 bushels of Ontario soft winter wheat was sold to an undisclosed European country, subject to approval for a five-year term, Prime Minister Pearson announced Friday.

Levesque Says Quebec Politicians 'Incoherent', Uncertain of Selves

ESTEREL, Que. (CP)—Rene Levesque, Quebec natural resources minister, said Friday night politicians in Quebec are generally "incoherent, and completely uncertain of themselves."

He was addressing the annual meeting of the Institut Canadien des Affaires Publiques which has Politicians as its theme.

Mr. Levesque, described the Quebec legislative assembly as a place where 70 to 80 actors were trying to find themselves." There are 95 members in the assembly.

He said parliamentarianism is in a state of general crisis in the world and particularly where the individual parliament has been the centre of political life. Quebec politicians now feel they are wasting their lives day by day.

"Bewildered, astounded, befuddled by parliamentary procedures, they ask themselves what they are doing there."

He said with present political climate depends greatly on the personality of the leader, he is not equipped to fulfill his duties.

Mr. Levesque said the party caucus, for example, was not instituted for robots and gives the ordinary member an opportunity to defend himself vis a vis the party.

However he said most members of the legislative assembly are Ontario and then gradually to the south.

Denning Report Might Rock All Britain

LONDON (AP)—Prime Minister Macmillan is expected to receive Monday a judicial inquiry report that might rock all Britain and determine Britain's next government.

It is the 60,000-word report of Lord Denning. He has been investigating security aspects of the Profumo scandal — and, some reports say, various other aspects of British public life.

So alert are politicians, press and public to the political ramifications the report may contain that this is being called the "Waiting for Denning Weekend."

Lord Denning, 64, whose official title is Master of the Rolls, was appointed by Macmillan to conduct his investigation on June 26. The was after Macmillan's war minister, John Profumo, resigned, admitting that he had lied to the House of Commons in denying he had an affair with playgirl Christine Keeler at the same time as she was having relations with Yevgeny Ivanov, Russian naval attache.

To Stand Trial For Slaying Of Four Boys

QUEBEC (CP) — Leopold Dion, 43, charged with capital murder for the slaying of four young boys, was committed for trial when he appeared at preliminary hearing Friday.

The next term of the criminal assizes is scheduled to open Oct. 10.

Dion, after the reading of each of the four charges, said he had no statement to make.

He broke down and sobbed when Det. Andre No. Morin of the Quebec Provincial Police, a witness, produced the clothing worn by 13-year-old Guy Lennock of Jonquiere, one of the boys killed.

Dion was arrested last May 21.

The victims were, in addition to the 13-year-old boy, Michel Morel, 9; Alain Carrier, 11, and Pierre Marquis, 13, all of Quebec City.

Must File Returns Of Setup

OTTAWA (CP)—A new warning will be served on the top officials of some 15,000 corporations across Canada that they may face fines and jail sentences soon unless they file special information returns to Ottawa on the financial structure and foreign control of their businesses.

Advertisements will be taken next week in 27 daily newspapers across Canada to remind the delinquent corporations that they face trouble under the law if they fail to file a return by Oct. 1 under the Corporations and Labor Unions Returns Act.

The act came into effect Jan. 1 and the original deadline for returns was July 1. This was extended to Oct. 1 to give corporations and labor unions a chance to complete their returns.

23,000 DELINQUENT

Officials of the special agency set up to process the corporation and labor union returns said about 24,000 corporations have claimed exemption under the act.

Prime Minister May Confer With Kennedy

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister Pearson and President Kennedy may confer in New York next week, it was learned Friday night.

Mr. Pearson addresses the United Nations 18th general assembly Thursday and Mr. Kennedy speaks next Friday.

It is understood that no formal time has been set yet for a meeting between the two but it's a fair prospect they will get together privately sometime on Friday.

Both also are expected to be luncheon guests of UN Secretary-General U Thant Friday.

Originally, Mr. Pearson had been expected to address the UN Friday but he made arrangements to speak a day earlier following a telephone conversation with President Kennedy.

Mr. Pearson will be accompanied by External Affairs Minister Martin and Mrs. Pearson. He will fly to New York Monday night, returning to Ottawa Sunday afternoon, Sept. 22.

His schedule includes a meeting with the Canadian delegation at the UN Tuesday.

Mr. Pearson is expected to address the assembly about 10:30 a.m. EDT Thursday as the second speaker following Brazil.

Two Opposition Parties Continue Varied Attacks

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

While Premier Roberts was defending the Progressive Conservative stand on the federal government plan in Sarnia Friday night, opposition leaders continued their assaults on various other topics.

Liberal Leader John Wintermeyer was addressing a rally in Port William, re - opened his campaign against the Progressive Conservative record in affairs in the community of White River.

He claimed his questions about the lows will not be answered because the Tory regime cannot afford the White River industry exposed to the light of day."

In Oshawa, New Democratic Party Chief Donald MacDonald criticized Ontario's labor department, saying it has failed to grow with the province.

"We have a labor department practising its new look and stubbornly refusing to introduce a single new plan into its safety program," he said.

Mr. Wintermeyer cut short his campaign tour in his campaign for the Sept. 25 general election, cancelling tonight's speech in Fort Frances to prepare for taping of a joint television appearance with the other leaders.

Mr. Roberts planned to campaign in Ottawa today, and the NDP leader was to visit Stratford and London.

Provinces Demand Bigger Share of Taxation Fields

OTTAWA (CP) — In about nine weeks the minority Liberal government will be put in the same agonizing position that the former Conservative administration occupied with a big majority in 1960.

It will be faced with whopping demands by the provinces for a bigger share of the taxation fields. These will come at the fall Dominion - Provincial conference which probably will open Monday, Nov. 18.

It was at the conference three years ago that Premier Lesage, only a month after he won Quebec from the Union Nationale, insisted on 28 per cent of the personal and corporation income tax fields for his province.

He didn't get it.

And Leslie Frost, who had not yet stepped aside for John Robarts as Ontario Premier, then demanded an even bigger cut—50 per cent. His case, Ontario needed the money and that if Ottawa didn't provide it, the province would have to raise more money by imposing a sales tax.

KEEPS WORD

Mr. Frost didn't get his way, either. His word was kept; the provincial government imposed a three-per-cent sales tax the following year.

The Liberal government can expect no less.

Mr. Lesage has since repeated his demand; this time putting teeth into it.

In his budget speech prior to the federal general election of April 8, Mr. Lesage said in part:

"Either the central government, whichever party is elected April 8, will have profited from the next 12 months to take account of the demands of Quebec or we in Quebec will have seen to it, during the same period, that necessary decisions in fiscal matters will have been taken. "And these decisions will be those dictated to us by the objectives of economic, social and cultural affirmation which we have fixed for ourselves at the very demand of the Quebec people."

Mr. Lesage warned that he didn't intend to repeat the same demands each year "without tangible results."

And Premier Robarts has been campaigning in the Sept. 25 Ontario election for a mandate to the Dominion - Provincial conference.

The existing federal - provincial tax collections agreement now is in its second full year, with three more years to run before it expires at the end of the 1966-67 fiscal year, March 31, 1967.

But it can be changed; the provinces did in 1958.

They had inherited an agreement under which Ottawa rented 9 per cent of personal income tax, nine percentage points — as distinct from nine per cent — of corporation taxable income, and 50 per cent of succession duties.

The Conservatives raised the 50 per cent to 13, producing the so-called 13-4-50 formula.

In 1961, following the 1960 conference, they abandoned the tax-rental system and turned instead to "tax collections" sharing.

The key difference is that Ottawa decided to progressively return the provinces 13 per

Dakota Quints All Well

ABERDEEN, S.D. (AP) — Quintuplet girls and boy — were born early today to Mrs. Andy Fischer, 30, Selby's hospital here to 30-year-old wife of a wholesale grocery shipping clerk.

Mrs. Fischer delivered the five babies and their mother, Mrs. Andrew Fischer, in good condition.

Said Fischer: "I don't make the most money in the world. It does present some problems —how I'm going to take care of them, along with the five we have."

Doctors described Mrs. Fischer as "pretty tired" following the births, which took about 1¼ hours but involved no surgery.

The births were about two months short of the usual nine-month gestation period. Doctors at the hospital said it is not unusual for multiple births to occur before nine months.

The babies were not weighed immediately. Mrs. Fischer's physician, Dr. James Berkley, said the births presented some difficulties because four of the children were breech deliveries, although one arrived in the usual head-first position.

ALL FINE

In the hospital nursery this morning, however, all five babies were described as getting along fine.

Dr. Berkley said the Fischers were told Wednesday, following an x-ray examination, that the

Given Life For Strangling His Wife

PORT ARTHUR (CP)—A 43-year-old Port Arthur man Friday was sentenced to life imprisonment for strangling his wife.

Arthur Frank Smith, being tried on a charge of capital murder in the death April 5 of his 39-year-old wife, Billie, entered a plea of guilty to a reduced charge of non-capital murder.

The plea was accepted and the plea after deliberating five minutes and Smith was sentenced by Mr. Justice D. F. J. Kelly.

Evidence at the trial, which began Thursday, revealed Smith strangled his wife with three pieces of electric cord and had planned to kill Shannel and his two daughters, aged 9 and 11. Smith admitted killing his wife in his family doctor, C. E. Baker, the following morning Dr. Baker notified police.

Labor Leaders Trying To Settle Lakes Dispute

Hall-May Ditch Banks To Get Union Trustees

WASHINGTON (CP) — Prospects of a private Great Lakes labor battle settlement — perhaps involving removal of Harold C. Banks as Canadian SIU head—gained momentum Friday.

There were indications that labor leaders in Canada and the U.S. are focusing attention on a trade-union trusteeship over the Seafarers International Union of Canada to avoid the enactment of Canadian government controls over Canadian maritime unions.

Paul Hall, president of the SIU of North America (AFL-CIO), is reported prepared to agree to such an approach, removing his support of Banks as the Canadian SIU boss, providing the private trusteeship is in line with AFL-CIO ethical conduct rules and providing the SIU retains its power on the Great Lakes.

Informants here said Hall met secretly with Labor Secretary Willard Wirtz about 10 p.m. Thursday on the latter's yacht and Wirtz now is seeking further discussions with Canadian Labor Minister Allan J. MacEachen to seek a Canada - U.S. compromise on setting up a private trusteeship might function.

These informants said Wirtz is convinced Ottawa prefers government would accept the trade union approach, rather than seek parliamentary approval for a government - directed trusteeship, if this meets with approval of the labor leaders involved.

WILLING TO LISTEN

In Ottawa, Claude Jodoin, president of the Canadian Labor Congress, said he is willing to consider a private trade union settlement and would like to discuss this further with George Meany, AFL-CIO president, who had not been informed of any proposition.

Halifax Labor Minister Allan J. MacEachen said Friday he has been informed Banks intends to go ahead with its plan for public trusteeship of the SIU and will maintain control operating on the Great Lakes.

He made this statement before leaving Washington airport that Hall might accept a private settlement of the labor dispute.

MacEachen said he had no word from Wirtz on a possible private settlement. Meanwhile, he declined comment on the U.S. report.

FIND BOY

TORONTO (CP)—Julian Toth, 12, of Toronto, missing for two weeks, has been found living like a beggar in downtown Toronto, police said Friday night. He said the boy slept in a wooden crate in an alley off Spadina Avenue and said he lived on a begged food from housewives.

Ten Printers At Register Walk Off Jobs

KINGSTON (CP)—Ten printers employed by a weekly religious newspaper here set up picket lines 20 minutes after they cast ballots in a strike vote Friday.

A representative of the International Typographical Union (CLC) said the men, members of Local 304, are seeking increased wages, fewer working hours and improved job security at the Canadian Register, a national Roman Catholic publication.

An ITU representative said the strike followed failure to negotiate a new contract with the journal. The former contract expires on March 15.

Editor P. A. G. McKay said the strike would not affect operations.

"There are enough personnel belonging to the International Association of Catholic Journalists' Union who have agreed to cross the picket lines," he said.

He felt the strike was a result of a dispute between the union and a unit with will be certified as bargaining agent if non-profit are lost.

The dispute is [illegible] and come before the Ontario Supreme Court here Sept. 30.

Woman Likely Strangled By Burglar

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — Mrs. Caroline Weldman apparently was strangled by an unidentified burglar, Inspector of Detectives Leonard Hamilton said Friday night.

He said investigators are satisfied the strangler was in her home Wednesday and left after a bathroom clothes closet when he came home at midnight Wednesday.

Investigators believe the killer struck the 70-year-old woman, a cafeteria worker at an insurance company, was going ready for bed.

Inspector Hamilton said a "substantial" amount of money and jewellery have been taken.

Detectives were working on a number of leads, but up to Friday night had uncovered no suspects.

Probe of Students' Cuban Visit Comes to End After More Rows

WASHINGTON (AP) — One of the most violent episodes in the controversial history of the House of Representatives committee on un-American activities has ended.

A beatnik-lugged tide of students and their followers has been washed out of Washington by two days of hearings on a trip to Cuba by a number made to order for committee exploitation of a state department ban.

Many among the young people who jammed the hearing room in shirts, blue jeans and sandals never bare feet.

There was serious outbreak among the many that plagued the hearings came near the end Friday.

A witness, Kathy Pransky, 20, who called herself a member of a Progressive Labor student club, which the committee called a Communist splinter group. Her voice trembling with emotion, she said:

"I have a deep belief in socialism and in socialism we can have a government who is truly representative and who are not elected because Negroes are not allowed to vote . . ."

A sharp outburst of applause greeted this and almost instantly Chairman Edwin Willis, Louisiana Democrat.

Police began grabbing the loudest clappers and hustling them toward the door. "Leave quietly," he ordered. "This is not a rally," someone shouted over and over.

Several girls squirmed out of the grasp of the police and slumped to the floor; they were carried out the front steps of the building.

At least 13 persons were rushed out of the building and carried down the front steps of the building.

The avowed purpose of the hearings was to determine whether new laws are needed to prevent unauthorized Americans from travelling to Cuba. But much of the questioning of counsel Alfred Nittis was aimed at linking the Cuban visit group with the Progressive Labor Organization, which he said was founded by two Communists expelled from the party for deviationism.

Frost General in Quinte Area, Cucumbers and Tomatoes Nipped, 36 Official Low at Belleville

R. J. Cudney, Dep. Secretary, Resigns Post

TORONTO (CP)—Robert J. Cudney, Ontario's deputy provincial secretary, said today he has resigned because certain assurances given him about his authority and area of responsibility have not been fulfilled.

Mr. Cudney, who has been with the Ontario government for 33 years—18 of them as deputy minister in the provincial secretary's department—said he handed in his resignation last week but had been asked by Premier Roberts to reconsider. He tendered his resignation Saturday, Friday.

"I was given certain assurances that certain reforms would be carried out in the department and that I would be restored the authority and responsibility that statutes attribute to a deputy minister," he said.

"On these assurances, I agreed to go on. These assurances have not been fulfilled."

In Sarnia, Premier Roberts said Friday night he has received Mr. Cudney's letter of resignatin but "I have not had time to deal with it." He declined further comment.

TERMED BOMBSHELL

Donald C. MacDonald, leader of Ontario's New Democratic Party, described the resignation as a "bombshell that may well blow the lid off things" in the remaining days of the election campaign for the Sept. 30 Ontario election.

Both Mr. MacDonald and John Whitesmeyer, Ontario Liberal leader, attributed Mr. Cudney's resignation to failure of the government to reform the secretary's department and the conduct of the royal commission on crime last year.

Mr. Cudney, 58, said he could neither confirm nor deny this. "I've thought deeply about this. It hasn't come quickly. I would have much preferred to have stayed with the department for another seven years until I got full pension benefits, but in times of conscience I didn't think I could stay."

He said his resignation has nothing to do with the provincial election.

This is several weeks earlier than frost is generally expected and farmers stated it would be later in the day before the damage could be assessed.

One thing was known — that the white frost was general and the cucumber, pumpkin and tomato vines were crippled.

HEAVY AT CONSECON

"We hope it didn't harm the tomatoes", another Prince Edward farmer stated. "They are just now starting to be picked in the volume where the first white frost on the season is noticed this morning.

County Jail Said Too Good For Law-Breakers by Jury

"Crowbar Hotel" — that deservedly affectionate name of local sawbones Doc Hastings' County jail — may be a little more securely bolted than an outsider suspects.

At least, that's one intimation that could be taken from the grand jury report to Ontario Supreme Court Justice E. G. Morrhouse on jail conditions.

The jury, which visited all buildings supported by public funds in the county during the Assizes this week in Belleville—found everything normal — in fact better than normal.

"All the inmates are receiving fair treatment, none being unduly detained," commented the report unanimously. Then, with robust conviction, it concluded:

"This jail is too good for law-breakers."

While the statement leaves all sorts of conclusions to the imagination, what the report basically means is that jail administration is sound and, within the strict regulations governing reform institutions humanely conducted.

In all, the grand jury had a busy two days this week on the orders of Judge Morrhouse, visiting all institutions supported by the taxpayers in the Bellleville area.

In two instances, the jurors discovered what they considered organizations deserving of more public funds.

COULD USE GRANTS

The Ontario Home for Mentally Retarded Infant Inc., a non-profit contract hospital started in 1951 was the more urgent of the two.

"It is under the capable direction of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Vellemans and their whole heart is in the work of caring for these mentally retarded babies," said the jurors.

"With a staff of fifty, they are doing the impossible and are building a new main wing to the present hospital and badly need a provincial grant at this time."

The School for Retarded Children in Belleville also needed more support.

"We found everything to be in as good order as could be expected since the building is very old," reported the jury. "There are 50 children, here with three teachers and they are doing an admirable job. They certainly could use a larger grant."

Of the County's Home for the Aged, the jurors said it was in excellent condition "with a quiet happiness prevailing and with-beautiful bouquets of flowers in many places throughout the building. Old friends from our home town (s), now living here, all brought delighted to see and talk to us, appear to be happy and contented and well cared for."

The Ontario School for the Deaf is "under very efficient management" and its teachers "friendly and really devoted to their work."

INSPECTED HOSPITAL

For possibly the first time the jury inspected Belleville General Hospital, now partially a county responsibility. It is "a tribute to the County and the City of Belleville" said the jurors and patients have "spoken well of the treatment and help they derive here."

Also visited was the Children's Aid Shelter on Belleville's Highland Avenue which "is being conducted effectually."

Foreman of the jury was John F. Horsepool, a farmer reeve of Faraday Township.

Prices Steady In Extremely Light Trading

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Prices remained steady in extremely light trading on Canadian stock markets this week.

The commercial paper market was relatively inactive. Most of the normally active borrowers had few money requirements which coincided with a somewhat scarcer supply of loanable funds due to seasonal factors and anticipation of a new government of Canada issue.

The 91-day treasury bills average continued its rising trend going up 3.70 per cent this week compared with 3.75 per cent last week. The 182-day bill average remained steady at 3.96 per cent.

Trading was quiet on the long-term market. The Canada 4¼-per-cent, 1983, issue traded at 99¾ and the 5¼-per-cent, 1980, issue at 101-101¼.

Prices on the provincial market eased fractionally during the week. The Province of Ontario 5¼-per cent, 1983, issue was quoted at 98¾-99¾ and the Manitoba Hydro 5¼ - per - cent, 1982, issue at 97¾-97¾.

On the corporate market most activity was centred around he convertible issues with the Trans-Canada Pipe Lines five-per-cent, 1988, issue closing at 136¼-137½ and the Home Oil six-per-cent, 1975, issue at 115¾-116¼. Both issues gained seven points.

Production of margarine in August decreased to 12,928,000 pounds from 13,028,000 in the corresponding month last year, the bureau of statistics said Friday. This brought output in the January-August period to 111,482,000 pounds, down 8.6 per cent from 121,913,000 a year earlier.

the act—which means they don't have to file returns. Another 23, or one-quarter, have sent in their formal return.

But an estimated 25,000 corporations have done nothing—and they are the ones to whom the warning is directed.

A special warning notice was mailed directly to some 30,000 corporations to remind them of the Oct. 1 deadline.

Under the federal law, corporations failing to file a return or establish their exemption may face court action and a possible fine of up to $25 a day for each day of default. The officers, directors and agents of offending corporations may also be fined $50 a day as well as sentenced to jail for up to three months.

BASIS OF REPORTS

The returns will be the basis of a series of statistical reports to the government showing the financial structure of corporations and trade unions in Canada. The extent of foreign control is also expected to be uncovered.

The returns are divided into two categories — part to be available to the public for a reasonable fee and to be treated confidentially and disclosed only in general terms.

A reporter who paid $1 to look at the return filed by the Seafarers' International Union of Canada—in the news right now—was told that he was the first person to make use of the public findings. The SIU file showed the names of the top officers, how they were elected, gave the addresses of the SIU's branch offices and the officials who man them, plus a list of collective bargaining agreements held by the SIU.

The confidential portion of the returns from corporations and trade unions are kept in special file racks inside a cage in the Ottawa headquarters of the Dominion Bureau of Statistics.

New Moves Seen by de Gaulle In South Viet Nam Crisis

By DAVID MASON

PARIS (AP)—Diplomats believe the return of French Ambassador Roger Lalouette from South Viet Nam for high-level consultations could herald a move by President de Gaulle in the former French territory.

But the general opinion is that de Gaulle will refrain from any immediate moves that could aggravate the Buddhist crisis in the southeast Asian nation.

De Gaulle irritated officials in Washington last month by suggesting both South Viet Nam and the Communist north would be better off free from "foreign influence." He also proposed a policy of reunification and neutralization of the two nations, possibly with France guiding the wy.

SEE AN U.S.

The French president's statement was interpreted as a slap at the U.S. role in South Viet Nam and his belief he could do a better job in an area France occupied for a century. The United States is spending more than $1,000,000 daily in South Viet Nam to help battle the Communist Viet Cong.

Lalouette, who returned Friday, will spend two weeks in the French capital.

There have been reports that it was Lalouette who had suggested to de Gaulle that France take a hand in the Vietnamese crisis as a step to restoring French prestige in southeast Asia. The French government has denied the reports.

Diplomatic circles explained it was natural that France should want to take a stand on the grave events affecting Viet Nam in view of the long French experience in the region.

They explained that de Gaulle has given the U.S. a long-range view of the problem and drawing guidelines for the distant future.

Liberal Backbenchers Not Happy With Caucus System

By KEN KELLY

OTTAWA (CP) — It doesn't take acute hearing to be aware of rumblings of discontent among Liberal backbench ers these days.

One example flared into the open Thursday with a public statement critical of the administration by two Gaspe peninsula Liberals—one of them the party's chairman of the caucus of Quebec MPs.

But few reporters on Parliament Hill can talk long to backbenchers without becoming aware that they have beefs which may prove serious for the minority government.

They seem to stem from two causes — apparent breakdowns in liaison between the cabinet ministers and the backbenchers and the operations of the caucus system.

Such breakdowns in liaison are, perhaps, inevitable in big government handling a myriad of problems from each of the 263 constituencies.

But the caucus system, supposedly designed to ease differenc. During parliament sessions MPs of the various parties meet behind closed doors weekly, -and sometimes more frequently, to discuss party strategy in the Commons.

One specific complaint from the Liberal backbench relates to the legislation approved in July by Parliament boosting MPs' pay to $18,000 a year from $12,000.

One MP says the Liberal caucus wasn't given the figures on the increase until the last minute before the bill was introduced in the Commons—and when the $8,000-a-year raise was announced in the House there was no opportunity given for discussion.

Yet, said this MP, "we have to bear the brunt of the criticisms from our electors over the size of the increase."

The MP's words pointed up a fundamental difference between the caucus meetings of the three parties in the Commons.

In two of them all questions are decided by a vote of the MPs. In two others, policies are determined by the party leaders and, though caucus is advised of the plans, so deciding vote is cast by the members.

The voting caucuses are the New Democratic and Social Credit. The non-voting ones are the Liberal and Progressive Conservative.

The aim of the caucus is to present a united party front in the House of Commons on every specific question. And because two parties don't hold votes on individual issues, caucus meetings mean the objections to a proposed course of action from within the caucus are ignored by the leadership.

Chiefs Favor Wider Use Of Strap

HAMILTON (CP) — Canadian police chiefs favored the retention of capital punishment and a wider use of the strap.

Winding up a week-long conference here Friday, the 300 delegates to the annual conference all agreed that capital punishment "serves as a formidable deterrent in the commission of planned capital offences."

They also said many judges had not applied the strap effectively to hand down punishments to suit the more serious crimes and they asked that members of the bench reconsider their views on the use of the strap.

The chiefs recommended the abolition of separate charges for drinking drivers. They would be replaced with a single charge—"driving while under the influence of alcohol."

Persons found impaired and intoxicated driving charges are both criminal offences but the penalties differ. The new penalty would depend on the degree of alcoholic influence. The chiefs also recommended that a specific level of alcohol in a driver's blood be established to create evidence of impaired driving ability.

The chiefs also urged that conference ask for legislation to make mandatory the installation of seat belts in all cars as part of regular equipment.

Other recommendations included a semi-annual inspection of all vehicles, a minimum age for small-boat operators, uniform traffic regulations and a uniform system of automobile records.

ASK SAFETY STEPS

TORONTO (CP)—The executive of the Ontario Foundry Council of the United Steelworkers of America (CLC) demanded Thursday that Labor Minister Rowntree implement new safety regulations immediately. The council, which represents 10,100 foundry workers in 40 plants in Ontario, said in a statement: "The time has come for Mr. Rowntree to live up to his promises and remove the dustcrown put over these vital regulations by three successive labor ministers."

Kinsette Club Holds First Meet of Term

The Kinsette Club of Belleville held their first regular meeting of the season at the Golf and Country Club on Thursday evening with a near 100 per cent attendance.

The meeting was opened by immediate past-president Mrs. Rose Mary Belanger and during a brief ceremony, turned the gavel over to the new president, Mrs. Marlene Parks.

During the business portion of the meeting Ethel Coumbe - Chairman, Mrs. Thelma Stephan, presented her report. Mrs. Stephan said that her committee had made plans for the near future to escort members of the Whitby Gun Club to one of the local bowling alleys, where they will act in the capacity of score keepers for the players.

Three prospective Kinettes were introduced at Thursday night's meeting. Mrs. Wilma Keyes, Mrs. Betty Pralick and Mrs. Jean Vanstone, from the Ladies' Circle in England, a form of Kinette Club there. Mrs. Vanstone will be acting as correspondent between her homeland club and the Kinette Club of Belleville.

Projects for the coming year were also discussed at the meeting and will be announced later. Mrs. Parks says they are hoping for a very successful year.

Domestic Fight Led to Deaths Of 3 Persons

VACAVILLE, Calif. (AP)—Police believe a domestic quarrel over six poodles led to the deaths of two men, a woman and the dogs.

The victims were sir force Sgt. Pedro Montano, 35; Henry H. White, 45; Montano's wife, Georgia, 38, and her French and German poodles. White was the woman's former husband.

Police Chief James Lehman said he apparently pointed toward this weird sequence of events:

The Montanos quarreled violently, beginning Wednesday night, very likely about the filthy condition of their $20,000 ranch-style house in which the dogs ran loose.

A neighbor heard a shot at 1 a.m. Thursday. Montano, who had gone to bed, had a bullet fired into his head.

Mrs. Montano then set about to conceal everything. She killed three dogs by placing plastic bags over their heads, and bashed in the heads of the others. This was to keep them from barking.

USE TO SET FIRE

She splashed highly inflammable fluid throughout the house — everywhere," Lehman said. "She apparently figured she could flee from the house after setting it on fire.

Then White suddenly appeared at the house to drive Mrs. Montano to San Francisco to visit her sick mother.

White was shot in the head with the same semi-sosed gun that had killed Montano.

The gun flash exploded the volatile fumes.

Screaming and seared by flames, Mrs. Montano crashed part way through a window before she died.

New Shops at O. S. D. Unfinished Classes Make Do in Present Rooms

With completion of the new boys' vocational school at the Ontario School for the Deaf delayed, mainly as result of the electrician's strike during the summer, it is a case of "make do" in the department until about the middle of October.

School superintendent said yesterday the new vocational directory was now "coming along nicely" with completion expected by October 15th.

Although completion of the vocational school is about a month and a half behind the expected date, organization for the department was complete for the opening of the fall school term.

All required teachers were hired and the classes are operating in various rooms and basement quarters in the existing facility. The auto body shop is operating in the school bus garage.

With many of the shop classes already in existence prior to the closing of the school in June, Mr. Demers said it was merely a case of making do until the new building is completed.

Ten shops and related facilities will be accommodated in the new structure. Five additional teachers for new courses were hired for the opening of the fall school term.

The school enrolment now stands at 320 students.

Peak enrolment at the school was last October, when there were 340 children registered. At that time 96 students were transferred to the new school for the deaf at Milton, west of Toronto.

With the opening of school early this month registration was up to the 320 which has been set as the maximum.

Should Not Listen to Wirtz

It is easy to understand, and even possible to sympathize with, U.S. Labor Secretary Willard Wirtz in his reluctance to endorse the proposal of Mr. Justice T. G. Norris that a public trusteeship be established by the Canadian Government over fire marine unions.

After all, the labor war on the Canadian side of the Great Lakes is not his problem. He will have troubles enough without going out of his way to invite the enmity of powerful U.S. unions on an issue which is of no direct concern to him.

Which one has said that, though, one has said everything which a Canadian ought to concede to Wirtz. Canada is under no necessity to pay his attitude any more attention than merely to recognize its existence, although without U.S. cooperation the establishment of a trusteeship could create new and extremely bothersome problems for Canadian ships when they ply U.S. waters or dock at U.S. ports.

This, though, is a problem which can be met when it arises. The first essential is that our government should rule Canada in the manner in which it thinks best, not in the manner in which a high official of a friendly neighbor thinks is expedient.

No head should be paid the belligerent utterances of Paul Hall, president of the SIU, beyond marking him down as totally unacceptable for the role of private trustee, a position which it has been suggested might be offered to him. In any case, when Mr. Hall had distinguished himself by adopting an eminently reasonable attitude, his appointment to such a post would be ridiculous. Mr. Hall has had ample opportunity to avoid the necessity for any trusteeship, since as president of the SIU he could easily have controlled the activities of its Canadian director, Hal Banks, whose conduct has made the trusteeship necessary.

Mr. Hall, however, may have earned himself a vote of thanks from Canadians. His description of Claude Jodoin, president of the Canadian Congress of Labor, as "gutless" ought to be enough to convince organized labor here that the SIU is beyond the pale. It may very well provide just the resentment needed to persuade the Canadian sections of big international unions that their first loyalty is to their country.

Public trusteeship is a bitter pill for organized labor to be asked to swallow. It opens the door to all types of possible abuses. Most Canadians, though, and we would hope most members of labor unions, will consider that the Canadian Government is more to be trusted in this instance than is the leader of any union who would belittle Canada's No. 1 labor official in such an insulting manner.

The sooner government action is taken to control the SIU in Canada, the better for all concerned, including organized labor.

Will Aid Crime Victims

New Zealand has come up with a new gimmick, which widens the scope of social security which can be offered by the welfare state.

It plans to pay compensation to innocent victims of violent crime, or to their dependents.

Justice Minister Ralph Hanan, who introduced the bill in the New Zealand House of Representatives, said he believed there was "nothing comparable" to this measure anywhere in the world.

This may be true. Still, there is much to be said for the proposal. A man who is crippled by a robber has at least a strong case in appealing to the conscience of the community for aid as has a man crippled by illness, or by a car accident.

The measure will have the additional advantage of making the criminal even more socially unpopular than he is at present.

More talking goes on in the world today than ever before. Radio and television abound in discussion programs, and the producers of these programs are always hopeful that they will sound like conversation. But they seldom do, and for a very good reason—that those talking part are always anxious to make points; and the difference between discussion and conversation lies in that in discussion the prime motive is self-assertion, whereas in conversation it is in self-expression. And we live, it seems, in a singularly assertive age. We are always telling each other things, rather than exchanging ideas. We no longer embody our attitude of mind in the whole texture of our discourse. We are becoming less and less civilized individuals, more and more mouthpieces for selected attitudes.—J. W. Lambert, British author and critic.

Pearson's Press Conferences Take on New Look

By RICHARD JACKSON
From The Intelligencer's Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA — The ancient East Block, where the Prime Minister does business on Parliament Hill between sessions of the Commons, is going formal again in its prewar relation.

Instead of the prime minister's press conferences being held in his office in the St. Laurent days, Prime Minister Pearson is moving his meetings with the press out of the corridor and into a conference room.

In shifting the scene, he is changing the whole mood and spirit of the prime minister's press conferences.

For 15 years, ever since Mackenzie King moved Prime Minister St. Laurent first stopped to chat with waiting newsmen outside his office, the press conference routine has been a free and easy, hit and miss affair, held amid the cigarette butts and ashes that litter the corridor.

Now it moves in on the walls and broadloom of external affairs' large conference room where the initially smokers are obliged to mind their manners and use the ash trays.

Back in the 1940s, the press conferences of the war and postwar years of former Prime Minister Mackenzie King was an occasion indeed, so rare as to happen perhaps only semi-annually.

SLEEPY TIME

For his so infrequent mass confabulations with the press, Mackenzie King would make a point of calling in the newsmen in mid-afternoon when the sun, somewhat on the wane, was streaming through the big old-fashioned East Block windows.

Then with his dainty little feet lightly propped on a pedestal footstool, he would give seemingly interminable answers to the low flow of questions put to him for, and after an hour or so in the heat of the room with the sun beating down through the haze of cigarette smoke, most would begin to nod drowsily.

Perhaps, that was the way the old King liked it. For he is never liked press conferences any way.

All that was changed, quite accidentally, by Mr. St. Laurent.

The day he found the newsmen ambushing him outside his office, so was a little surprised and slightly annoyed, as of just what to do — but being his kindly, courteous old "Uncle Louis" self, he decided that, amiably answering casual questions.

He wasn't to remain always amiable, for the questions became more pointed — even "loaded," was at pains to protest, during such like sessions, the unjustified blade as the Suez Crisis.

But the corridor press conference routine survived all the crises, including the "Battle of the Pipeline," living on as a sort of "safety valve" through quick question and answer quiz.

Now, the right way former Prime Minister Pearson has found it, and considering himself a practiced hand at press relations, he made no changes in the routine.

ALMOST A GAME

When things became a little strained between the PM and the parliamentary press corps — as they invariably seem to do with any prime minister once the honeymoon" begins to cool — Diefenbaker developed his own technique.

Where Mr. King once kept out of the way of trouble-loaded questions by just looking the newsmen to sleep, and Louis St. Laurent grew crotchety and even angry, Dief seemed to the political equivalent of a broken down runner.

He would come jogging it out of his office, and keep moving through the crowding newsmen, fending off tricky questions with quips, verbally ducking and dodging as he made his way feet of the corridor to the privacy of the Privy Council Chamber.

These were sometimes beautiful evasive tactics he displayed and when this performance of broken field running had been particularly spectacular, the frustrated newsmen could often hear his cackle of pleased laughter floating out as the swinging doors of the Privy Council preserve closed behind him.

But sometimes, the press corps was able to throw a block, and then Dief, reverting to his courtroom days, would suddenly become the attorney-at-law, speaking in the offended accent on the end of a stiff-necked indignant lawyer and stopping him cold with a counter fire of cross-questioning.

In the process, though, he became an expert in the art of the quick off-the-cuff answer to question-dodgers, and these corridor quiz sessions regularly preceded and followed Cabinet meetings.

And that was the situation into which Rushman Pearson

Just What Is a Ramper?

Brantford Expositor

We know what an office newspaperman is and we have heard of setup men, telephone editors and province trimmers, but nothing has claimed to be salesbank fairies, trunk murders and doughnut hole makers. A recent issue of Life is want ad column, however, rates all sorts of interesting speculation. What is a female ramper?

Only that the ad for this position appeared in a reputable paper under the name of a respectable firm prevents us from surmising that its unemployment rampant in this work of ramping or on the other hand, if the occupation is one that has to do with ramps, is it an up and down affair or existence? Does the chief ramper ramp at the blind help or in the slang sense of the word is the whole thing just a ramp?

What sort of pay does a ramper get? Is it paid in the upper income ramper? Does it ramp per go to work in rompers? Alas, all the questions, unless a lady of our acquaintance is prepared to apply for the job and enlighten us.

Minister Pearson walked a little uncertainly, and decidedly unhappily.

TOO CHANCY

He did not like or even trust the hurried give and take in the corridor, and did not mind saying so.

He suspected it as almost an open invitation to misunderstanding, misquotation and even misquotation — which in the rush and crowding, notes and reporters in the corridor, it sometimes had been.

If Dief felt he had been misunderstood or misquoted, he would set the record straight at the next session with the press corps, often blistering in his deliberate offender.

But this was not good enough for Pearson, the old diplomat, trained in a school where a word is a carefully weighed. As a former long-time civil servant, he was obviously appalled by the many informalities, if pushing, shoving and often plain turmoil of that hit-and-run corridor conference kind of press conference.

So he has slowed it down, dressed it up, and given it class with TV lights and cameras and tape-recorders. In the calm quiet of External Affairs' new conference room where every question can be heard clearly, and answers given fully, complete with all precautionary qualifications.

And while this, probably, is the better way to do it, with all the formalities, it runs counter to the spontaneity of the old corridor.

Looks like the old free-wheeling days are done, with the off-the-top-of-the-head, spur-of-the moment questions gone into the discard for the studied, even contrived queries that inevitably lead into long and often boring lectures.

It could be the dry up the flow of hard news.

Surgery for Arthritis Has Been Proven Effective

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: How successful is surgery on the hands when they are drawn by rheumatoid arthritis? — Mrs. L. T.

I can't give you a categorical answer.

It is a relatively new procedure. However, the techniques have been perfected and are in use.

There are several important factors to consider. One is the patient's general condition, of course. Another is morale. The arthritic process should be inactive for at least six months before it is possible to try to correct the deformity when the arthritis is still at work and can create further damage.

The patient should be in a position to have physiotherapy for several weeks after the operation.

Surgical correction of the small joints of the fingers is not at all successful if any of the bend as a whole, or larger joints such as elbow, knee, shoulder.

Even though severe arthritis draws the hands into a highly rigid position. The fingers are permanently bent and immobile, not like a fist, but formed from the large knuckles.

Recently such hands can be restored to a remarkably normal appearance. Their usefulness is much improved, but the degree of this depends on the amount of damage, effectiveness of physiotherapy and perseverance of the patient.

The variable factors involved are so important that I am sure you must have an orthopedist evaluate your prospects.

Dear Dr. Molner: If a person has cancer (phthoe-sis) does mark similar to a pimple, appear in a year or more standing, could a doctor detect by examining by just glancing at it whether it is a skin cancer, or would a biopsy be necessary? — J. S.

This can be a perfectly harmless little mole, but a dermatologist usually can tell whether a biopsy is necessary. Such factors as how long it has been present, how much and when the mark appears to have changed, whether it is scaly or not, its appearance and feel. If it can tell quite a bit. A biopsy, of course, makes the answer in doubtful cases. Any time you have no unresolved doubts — but to be too sorry — happy, either. There is no reason for worry if you have resorting to biopsy. It may have should be no delay when a decision is made.

Dear Dr. Molner: My doctor told me I have albumen in my urine. Could I have diabetes? — Mrs. E. S.

If you do, sugar would have been found in the urine. Albumen is found for various reasons but as a single finding does not indicate diabetes. Albumen can appear in cases of urinary tract infection, or as a contamination from some vaginal discharge.

Dear Dr. Molner: What about a man's sexual activity after the age of 60? Please sign — B. N. M.

A few years ago a study by one of the eastern medical centers showed that sexual vigor, while it diminishes with the years, can continue into the 70's, 80's and even 90's.

Sexual activity at advanced age — is neither abnormal nor unusual. It is true that for many people it ceases, because of death of the spouse, or because of decline of general physical vigor.

Another and probably much underestimated factor is nerves, worry, lack of self-confidence. This interferes with sexual ability quite early in life.

Sent Editors 7,000 Letters

The Printed Word

The other week in New York a man died at the age of 93. In his lifetime he had written 7,000 letters to newspapers and had had about half of them published. They were, reports Editor and Publisher, "on multiple subjects."

The thought of all this taking of pen in hand will horrify the average citizen who finds it hard enough to get off a line now and then to family and friends. But it may not occur unbelievable to citizens, and they are a lot of them, to secondary with they had a pulpit or an editorial page to preach from.

Not a newspaper reader would rather miss their morning chat with the letters to editors in the newspapers. It is to the correspondence section with indignation for they never know when they will find a gem. Sometimes a famous name will strike their eye. When the Norris Royal Commission was sitting in Toronto, the learned Judge and this name before he wrote his pungent report, appeared in print in the letters column of the Globe and Mail with a letter on a point of English style. Nonetheless it is evident that the writer had thought before written to the editor but had been genuinely irritated or touched by some matter of public or a bias. There is polished prose, and there is life in it. There is from time to time a fascinating series of letters, when a subject comes up that creates public controversy. There are so many points of view that if the reader (in spite of what "Cassandra" said in a letter the week before) ceases to worry about this being a civilization "sinking into the morass of uniformity."

Any number may play. All that is required is a piece of paper, a pen, an envelope, a stamp and an idea. With these the writer, if the experience of the thousands of the letters writers can be relied upon, has a 50-50 chance of being printed. The letter-writing habit is a good one, not thing to a town meeting that most communities have.

"Trespassers Will Be Fair Play" or "Disguised" may turn out to be your neighbor.

Spies Everywhere

Spies are everywhere! On the New Jersey turnpike, according to a U.S. report, state troopers are manoeuvring as the passengers, sitting near the front to see if the driver goes over the speed limit. Ordinary drivers have become suspicious of stalwart hitchhikers

A man, nervously worn down by his job, family worries, bills and the sheer matter of being tired, suddenly finds himself "impotent."

He should get some rest and stop worrying.

Psychiatrist Looks at Golf

St. Louis Post-Dispatch

We know a good many people who won't like Dr. Carl P. Adatto, a psychiatry professor at Louisiana State University. Dr. Adatto is the author of a research paper titled, "On Play and the Psychopathology of Golf." He describes golf addiction as the free play of a two-year-old and the golf game of an adult. The doctor says in part:

"The golfer's game becomes a crucial arena for adaptation and social working out conflicts, ranging through the infantile neurotic and, in addition, may become a psychotic activity, losing the element of enjoyment of relaxation and definitely a defensive role. Players may actively use the game constructively in working out conflicts, although definitely not aware of it as such."

We can go along with the professor to some extent; we have often felt smaller than a two-year-old after missing a four-inch putt, or worse, missing a ball entirely. Such mishaps shrink the average golfer down to a nubbin. There are also many days when we have really played the game constructively in working out conflicts, simply because the conditions for golf defy solution. Anyone who tries to solve personal problems by triumphing in golf might do well to look for a set of abysmal frustrations. He is more likely to go home and beat his wife over the head with a sand wedge.

It is probably true that, in the long run, the average golfer comes to require psychiatric help. We suspect Dr. Adatto has derived his observations from his couch, rather than from the golf course behind the second hole.

Touchy Subject

Fort William Times-Journal

Government control is a touchy subject among members of the medical profession in Canada just now. Some of them no doubt would question the propriety of action by doctors in sanctioning pressure group government manipulation of the tobacco industry, while resisting at the same time government manipulation of the practice of medicine.

Vatican Watches Conference To See Whether Other Orthodox Churches Will Reject Council

By HENNET M. BOLTON

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Intense interest focused here today on whether other Eastern Orthodox churches will follow the Greek lead, boycott the Vatican ecumenical council and reject papal appeals for unity with the Roman Catholic Church.

The forthcoming Pan-Orthodox Conference at Rhodes, Greece took on new significance following Greek Orthodox Primate Chrysostomos' rejection Friday of any hope for future reunion with the Vatican.

The Rhodes meeting Sept. 19 will decide whether Orthodox churches should accept a Vatican invitation to the second council session which opens 10 days later. One of the council's chief aims is to find ways to unite Christendom.

There was no official Vatican reaction to Archbishop Chrysostomos' attack on the Roman Catholic Church. But several Vatican prelates concerned with Eastern churches expressed their own views.

SEEK OPTIMISTIC

They appeared optimistic that most Orthodox churches will send observers to the ecumenical council.

One Vatican prelate suggested that the harshness of Chrysostomos' words might have a reverse effect on the rest of Orthodoxy. He said the clergy meeting in Rhodes might hesitate to reject the Vatican invitation because it could imply agreement with the Greek primate and damage moves toward Christian unity.

Another Vatican expert on Eastern churches said: "We were interested all along in what will happen at Rhodes. Now we are going to be watching even more closely."

The Greek Orthodox have so far counted themselves out. First their 85-man holy synod, or ruling body, said it would boycott the Rhodes conference. Then the synod tried unsuccessfully to get the Greek government of Cyprus to forbid use of the island of Rhodes.

UNITY OUT

Finally Archbishop Chrysostomos denounced the Roman Catholic Church Friday as "essentially and absolutist." He said it would be foolish for any Orthodox churchmen to attend the Vatican council, and declared that future Orthodox - Catholic unity "is unattainable on doctrinal and other grounds."

He added, "the Orthodox world will never be disposed to accept the infallibility of the Pope."

Just a year ago the Orthodox churches struggled with this same question of whether to accept an invitation from Pope John to attend the Oct. 11, 1962, council opening. They decided against it.

But the Russian Orthodox Church in Moscow sent two observers at the last minute. Other Orthodox churches, being autocephalous (jurisdictionally independent within themselves) and able to act on their own, followed suit.

Observers showed up from the Syrian, Armenian and Ethiopian Orthodox churches within the council's first few days.

Sales, Ad Club Opens Season On Tuesday

On Tuesday evening at the Columbus Club hall, the Sales and Advertising Club of Belleville inaugurates its 1963-64 season.

The guest speaker at the meeting will be Don Jamieson, president of the Canadian Association of Broadcasters, Ottawa. Mr. Jamieson began his broadcasting career with the leading station in the Province of Newfoundland, CJON, at a time prior to Newfoundland joining Confederation and has progressed through the radio and television field to his present position.

The local club plans to bring other equally distinguished speakers to Belleville — speakers who are highly qualified to bring up-to-date information concerning the latest techniques in modern merchandising, in advertising and in the fields of sales and public relations. Article 2 of the constitution says: "The purpose of this organization shall be (a) to develop the science and art of salesmanship and advertising; (b) to encourage the interchange of creative ideas in selling and advertising, and (c) to promote sociability among the sales and advertising fraternity."

Recognizing the importance of good salesmanship, sound knowledge of distribution problems, remembering that one in seven is directly employed in this field, members believe that this organization can provide a useful service, not only to the members, but also to the community as a whole. While the club is not a service club, yet members are very conscious of their responsibility to the community. They are endeavoring to discharge that responsibility in two ways: First, by providing the high schools in Belleville with specialized speakers who discuss with graduating classes the opportunities that exist in sales, advertising and allied fields; secondly by providing the Corby Public Library with a variety of books covering such subjects.

Visitors at club meetings are always welcome. Applications for new members may be submitted at any time and, while there is usually a waiting list for admission to the closed membership, a few vacancies occur each year which makes possible the eligibility of a few each year to join the club. The club's activities this year will be guided by a Board of Directors headed by Gerry O'Connor as president; Jim Walker, past president; Wally Partridge, 1st vice-president; Gerald R. Hyde, 2nd vice-president; Bill Slade, secretary; Bud Gill, treasurer and directors Don Boyle, Armand Duffy, Fred Deacon and Bill McBride.

The Golden Years

This Road Map May Help You If Retirement Time Is Near

By THOMAS COLLINS

This is the retirement season. From now until January 1st is a veritable army of men will be saying good-bys to their companies and jobs, and going into what is possibly the greatest adventure of their lives — personal freedom.

It can be a good adventure or a disaster. In any case it will be a big deal. A Federal case, as they used to say. And some guidelines will be useful. Here are a few:

Go to the front office, if you haven't been yet, and pin down in facts and figures exactly when your first pension cheque will arrive, how much it will be, and whether your wife will get anything from the pension if you die in six months, five years, or 15 years. Determine whether your group life insurance and health insurance policies will be cancelled on retirement.

Go to the office of the companies holding your life insurance policies and examine the various plans they have for converting your policies into something more suitable for retirement. Maybe an annuity now; maybe an annuity for your wife after you die; maybe a cash refund. In any case, if you can, something that will require no more premium payments. If your group health insurance policy will be cancelled on retirement, ask the insurance company about a disaster health policy . . . perhaps one with a $100-deductible clause or such that won't cost too much.

EMOTIONAL SHOCKS

Prepare for a second emotional shock on your last day on the job. It's coming.

Prepare for a second emotional shock about a week after retirement when nobody has phoned for anything. And while you're preparing you might as well tell the phone company to take out your straight line and put in a party line — maybe a four-party line. You aren't going to be getting many calls hereafter. Neither is your wife when her friends learn you are at home.

Pick a consistory, convenient spot to you but to the guests you hope will visit it, and buy a lot in it. Then write out, and place among your valued papers, your wishes on the modest type funeral you will want. Then forget that morbid business.

Get from the Court House, in the county where the events occurred, two copies of your birth certificate and your marriage certificate. File them with your valued papers.

Start writing letters to your children. All about them, since they've had no letters from home except from Mama in the last 38 years. But they'll like the idea, and it will be the start of the "re-cultivation" of your offspring, who, in the end, will be your greatest joy in retirement. Once-a-week letters would be about right. And be sure to let the children know you are going to be all right in retirement . . . on money and such. The stronger you make the point, the better.

WILL IS MUST

Make a will, if you haven't. Make it with the help of a lawyer. Make it with the view that you may move to another state, which may have different laws for wills. Make it with the intention that you and Mama are going to spend most of what you have on your retirement and let the children accumulate their own, as you did.

Classify your friends. The job-connected friends are going to fade away. Start cultivating the others.

If your retirement income will be $300 a month you can get mother was carrying quintuplets. She had entered the hospital that day, he said, because she had been having some difficulty in getting cases to her.

Fischer said that after the doctor told Mrs. Fischer she was to bear five children "she started crying and she cried all night."

As for himself, the 36-year-old father said: "I don't know how I took the news in fact, I don't think I came to for a couple of days."

The first of the five babies was born about 1:30 a.m. Fischer was called and reached the hospital half an hour later. He said he spent the rest of the night smoking two packs of cigarettes and drinking coffee.

Of the five children the Fischers had before today, the oldest is Danny, 7, the youngest Denise, 3½. In between are Charlotte, 6, Julie, 5, and Evelyn, 4½.

The family recently moved to a farm at the edge of Aberdeen and bought two cows "so we'd have plenty of milk for the kids," Fischer said.

The five children are the second set of quintuplets born in the western hemisphere in a week.

Last Saturday in Maracaibo, Venezuela, five boys were born almost two months premature to Mrs. Conrvo de Pinto, 34-year-old grandmother who has five children by a previous marriage.

IN INCUBATOR

The children, placed in an incubator and given a special skimmed milk diet, are reported in satisfactory condition.

The first verified birth of quintuplets in the western hemisphere was that of the Dionne sisters in Callander, Ont., May 28, 1934.

Readers' Saturday Column

BY MARY MOORE

QUESTION:

I wonder could you have this recipe accepted for me, the one in it was in November 30/52 — Christmas Dark Fruit Cake (about 6 lbs.) — I would like some tips on budgeting for a large family — Mrs. R. D.

ANSWER:

It was interesting to see that yellowed 11-year-old clipping. I am pleased to repeat

SATURDAY

Dinner Menu

Homemade Garden Vegetable Soup; Marion Malloy's Chicken Salad (from Thursday); Homemade Rye or Oatmeal Bread; Coffee Bavarian with Sliced Peaches; Tea.

CHRISTMAS DARK FRUIT CAKE (about 6 lbs. — repeated from Nov. 30/52):

One cup soft butter or best quality shortening, 2 cups brown sugar, 6 large eggs, 2 cups sifted cake flour, 1 teaspoon each salt, baking powder, cinnamon, ½ teaspoon each mace, cloves, baking soda, ¼ cup strong coffee, ½ cup tart jelly, ½ cup molasses or corn syrup, 1 lb. seedless raisins (stemmed and dried), 1 lb. mixed candied fruits (this could be half mixed peels and half red and green glace cherries, if desired, some of the cherries or peels may be replaced with candied pineapple), ½ lb. each washed and dried currants, stoned and cut dates, nut meats — walnuts, almonds blanched, or pecans), the grated rind of 1 orange and 1 lemon and juice of 1 orange and 1 lemon. Cream together the shortening and sugar until they are fluffy and light then beat in the eggs. (This step may be done by electric beater at low speed.) Sift together all of the remaining dry ingredients. Stir in the dry ingredients alternately with the coffee, jelly and molasses or corn syrup. Then blend in all of the fruits and nuts. Line regulation loaf pans with heavy wrapping paper and grease them roughly with butter. Fill pans ¾ little more than ¾ full, level the top. Bake at 275 or 300 deg. Fahr. for 2¼ to 2 hours, with water pan in bottom of oven throughout. To test for doneness by wooden toothpick or cotton. When it comes out clean cakes are done. Do not overbake cakes. Be sure your oven (barometer) is accurate. The strong flavor fruit cakes sometimes have is due to overbaking — which caramelizes the sugar in the dried fruits. Cool cakes on racks, then wrap in waxed paper, then in towels and store in air-tight container in cool place for at least 3 weeks.

I have mailed to you 2 forms for returning budgeting and would advise you to write for "Your Money's Worth in Food," Bulletin 670, to Consumer Department of Agriculture, Parliament Buildings, Toronto and for "Let's Cook It Right," Bulletin 514, Nutrition Section, Home Economics Service, Ontario Department of Agriculture, Parliament Buildings, Toronto and also for "Foods For The Family," Publication 302, published by Consumer Section, Marketing Service, Canada Department of Agriculture, Ottawa, Ontario. I do not believe there is any charge for these publications, and I am sure you will find them helpful.

Erma Reid expressed thanks to the hostess and to those in charge of the meeting.

Stories of Famous Hymn

By HORACE B. POWELL

Here is a simple hymn which has brought cheer to thousands of Christians in time of tribulation and trouble. Its author, Joseph Scriven, was born in Dublin, Ireland, in 1820. A quarter century later he settled in Canada where he lived until his death in 1886.

A faith-testing experience which Mr. Scriven had to bear in his own life helped him to sympathize with the trials of others and to point them to the Great Comforter. The young woman who was to have been his bride was accidentally drowned on the eve of their wedding day. At first, Mr. Scriven was utterly crushed by his grief, but ultimately the experience led him to consecrate his life and fortune to the service of Christ.

His hymn-writing talents were not discovered until shortly before his death. A friend, sitting up with him during a period of illness, happened upon the manuscript of "What A Friend We Have in Jesus!" Mr. Scriven told how he had composed the verses for his mother, to comfort her in a time of special need.

Introduced to the public, Mr. Scriven's hymn was immediately a favorite. It first appeared in a Sunday School hymnal published in Richmond, Virginia. Later Ira Sankey, the singing evangelist and composer, added it to his volumes of gospel hymns. It is still a favorite in churches everywhere.

"WHAT A FRIEND WE HAVE IN JESUS"

What a friend we have in Jesus,
All our sins and griefs to bear!
What a privilege to carry
Everything to God in prayer!
O what peace we often forfeit,
O what needless pain we bear,
All because we do not carry
Everything to God in prayer!

Have we trials and temptations?
Is there trouble anywhere?
We should never be discouraged
Take it to the Lord in prayer.
Can we find a friend so faithful,
Who will all our sorrows share?
Jesus knows our every weakness,
Take it to the Lord in prayer.

Are we weak and heavy laden,
Cumbered with a load of care?
Precious Savior, still our refuge!
Take it to the Lord in prayer.
Do thy friends despise, forsake thee?
Take it to the Lord in prayer.
In His arms He'll take and shield thee,
Thou will find a solace there.

SPEAKING OF MANNERS

BY PATRICIA LEWIS

MAIL CALL

Question: When my 17-year-old son receives mail from his friends, the envelope is usually addressed to "John Smith." No title, such as Mr. or Master, is used. I assume this is customary. However, I'm not sure that his method of addressing girls his own age is correct. Recently when he asked me to mail some letters for him, I was amazed to see that he had addressed a letter to his 17-year-old girl friend as "Mary Smith," without putting Miss in front of the name. When I mentioned this to him, he said that this was the usual way of addressing mail to a young girl. Maybe it's the fashion now but I still don't think it's correct. Would you please give both of us the "word" on the proper form of address for both girl and boy? — Mrs. J. M. K., Chicago, Ill.

Answer: A teen-age boy is correctly addressed as "John Smith" until he's 18, and then "Mr." is used in front of his name. The name of a teen-age girl, however, is always preceded by her correct title of "Miss" on both correspondence and calling cards, if she uses them. As a matter of fact, a girl reserves the title of "Miss" the day she is born and continues to use it until the day she marries.

Question: My husband has been put on a strict diet by his doctor to lose weight. He's not ill, but the doctor thinks it advisable for him to take off 20 pounds as a precaution. The diet is simple — just a matter of cutting out things like rich sauces, potatoes, heavy desserts and the like. Meanwhile, though we've been invited to the wedding of a niece and will stay with friends for a few days, possibly a week, afterward. I don't want to put our hostess to any trouble, but I would like to let her know my husband is dieting and what foods he may and may not eat. Would it be proper for me to do so? — Mrs. H. H., Allentown, Pa.

Answer: Since the diet is a simple one and mostly a matter of cutting out certain foods, it shouldn't cause your hostess any extra trouble, so it would be permissable for you to give her a list of taboo foods in advance and let her plan her menus accordingly.

Shirley Jones Wants to Be With Hubby

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Here's how one Hollywood wife feels about working here while her husband stars in a Broadway hit musical.

"I'm miserable," says Oscar-winner Shirley Jones. "I'm going to move to New York."

Jack Cassidy, Shirley's husband, is the hit of the New York musical Skip Lowes Mr. Shirley is playing Marion Brando's love interest in King of the Mountain.

Many Hollywood marriages have busted up because of too much geography between husband and wife. Out here that adage about absence making the heart grow fonder usually doesn't work.

"It works for me and Jack," says the beautiful blonde. "He's as miserable as I am.

"I would have been back there the first day. But Jack made me take this role. He felt I couldn't afford to turn down a Marion Brando movie.

There have been other picture offers just as attractive.

"But I'm not interested in epicleons on them," she says. "I'll do what my husband wants."

Cassidy, a talented singer, met and married Shirley while they sang together in the London company of Oklahoma. Since then his career has zoomed while his hasn't—until now.

"No one ever cast Jack right until this musical," says his proud wife. "He plays a cannibal villain. Hollywood always wanted him to play weak villains.

"At home, he is no villain. He's no weakling either. But he is comical."

ACCESSORIES - KEY TO THE LAYERED, SPORTIVE LOOK

Last year's box jacket suit can still be top fashion this fall if worn with 1963's accessories. Last year's semi-fitted coat can lend the fashion parade, if a special "know how" is used in selecting the accessing accessories with the new look in mind.

The new 1963 silhouette is slim and easy with fluid lines and an active country air about it. Last year's fashions had a more staid and placid feeling. The trick is to add the active country look — this 1963 look.

A tweed suit with a straight skirt and box jacket, vintage 1962, still has several years of good fashion ahead. To up-date it successfully, have the skirt eased through the hips and thighs. Get rid of that dowdy, Mostmartre Look of the hem! Its the newly shaped skirt should be considerably head with bustle so that it maintains its shape.

If the jacket is a classic with a collar, have the collar reduced to narrow, stand-up lines, if possible. (This requires care as the seams in the garment will depend on the original collar. If a taller says it cannot be done, then it is best to obey.) Examine the blouses and sweaters worn with this suit last year. Of course, invest in low-heeled fancy prints or lace-trimmed, they do not look right with tweeds. Keep the bud jersey and poplin ones and if some of them fall within the 1963 mode, they better. Last year's pullover sweaters will have to have major surgery immediately, as they are part of the new look. Change the round classic neckline to a "V" and remove the sleeves. The new necklines and armholes are bound with matching (and it must be a perfect match) wool jersey, velvet, or ribbon. This requires skill as the result must look professional. The finished article is fashion's favorite for 1963 - the jerkin.

Now to assemble the look. The new, slightly eased and fully-lined skirt is matched up with a long-sleeved, cuffed shirt, worn open at the neck. The neckline is filled in with a scarf in the same or contrasting color. Over this is worn the old sweater transformed into a new jerkin. Add the box jacket and you have the layered, sporting look.

The active country look is underlined when this suit is worn with one of the new, soft felt hats - a la Garbo, complete with stitched detail. A bold metal pin goes somewhere on the collar or shoulder area of the jacket. Short, tailored leather gloves and a chic, tailored handbag are needed. Avoid the dainty details of delicate jewelry, fancy gloves and handbags with dressy trim. The last accents are a shoes that look as though they can be walked in! Don't spoil the whole silhouette with teetering heels. Invest in low-heeled pumps, or better still, laced cordels set on little heels. Fashion is comfortable when you wear the sportive look even if it is reclaimed from last year!

If you have a question on fashion, just write Pegg Rogers care of this paper.

WEDDINGS

EMPSON — CAVERLY

Christ Church, Belleville was the setting for a pretty wedding recently when Mary Jane Caverly, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carmen Caverly, Belleville was united in marriage to George Robert Empson, son of Dr. Robert H. and Mrs. Empson, Belleville. The Rev. R. G. Fleming officiated at the double-ring ceremony before an altar adorned with pink and white gladioli. White satin bows designated the guest pews.

Mr. John Corden Withers church organist presided at the console of the organ and accompanied the choir of six boys in their wedding music.

Given in marriage by her father the bride was charming in her short length nylon organza bridal gown accented with white cummerbund and bouffant skirt, topped with a short lace jacket having round neckline and elbow-length sleeves. She wore a white nylon floral headpiece of shoulder length veil of silk illusion and carried a cascade bouquet of pink Sweetheart roses.

Mrs. Douglas Burkitt of Belleville as matron of honor and Miss Donna Empson, sister of the bridegroom as bridesmaid were dressed alike in Dior blue princess style dresses of peau de soie with a nylon overlay and lace insertions highlighting the skirts. Their headdresses were of white baby 'mums centred with pink Sweetheart roses. Each carried a bouquet of pink and white 'mums and pink Sweetheart roses. Tiny Cathy Biedee, cousin of the bride as flower girl looked adorable in pale pink peau de soie fashioned with puff sleeves and bouffant skirt with a wide sash at the back. She carried a nosegay of white and blue baby 'mums centred with tiny pink rosebuds and wore a bandeau of white and blue 'mums with a pink rose in the centre.

Mr. Richard Sutton of Bloomfield was groomsman, while Mr. William Kohaly of Toronto and Mr. Douglas Burkitt of Belleville ushered the guests.

Following the wedding a reception was held at the home of the bride which was appropriately decorated for the occasion with bouquets of colorful gladioli. The bride's mother received the guests wearing a brown figured dress with beige accessories and a corsage of white 'mums. The bridegroom's mother assisted wearing a Heron blue wool costume with matching feathered hat, white gloves, black suede purse, black shoes and a corsage of mauve baby' mums. The bridal table was prettily appointed and centred with a three-tier wedding cake topped with pink Sweetheart rosebuds and fern. White tapers and the bridal bouquets completed the nuptial setting.

Guests were present from Toronto, Tweed, Roslin, Cannifton, Picton, Carrying Place and Belleville.

Previous to the marriage the bride was honored at a shower held at the home of Mrs. T. Lewis, Redeersville Rd.

Mr. and Mrs. Empson are residing in Toronto.

Mrs. C. A. Brown, present principal of Ontario Business College and Miss Ruth Nightingale past-principal, are shown looking over a graduation diploma.

Ontario Business College Commences 97th Year

Ontario Business College founded in 1868 is probably one of Belleville's oldest educational establishments, just one year younger than Confederation. Samuel G. Beatty and George Wallbridge were the founders in that year with a succession of Principals until the late I. L. Moore took office in 1919 and continued as Principal for 54 years, when Miss Ruth Nightingale became Principal. After five years Miss Nightingale is returning to Hamilton to continue her career as court reporter. At present, Miss Nightingale is spending a holiday in England and will assume her duties in October.

The present Principal is Mrs. C. A. Brown with Mr. Frank J. Leach, recently retired as Senior assessor of the Income Tax office as co-principal.

Mrs. Brown is a native of Belleville and received her education here. She is the wife of Clifford A. Brown, insurance salesman and has three daughters, A married daughter and three grandchildren live in Toronto, B.C., one daughter recently graduated from Civic hospital in Ottawa as a registered nurse, and the youngest daughter is a teacher at Prince of Wales School, Belleville. Mrs. Brown has been a teacher at O.B.C. for several years.

About eighty students are enrolled at present. Almost all from inception students have come from the West Indies, United States, and Eastern Canada. The first student from Bermuda came in 1890, and they have been coming ever since. Miss Laverne Dyer is attending from Bermuda this year, and her mother stated that O.B.C. and two business schools in Boston were the only two recommended by the Department of Education in Hamilton, Bermuda.

The present staff consists of Mrs. O. Jones, Miss E. Prentiss, Miss N. Reynolds, Mr. Philip Dyble. The courses include stenographic which takes from seven to eight months; secretarial; bookkeeping and accounting.

When it was discovered that the students from out of town had no social life in Belleville, it was decided to have an "O.B.C. Saturday Night" at the Y. A room has been rented at the Y.M.C.A. for every Saturday night, and graduate students are invited to attend.

Canadian Club Membership Open for Men and Women

Membership in the Canadian matters affecting the welfare Club is to be opened for both men and women and will be called the Canadian Club of Belleville, starting this year. Mr. Charles Lynch of Ottawa will be the speaker at the opening meeting on September 22rd.

A campaign for new members will open on Monday, September 16th at the Corby Public Library and continue until Friday the 20th, from 3.30 until 5.30 each afternoon, except Wednesday.

The Canadian Club uniquely supplies a need in a country as big and as sparsely populated as ours. When the club was started in 1893, by Charles R. McCullough, the national spirit was at the lowest ebb in its history and in was felt time to deepen and widen the regard of Canadians for the land of their birth or adoption, and to increase their interest in the country.

Canadian club members are part of a national movement, 37,000 strong, dedicated solely to preserving a Canadian identity against considerable outside pressure, to informing Canadians about Canada's part in world affairs and to broadening Canadians' horizons.

Packing List Should Include Things You Most Often Forget

By SHIRLEY and BOB SLOANE

The hand-scrawled permanent packing list we keep in our top dresser drawer seems to have gotten caught between some golf tees and a belt buckle, so we sat down to retype it the other day. In doing it, we realized we've been pretty fortunate in not forgetting things of late. Little by little we'd managed to jot down, over the years, most of what everybody always forgets.

So this is not a conventional packing story. You can figure out for yourself and from all those pamphlets the airlines put out how many pairs of socks, undershirts and shoes to take (we always take the same quantity for a week or three weeks; they have good laundries everywhere but Hong Kong.)

What we'd like to pass on to you is a guide to the vexing little things that you always wish — too late — someone had reminded you about. To wit:

Beach things — clogs, shirt, lotion, hat.

Belts, suspenders and garters.

A flight bag. Nearly everyone has one, and if you don't they're cheap enough to buy. Even on first class, the airline will give you one). These always fold flat, are handy for the days when you pick up an route that won't fit in the suitcase.

NEED LAUNDRY BAG

A laundry bag. The easiest thing in the world to overlook, until you wonder what to do with the dirty clothes after a top of the clean clothes. If you do forget, look on the closet shelf or door in your hotel room there should be a paper one. Failing that, go with a zipper or draw string is best.

Tobacco and appurtenances be they cigarettes, pipes, pipe cleaners or cigars. If you're going abroad, cigarettes can be purchased duty free on the airline or plane and in most international terminals. It's handier to have the cleaner handy than to try to explain what you want at a Siamese tobacconist's. And most foreign cigars taste quite different from the Havana-oriented North American type.

Liquor, if you're not inclined and can pack it safely (not in checked baggage on an airline). Cheaper and often more convenient than frequenting bars, unless you like to frequent bars.

Tickets, wallet, passports, visas, health certificates, copy of will, letters of introduction and-or credit, traveller's checks, hotel confirmations, coupons for meals, address etc. Keep them in one bundle of valuables, on or close to your person.

Note paper or notebook. Not only reporters take notes. You'll be surprised how often you'll want to write things down, or write a letter, and won't have the material handy. And at least one pen.

Prescriptions (have them refilled) and generally anything that's non-narcotic sleeping pills, stomach settlers, aspirin, eye-drops, nose drops, laxative and the opposite, whatever else your physical condition does or may require. Also, a small thermometer.

Film. And camera.

Personal checkbook. Contrary to what you've heard, it is nearly always possible to cash a personal check in a pinch, especially when shopping.

A cap and-or beret. Only in America do people feel foolish in berets. Elsewhere, it is the most functional and comfortable of hats, and serves for just about any occasion.

A shawl for ladies.

A money clip. That packet of valuable papers described above will be pretty bulky, so when you go out you may prefer to check them in your hotel vault and just carry your cash and passport. But each should never be allowed to float around loose in your pocket or purse.

Sunglasses.

Language phrase books. You may not have to use them much in shopping-or dining, but you will in reading signs and in other unforeseeable occasions. Also literature on the countries you're visiting — brochures, pamphlets, guides. Background vastly enhances your appreciation of travel; without it, travel can be a near waste. And you won't remember everything you read up on at home.

A robe or kimono. It is not chic to greet the 'room service waiter in your underwear.

Items. Available everywhere but not always when you're about to assume. And they are expensive abroad. Also double as toilet tissue, a commodity produced by an undeveloped industry in most countries.

Jewelry, in its case. Don't forget hubby's cufflinks and things.

Converter for electric shaver, hair dryer, iron. Consult with your travel agent on your itinerary type; the wrong kind will be either useless or dangerous. You may need more than one for different appliances.

Business or personal cards for new friends. Though they may not be on a selling trip, many men in business also take along a brochure or folder on their product in case opportunity knocks.

A shoe buffing cloth and a shoe horn.

Camera record book, even for a pleasure trip. You won't have to wonder where the money went.

Dental floss. Also hard to find when you need it most.

Name and address tags for all pieces of luggage, plus spares.

Now let's see, we must have forgotten something. We always do.

The occasion was a combined birthday party for Mrs. Fitzgerald and Mrs. Tompkins, although a belated one for Mrs. Tompkins who has been ill.

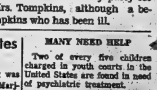
MOIRA W.I.

The Moira W.I. meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Marjorie Thompson with a small number in attendance.



The president Mrs. Clayton Vandewater opened the meeting in the usual manner. Some business was discussed and a letter from Bethel-Zion inviting Moira W.I. to their meeting in September, was read.

The convener Mrs. G. Thompson was in charge of the program and readings were given by Marjorie Thompson, Bessie Holbert, Emma Thompson and Hannah Ward. As this meeting was based on historical research a report was given on a former Moira resident, a Mr. Edward Harrison.

The meeting was brought to a close and lunch was served by the hostess.

A Lift for Living

Keep Things in Perspective By Looking at Bigger Things

By REV. HAROLD M. KOHN

Religious faith gives us a sense of proportion and value. The very first of the Ten Commandments is aimed at establishing what must be highest in our system of priorities: "You shall have no other gods before me." The Eternal God comes first. All other matters are of secondary importance, at best.

We get into serious trouble whenever we disarrange this Biblical code of values, making other interests superior to God's interests and allowing secondary matters to be our primary concerns. Then our sense of self-esteem is diminished because the goals with which we identify ourselves are not worthwhile. Again, if our loyalties are given to little things instead of to the Highest, we become most affected by minor matters. A mere whim seems like a crying need that demands attention at all costs. Small irritations seem like major catastrophies. Little disappointments bring on big emotional upsets.

A look at bigger things should be a daily habit. It would cure many of us of our fretfulness over trifles. We would be less irritable, less captious, if we would fit our attention to eternal things and to the Eternal One, and thus correct our perspective.

Do we ever scold a child and send him off to school, bewildered and hurt, simply because we spend a restless night or because the breakfast toast was burnt? Isn't the loss of one night's sleep or a charred piece of bread a pitifully small thing when compared to a child's self-respect, his feelings of worth, and his craving to be loved?

LOSE PERSPECTIVE

We raise havoc with our marriages when we lose our perspective. Then incidental frustrations are treated as disasters. Fault-finding follows. Accusations and counter - accusations leave open, festering, psychological wounds. A marriage partner tends to withdraw from the person who hurt him. The wonded need to fit their eyes daily to the big thing in their relationship — concern for each other's happiness and welfare. All else then seems small.

Gratitude results from achieving a proper perspective, and ungrumbling is almost always related to the loss of it. When we lose sight of the biggest things that we possess, we grumble most about the little things we lack. Any automobile mechanic will tell you that a knocking motor has something seriously wrong with it. It is true of people too. Whenever you hear a person persistently knocking his neighbors, his employers or employer, his community or nation, or his own life situation, you can be certain he is radically disordered within. He has lost sight of important things, and of the good and worthwhile to be found on every hand. His grouches about the trouble in God's world when he might more profitably praise the almighty for the good found in a troubled world and seek to expand that good. He grumbles because God has placed thorns among the roses when he might better thank the Creator for placing roses among thorns.

The first commandment says, "Put God first!" He deserves our primary attention and devotion, and a daily look at the Best and the Highest restores our perspective, setting all other values in their proper places.

Take time to look at bigger things.

come tax field — withdrawing 16 per cent in the first year, 17 per cent this year, and thereafter pulling out by one point a year until 30 per cent in the final year, 1966-67.

The provinces were free to seize the personal income tax field to that extent, or more if they wished.

Neither in opposition nor in the last election campaign did the Liberals have much complaint about this revised method.

PLEDGE RETURN

But they opposed the revised system of equalization, pledging during the election campaign to return to the old one.

Until the 1961 agreement, equalization was based on the yield of the three "standard" taxes in the two highest provinces. The Conservatives changed this, basing equalization payments on the national average yield of the three taxes and 95 per cent of resources revenue.

While the federal Liberals want to return to the old system, Mr. Lesage also wants a change—but of a different kind. He has advocated equalization based on the yield of income and corporation taxes in the highest province, namely Ontario.

Over all equalization payments for the current fiscal year are estimated at $137,000,000. The Canadian Tax Foundation recently estimated that Mr. Lesage's proposal would swell this figure by $118,000,000 to $275,000,000.

most 500 persons on behalf of Conservative candidates in Lambton East and West ridings, said he would not be pushed into the pension issue by anyone, including the federal government and "two - bit politicians."

He was replying to Mr. Winternegre's charges that he was attempting to sabotage the Canada Pension Plan and was a stooge of insurance companies.

"There is no doubt in my mind that we can work out a satisfactory plan when I am satisfied that Ontario's rights have been protected," he said

CALLS IT PHONY

Mr. Robarts, describing the pension issue as a phony one, said he had hoped it could be kept out of partisan politics so it could be examined with the single objective of developing the best possible national plan.

He mentioned a report from Ottawa stating trust and insurance companies were forming a lobby to present their position in the issue, but said: "This is their right, just as it is your right and my right."

Mr. Winternemyer, repeating in effect charges made about two weeks ago, attacked the dealings of Waldo Bracci, chairman of the White River town council, as being too much in sympathy with the Progressive Conservative party, of which he is an official.

Mr. MacDonald told his Oshawa audience there are twice as many good wardens protecting wild life in Ontario as inspectors protecting human life.

Model Charged For Appearing 'In the Nude'

EDINBURGH (Reuters) — A 19 - year - old model has been charged by police with indecency for appearing in a "nude happening" at the Edinburgh Festival drama conference last week, the organizer said Friday.

John Calder, a British publisher, said he was also charged over the nude incident at the final session when the model was wheeled naked under a spotlight on a trolley across a theatre balcony.

Calder said Miss Anna Kessaar was accused of acting "in a shameless and indecent manner in respect that . . . she did in full view of those present allow herself to be wheeled across the organ gallery on a trolley while in a state of nudity."

Calder was accused of allowing the incident to take place and with failing "to exercise the authority as organizer and person responsible for the conduct of the said conference to prevent it came."

American film director Kenneth Dewey said last week he arranged the "event" and caused playwright Charles Lawson and artist Martin Boyle as his collaborators "in the enterprise."

The birthday suit shock brought Im mediate criticism from Edinburgh Mayor Duncan Weatherstone and other officials.

"Happenings," which have become increasingly popular in the United States in recent years, are theatrical events designed to surprise an audience and involve it more deeply in the activities on the stage.

Ann Landers

240 Pound Friend Slowly Wrecking Furniture

ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS — Is there any polite way to tell a woman who weighs 240 pounds how to sit down in a chair?

I have a friend who is just as lovely as she can be, but when she comes to my home, my heart is in my mouth. She has broken two chairs and wrecked my sofa springs. I have fine furniture, Ann, but no furniture is built to take the beating she gives it.

She comes into a room and just backs up to a chair and sort of falls on it. I can almost hear the springs popping and the wood splitting. My husband is sick of her thoughtlessness and feels that we should send her the bill for any future damage done to our furniture. I just can't bring myself to do it.

Please tell me what to do about this embarrassing and expensive problem. — BAFFLED BINNIE.

• • •

DEAR BINNIE — You can't send a friend a bill for damage done unintentionally in your home. It would be nice, however, if the friend offered to pay.

Since she does not offer, your best bet is to lead her by the arm to the chair which can best hold her. And don't let her loose until she has parked herself.

DEAR READERS — Every once in a while I receive a letter that I can print without changing a single word or dropping so much as a comma. I received such a letter today and here it is:

DEAR ANN LANDERS — This is not a letter asking for help. There is no help for me and I know it. My letter is a simple plea to the parents of teenagers to please consider what their excessive drinking does to their children.

My father is an alcoholic. If he only knew how many times he has made me ashamed to be his daughter. If he only knew the times my girl friends have come over and seen him dead drunk — and how I shudder when boys come to take me out and I have to meet them on the front steps so they won't get inside the house.

I hate to come home because I never know what I will find here. My father is downstairs now, sick as a dog, but tomorrow night he will go out and do the same thing over again.

I beg of parents, please stop hurting us kids. — I USED TO LOVE HIM.

• • •

DEAR FRIEND — There is help for you — if you will reach out for it. Children of alcoholics have found comfort, useful information and guidance through Al-Anon. Write to the Al-Anon Family Group Headquarters, Inc., Post Office Box No. 182, Madison Square Station, New York 10, New York.

DEAR ANN LANDERS — My wife has a 24-year-old brother who is getting to be a real pain in the neck.

When we first moved to this apartment my wife made the mistake of giving Hymie a key. When I asked her why she did it she said, "Because he asked for it." This sounded like a pretty sensible reason at the time. Now I'm not so sure. Several nights a week when I come home from work, there is Hymie — sitting in my chair, smoking my cigars and drinking my Bourbon. He never brings anything over here except his thirst and appetite — and sometimes a friend or two.

Is there a tactful way of getting the key back? We've really had it — LANCASTER, PENN.

DEAR LAN — Change the lock on the doors. Tell Hymie you are doing it as an extra precaution against "invaders."

If he asks for a key to the new lock, you can either tell him "no" or prepare to put up with the moocher, probably for the rest of his life — and yours.

• • •

Planning a wedding? Leave nothing to chance. Ann Landers' newest booklet, "The Bride's Guide," has all the answers (from announcing the engagement to "who pays for what"). To receive a copy, write to Ann Landers, in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long, self-addressed envelope and 40 cents in coin.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

The wheat board's main move was to impose a temporary ban on private export sales of wheat for shipment after Oct. 20.

A spokesman said "we are holding off in order to reassess our position."

Further new sales to regular customers were banned by the board last week.

Officials, however, said the appraisal is prompted not only by good demand but also by the necessity of being able to move sufficient feed and other grain into Eastern Canada before freeze-up.

RARE, MEDIUM, WELL-DONE

By GEO. H. CARVER, Sports Editor

"Play it safe and don't let greed spoil your fun."

That's some timely advice proffered to duck and other hunters by the Department of Lands and Forests.

They have, also, some hard and fast regulations which will be strictly adhered to. Royal Canadian mounted Police will assist conservation officers of the department in seeing that the law is kept to the last letter.

There seems to be some confusion as to the opening date of the duck season in the Tweed forest district and officials of the district wish to remind hunters that through the entire district, the season for ducks, geese and grouse (partridge) opens on September 21st, through December 16th.

The daily bag limit is five per day with ten in possession and gut this, none of which shall be a canvasback or redhead. Not more than two wood ducks may be taken in the daily limit. After October 27th two additional scaup or golden eye may be taken per day. Merganzers are not counted in the daily possession or bag limit.

All signs of baiting should have been cleared up by today. Conservation officers and Royal Canadian Mounted Police will be making patrols any time now and where bait is located, signs prohibiting shooting will be erected.

Hunter greediness caused two large areas, one near Foxboro, to be "posted" last season. These however were reopened before the season closed.

The game and ruffed grouse season opens September 21st through September 14th with a daily limit of five birds but possession of geese is ten and the grouse fifteen.

The Hungarian partridge season is shorter, opening September 21st through November 23rd. Five per day and fifteen in possession is permitted.

The pheasant season is briefer yet. It opens October 9th and lasts through November 23rd. Don't take any more than three birds daily or you'll be breaking the law.

FISH AND GAME CLUB

The Belleville District Fish and Game Club opens what should be another highly successful fall and winter season at the Club Centre on Tuesday night. The popular organization swelled its ranks to nearly 600 members last year and officials believe they will exceed this figure this year.

The guest speaker at the seasonal opener is George Brown formerly of this city, now of Ottawa and an ex-director of the club. Mr. Brown is at present a director of the St. Lawrence Wildlife Association and president of the Quo-Ont Ducks Project. He is also a past president of the Ottawa Fish and Game Club and for a time had his TV and radio programs down Rytown way.

An advertisement appearing in Hastings County newspapers addressed to hunters regarding hunting rights in the Townships of Limerick, Tudor, Lake, Monteagle, Wollaston, Carlow, Marmora, Madoc and Faraday, has resulted in a great many inquiries to the Tweed Office of the Department of Lands and Forests.

This advertisement has to do with lands in the above noted townships owned by the Howard-Smith Paper Mills now Dom-Tar.

This is privately owned land and in no way affects the right of the public to hunt on Crown owned land located within these townships.

The Limerick Hunting and Fishing Club has acquired the right to hunt on land owned by Dom-Tar and this arrangement has been in force for some years.

The department does not lease areas of crown land for the purpose of hunting. A Land Use Permit may be issued for the purpose of erecting a hunt camp but this does not give the lessee any right to control hunting on surrounding crown land in the area.

Bouton Blanks Twins 2-0 ★ ★ ★ ★ ★

Yankees Clinch Fourth Flag In Row

By JIM BECKER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Next year, for a novelty, New York Yankees are going to clinch the American League pennant with broken mirrors while standing under a stepladder, throwing their hats on the bed and kicking a black cat.

That will eliminate the other superstitions.

They took care of Friday the 13th when they clinched their fourth straight pennant, eighth in nine years, 13 in 15 and 28th since the first one in 1921. The clincher came against Minnesota Twins.

Jim Bouton pitched the 2-0 victory, his 20th. The Twins' ace, Camilo Pascual, had only one bad inning, the fourth when Joe Pepitone and Johnny Blanchard hit homers, but it was enough.

CINCH BY EARLY

The clinching was the earliest since the Yankees won the 1941 pennant Sept. 4. And it was by an extra measure of satisfaction for the Yanks—they won without Mickey Mantle and Roger Maris in the line-up. Both have been out much of the year.

The Twins fell into a second-place tie with Chicago White Sox, who whipped Washington Senators 5-2. They are 14 games behind with 13 to play.

The Yankees have a big grip on fifth place with a 3-2 decision over Baltimore Orioles. Boston beat Kansas City Athletics 7-3 and Cleveland Indians edged Los Angeles Angels 7-6 in 12 innings on Joe Azcue's single.

Bouton pitched a six-hitter and joined Whitey Ford as the 20-game victory ranks. Ford has won 22. They are the only two leagues pitchers in the league. The shutout was Bouton's sixth, tying him with Chuck Stobbs and Herbert for the most in the AL.

The young right-hander had difficulty only in the fourth when the Twins loaded the bases on a single and two walks but he got Rich Rollins on a grounder to end the threat.

Boston struck out 11. Pascual struck out eight in eight innings, but failed for the third time in his quest for No. 19.

GEM, KEE WATCHES

Herbert pitched 'and batted the White Sox to victory before a crowd that included former president Eisenhower at Washington. The general threw out the first ball to a chorus of approved seven times when in office.

Tinch runner Gates Brown scored from third on a sacrifice fly to deep center in the ninth inning for the Tigers' victory. George Thomas hit the fly with the bases loaded. Jim Brown got in just ahead of Russ Snyder's throw. Phil Regan was the winner with three hitless innings, who was aiming for No. 30, the loser.

Gary Geiger rapped four hits for Boston and Dick Stuart drove in two runs, running his league-leading RBI total to 108, in the game with the Athletics. Earl Wilson got his 11th victory.

The Angels tied the score against the Indians in the bottom of the ninth on an error by Max Alvis, a triple by Bobby Moran and Leon Wagner's groundout. The Angels in 12th, Alcock led off with his 12th homer, the drive hitting the left field foul pole.

Liston Adds Shillalagh To Trophies

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP)—Sonny Liston added a shillelagh to his trophies Friday and caused a traffic jam that immobilized the centre of Belfast.

The world heavyweight boxing champion, fresh from a triumphant visit to Scotland, flew in to another wailing reception from the pipers.

Six girl pipers played The Minstrel Boy as he stepped off his plane. Liston took a set of pipes and found they were lighter pitched and even more difficult to play than the ones he tried in Scotland.

People stood in groups all along the 18-mile route from the airport to the city and waved to Liston.

He held a news conference in a downtown hotel. Hundreds of people swarmed across the street outside to see him arrive and the traffic was snarled for 30 minutes.

Liston came here for an exhibition bout tonight.

Shamrocks Shade Oshawa 10-9

By PAUL EDMSTEAD

WHITBY, Ont. (CP)—You'll never convince Victoria Shamrocks that Friday the 13th is an unlucky day.

However, goaltender Merv Marshall, Oshawa Green Geels isn't so sure.

The Shamrocks snapped out of a slump Friday night with a last-minute 10-9 win over Oshawa in the third game of the best - of - seven series for the Minto Cup.

There were only 31 seconds remaining in the game when Bill Robinson scored the winner — and Marshall today is probably wondering how it happened. The 26 - year - old netminder, a standout in the series, blocked the shot but fell making the save and the ball rolled past him into the empty net.

The Shamrocks, though, defending Canadian junior lacrosse champions, didn't win because they were lucky. They showed more hustle and desire than in the first two games when they lost 18-7 and 11-4.

Stan Leonard Shoots a 67

SEATTLE (AP) — Stan Leonard of Vancouver posted a five-under-par 67 in second-round play Friday to move first place in the $35,000 Seattle Open golf tournament.

Leonard spotted a two-round total of 133 to lead Bobby Nichols of Corona, Calif., by a stroke. Nichols carded a 68 Friday while Ray Floyd of Fayetteville, N.C., had a 69 for a 35 total. Fourth with 137 was Billy Casper who shot a second-round 67.

Al Balding of Toronto, who shot 72 Friday, was tied with Don Bisenius of Milford for ninth place with a two-round total of 142. George Knudson of Toronto was one of 12 tied for 13th with 146 after shooting a second-round 74.

Bill Collins of Tacoma, Wash., who was tied with Leonard, Nichols and Floyd for first place at the end of Thursday's play, shot a 72 in his second round to drop to fifth place with a 138 total.

Meet Tiger-Cats Sunday

Stephens To Quarterback Argos

TORONTO (CP) — Toronto Argonauts, losers of five games in their first six Canadian Football League starts this season, have finally decided on a major change for their Sunday game with Hamilton Tiger-Cats.

Sandy Stephens, picked up from Montreal Alouettes 10 days ago for the $350 waiver price, will play quarterback in place of Jackie Parker, who cost the Argos five players in a winter trade with Edmonton Eskimos of the Western Football Conference.

Coach Nobby Wirkowski said Friday that Parker, at the helm for most of the season, will be moved to the flanking back position. He will be ready to play quarterback if needed, said Wirkowski.

And Don Fuell, who has subbed for Parker in the dying minutes of a couple of games, will start in his customary defensive halfback position, where he has become most valuable.

The Argonauts have managed only 49 points in their five contests so far with Parker calling signals, and Toronto fans have been clamoring for a change. The Ticats beat the Argos 7-1 in Hamilton Labor Day.

INJURY CURE

The game at Canadian National Exhibition Stadium Sunday is the first of two games in the East during the weekend. There will be four games in the West.

Montreal Alouettes, who have rushed to the Eastern Conference lead with three successive victories, play at Edmonton Saturday night and visit Vancouver Monday night to tackle the high-flying British Columbia Lions, leaders in the Western Conference.

Ottawa Rough Riders, just two points ahead of Toronto in the race for the third and last playoff spot in the East, will take on the Blue Bombers in Winnipeg Saturday night.

The same night, Saskatchewan Roughriders will be visiting Calgary Stampeders.

Wins "Texas Death" Match

Valentine Defeats Hady

Johnny Valentine's United States heavyweight wrestling championship crown still clings to the shoulders of Edmonton Hady in what appeared to be a painful ending to the three-fall bout.

It was a "Texas Death Match" one of those wing-dings where the wrestler after being counted out rests for a minute then is he fails to survive another "ten count" is considered defeated.

The Hady-Valentine handle would have gone either way last night. Each time one got grip-pler was given a three-toll and "Bunny" accepted the last he reached his feet.

Valentine won the bout after each man suffered terrific punishment. "Death Match" had gone an hour when the Edmonton champion suddenly picked up Hady and flung him high in the air.

The popular Greek muscleman fell down with a thump of a top rope of the ring, hung there for a moment and slid to the mat in apparent pain. He lay there for fully five minutes before being helped from the ring by Referee Bunny Dunlop.

There are "no holds barred" in a Texas Death Match and both Hady and Valentine took full advantage of it. So did "Bunny" who is never averse to poking at referee wrestler in the pum if he doesn't behave properly.

The pair wrestle inside and outside the ring. And this led to at least one amusing incident. Hady was outside the ropes on the arena floor when Valentine leaped out on the opposite side and crawled under the ring like a stalking tiger after its prey.

The crowd roared and Dunlop came to the rescue. Valentine left with two or three football pants from the Don Matthews of Edmonton Eskimos. Hady was given the initial count.

Three times he came back and appeared to be winning going his own way when Valentine again turned on the heat. He body-slammed Hady two or three times then came the big "fling-up" and Hady crashed down under the rope and out of the picture.

The popular Lorenzo Parents was the last man to fall in semi - finals over Tommy O'Toole.

Billy Stack substituted for Tony Marino and fought to a time-limit draw with Mike Valentino in the preliminary bout.

Classes Begin Monday

Judo Club Opens Season

Belleville YMCA Hatashita Judo Club will swing back into action, with plenty of instruction and tournament activity planned, on Monday night of next week.

This year, as usual, the children's class will commence at 6.45 each Monday evening with the adult class taking over at 8.00 p.m. These instruction classes will be held at the YMCA, beginning Monday, September 16.

Registrations for club membership will be accepted for the remainder of September.

The club points out that judo is not just a man's sport but is proving very popular with girls and women. The chief benefits from the sport is physical fitness and during the past few years many youngsters and adults, of both sexes, have taken up the sport for this purpose.

The local club will be entering all approved Canadian Kodokan Black Belt Association tournaments during this season, in such cities as Montreal, Toronto, Niagara Falls, Ottawa and Detroit.

Jim Driscoll, chief instructor of the club, points out however that for those joining the club and not wishing to become a tournament fighter, they may learn it and as a physical fitness venture.

Ronald Post, Brown Belt, will be coaching the children's classes this year. Gordon Oliver, Black Belt, will be teaching self defence and Jim Driscoll, Shodan, Black Belt, will be teaching the adult class, assisted by Oliver.

Tournament-wise, the club has proven itself many times in recent years and recently fared very well while participating in the Canadian National Exhibition judo championships, in Toronto.

Anyone wishing to join the club is asked to do so now, thus getting in on the instruction classes as early as possible.

Flyers Clash With Joyces In Big One

Trenton RCAF Flyers will be facing elimination here today when they clash with Joyce Realty in the fourth District Softball League playoff game of the Belleville and Dist. Trophy game will be played at CNRA Park, at five o'clock.

Joyces, who were shoved down to second place by the pennant-winning Flyers this season, can retain the playoff title and the Bill Ott Trophy, with a victory.

Joyces lead the series three games to none but are finishing up the series with a minimum of players — which means anything could happen yet. The Real Estaters have lost Stu Muirhead and Pete Weston to out-of-town schools, Pat Marsden is out with an injured pitching hand and Chuck Kingston has moved to Hamilton.

Pitcher Blaine Healey holds the key to Joyces' success and you can bet he will be going all out to wind up the series this afternoon. Big Bob Butterfield will probably get the pitching nod for the Flyers for what could be a top hurling duel.

Tempers were short in the last game between these clubs, adding to the excitement, and softball fans will do well not to miss this one. Don't forget the starting time, five o'clock.

Surging Cards Close In On Dodgers

Gain Half-Game

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

"They've got to be concerned," Johnny Keane said of Friday night's defeat of Los Angeles Dodgers.

"A week ago they were sure they were in and weren't concerned. It's different now. They know it and we know it."

Keane, manager of the pressing St. Louis Cardinals, was speaking after the second-place Cards won their 18th of 19 games, a 7-0 win over Milwaukee Braves Friday night.

"Sure we're closing in on them, but we all realize we're still behind," Keane said. "We can't afford to lose any more. We're just hoping that somebody beats them and that helps them. In this game you've got to have luck."

THIRD SHUTOUT

The St. Louis win, built on Curt Simmons' third consecutive shutout and key hitting by Stan Musial and Ken Boyer, moved the Cards to within 2½ games of the Dodgers, who earlier this month had a seven-game bulge over Cardinals.

Cards got much help from Philadelphia Phillies who took the opener of a two-night doubleheader 3-2 from Dodgers before losing the last game 3-1.

Dodgers have 14 games remaining, Cardinals 13, including a three-game showdown series between the contenders at St. Louis starting Monday. The flag-winner gets to tackle New York Yankees, who clinched the American League flag with a 2-0 decision over Minnesota Twins.

Today, it'll be Pete Richert, 20, pitching for Dodgers at Philadelphia against John Boozer, 3-3, or Dallas Green, 8-4. Braves will start Bob Buhl, 20-6, while Cardinals go with Bob Gibson, 13-8, in an attempt to extend their winning streak to eight games.

In other action Friday, Willie Stargell figured in all the scoring as Pittsburgh Pirates edged San Francisco Giants 5-4 in 13 innings, Houston Colts' Don Nicholsbert two-hit New York Mets 1-0 and Chicago Cubs defeated Cincinnati Reds 3-2.

Simmons, who chalked his record to 15-7 by posting Cardinals' fourth shutout in five games with a 7-hitter, got all the runs he needed, meanwhile, got to Warren Spahn, 20-6, in the first inning on a single by Grandpa Musial and a homer by Boyer, and that was all Simmons needed. Musial went two-for-three on the night, extending his hitting streak to six games. During that stretch he is eight-for-14, a .571 batting average.

Dodgers loaded bases with one on in the bottom of ninth when shortstop Maury Wills threw wild on a doubleplay attempt with the bases loaded and one out. Two runs scored on the play, enabling Chris Short, 9-11, to get the victory with a four-hitter.

Dodgers had moved ahead in the top of the ninth on Frank Howard's two-run homer. Sandy Koufax started for Los Angeles, but was not involved in the decision.

In the nightcap, Dodgers got the winning run home in the eighth on a single by Tommy Davis, a double by Howard and a grounder by Ken McMullan on which Phillies were unable to make a play at the plate.

Ron Perranoski, working his fourth consecutive game, kept Phillies scoreless in final eleven innings in his 62nd appearance and brought his record to 15-3. Dennis Bennett, 8-4, took the loss.

Stargell hit a three-run homer in the third for Pirates, scored a run in the fifth and finally defeated Giants with a 13th inning triple that scored Dick Schofield.

Giants got their only run for Nottebert in the ninth on a walk, and singles by Rusty Staub and Tom Haller, relief loser was Roger Craig, 5-21 after throwing a seven-hitter.

Cubs defeated Reds with an eighth inning run on a single by Ron Santo, a sacrifice and a single by Billy Williams. The victory ended Chicago's losing streak at six games.

Yankees One Of Strongest Clubs

"Was Over-All Team Effort", Says Houk

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—That New York Yankees were the American League pennant surprised no one.

That they won it so easily—with Mickey Mantle out of action half the season and Roger Maris nearly as long—surprised a lot of people.

An observer must reach one of two conclusions:

The American League hit a new low in weaklings, or Yankees hit a new high in team strength.

Certainly this is one of the strongest Yankee teams ever put together. It doesn't have the awesome power of the Yankee machines during the Ruth-Gehrig dynasty, the DiMaggio-Keller-Henrich period or even the early Mantle-Berra days.

But it boasts a brilliant defense, exceptional relief pitching and one of the strongest benches of any previous 27 Yankee pennant winners.

"It was an over-all team effort, and to me, this makes about that," said Ralph Houk, who has won pennants in each of his three years as Yankee manager.

"We proved not only to others but to ourselves that we're not a one- or two-man team."

BENCH BUSY

With Mantle sidelined by a foot injury for 61 consecutive days and only occasionally in the line - up thereafter, and Maris out for long periods at time with a back and hand injury, the Yankee daily line-up was dotted with such benchwarmers as Hector Lopez, John Blanchard, Jack Reed, Harry Bright and Phil Linz.

It made no difference. After losing three in a row following Mantle's crippling injury June 8, Yankees came back and won 19 of their next 21. Five a Row Chicago's White Sox clung to their heels but on July 1, Yankees opened up a three-game lead and breezed the rest of the way. Not since the Boston Red Sox sailed to the 1946 pennant has an American League team won so handily.

It was the swiftest clinching date in 23 years.

It was Yankees' 29th pennant since 1921 and their fourth in a row.

Although an over-all team effort, the Yankee success story is due to tremendous individual efforts by such an veteran left hander Whitey Ford, sophomore pitchers Jim Bouton and Al Downing, catcher Elston Howard, and first baseman Joe Pepitone.

CANADIANS MISS MEET

MONTREAL (CP)—Pierre St. Jean said Friday no Canadian weightlifters are taking part in the world championships being held in Stockholm, Sweden, because the Canadian Amateur Athletic Union couldn't raise the money needed to send anyone. St. Jean, the Lords of Belleville, Ont., and Alan Salter of Ottawa had been picked by the weightlifting division of the union to represent Canada.

Six Pigs Enter Bowls Tournament

NEW HAMBURG, Ont. (CP) — Two village butchers will slaughter six pigs for the annual lawn bowling season tournament in this village 12 miles west of Kitchener next Wednesday.

Virtually everything about the popular event of mixed doubles play was connected with sausage—including the prizes—when the village's first sausage, a mammoth 97-pounder, arrived. Both started it eight years ago.

Saturday is no longer the main course of the evening dinner but most contestants buy anywhere from three to 10 pounds to take home.

Carl Keller and Wilmer Bender, who took over when Roth retired from the business three years ago, will mince up the six pigs into 600 pounds of sausage.

Mann Cup

Vancouver Meets St. Kitts

NEW WESTMINSTER, B.C. (CP) — Vancouver over-whelmed defending Canadian champion New Westminster 19-7 Friday night to win the western lacrosse championship and the right to meet the eastern title winner.

The bustling Vancouver club won the best-of-seven Inter-City Lacrosse League series 4-2.

Vancouver now meets St. Catharines Tee Pees for Canadian final which opens Tuesday in Cornwall, Ont.

There was little doubt from the start of the game who was going to win the trip east.

Shooting with deadly accuracy Vancouver ran up a 3-0 lead at the end of the first quarter, increased it to 7-3 at the half, and made it 9-4 going into the final period.

Vancouver scored twice when they were short-handed and once on the odd-man play.

Site of Mann Cup Series

Cornwall Lacrosse Wacky

CORNWALL (CP)—This eastern Ontario city of 44,000, on the banks of the St. Lawrence River, has gone wacky about lacrosse.

Cornwall, which doesn't even have a senior team, is pulling out all the stops in preparations for the Mann Cup series. The senior circuit is the Canadian senior lacrosse championship, which it opens here Tuesday, will have an atmosphere it long has lacked.

Cornwall has declared Mann Cup week and the players—St. Catharines Athletics for the East and either Vancouver or New Westminster from the West will blink their eyes in disbelief.

There will be a Mann Cup parade, a Mann Cup dinner, a Mann Cup dance—even a Miss Mann Cup and her two princesses.

The Canadian Lacrosse Association this year almost had to cancel the East-West classic for the first time since it began in 1925. The West was supposed to be the host but a poor showing clubs in the last few years have scared the west-coasters' stiff. Even playoffs proved a big highlight of the year and the cup series became an anti-climax that was hard to sell.

DIDN'T WANT IT

Ontario didn't want the series either. $25,000 guarantee was the stumbling block.

Cornwall was talked into staging the series and they'll it is handling it, Cornwall may be the site for years to come.

Downtown stores are filled with lacrosse displays and one store window has the Mann Cup—valued at $20,000 and one of the most valuable baubles in sport.

Giant lacrosse sticks mark three entrances to town, advertising the event.

The Chisholm Lacrosse Manufacturing Company—which supplies 97 per cent of the world's lacrosse sticks—is the sponsor of the series. Totally manned by Indians, the factory is on Cornwall Island in the St. Regis Indian reserve, three miles south of the city.

The St. Regis residents also plan an authentic Indian feast for the players.

An active publicity committee has been plugging the entire program with daily press releases, to the country's major news outlets.

Yankees Pay Tribute To Youngsters

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—New York Yankees celebrated their 29th pennant with the traditional champagne popping Friday night, but it was mostly a show for the youngsters on the team.

Such old pros at the art as game-winning thing as Whitey Ford, Yogi Berra and Mickey Mantle sat back and watched the kids have fun.

"It's for everybody," Ford said as he stood in corner watching the bubbly stuff poured over the head of manager Ralph Houk, Joe Pepitone and Elston Howard. "We got a kick out of it, but it's more fun for them."

Houk said "there is no doubt in my mind that this is the best Yankee team I've been connected with."

Added Berra:

"This is the best I've played on, all things considered. The great teams I played on in the late 1940s probably had more better guys starting, but they couldn't match this one for versatility. I'd rate our young pitchers as good as Vic Raschi, Allie Reynolds and Eddie Lopat, too."

Alberta Program Designed For Hunters to Be Sportsmen

By ALLAN SACKMANN

EDMONTON (CP) — The Alberta government has launched a $18,000-a-year program designed to make hunters into good sportsmen.

Different from the usual safety campaigns, the Alberta plan is to embrace all aspects of hunting from identifying game to hunter - farmer relations.

Primary aim of the program, says Lands and Forests Minister Norman Wilmore, is "to develop sportsmanlike attitudes among hunters."

Directed at the young hunter, the plan is to teach him how to identify game, where to look for it, how to handle a gun, how to survive when lost and how to maintain cordial relations with owners. It will include a review of game laws and the reasons for them.

Spearheading the hunter-training program is Paul J. Provencher, 40, who is to instruct volunteer leaders in various parts of the province. A former RCAF officer, he will design his program to take in the various subjects and begin teaching local instructors in January.

STRESSES CAUTION

"Hunting or fishing is frustrating when you don't know where the game is, and this can lead to carelessness," said Mr. Willmore.

By teaching hunters where to look for game and how properly to identify it the program should result in bigger bags and fewer "trigger-happy" shooters.

Mr. Willmore said the rapidly increasing number of hunters has created a tension among those in the field, anxious to make sure they get their quota. With this attitude the hunter would shoot at anything that moved.

Hiring ethics and courtesy will play an important part in the program the minister added. Hunters will be made aware of the attitude of farmers toward the highly mobile urban population that invades rural areas each fall.

LOCAL INITIATIVE

Success of the program depends entirely, said the minister on the enthusiasm of the local people. Money, after asking for it, will be required to develop the program.

The department hopes to draw its voluntary instructors from Boy Scout organizations, fish and game groups and service clubs that are interested in developing young sportsmen - hunters.

The government, through Mr. Provencher, will prepare the program, maintain a central registry of instructors and students, and produce films and visual aids at cost. The plan will be open to anyone 14 years old and over.

Mr. Willmore said the only other similar program is conducted in Ontario but there it is centred entirely around hunting safety. The broader base is provided, he said, because a man might be skilful with a gun but not really a good hunter.

This is something similar, he said, to a man being a skilful driver but not necessarily a good motorist; because of his attitudes toward motoring. The Alberta program is designed to make the hunter skilful, careful and successful.

Indians Win Int. League Cup, Title

ATLANTA (AP)—Indianapolis Indians claimed the International League Governor's Cup from Atlanta Crackers Friday night, beating the Crackers 9-4 and winning the best-of-seven series 4-1.

The Indians broke a 1-1 tie with seven runs in the fourth inning, only four of which were earned. The Crackers rallied for three in the last of the ninth, taking advantage of two Indian errors, but the game was out of reach.

Mike Joyce went the distance for the Indians, allowing the Crackers six hits. Three Atlanta errors handed the Indians four gift runs.

Jim Koranda was the hitting star for the Indians, batting in four runs. Three in the big fourth when he hit two singles. He batted in the other on a fielder's choice when the Indians scored an insurance run in the ninth.

Dutchsat Smith, who relieved starter Dick Hughes in the first, was the loser. He was shelled from the box in Indianapolis' big fourth. Bill Wakefield, Bob Humphreys and Johnny Kochs finished up.

The Crackers were defending champions for the cup.

The Tracks

TORONTO (CP)—Eric Walsh, 23-year-old apprentice jockey from North Sydney, N.S., will probably remember Friday the 13th as his luckiest day. The young Maritimer was the centre of attraction at Woodbine race track where he won on four of his six mounts, placing second on the other two.

Putting on a real show for the 5,722 thoroughbred fans, the 105-pounder won on his first three mounts of the afternoon, taking the third race on Mr. R. A. Glynn's 15 - to - 1 outsider, Finicky Crest, the fourth on Frank Gorbutt's 3-to-2 favorite Page Service and the fifth on Norman Rocamora's Action Station which returned $11.20.

In the featured sixth race, the Old Rosebery Purse, Walsh rode Bill Beasley's Eltoro the Great. Running as an entry with Beasley's Hidden Treasure, Walsh finished second to his stable mate. Nothing Sacred was third. Hidden treasure and Eltoro the Great returned $5 and in the Quinella, the pair returned $23.40.

'Breaking Point' Takes Over In the Old Ben Casey Slot

By JAMES BACON

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Paul Richards got the best role of his career as a young psychiatrist in the ABC television series "The Breaking Point" which premiers in the old Ben Casey slot this coming Monday.

How did he prepare for it?

"How else?" he answered. "I went to a psychiatrist."

"As a patient?"

"Yes, as a patient."

Richards, rated by experts as the coming heart-throb of neurotic females, thus becomes the first Hollywood actor ever to deduct his psychiatrist as both a medical and business expense.

Richards did much more research than mere couching in the doctor's office. He listened hundreds of taped conversations between doctor and patient; read scores of case histories and watched psychiatrists at work in clinics.

DEPICT REALISM

Reflecting the movie trend to raw realism, Breaking Point will depict the problems of a homosexual, homosexual-bisexually and rape.

"Let's face it, these fellows don't treat gas pains," Richards says.

But mainly the series will deal with people who crack under the pressures of the so-called breaking point. The shows are not soap opera psychiatric sagas. It is on at night (10 p.m. EDT) for the kiddies.

Ben Casey moves to Wednesday night in competition with CBS The Beverly Hillbillies.

Party Leaders on the Hustings

Labor Dept. Under Attack By MacDonald

By DAVID DAVIDSON

OSHAWA (CP)—The Ontario government providing twice as many gas stations as needed is wild like as it does inspectors to protect human life, Donald MacDonald, New Democratic Party provincial leader charged here Friday night.

The government is spending $230,000 for brucellosis control, to protect cows' udders—an unlikely, if suspicious for pure milk supply—but it is spending only $481,000 for factory inspection, he told an Oshawa riding election rally.

Mr. MacDonald said that Ontario's labor department has failed to grow with the province.

"It is still back in the horse and buggy days," he said.

"We have a labor department proclaiming its new look and stubbornly refusing to introduce a safety code for single new plan into its safety program.

"It feels it has done all that is humanly possible to safeguard workers from the new hazards of radiation when it gives seven inspectors 17 hours of lectures on how atomic energy is supposed to work.

"When the province's atomic energy minister begins a seven-week course in safety we must really worry."

Mr. MacDonald said the Ontario labor department's factory inspection branch was not sufficiently staffed.

"With only 67 inspectors to inspect 56,000 establishments, it is no easy wonder — that those sands of immigrant women who are working in crowded lofts and basements in Toronto have never seen or even heard of a safety inspector?"

Liberal Leader Attacks Dealings Of Naldo Bracci

FORT WILLIAM (CP)—Liberal Leader John Wintermeyer of Ontario Friday night accused the name of Naldo Bracci, chairman of the White River, Ont., town council, of having reported refusal of a lands and forest official to grant a request for Crown land to provide housing.

Mr. Wintermeyer said the request for the land was made by D. R. Bertrand of White River, who was not further identified, in a letter to Minister of Lands and Forests and Provincial Affairs Minister Spooner. The letter said several other requests had been made and refused by the lands and forests department in White River on the grounds that no Crown land was available for residential purposes.

Mr. Spooner had replied to the letter a few days later, saying he was referring the matter to A. L. Dunne, district forester at White River.

The Liberal Leader told some 200 persons at an election rally here—supporting Liberal candidate John Chapleski—that:

"Informed that Mr. Dumas took the position that there was no Crown land-around White River suitable for housing, that it was not really necessary that it would be difficult to service with water, that additional acres like those would be too costly to be constructed, and so on and so on."

ENTITLED TO KNOW

The people of White River are entitled to know why no Crown land was made available."

Mr. Wintermeyer has previously made allegations against Mr. Bracci in connection with the relationship of his business dealings and his association with the Conservative party.

Friday night he said the people of White River know Mr. Dumas to be a very good friend" of Mr. Bracci.

"They know him to be the president and director of the Lions Club of White River."

Mr. Wintermeyer said:

"And they know that Mr. Naldo Bracci is also a director of this organization and the major influence in it."

Just before he quoted from what he said was a copy of Mr. Bertrand's letter dated Sept. 10, Mr. Wintermeyer said:

"There is also another look at Norday Associates and how a situation developed whereby a company in which the chairman of the town council held a substantial interest became the sole occupant of land and for housing in White River."

Mr. Wintermeyer said his questions about the letter could not be answered because this "very regime cannot afford White River story exposed to the light of day."

He rejected Conservative criticism of his allegations saying:

"One minister in the Tory clique has said I have a way of saying around lifting the lids off garbage cans in this campaign. Well, it is a rather nice way for a Tory minister to say, because they are Tory garbage cans and they have Tory garbage inside them."

The Liberal leader flew here Friday.

During the trip his plane refueled at Sault Ste. Marie and the chartered DC-3 aircraft carrying the Liberal party landed at Sault Ste. Marie to refuel on the flight from Massena, N.Y.

DIAGNOSE TROUBLE

The pilot could not get one of the engines started on take-off again. An RCAF DC-3 happened to land at the time and a man in uniform got out, came over and diagnosed the trouble.

It was made and the Liberal plane took off again.

Earlier Friday, Mr. Wintermeyer visited the town of Cornwall, where he met civic officials and shook hands with municipal employees. He was not caught his plane at Massena across the St. Lawrence River from Cornwall.

Will Not Be Pushed Around By Anyone

- - Roberts

By JOHN LeBLANC

SARNIA (CP) — Premier Roberts said Friday night he will not be pushed around by anyone, including the federal government and "two-bit politicians," in reaching Ontario's final decision on its entry into a federal old-age pension plan.

Mr. Roberts, campaigning for the Sept. 30 provincial general election, was replying to accusations by Liberal Leader John Wintermeyer that he is trying to sabotage the Canada Pension Plan and is a stooge of private insurance companies.

He repeated his willingness to co-operate in the federal plan but said he intends to make sure that the rights of the people of Ontario are protected.

"I won't be pushed around by the federal government and I won't be pushed around by the insurance companies or the trust companies and I will not be pushed around by any two-bit politicians."

"There is no doubt in my mind that we can work out a satisfactory plan when I am satisfied that Ontario's rights have been protected," he said. "But I have no intention of being pushed around or chivvied or hustled by anyone until I am satisfied, because this is my responsibility."

WANTS KEPT APART

Mr. Roberts said he had hoped that the pension question could be kept out of the field of partisan politics so that the federal proposal could be examined in the light of Ontario's needs developing the best possible plan in the light of the Ontario legislature's own new portable pension scheme.

"But this has not been so simple as others, with everyone trying to get into the act," he said. Mr. Roberts said he had insisted on Ottawa's report by day to the effect that a large body of insurance and trust companies was trying to get into the act" concerning the federal proposal. That was their own business.

(The Ontario portable pension scheme is to be operated through private firms while the federal plan would be run by the government.)

Mr. Roberts made his only speech of Friday in this Lambton County centre, where about 450 persons on behalf of Conservative candidates in Lambton and West constituencies.

Discussing his government's medical care insurance plan now under study by a committee of experts before its introduction into the last legislature—Mr. Roberts said the people "voluntarily" paid as far as the government should go at this time.

COST ESTIMATES

He said that current estimates of the cost to the government run to about $30,000,000 per year, although about 1,000,000 people whose coverage costs would be met wholly from the treasury and about the same number of "marginal" persons would have their costs met in part by the province. The rest would pay their own way with the province paying the difference of service and the ceiling charges.

The plan would not disrupt existing non-profit plans, although some people were concerned that these would be destroyed.

He would be put into effect without the "catastrophic" which, Mr. Roberts said at Wednesday's opening of the Kitchener-Waterloo Exhibition, is a compulsory plan last year.

"If we were to have that result," he said, "I believe we would not be discharging our responsibilities to the people we represent.

"We believe we can give medical care without catastrophic.

"To argue that we should meet the costs for all these people is, I think, a fantastic argument. The money must come from the people in taxes, I feel, at least at the stage of the 4 per cent, the government should receive the benefit from the area we have marked out."

Were 97 Canadian Pilots Flying in Battle of Britain Fought 23 Years Ago

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

"The few" numbered 2,833 and 97 of them were Canadians.

In that blazing summer 23 years ago they fought the German air fleets while earth-bound Britons — and the world — watched and wondered whether a thousand years of the Nazi dark ages were about to begin.

Friday, 2nd June 17, 1940. Next day, Prime Minister Churchill warned the House of Commons that the Battle of Britan was about to begin.

The battle is considered to have lasted from July 10 until Oct. 31 although it continued well into 1941.

Fighter command of the Royal Air Force had 50 squadrons of Hurricanes and Spitfires exhausted by the Battle of France and coverage of the British Army's escape from Dunkerque. But it had a brief respite while the Luftwaffe regrouped. On July 10, two formations of 150 aircraft attacked a convoy off Dover.

ATTACK HEAVY

From July 10 to Aug. 18, Reichsmann Goering sought to overwhelm Britain's fighter defences with heavy attacks on coastal shipping, harbors, airfields, radar stations and aircraft factories.

From Aug. 24 to Sept. 27, London was the chief objective for massive formations of bombers escorted by swarms of fighters. Hitler issued his shrill "we shall come," meaning invasion of Britain by sea.

London's ordeal rose to a peak Sept. 15 when the Luftwaffe suffered a major defeat. There were so great that the German Air Force had to change its tactics again. From Sept. 30 to the end of October, Goering tried to overpower his adversary with fighter sweeps. This attempt to wear down fighter command also failed.

Gradually the pressure eased. The Luftwaffe still came and the night assault raged on. But the invasion by sea did not come. Nor did it ever.

On Aug. 20, 1940, Churchill had spoken his now famous tribute to fighter command: "Never in the field of human conflict was so much owed by so many to so few."

The great majority of Canadians who fought in the Battle of Britain were young men who had gone to Britain before the war to enlist in the RAF and had served in the RAF since.

There were, however, two Canadian fighter squadrons. One was No. 242 (Canadian) Squadron of the RAF comprising Canadian fighter pilots in the RAF. The other was No. 1 (Fighter) Squadron of the RCAF which arrived in Britain June 30.

Among the 2,833 pilots who took part in the battle were Sqdn. Ldrs. E. M. McNab, the commander; Flt. Lts. V. B. Corbett and G. R. McGregor; and FOS E. W. Beardmore, C. K. Briese, E. de P. Brown, E. C. Christmas, J. F. J. Desjardins, R. L. Edwards, G. L. Hyde, K. W. Kerwin, T. B. Lilly, P. W. Lochman, W. B. M. Mitchell, J. de G. Molson, D. Neobitt, R. W. Norris, J. D. Pattison, O. J. Peterson, P. B. Russel, Ron Smither, W. P. Springer, R. W. Trevena and A. M. Yuile.

EDWARDS FIRST

McNab drew first blood for the RCAF when he shot down a Dornier bomber Aug. 15. Edwards was the first member of the RCAF to lose his life in combat when he was shot down Aug. 26, after destroying a Dornier.

Sunday Sept. 15, was the highwater mark of the battle. The Luftwaffe sent over two waves of 300 bombers each. No. 401 Squadron intercepted a formation of 30 Heinkel III bombers.

The RAF and anti-aircraft command claimed 185 aircraft destroyed that day. After the war it was established from German records that actual enemy losses numbered 56. Contemporary British claims for the entire battle were 2,661 enemy aircraft destroyed. Luftwaffe losses actually were 1,733 aircraft.

Sept. 27 was the most active and successful day for No. 401 squadron in the battle. With 13 pilots, it made 36 sorties on three patrols, engaged 70 enemy bombers, shot down eight and damaged seven more.

COUNTS 20 PLANES

No. 401 was in the front line of the battle for 53 days and destroyed 20 enemy planes. Three of its pilots (Edwards, Smither and Peterson) were killed, 10 wounded and 18 Hurricanes lost. Many others were subsequently killed in action or in flying accidents. McNab, McGregor, now president of Trans-Canada Air Lines, and Russel, each of whom had destroyed at least four planes, were awarded the Distinguished Flying Cross by the king.

No. 242 Squadron fought in the battle under famed Sqdn. Ldr. Douglas Bader. The 18 Canadian pilots during the battle were Flt. Lt. P. S. Turner; FOS. M. E. Brown, J. C. Cave, G. F. Christie, L. E. Cryderman, R. D. Grassick, W. L. McKnight, H. N. Tamblyn; and POS John Bennies, N. N. Campbell, R. H. Dibnah, N. Hart, J. B. Latta, R. M. Sclanders, N. K. Stanfield and W. A. Waterton.

McKnight and Turner became two of the top aces of the war with 16½ and 14 aircraft destroyed, respectively.

FOUR KILLED

The squadron's total bag during the battle was 66 planes. Bennies, Sclanders, Campbell and Hart were killed. Other pilots died later in the war, including McKnight.

Individual Canadian members of other RAF squadrons scored some 60 victories in aerial combat during the battle. One of the most successful was PO J. R. Urwin-Mann of Victoria, a member of No. 238 Squadron who destroyed eight Nazi planes.

PO J. E. P. Larichelliere of Montreal, flying with No. 213 Squadron, had the unique record of six victories in two days, Aug. 14 and 15. He was killed in action Aug. 18.

PO W. H. Nelson of Montreal flew with famed South African ace Sailor Malan on No. 74 Squadron and destroyed five enemy planes before he himself was lost Nov. 1, 1940.

Wing Cmdr. J. A. Kent of Winnipeg destroyed 13 planes during the war, four during the Battle of Britain when he served with No. 303 Polish Squadron.

TAKES ON 40

Before the war, Kent had been decorated for deliberately flying his plane into ballon cables to test their strength. On Oct. 1, 1940, he took on 40 German fighters alone and shot down two.

Flt. Lt. R. A. Barton of Kamloops, B.C., who later led No. 249 Squadron in Malta where Canadian ace Buzz Beurling shot down most of the 31 planes he destroyed, accounted for 12½ aircraft during and after the battle.

Wing Cmdr. M. H. Brown of Portage la Prairie, Man., fought in the battles of France, Britain and Malta. He scored 18 victories and was the fourth-ranking Canadian ace of the war behind Beurling, Sqdn. Ldr. H. W. McLeod (21) and Sqdn. Ldr. V. C. Woodward (20). He was killed over Sicily in 1941.

In all, 21 Canadian pilots were killed during the Battle of Britain and another 21 were killed in RAF coastal and bomber commands during the same period.

Wants a Disguise for Teeth

By DORIS CLARK

DEAR DORIS — My teeth are so ugly that I try to never show them.

I am wondering if I couldn't buy some nice looking costume teeth (just the way you buy horrible-looking ones for Hallowe'en) and fit them over my own teeth, just for looks.

I'm tired of laughing hilariously with my mouth closed. — TEEN-AGE TOMMY.

DORIS CLARK

DEAR TOMMY — You need a dentist, not a masquerade shop. If your teeth are uneven, or discolored, or in need of repair, get to the man who knows best what to do. You can be helped — in fact, your health demands that you seek help soon.

And stop, forever, trying to laugh with your mouth closed. That's really queer!

DEAR DORIS — Please say a word about being polite to ones' "nearest and dearest." — STILL TAKING PLENTY.

DEAR STILL — I'll let Maud C. Cooke say it for me:

"If the slight formalities that are the bulwarks of love as well as friendship, many forbearances, and more of the small, sweet courtesies of life, were but permitted to blossom forth beneath the family roof-tree, fewer unhappy marriages would catalogue their miseries in the divorce court."

—Social Etiquette, 1896. (Publisher: The Bradley Garretson Co. Ltd., Brantford and Toronto.)

DEAR DORIS — Why do you think it is so important to talk things out? I have always made it a practice never to discuss personal affairs. When something unpleasant happens, I try to forget it as soon as possible. I'm doing all right — HAPPY HUSBAND.

DEAR HAPPY — Then why protest? Unless you are unwittingly burying trouble — which may erupt like a volcano one day.

For most of us, siphoning off our resentments and frustrations by discussion provides a safety valve, as well as a means of explaining ourselves. More than any other one thing, I'd recommend communication to the couple who want to stay happy.

If communications within the home break down, then a confidant—the right one—can sometimes mean the difference between mental health and personal breakdown.

Confidential to CONVICTS WIFE — Wouldn't it be best for your boy's father to explain what he did and why he is paying his penalty? A heart-to-heart talk now, on a visit to the prison, will make things easier for everybody later. Talk it over with the John Howard Society social worker and see what can be arranged.

DYNAMITE BLAST KILLS 4 NEGRO GIRLS

Malaysia Born Amidst Hostility Of Neighbors

Indonesia, Philippines Oppose New Federation

KUALA LUMPUR, Malaysia (AP)—The world's newest nation, the Federation of Malaysia, was born today in alternately gay and sombre inaugural ceremonies darkened by the hostility of its two largest neighbors.

Malaysia's strongest neighbor and most militant opponent Indonesia, announced it could not accept the federation "as it is now." The other, the Philippines, withheld recognition.

A happy crowd of 25,000 gathered at Freedom Stadium here for Prime Minister Tunku Abdul Rahman's midnight speech formally launching the four-member federation. But the people sat in silence as he warned that Malaysians must be ready to sacrifice their lives to defend their country.

The inaugural ceremonies capped a two-year struggle to unite the British territories of Sarawak and North Borneo with self - governing Singapore and the former British colony of Malaya. The independent federation stretches in a 1,500-mile tropical arc along the lower lip of the South China Sea.

Representing Canada at the inaugural ceremonies was Rene Tremblay, minister without portfolio.

The new nation of 10,000,000 people, mostly Malays and Chinese, was designed with British blessings as a pro-Western bulwark against Red Chinese ambitions in Southeast Asia.

It makes a virtual end to British colonialism, tying all of Britain's Asian colonies except

Rescue Woman Adrift 10 Days Off Florida With Dead Husband

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (A) "He kept asking for water. He became delirious after about three days. Then he was gone."

That's the way Mrs. Stuart L. Slade described the death of her Canadian husband as they drifted aboard their disabled cruiser.

A small, wiry woman with a deep tan, Mrs. Slade was rescued after 10 days adrift in the leaky cabin cruiser. The last three days were spent beside the body of her husband.

The tanker perryville rescued Mrs. Slade Saturday. A U.S. Coast Guard cutter attempted to take the crippled craft in tow, but it sank, with Slade's body. Mrs. Slade reached Jacksonville today.

The tanker Perryville rescued cruiser, Crystal, about 120 miles northeast of Jacksonville. Mr. and Mrs. Slades had left Miami for The Bahamas, but 20 miles from Miami their engine failed and they drifted northward with the Gulf Stream.

Mrs. Slade said her 48-year-old husband had a leg infection and, as a result, a spinal bacteria was trying to reach British territory for treatment. His home was Victoria, B.C.

"He promised to fix the engine when he felt better, but he never did. We ran out of food and water after three days. Some time during the first day storm came up and a seam in the boat parted. The boat started leaking. I bailed water continuously for nine days.

"I kept bailing the water out.

VICTIM REMOVED FROM CHURCH — Firemen and ambulance attendants remove the covered body of a Negro from the 16th Street Baptist Church. An explosion ripped the structure during church services Sunday, killing four and injuring 25 persons. (AP Wirephoto)

It Was Just a Matter of When

'Been Expecting This', Says Pastor

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — "It was just a matter of when," said Rev. John H. Cross. "We've been expecting this all along, waiting for it, knowing it would come, wondering when."

The four Negro girls were 19 hours dead and the heart of Mr. Cross, pastor of the dynamite-shattered 16th Street Baptist Church, was heavy with grief as the humid night air was heavy with tension.

"I've received half - a - dozen bomb threats since last April," he said. "We've searched the church several times. We've called off nighttime meetings because we felt it would be just too dangerous to gather, even if we'd want to pray.

"We haven't underestimated the extremists. We've known right along there were people in this town capable of anything. Even this."

In parts of the city, as Mr. Cross spoke, there was the periodic echo of a siren, the occasional crack of a gun, the ugly shout of a curse, the muffled clatter of a troop of National Guardsmen clambering from a truck.

Cynthia Wesley and Carolyn Robertson, both 14, were youth ushers in the Sunday school. Carol Denise McNair, 11, was a member of the junior choir. Addie Mae Collins, 14, and Denise McNair, 11) were members of her youth choir. Both were fine little girls, faithful in their attendance.

"I will have a credit to the community. Now they're all gone."

The minister said that in addition to telephoned threats of bombings—always, he said, from an anonymous male voice—he had received several "humiliating and insulting" calls both at his home and his church office.

"It had become a regular thing since spring," he said.

That was when the orders of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. first swelled the congregation of the 16th Street church from its customary 400 to 2,000 or more. The demonstrations which King led originated at the church, making it as a symbol of the current Negro movement and the target for a bomb.

Mr. Cross said none of the girls

No Single Issue Appears To Have Set Electorate Afire

TORONTO (CP)—A varied assortment of issues has been warmed up for Ontario's Sept. 25 general election, but no single one appears to have set the electorate afire.

With the campaign three weeks old, party spokesmen have been chasing into all corners of the big province in the hunt for votes, but somerville crowds have been small and visible enthusiasm less than overwhelming.

Most controversy has swirled around the Progressive Conservative government's plan for contributory, portable old age pensions, which has become politically unmarried with the federal Canada Pensions Plan and has got Premier John Robarts exchanging hard words with Federal Health Minister Judy LaMarsh.

Medical care insurance, Premier Robarts's new municipal development loan fund, education, and other topics provided "scandals" in the government area among other topics provided plenty of oratory as the campaign hit the home stretch.

While it had not yet had time to reach the hustings, the resignation of Robert J. Cudney as deputy provincial secretary, was being whipped into a hot campaign issue by New Democratic and Liberal party leaders.

Mr. Cudney, a government employee for 32 years, said he had tried to resign last March,

Church Bombed In Birmingham, Hours Of Terror

Steps Taken to Stop New Racial Violence

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — Officials took extraordinary steps today to head off any new racial violence in bomb-shaken, Birmingham after a dynamite blast killed four Negro girls, caused hours of terror and brought outraged protests from Negro leaders.

The U.S. justice department sent in three senior officials and a force of agents of the FBI with bomb experts. City officials joined with church leaders in a special statement, urging citizens to be calm.

Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., the Negro leader, flew into town to urge Negroes to be non-violent — just as he did in May when the bombing of a Negro motel touched off rioting by Negroes.

National Guardsmen were placed on the alert. Governor George C. Wallace sent 300 state troopers into town at the request of Mayor Albert Boutwell.

The Sunday morning blast at the 16th Street Baptist Church occurred during a Youth Day program at the church where numerous integration meetings have been held.

SHOOT NEGRO BOYS

It killed the four young girls and injured 23 others. Within a few hours, two Negro boys were shot to death in another part of the city, and three other persons were wounded.

"This has been the most frightening in the history of Birmingham," said Sheriff Melvin Bailey as violence continued breaking out despite pleas for peace.

Not since integration leader Medgar Evers was shot to death at his home in Jackson, Miss., in June has the Negro community reacted so strongly to racial violence.

Negro leaders called for strong federal action.

The blast was the worst of numerous bombings and other violence since Negroes began campaigning in earnest last April for integration here.

They achieved a modest school integration. Its beginning last week brought some student boycotts and protests.

FIRES BREAK OUT

This tense city spent a long, fearful day and night after Sunday's blast. Several fire bombs set, rocks were thrown by Negroes in various sections and some gunfire was reported.

Sunday school classes at the church were just starting when a lesson on The Love that Forgives when the explosion tore out concrete, metal and glass.

The four girls apparently were in the lounge in the basement of the old brick church. One, Sarah Collins Wesley, 14, was hit by the full force of the blast and could be identified only by clothing and a ring.

The others were Carol Robertson and Addie Mae Collins, 14, and Denise McNair, 11.

U.S. Attorney General Kennedy sent three top aides, Burke Marshall, Joseph Dolan and John Nolan.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP)— The Love that Forgives was the Sunday school lesson Sunday at the 16th Street Baptist Church it was never finished.

A bomb exploded there and twisted the lesson into an experience of confusion, terror and death.

Who knows on what part the four Negro children were reading when the fury was hurled at their bodies hit by flying glass and mortar?

Maybe they had reached the end of the lesson, with a Bible passage from Matthew: "But I say unto you, love your enemies."

The children were meeting in various parts of the church. Some were in the basement, some in the main room, and others in an adjacent Sunday school building.

The bomb killed were in the basement, where a clock was stopped at 10:22.

Shattered windows, large pieces of mortar, and a broken marble slab commemorating the founding of the church in 1873 are main testimony to the destruction there.

In one small room were patches of blood on the floor. At

Tree Swallows Ground Planes At Idlewild

NEW YORK (AP) — Large swarms of migrating tree swallows took roost on runways and taxiways Sunday at Idlewild Airport.

The instrument runway had to be closed for 45 minutes to permit removal of birds killed by a landing jetliner. The same runway was closed for the other 33 minutes when the swallows became so thick it was considered unsafe to land.

All incoming aircraft were warned to switch out for the birds. Oct. 4, 1960, an Eastern Airlines Electra crashed after takeoff from Boston, killing 61 persons, and the cause was laid officially to starlings flying into the plane's jet intakes.

Wants Letter Released

TORONTO (C) — The man who resigned Friday as deputy provincial secretary of Ontario has pointedly refused to deny suggestions that he was not only pushed but also harrised and insulted after he testified at Ontario's royal commission on crime last year.

Robert J. Cudney, 53, a civil servant since his graduation from law school 33 years ago and deputy minister for 18 years appealed through reporters for Premier Robarts to make public the letter Mr. Cudney sent him Friday containing his resignation.

Declining to disclose the contents himself, Mr. Cudney added "I can only say to Mr. Robarts that I would appreciate very much his making my letter public."

The premier commented later that he hoped it would remain from Mr. Cudney, but would consider a direct request for its release if it were made.

Mr. Cudney said during the weekend that he had first asked to resign last March, about the time Mr. Justice W. D. Roach released his report on the crime commission, but stayed on when the premier assured him there would be reforms in the provincial secretary's department. The reforms were not carried out, he said.

Three Party Leaders Meet To Tape Debate for Airing

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Leaders of Ontario's three political parties met under one roof Sunday night, getting a close look at each other as the campaign for Sept. 25 provincial election headed into its last lap.

The properties were observed but there were signs that the buffetings of the political battle for the legislature's 108 seats have taken a toll.

The gathering place was a studio where Premier John Robarts, in his first election as leader of the Progressive Conservatives, Liberal Party Leader John Nichol and New Democratic Party Leader Donald MacDonald arrived to tape a CBC television program to be broadcast Tuesday night.

Mr. Robarts and Mr. MacDonald arrived in the studio after being made up for the cameras. They exchanged no words. Mr. Winternmeyer entered and, after a muttered "good" have to pass right by him" from an actor, stopped for a quick handshake with the premier.

Then the three settled down to put the program on film.

Their confrontation came at the end of a weakend that saw a new element crop up in the campaign, the resignation of Robert J. Cudney as deputy provincial secretary.

A government employee for 33 years, Mr. Cudney sent the premier a letter of resignation Friday. He announced he had tried to resign last March, the month that a report on Mr. Justice W. D. Roach's royal commission investigation into crime in Ontario was presented to the legislature, but had stayed on because of promised reforms in his department. Mr. Cudney said were not made, he said.

Mr. MacDonald, speaking in London, Ont., said the action proved the work of the commission has not been completed. He asked that the letter be made public.

Mr. Cudney said in Toronto Sunday that he, too, hoped Mr. Robarts would make the letter public. The only comment from the premier, campaigning in Ottawa, was that the province had lost a valuable public servant, and he would consider making the letter public if a direct request was made for its release.

In a Saturday meeting before leaving for Toronto and the TV confrontation, Mr. Winternmeyer spoke in Attleboro. He told a cot party rally the party's plan to form a department of northern resources to co - ordinate federal-provincial knowledge, resources and opportunities in Ontario's North.

Development of the North would spur growth across the province, he said.

The campaign resumes today with Mr. Winternmeyer in the Toronto area during the day with a night appearance in London, Ont., Mr. MacDonald in Galt and the premier visiting party committee rooms in Toronto.

Wheat Pact Signed

OTTAWA (CP) — Russia today signed the biggest wheat-purchase pact in Canadian history, agreeing nearly $500,000,000 worth of wheat and wheat flour for delivery in the next 10½ months.

The order is for 196,000,000 bushels of wheat and flour equal to another 29,500,000 bushels.

Trade Minister Sharp and S. A. Borisov, Russia's first deputy minister for foreign trade, signed the deal as part of a new three - year trade agreement between Canada and the Soviet Union. The signing took place shortly after 11 a.m. at a press conference in Parliament's Centre Block.

Mr. Sharp said the new wheat order, added to a recent 11,000,000-bushel order by Russia, is equal to two-thirds of the total Canadian wheat and wheat flour shipments made in the entire 1962-63 crop year.

He said it will bring Canadian wheat exports in the 1963-64 crop year ending next July 31 to a record 380,000,000 bushels. The existing record is 408,000,000 bushels in the 1958-59 crop year.

This year's exports would bring in foreign exchange earnings of more than $1,900,000,000.

CASH AND TERMS

The deal calls for Russia to pay 25 per cent in cash for each individual shipment with the re-

Joseph L. Coombs on Trial For Slaying Actinolite Girl

Mental Patient Gets Pregnant In Hospital

WHITBY, Ont. (CP)—A 37-year-old woman who has spent the last eight years as a mental patient in the Ontario Hospital at Whitby is pregnant, Dr. Walter Weber, hospital superintendent, said Saturday.

Her 45 - year - old husband, a war pensioner, said he plans to sue for divorce and redress from the Ontario government.

He said: "There is no possible way that this child could be mine. Not once during that time (eight years) has she been released in my care."

Dr. Weber said the woman is six or seven months pregnant. He said the father is either another patient or a hospital visitor.

He said such cases have occurred before at the hospital and in other institutions.

"It's the open - door policy. It brings people together. They have the freedom of the grounds."

In Toronto, deputy minister of health Dr. Gordon Brown said the child will be the responsibility of his department. The case will be dealt with in ways similar to such cases in the past, he said.

WANTS CHINA IN

UNITED NATIONS (AP)—The World Federation of United Nations Associations adjourned its latest session Saturday night after adopting a resolution opposing that Communist China be brought into the Geneva disarmament talks. The Canadian and U.S. delegations, among others, abstained on this resolution.

Joseph Leonard Coombs, 29, 7 year-old Toronto parking lot attendant, went on trial in Belleville today, charged with capital murder of Miss Ida Valentine's Day stabbing of a teenage girl.

Coombs went on trial before Ontario Supreme Court Mr. Justice F. G. MacHenzie after a grand jury returned a true bill indicting him for the death of 15 year-old Sharon Margaret Frost. The girl, a native of Actinolite was found dead at the home of a married sister in L'Amable February 14th.

The grand jury's verdict was announced as Mr. Justice Macdonald reconvened the current Hastings County Assizes at 11 a.m.

Coombs, a slight, dark-haired young man, stood behind his defence counsel Ronald Cass and Thomas Lally, as, with prosecuting Crown Attorney John Pringle, they chose a 12-member petit jury panel to hear trial.

There is one woman on the 12-member jury panel hearing the capital murder charge. The jurors will not return to their homes until the trial has concluded and a verdict rendered.

Coombs was brought into court at 11.32 a.m. The jury was then chosen and sworn by 12 noon.

Only one witness was called by Mr. Pringle before the court adjourned for lunch. He, provincial John Foley, an identification officer at Toronto police headquarters, testified briefly on measurements he had taken at the scene of the alleged crime.

His Lordship warned the jury to keep an open mind throughout the trial.

"Prior to your verdict you must not discuss this case with anyone other than yourselves," he said.

"You are not to communicate or attempt to communicate in anyway with anyone, other than the sheriff or his officers," he added.

Sheriff were few spectators in the court room when the trial got underway. Seated in the front row, immediately behind the dock where he accused man sat, were his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Coombs.

There was one minor correction made in the proceedings at the outset. Mrs. Elizabeth Coombs has answered to the name Leonard Joseph. His baptismal certificate notes him as Joseph Leonard, the court was told.

INCREASING ASSISTANCE — Payments to old age pensioners have increased from a monthly average of $37.47 in 1953 to $61.09 during the first six months of 1962. The federal government has announced a $10 increase effective next month.

Social Credit Or Socialism Said B. C. Issue

VANCOUVER (CP)—The issue in the Sept. 30 provincial general election in British Columbia is Social Credit versus socialism," says Premier Bennett.

The issue, say his opponents, is the need for a government that can be trusted.

There are three main parties already saddled in the premier's Social Credit party, which has been in power since 1952.

The New Democratic Party, under Robert Strachan, had 16 seats to Social Credit's 30 at prorogation and is given the best chance for an upset as the province enters its fifth general election in the last 10 years.

However, both the Liberals, who had five seats, and the Conservatives, who had one, say he had none, are hoping to hold the balance of power after Sept. 30. There was one vacancy in the 52-seat legislature.

The premier has said his government has fulfilled its promises made before the 1960 election and needs a new mandate before embarking on a seven-year program of development.

Mr. Strachan has said the snap election is unnecessary, 40 days before election day because provincial affairs are left in mess and the province wants a new term in power before it becomes apparent to the electorate just how bad conditions are.

ISSUES EMERGE

Behind the generalizations, however, specific issues have emerged.

The NDP has promised, if elected, to institute a $250,000,000 medical care plan and to "get rid of social welfare" by setting up work camps for men from 44 hours a week. Free text books would be provided all high school students. Tuition and living allowances would be paid needy university students. A crown development corporation would be set up to encourage, develop and institute secondary industries.

Where would the money come from? From present governments? Four Portuguese soldiers and wounded 18 between Sept. 4 and 11. The rebels also killed two officials and wounded two others, it added.

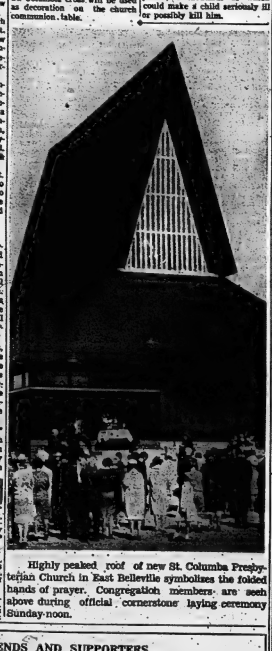
Cornerstone for St. Columba Presbyterian Church Laid In Fitting Ceremony Sunday

With completion of the new East End edifice something less than a month away, another milestone of St. Columba Presbyterian Church was reached Sunday as following the regular morning church service the cornerstone of the new building was officially laid.

Members of the church along with a sautterng of St. Andrew's congregation saw Mrs. Grace Miller, senior member of the St. Columba congregation, officially lay the cornerstone.

Another senior church member, Mr. William Logan, deposited church historical records and coins of the day in a copper flask, while Church minister Rev. Norman Hutchinson, conducted the cornerstone laying ceremony, assisted by building committee chairman, Ralph Blatchford.

The history of the St. Columba Church dates back to 1955 when it was decided to construct a new church in the rapidly developing East End area.



WILL SEAT 300

The building site was purchased the following year and a church residence was constructed which since has been in use as a Sunday School room and church meeting place.

The new structure which is actually the first phase of the eventual church building will seat approximately 300 persons.

For the past two Sundays, the 105 church members have been using the basement of the new building for services. The main church auditorium is expected to be completed some time in October with dedication services planned for the middle of November.

The name "St. Columba" honors the name of an Irish missionary, who in the sixth century founded a community on the island of Iona and from Stan Melbourne, Entertainment Chairman Don Andrews, Membership chairman Bill Ford and Comrade J. Coren respectively. All delegates agreed that it was a very good convention and well conducted.

Comrade Don Andrews was appointed to the credential committee for the convention. He stated that it was his first convention and found it very interesting and informative. He went on to say that he had never realized before what a strong organization the ANAF was in Canada and was very proud to be a member of it. The convention which it was held by all other units at the convention and he commended the members for choosing him as one of their delegates.

Comrade Stan Melbourne made the following remarks about Unit 201's activities to the convention at about the convention itself. The delegates had a very impressive parade with approximately 1,500 swards of 1,200 on parade on Sunday. Several delegates who took part in the Warriors Day Parade and were favorably impressed with Unit 201's Pipe Band on that parade were expecting to see them on parade in Kitchener and were quite disappointed when they learned the Pipe Band could not make it. Nevertheless Stan received some very nice compliments on their playing and appearance in Toronto. He reported that Comrade Bert Wells, long time secretary of Unit 201 and who has been ill with a few conventions, had been admitted to Sunnybrook Hospital.

WILL BE LOOKED AFTER

Several delegates, from Toronto's units, promised to see that he was visited and looked after by their sick committees when they visited their own members who were hospitalized there. Comrade Melbourne thanked them for their kind offers. He went on to tell them of Unit 201 adopting the Maclnnes Tartan as the colors for a distinctive unit tie and great interest was shown over this idea of a unit having its own club tie. He then told them of the unit's correspondence with the Save a Child Organization and how we had been accepted as a sponsor to further the education of an underprivileged Korean child.

These remarkl were greeted by a standing ovation from the rest of the delegates and he received numerous requests as to how to go about applying for a child to sponsor. He was requested at least twice by units to forward them all the information we had along with the clipping that was published in the Ontario Intelligencer of Aug. 30th, telling about the unit's sponsorship of this little Korean girl, Kim Sung Sook. As far as is known this Belleville unit is the first Unit in Canada to so sponsor a child and to adopt a unit tie. Both ideas were heartily acclaimed. Cde. Stan Melbourne was also appointed to the auditing committee of the Provincial Command.

WOMEN NOT FORGOTTEN

He further stated the Kitchener-Waterloo executive were wonderful hosts and made everyone feel welcome. Meanwhile the ladies were not forgotten and a number of bus tours had been arranged for them, both mornings and afternoon while the comrades were attending the convention meetings. Cde. Stan proposed a hearty vote of thanks to the Kitchener - Waterloo officials for their wonderful hospitality and kind treatment while attending the convention. On the last evening, after all business had been finished, a cocktail party was held for the delegates and their wives and, believe it or not, was served with a rather odd delicacy, baked pigtails. Stan admits he was a little leary but on tasting them said they were delicious. So much so, that, if anyone wants to try them, he has the recipe, which he will be glad to share.

The Provincial Command Executive for the coming term of office are as follows: — President, R. E. Davies, Hamilton; 1st Vice-Pres. L. Murphy, Toronto; 2nd Vice-Pres. W. Keiswetter, Kitchener; 3rd Vice-Pres. J. Hagel, Simcoe; Directors W. Smith and A. Cumpsty, Toronto, Command Auditors, S. Melbourne, Belleville, M. Rodgers, Belleville, W. Dobbs, Brantford, Sports Chairman, A. Taylor, Lakeview. Last but not least, our beloved Padre, The Rev. R. S. Skinner, Harrow.

A full report on the convention will be published in the near future and a copy placed on the bulletin board for the members' information.

4,000 HOMELESS

SRINAGAR, Kashmir (Reuters)—About 4,000 persons were homeless after a fire which destroyed three - quarters of Sopipora, a town of 8,000, some 35 miles from here. Fanned by gales winds, the fires destroyed 600 houses. But no loss of life was reported.

William A. Watson, of Belleville, chairman of the Registration Board of the Ontario Association of Architects, presided last week at a special induction ceremony of 40 architects into O.A.A. membership. Dionne Quints Thrilled About Births in Dakota

MONTREAL (CP) — Annette Allard roused her husband Germain from a late morning sleep Saturday to tell him about the birth of quintuplets in Aberdeen, S.D.

"Isn't it thrilling?" she said. Annette is one of five Dionne quintuplets born May 28, 1934 in Callander, Ont.

"She was really excited about it," Germain said later, telling about his wife's reaction to the Dakota births.

"She said she would like to see them, and write them to wish them luck and extend her congratulations." he said. "I haven't spoken to the other Dionne quints, but I know they were all pretty excited about the Venezuela quints."

He was referring to the birth last Saturday of quintuplets to a couple in Venezuela.

"Two sets of quints in one week." Mr. Allard said. "I can tell you that the quints have been watching the news to keep in touch."

The other surviving quintuplets are Yvonne, a nun in Moncton, N.B., Cecile, wife of Philippe Langlois and Marie, Mrs. Florian Houde. The fifth quint, Emilie, died Aug. 20, 1954 in Ste. Agathe, Que., of suffocation during an epileptic seizure.

Judge Turns Philosopher

Mr. Justice H. G. Moorhouse turned philosopher when he addressed the grand jury at the fall assizes of the Supreme Court here on Monday.

As a judge, he performs an indispensable function — as he said "the foundation of our society as we know it rests on the independence of our judiciary."

A philosopher's dictums though — any philosopher's dictums — need to be examined carefully.

"To disobey the law is wrong, both by the law of the land and by moral law," he declared. Here is pertinent phrase in that declaration is "by moral law."

Morality and law are not the same. Many things which are considered immoral in our society are not illegal. Though Mr. Justice Moorhouse dwelt at some length on the desirability that there be "a true recognition of moral values," we do not suppose that he would welcome everything which is immoral also being made illegal. We mortals are made of too frail a stuff for any of us to survive such a rigid discipline. We should all, even learned judges, find ourselves subject to legal penalties if it were unlawful to sin.

The immoral is not synonymous with the illegal. Mr. Justice Moorhouse himself pointed out that law and justice are not synonymous. Law he described as "the rule of action prescribed by authority." Justice, he said, "is the quality of being morally right."

The law is not necessarily morally right. But it needs to be obeyed, otherwise we undermine the whole system on which our society rests. Paradoxically, it sometimes becomes morally right to obey a law which is not morally right.

But is this always so? Mr. Justice Moorhouse cited the case of an Athenian wife, finding his appreciation of personal freedom contested by the law, had three courses open, to attempt to change the law, to move to an area where the law did not apply or to simply obey the law. "But he had no right to violate it (the law)," said Mr. Justice Moorhouse.

This may have been true in ancient Athens, where a citizen was free to seek to have an unjust law changed. But is it always true in some of today's societies? Was it true, for instance, in Nazi Germany? Was it morally right for an Aryan German to obey the law against sheltering Jews?

It seems to us it is only morally right to obey an unjust law if the law is an erroneous attempt to achieve justice, and not if it is a deliberate attempt to subvert it — as are some laws in some lands.

One of the best safeguards against such deliberately unjust laws ever reaching the statute books in our own country is the presence on the bench of men with the philosophical turn of mind displayed by Mr. Justice Moorhouse.

But in the final analysis the decision of whether it is morally right; or morally wrong, to obey any law must be made by each individual. For the responsibility for being morally right is one which we cannot delegate to anyone else, but which each man must shoulder himself.

Penalty Too Light

Kingston Whig-Standard

A few months ago there was a great storm of indignation in the country about the sale of meat unfit for human consumption. Certain measures have been taken to avoid such acts in the future but, in view of a recent case in Niagara Falls, it is to be wondered if the authorities are really as concerned as the public has been led to believe.

A supermarket — the New Way Market — pleaded guilty to six charges of using an improper preservative contrary to the federal Food and Drug Act. The preservative (as news report described the chemical) was sulfurous acid and was used to give stale or "dead" meat a fresh look or "a rosy appearance" that increased its sale value.

Mr. H. A. Logan, special health department prosecutor, told the court that apart from being a "fraud upon the public," the preservative could cause illness or otherwise danger to the consumer. Those few words in themselves amounted to a most serious indictment of this particular concern's sales practices. The fine? A mere $500, about the amount the supermarket might take in on the sale of 500 pounds of, say, beef (round or otherwise) in a few hours of Saturday business.

This is the sort of kid-glove treatment which makes a mockery of all the fine words about how the consumer is protected from fraud. In other words this particular court believed the consumers' health, perhaps their very lives, to be worth $500. It is possible, of course, that this is the maximum penalty. In that case it is to be hoped that the publicity has served as a warning to all who have been selling meat unfit for human consumption that they can assure the public that its meat will be sold as it appears. For the moment, however, we cannot help but wish that there was some way by which this firm could be deprived of a license to sell to the public. It is not enough that it has, in the very worst sense, betrayed the consumers' trust in its integrity and honesty. Does it not follow, then that it has renounced its privilege of operating within the free enterprise system?

Bores Make Others Bores

By Alan Brien
in the London Spectator

The most boring thing about the bore is not just that he is boring, but that he makes you boring too.

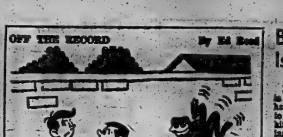
You can smell him out in any group by tuning in to your own conversation. If you notice a significant and dramatic increase in the output of cliches, platitudes, commonplaces, clichés and borrowed anecdotes in your talk then you have entered the zone of influence of a bore.

It is a mistake to assume that all bores are necessarily shallow, illinformed and inferior people.

If that were so they would be much more easily detected and they would cease to be pathetic and insulting figures.

One of the unsuspected signs of the true bore is the ability to make listeners feel ashamed at what on any other lips would be witty and provocative.

Another sign is the occasional, but distinctive occasional consciousness of this incongruity, but the injustice of it only adds an extra aggressiveness to their determination to make friends and influence people.



It may be that the power of positive boring is a form of mental ballistics known in the game, a kind of psychic gyroscope, the signal which cannot be switched off by the victim controller.

Probably no final solution to the Bore Problem can be reached without rounding them all up into camps and carrying out extensive re-education with shock treatment and group therapy.

Still, they might learn to eliminate some of their more outrageous symptoms if one could train themselves to remember that when asked "How are you?" only a bore gives more than a one-word answer.

They might remember that a bore reveals himself immediately by his inability to leave alone anyone who is reading a newspaper or a book, having a nap, dying, getting into a taxi, hurrying to catch a train, finishing an anecdote or making a hit with a sexy girl.

And, finally, they should convince themselves, by a simple experiment, that when they shut up for ten minutes everyone is not plunged into suicidal gloom by the dullness of existence.

GLEANINGS FROM FILES OF BYGONE YEARS

20 YEARS AGO

"The Sixarden," No. 6 Repair Depot, Trenton, monthly station magazine, has been printed on the presses of the Ontario Intelligencer job department and made available to service personnel. This is the first time "The Sixarden" has been printed in Belleville, and with their slogan: "You bend 'em . . . we mend 'em," is an excellent example of what can be done by airmen and airwomen to establish station rapport and convey friend of interest to former personnel who have been posted to other stations in Canada or overseas.

Coming to the city to take in the sights, 20-year-old Zella Cooney of Bancroft, became somewhat involved with demon liquor yesterday with the result she viewed Belleville from the confines of the cell block at the city police station all night. Today it was a much different story for 20-year-old Zella Cooney when she stood in the police court docket before Magistrate J. L. Lloyd charged with intoxication and also of the wilful destruction of plumbing fixtures in the Belleville police station to the value of $30.00.

Another 50,000 cigarettes were sent overseas to Belleville and district boys by the Army and Navy Veterans, Unit 201, this week. The addition brings the aggregate total of Canadian cigarettes sent overseas by the local Veterans' Associations to 585,000 fags. Secretary James Lazenby announced today.

Bechuanaland Is Sanctuary

Christian Science Monitor

If the Verwoerd government in South Africa decides on its harsh racial policies and abolishes the independence which have hitherto prevailed in its dealings with Africans, a head-on collision is bound to occur between the British Protectorates in Southern Africa. It is the South Africans who have chosen the path of course, with racial policies which the British and United States Governments have said they find abhorrent.

The Protectorates are the three territories of Basutoland, Bechuanaland and Swaziland, all of them having frontiers with the Republic of South Africa. All of them enjoy British protection and rights in fact, run directly from London. Since Africa left the Commonwealth, the British government has treated the territories as foreign countries with strict control of movement between them and the Republic. The contiguity of the territories with South Africa, however, makes them the first place of asylum for political offenders seeking refuge from the jurisdiction of the Verwoerd regime.

Thus, in the recent weeks have fled to Bechuanaland a Dr. Kenneth Abrahams, a Coloured man, and a white political practitioner who had been ministering to the needs of an African population in South-West Africa, and a Mr. and Mrs. Jack Hodgson, a white couple who had been in charge of a rest without trial in the Republic.

Dr. Abrahams, who holds a Bechuanaland residence permit, alleges that he has since 1930 been kidnapped by South African agents, and indeed, he has never been produced in court in Cape Town.

The case of the Hodgsons is a little different. They are British Protectorate, there was no question of their being returned Bechuanaland to the South African authorities once they had crossed the border into Bechuanaland. Pretoria has undertaken in an undertaking that they would not engage in political activities while in Bechuanaland, and have consequently been told they must leave the territory "within a reasonable period" if so declared illegal immigrants.

Admittedly, it is peculiar circumstances that have incarcerated not the authorities there in a difficult position. But let it be said again, any surrender of British as opposed to South African principles would be exercised wherever the Union Jack flies, is the hope that Dr. Verwoerd, if he is really short-sighted.

British Colonial Secretary Candys already has received an all-party delegation from Parliament in Bechuanaland and made representations on behalf of the Hodgsons. It is the decision to expel them from Bechuanaland goes through, Prime Minister Malcolm is going to face a storm in Parliament when it reassembles after the summer recess.

Thinks March Not in Vain

New York Times

The 300,000 marchers for racial equality are back home. The signs demanding "Freedom Now" which swept and swept up by Washington's garbage collectors. The wails of discrimination remain unheard—segregated housing, closed jobs, "white only" rules at places of public accommodation, daily humiliations for the Negro. The House Judiciary subcommittee must report the first proposed Congressional action on the Administration's civil rights bill to be received until Sept. 30. Congressmen say nothing much has changed in their sentiments on the bill, and few display any heightened sense of urgency.

Does all this mean that the most impressive assembly for redress of grievances in American history has been in vain? We are convinced that when the record of 1963 is written the answer will be just the opposite. The national conscience, most potent of all spurs to political action, has been stirred in ways that will find expression in laws and in executive performance. The only question is whether the translation of attitude into action will come soon enough to prevent new explosions of interracial violence.

The march on Negro and white citizens in the leadership of the march and of its rank and file demonstrated the individuality of the fight for genuine equality is all phases of American affairs. It was a rebuke to those in both races — the White Citizens Councils and the Black Muslims — who favor a pulling-apart instead of a pulling-together. It was a rebuke to any stance to constitutional guarantees. This is all American

To Your Good Health

Children Shouldn't Wear Hand-Me-Down Shoes

By JOSEPH C. BOLSER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: What is your opinion of young children wearing hand-me-down shoes from older sisters and brothers? Is this bad for the child's feet? I was told it was, but only by a shoe salesman, so I'm not sure.

Shoes, to some degree, change shape to suit the wearer's feet. Some persons are too fat, some too cat; most are quite average. Some people walk on the outside of the foot, some walk on the inside. Some people, (especially children) scuff the toes. Others wear out the heels. Some are bowlegged and some have narrow feet and toes. You had first-hand observation of a good many families in which children of the same parents have quite different feet — as well as quite different noses, heights, tastes, etc.

After a child has worn a pair of shoes long enough to need new ones, he (or she) has changed their shape. There are bumps and hills in the inner sole to fit the toes. The shoes have been worn so that they tip a bit this way or that.

Now suppose these same shoes are handed down to a child. The hills and hollows of the inner sole do not fit the feet. This may not matter much in the case of boots, but it could in others. The new feet should sometimes be pushed into a faulty pattern, by trying to conform.

Or, if the shoes have become run over at the heel, the second wearer begins to walk in the same way — because the shoe make him do so.

No, I think that every child should, if it is possible, have his own shoes, and let them conform to whatever shape his feet happen to have.

Where a family is hard-pressed financially, I can see that it is a temptation to use hand-me-downs. With children, frequently their feet grow faster than they are worn out.

But I've also seen youngsters walking to school in shoes so old and worn, and perhaps handed down through three or four children, so I know the other end. For them, almost any shoes are better than none.

For the best foot-health, every child should have new shoes that fit. Hand-me-downs or hand-downs don't hurt anything, either feet or pride. Occasionally they do.

I have no objection to hand-me-down pants or dresses or playsuits, or to underwear or hair ribbons or pyjamas, socks if they fit, or sweaters or snowsuits or mittens.

But shoes — a battle in which intolerance and injustice are the common enemy.

Yet, even with strong Federal legislation and a well-informed community will, monumental obstacles must be overcome before racial harmony can be said to be a priority commitment in all our individual and national planning the necessity for faster movement to correct these deficiencies is at all the public and sensitive people inevitably feel that he considers himself too superior to acknowledge their existence.

This is, of course, nonsense. Many persons who share the depression of being self-assured are, in reality, painfully shy; that because they know when they meet new people that the whole spotlight is blocked off from consciousness.

At any rate, it is the finest point of politeness never to assume that a casual acquaintance remembers who you are, and to remove from embarrassment by giving him a handle to swing on. Thank you, friend.

Strictly Personal

Never Force Admission Memory Poor

By SYDNEY J. HARRIS

Oscar Wilde once defined a gentleman as "one who is never unintentionally rude." I wonder how many men, and women, realize they are being unintentionally rude when they say, "I simply don't remember me, do you?"

They mean it in a kindly way, perhaps. Yet they should stop a little bit hurt when you have to confess you don't remember them. They are hurt, and you are embarrassed.

Being one of that vast and unhappy number who can only have no memory for names, but forget faces almost as easily, I have been tormented for years by this question, or variations thereof. And further, being wholly incapable of pretending, I cannot carry off this social awkwardness with any kind of ease.

Those of us who meet people several times and still have no recollection of their identity (and no memory of the meeting) are pitiful victims of false deference: instead, we are considered to be haughty and aloof and self-important.

The most gracious persons I have met are those who admit their weak memory of names, and accept you with the lovely phrase, "I've met Mr. Blank before, we met at the Ciphers' dinner."

This charming gambit permits you to remember yourself with, "Of course, I remember it very well." This immediately creates the impression of mutual affinity.

Whether this shocking blankness of recollection comes from a deep fear of people, or from unfamiliarity with the rules of attentiveness, its consequences can be humiliating to anyone who is at all the public eye. Sensitive people inevitably feel that he considers himself too superior to acknowledge their existence.

This is, of course, nonsense. Many persons who share the depression of being self-assured are, in reality, painfully shy; that because they know when they meet new people that the whole spotlight is blocked off from consciousness.

At any rate, it is the finest point of politeness never to assume that a casual acquaintance remembers who you are, and to remove from embarrassment by giving him a handle to swing on. Thank you, friend.

A.N.A.F. Weekly News

The president and members were very pleased to be able to welcome the sick chairman, Percy Kelly, back to the club and to know the injuries he sustained last week were not as serious as was first thought. He is resting at home and may have to go back to Kingston for a final examination. He reports that "Wayne" O'Brien is about the same. Comrade Dick Killick was allowed home for the weekend but has to go back to Kingston for further treatment.

No word has been heard from Comrade Bert Wells since he went to Sunnybrook but, undoubtedly, he will receive the best of treatment there. Comrade Ab Bratton is about the same. He is in room 340 and really appreciates having any member dropping in to visit him. Comrade Ben Acker is in room 305, his back is still bothering him but he also would be pleased to see any member for a visit. The publicity chairman is out of hospital and is able to carry on although his vision is still quite dim but hopes to have it clear up in the near future.

Comrades Harold and Marion Dracup's hearts were gladdened last Wednesday evening, when they welcomed their boy Archie at the Trenton Air Station. He arrived by air transport from Germany where he has been serving a three-year term of duty with the Canadian Army. With him, he had brought a charming young lady, Sandra, whom he had met and married while on leave in Germany. The reunited family returned to Harold's residence in Belleville where they had a celebration dinner to welcome the happy young couple home to a fitting manner. Friday evening, the entertainment chairman, Don Andrews, nominated the club dance as a big welcome home to the newlyweds and they were introduced to the members and guests who were present at the dance. The members extended their best wishes and heartiest congratulations to them while the orchestra played appropriate music. Archie will be stationed at Ottawa when his furlough is ended. Have is wishing them the best of luck in their new life.

There were about forty couples at the dance and they all had an enjoyable evening of fun and dancing to the toe tapping music of the Troubadours and several nice prizes were distributed. Comrade Don will announce the date of the next dance soon and says he would like to see a few more members attend as the spacious hall will accommodate sixty couples with ease. So how about it, comrades, attend the dances and join in the good times and fun with your friends not forgetting you will be helping those funds for the children to have a good time at their big Christmas party.

The sports chairman states that, regardless of rumors to the contrary the 49th vs ANAF sports day is definitely going to be holding the weekend of Oct. 5th, so make your reservations for the Inn A Nanty of time and you will not be disappointed. It's always a good time with the 49th.

The regular general meeting was well attended and the business of the evening proceeded smoothly. Delegates to the Provincial Command Convention gave their reports which will be published in another column shortly.

Decoration Day parade, Sunday 22, September. Remember this date and be sure to turn out to honor your departed comrades. Fall in on the market square at 1.30 p.m. Parade moves off at 2 p.m. All veterans are welcome to attend.

This is all for now but remember the president is hoping to be able to greet you all next Sunday on the Decoration Day Parade.

Miss Mary Beth Follwell Visits Scotland

The Edinburgh International Festival draws visitors from all over the world. For three weeks the Scottish capital has a programme of music and drama featuring famous artists. Among the visitors to this year's festival were (left to right) Miss Mary Francis Grills and her father Mr. Garnet Grills of Paget, Bermuda; Miss Mary Beth Follwell of Belleville, Ontario, and a friend Mr. Phillip S. Douglas of Edinburgh. Mr. Douglas and Mr. Grills are old business friends who met in Bermuda through Mr. Grill's importing firm. It is the first trip to Britain for Mary Beth, who came to accompany her friend Mary Francis, who with her father came originally from Belleville. They travelled to Edinburgh for the festival and will attend the Tattoo, then continue travelling to British and visit London. Mr. Douglas showed his friends round the ancient and historic city. They were pictured on the ramparts during a visit to Edinburgh Castle, where they learned some of the building's turbulent history from a Guard of the Argyll and Sutherland Highlanders. The Argyle and Sutherland Highlanders are performing in the spectacular Military Tattoo which takes place on the esplanade of the Castle during the festival.

Parade of Homes Opens With Colorful Ceremony

The Quinte Home Builders' Association 1963 Parade of Homes got away to a colorful start on Saturday with opening ceremonies at the Belleville Plaza, followed by a parade through the downtown section of the city.

Alderman Jack Ellis, representing city council in the absence of Mayor A. M. Haig, wished the Quinte Home Builders well, noting that home building was the second largest industry in the city, providing employment for a large number of people in the building and home furnishing trades.

Also appearing at parade kick-off ceremonies at the Plaza, and later at the gas heated model homes visited, was Gordie Tapp of TV "Country Hoedown" fame. He signed literally dozens and dozens of autographs during the afternoon and at the homebuilders annual dance.

Several floats and antique cars were included in the afternoon parade, which passed through the downtown section of the city and visited the various new homes open for inspection.

As part of his personal appearance visit, Mr. Tapp, entertained at the home builders' annual dance held Saturday evening at the Tops Motor Hotel.

TRUE WEALTH

Money talks, or so it's said
And some times this is true,
But there are things it cannot buy;
And these are just a few.

You cannot buy understanding,
Health, love, contentment, glee,
You can't buy a day of your future
Or sincere sympathy.

You cannot buy a warm hand clasp,
A welcome or gasp of delight.
Money might buy admiration
But that isn't respect; not quite.

Gold will not open heaven's door,
When you come to your journey's end.
You can't buy the faith of a little child;
These have to be won — (my friend).

SPEAKING of MANNERS

PATRICIA LEWIS

HOW'S YOUR PARTY SPIRIT?

Are you partying more, but enjoying it less?

Maybe you just don't have the proper attitude.

It's easy enough to put on a party dress, but some people who complain that they had a "horrible" time usually didn't don the proper party spirit.

"A neighbor I met in the supermarket the other day brought this point to mind when she launched into some bitter postmortems on a party we both had attended the week before. In her opinion, "nobody" was there, the hostess didn't introduce her to anyone worth speaking to, the food was very "ordinary" etc., etc., etc.

Speaking as a "nobody" who was there, I couldn't believe we had both attended the same party. But I recall that she sat in one spot all evening, didn't budge an inch, and turned her nose up at some excellent vittles with the excuse that she was full.

The hostess, a vivacious woman with a knack for making guests feel comfortable, couldn't budge her from the fireside chair or her frame of mind. If anyone should have had the scalpel out, our pertient hostess should have been performing the post-mortem, but of course, she is much too polite to indulge in such trivialities.

In dissecting the party according to her own lights, my poor misguided neighbor also did a good job of putting her own shortcomings as a guest under the microscope.

ASSUMES OBLIGATION

Once a guest accepts an invitation she immediately assumes the obligation of enjoying herself and helping everyone else to do the same thing. This doesn't mean that a guest has to be the life of the party, but she surely should inject some vitality into it.

The host and hostess may supply the background, but it's the guests, themselves, who actually make the party — simply by meeting each other, chatting informally, exchanging views and generally centering an interest in each other.

When my neighbor complained that the party was dull, it was because she sat glued to her own self-importance and refused to get out of her shell long enough to meet anyone. She seemed did her best to be introduced to her account, but the reason she didn't meet "anyone worth speaking to" was because she had nothing to contribute, herself.

So next time you feel a party is pretty much of a "bore," why not take a closer look at your own attitude before blaming the hosts, the refreshments and the other guests. Join in, and you might find you're really having a jolly good time after all.

Like Old Mother Hubbard's cupboard the Loan Cupboard of the Canadian Arthritis and Rheumatism Society is reaching a state of becoming bare. This caused great concern at the meeting of the Auxiliary to CARS which was held at the home of Mrs. G. A. Bennett. Bellevue Apartments recently.

The Loan Cupboard is one of the Auxiliaries' special projects where wheel chairs, bicycle carriers, crutches and other aids are given out on short term loans. But the demand is greater than the supply, and it was decided to invite Miss Winnifred Herington, director of social work of the Ontario division of CARS to speak at the next meeting on October 3. In the hope that she would give some advice and leadership in this part of the work.

Miss Hilda Collier presided at the meeting and a report of the work carried on in the summer was given by Mrs. R. David in the absence of Mrs. A. Fifrell, convener of patients and visiting.

Slides showing the work of the Society were shown at a meeting of Wellman's Corners Institute when Mrs. A. Gemmell, Mrs. A. S. Robb and Mrs. R. Ferrid explained the work.

Patients' welfare was discussed which included driving services, disabled patients for treatment and to their doctors. Bathing equipment had been provided to the patients making greater independence possible.

The Auxiliary plans an art exhibit at the Prince Edward suite of the Hotel Quinte on October 18 and 19 when Robert Stewart Hyndman of Ottawa will have a showing of his pictures. Tickets are being sold on a draw for a landscape by the artist. Mrs. John Stock is convener of the exhibit.

CARS receives assistance from the United Appeal to aid them in their work for those disabled with this crippling ailment.

To Vote for First Time

TEHRAN, Iran (AP) — In veils and in chic western dresses, Iran's women went Tuesday will vote for the first time in history.

The election is revolutionary in more ways than one. The new Parliament, instead of being filled with rich industrialists and powerful land barons, will include workers, farmers, middle-class civil servants and possibly a few women.

A new electoral law has decreased abuses of past elections. No longer will an Iranian be able to vote half a dozen times, and no more ballots will be cast on behalf of animals, babies or villagers who died years ago.

Determined to form a Majlis that will back its reform programs, the government of Prime Minister Assadullah Alam has prevented the opposition from campaigning.

Some Iranians believe the Shah and the government are unconcerned by the criticism they may face, by silencing their opponents. Though the election may fall short of western-style democracy, they hold, it will be as fair as those in neighboring Pakistan and Turkey, and more democratic than those in Egypt or Iraq.

Denyes Family Holds Reunion

The Provincial Park at Adolphustown was the scene recently of the second Denyes picnic. This location is especially suitable as the first Denyes settlers were U.E. Loyalists and landed in 1784. The attendance last year was fifty-seven and this year ninety-three.

Percy Denyes, chairman, asked Rev. George Denyes, Winnipeg, to say grace. One minute of silent prayer followed for the members who were absent due to age illness and recent bereavement.

After dinner the chairman conducted the business meeting. It was decided to make the picnic an annual affair.

Officers: chairman, Drury Denyes, Belleville; secretary, treasurer, Miss Helen H. Sprung, Odessa; committee: Mrs. Helen Jeffrey, Bellevillie; Shelley Denyes, Odessa; Mrs. George Sherrat, Kingston.

Rev. George Denyes, retired minister of the United Church, had recently been guest speaker at the Bethel-Zion Church centennial services at Holloway. Zion Hill Church was built in 1863 on the Denyes farm.

Rev. Denyes told the story of our forefathers, their loyalty to the crown, their courage, faith and deep religious convictions that forced them to endure all kinds of hardships for the sake of their high ideals. He exhorted us to emulate their good example.

Those present from the oldest man — Mr. Horace Denyes, 91, Odessa; the oldest lady — Mrs. George H. Napanee; person having a birthday on that day — Mrs. W. Casey, Belleville; person travelling the greatest distance — Rev. George Denyes, Winnipeg.

Visitors were present from Winnipeg, Brighton, Belleville, Holloway, Tyrone, Napanee, Marven, Odess, Kingston and Ottawa.

STARTS DIVERSION

HUDSON HOPE, B.C. (CP)— Premier W. A. C. Bennett set off a hastily-placed charge of 7½ tons of high explosives Saturday to start diversion of the Peace River. Some 1,000 yards of rubble blew as high as 250 feet in the air after the premier pressed a red switch on a platform high above the multi-million-dollar Peace River Dam site.

Since I made the pot roast last week Bruce wanted one but he wanted vegetables in his. So, dutifully, Eleanor made one on Sunday night when they had the Howells as dinner guests with their two children, Cheryl and Danny, 8 and 4 years old.

Since my relatives expect vegetables tied in with their pot roasts too, I will give you Eleanor's method.

MONDAY

Dinner Menu

Quick-Cooked Crumbed Baby Beef Liver; Pan Gravy; Creamed White Onions; Delicate Mashed Turnip with Potatoes; Ribb Lettuce and Spinach Salad with Roquefort Dressing; Apple Dumpling with Lemon Syrup; Coffee.

VEGETABLES ADDED TO POT ROAST

See Wednesday, September 11th for my method of pot roasting, which Eleanor followed.

Then add quarter hours before dinner time Eleanor added to the big heavy pot (in which the meat had been simmering for 2 hours) 12 whole onions (3 to 3½" in diameter) and 10 medium carrots, cut in big chunks. She added ¼ cup hot water at this stage. Fifteen minutes later she added 8 medium - sized whole potatoes (because they do not need to cook as long as onions and carrots) then let all simmer one hour longer, giving the meat over 3½ hours cooking in all. At serving time she lifted the roast to the hot platter, and surrounded it with the onions and garnished it plentifully with big sprigs of parsley. She served the two other vegetables, the carrots and potatoes, in two separate pyc - heated vegetable dishes. Eleanor made gravy by stirring 6 tablespoons flour into ½ cup cold water to make a smooth paste and stirred this slowly into the hot broth in bottom of pot until smooth. Then she returned it to the heat and stirred until thickened and boiling and strained it and poured it into a big gravy boat. It was a great success and it makes me hungry just writing about it.

On August 31st I gave here some recipes for peach jams with other fruits that were requested by a reader, Mrs. S. R. I did not have the recipe for Peach and Cantaloupe Jam which she requested and said maybe one reader would come to the rescue. One did immediately after reading it. I hope Mrs. S. R. likes it.

PEACH AND CANTELOUPE JAM (courtesy Mrs. Dalton M.)

6 cups white sugar, ½ teaspoon salt, ½ teaspoon nutmeg, 1 teaspoon grated lemon rind, ½ cup lemon juice, 4 cups peaches, peeled and cut very fine, 4 cups canteloupe, pared, seeded and cut very fine.

Mix all ingredients together and put on to boil for 2½ hours in heavy pot or until desired thickness. Bottle. Note: This must be stirred very frequently if ...t constantly.

Ann Landers

Bereaved Teenager Offers Sound Advice to Youth

ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS — I am a teenage boy who wants to say something to that loud, mouth kid who said he didn't see any sense in honoring his parents just because they happen to be older. He said his parents are stupid jerks and so are the parents of most of his friends.

I don't have any parents to honor, but if I did I would honor them plenty. My dad was killed in an accident when I was 11 years old. He was the greatest guy who ever lived. He was only 35 when he died but I'm thankful I had 11 years with him.

My mom died last summer. I don't think the ache in my heart will ever go away. She was a truly wonderful woman.

So please, Ann Landers, print this letter so other kids can see it. Let them know they are blessed if they have their parents. And tell them for me that if they are smart they will honor their parents while they are still on this earth. I wish I was so lucky. — FIFTEEN AND ALONE.

DEAR FIFTEEN — I wouldn't attempt to add a single word to what you have written. Thank you, Son. I wish you were mine.

* * *

DEAR ANN LANDERS — A good friend of ours has taken up painting as a hobby. She says it is much cheaper than psychoanalysis and it is doing her twice as much good.

Yesterday she brought over an enormous canvas, expensively framed. It looks like a bull spe from one angle and an abandoned copper mine from the other. It could be hung upside down or sideways and no one would know the difference. She had the nerve to say it was her impression of me My wife couldn't stop laughing.

I don't want to hang the monstrosity but my wife says it would be a terrible insult if we didn't hang it — especially after she went to the trouble of having it framed especially for our living room. If you think this is a gag let me assure you it is not. I would like your frank opinion. — B.D.O.

DEAR B.D.O. — The picture sounds like a great conversation piece and I hope you will hang it, at least for a while. A sense of humor is what separates man from bull spes and copper mines.

DEAR ANN LANDERS — May I have just a few inches of your valuable newspaper space to get across a point I had to learn the hard way? It is simply this: The wife who chews at her husband, nags and criticizes him will surely drive him away No wife ever got love or attention by demanding it

I married at 19 — and there was no greener, more stupid, more self-centred girl in the world than I was. My husband was an attractive, somewhat reserved man who was struggling in the academic field. I felt he was not paying enough attention to me and I accused him of being unfaithful.

I kept him up late at night, questioning, arguing and attacking. He denied nothing, nor did he attempt to defend himself. One day he quietly told me that I had completely destroyed his love for me and suggested that I file suit for a divorce. I was certain he had another woman (I was wrong) and we split up.

Now eight years later I am 30 years wiser. I am about to marry a perfectly wonderful man and this time I am going to make a home a comfortable and delightful place to be. A place where he will find joy, contentment and peace. — LESSON LEARNED.

DEAR LESSON — Thanks for sharing your experience with us. Yours is a letter which should be clipped and referred to often by young wives who are having hound trouble.

* * *

Are your parents too strict? You can benefit from the experiences of thousands of teenagers if you write for Ann Landers' booklet, "How To Live With Your Parents," enclosing with your request 30 cents in coin and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

the same month the report on Mr. Justice W. D. Roach's royal commissions inquiry on organized crime in Ontario was presented to the legislature. He said he had been assured certain reforms in his department would be carried out.

These assurances had not been fulfilled, he said, and on Friday he had handed in his resignation. The official had testified before the royal commission on his department's record in issuing social club charters, often used as a front for gambling concerns.

The opposition groups — Liberal and New Democratic Party —have been providing most of the fireworks. Premier Roberts has been concentrating on the record of the well-entrenched Conservatives—in office for 20 years—but has been forced into occasional slugging matches, chiefly on pensions.

Mr. Roberts, 46, latest in a succession of four Conservative premiers, is leading the government into an election for the first time after just under two years in office.

Back with 63 of the 90 legislature seats at dissolution, Mr. Roberts faces Liberal John Wintermeyer, with 24, and NDP Leader Donald C. MacDonald, who has five. There were six vacancies.

FULL SEATS

For this election, under a redistribution, there are 108 seats to be filled. A record 327 candidates are in the field. The two major parties are contesting all ridings and NDP has 87 candidates. Social Credit has three, a group called Social Credit Action has six—all in Toronto, and the Communists have six.

The offensive on the pensions platform has been taken by the Liberal and NDP leaders who have been urging the Roberts government to drop its own scheme which would come into effect in 1965—and embrace the federal one. The Ontario plan, unlike the federal one, would be operated through insurance and similar companies and would not be so all-inclusive.

Called a "stooge" of the insurance companies, Premier Roberts was stung into going to the federal-provincial pensions conference at Ottawa Sept. 9, where he promised co-operation in the federal plan (though not outright abandonment of his own) and posed some questions to be answered first.

Miss LaMarsh joined in to challenge his sincerity, and Mr. Robarts' reply was to announce that in future he will go over her head on pensions and deal with Prime Minister Pearson. Later, he added he won't be pushed around by "two-bit politicians" and doesn't want the pension issue settled in the best of a campaign.

SLAMS GOVERNMENT

Mr. Wintermeyer has been slamming the government on such issues as:

Organized crime in the province, claiming that a provincial royal commission on crime that reported this year was inept; the allegation that a Conservative politician at White River in the North fattened on his political connections; the long-awaited report of an inquiry into alleged political skullduggery in the obtaining of Ontario franchises by Northern & Ontario Natural Gas Company several years ago; and a claim that the government watered down an inquiry report on municipal management involving Gordon Lavergne, government member for Russell, while he was mayor of the Ottawa suburb of Eastview.

Mr. Robarts turned the Ontario Police Commission loose for another look at organized crime. Municipal Affairs Minister J. W. Spooner said there was nothing to the White River charge, and was promptly labelled by Mr. Wintermeyer as a falsifier in the style of Britain's John Profumo.

On the gas case, the government has taken the stand that the issue is sub judice—and therefore not to be discussed. Premier Roberts' predecessor, Ralph Parris of Vancouver, was charged with perjury since the election was called.

The premier announced the Eastview case—in which Mr. Wintermeyer alleged many pages were dropped from a report involving Mr. Lavergne—is under review. The premier with drew his backing from Mr. Lavergne in favor of another candidate, but the former mayor was nominated by his riding association.

MEDICARE AN ISSUE

A major issue on which all three parties are moving in different directions is medical care insurance. The government this year brought in a draft bill, now being studied by an independent committee—to provide for services through private insurers on a voluntary basis, with the government supervising standards and charges. Care for those unable to afford it would be met from the treasury, at an estimated cost of some $30,000,000 a year.

The Liberals would have a non-profit plan through doctor-sponsored groups such as Physicians Services Inc. The NDP wants it fully comprehensive, at a cost of perhaps $180,000,000 a year.

The municipal loan fund stirred up controversy between the government and Liberals.

Mr. Roberts announced an immediate post-election session of the legislature would be called to implement Ontario's part in the $400,000,000 fund, but the Liberals claim this would be too late to enable work to get started on fund-financed projects this winter. They would let Ottawa deal directly with the municipalities.

COLLECT $250,000

BISCOTASING, Ont. Dr. Castagno, associate professor of political science at New York City university, was speaking at a conference on problems of development in African countries.

dise continued to pour in for the family, and Berbos added one of his own:

"I don't think I'll charge them anything," he said. He indicated that St. Luke's Hospital, where the infants were born, also would forget about a bill.

The Fischers have five other children. Julie was six Sunday, Charlotte will be seven Wednesday and Danny will be eight Oct. 5. The other Fischer children are Phyllis, 4, and Deniel, 2.

While the father and Berbos were busy with periodic press conferences Sunday, Mrs. Fischer rested in her room and tried to think of names for the four girls. So far, they all bear the name Mary but have no second names. The boy was named James Andrew.

Roman Catholic Bishop Lambert A. Hoch chartered a plane from Sioux Falls Saturday to baptize and confirm the babies as they lay in their isolettes, kept comfortable by controlled heat, humidity and oxygen.

The baptism was common for premature infants, but the confirmation of new-born children is rare in the Latin rite of the Catholic Church.

Fischer retained two Aberdeen lawyers, Joe Barnett and Stan Siegel, to guard his interests. The lawyers were reported to be negotiating with two major magazines for exclusive rights to the story of the quintuplets.

Quintuplets occur about once in 42,000,000 births.

The Fischer quintuplets are the fourth such set known to have survived infancy in the western hemisphere.

Wheat

mainder over 18 months. Mr. Sharp said the Export Credits Insurance Corporation has been authorized in grant the Soviet credit up to $200,000,000 at any one time.

Mr. Borisov, speaking in Russian with his translator at his side, said the new treaty is "a good basis for the development of trade between the Soviet Union and Canada."

He added, however, that trade must be a two-way street . and Russia has a wide variety of goods Canada could buy.

WEATHER HITS CROPS

Mr. Borisov explained that Russia needed more enough wheat for its own requirements and expects wheat as well. But adverse weather had hurt the Soviet crop this year.

He said Russia in the future might be justified in purchasing additional Canadian grain for shipment to areas of the Soviet Union which are closer to Canada than the Russian wheat belt that these purchases would depend on Canada increasing its buying in Russia.

Mr. Borisov said the wheat order would place a heavy burden on Canadian transportation and handling facilities. The presidents of the CNR and CPR had promised wholehearted co-operation to facilitate the massive movement of grain to Canadian ocean ports.

"The current wheat crop in Canada, estimated at 600,000,000 bushels, is large, with the carryover of 484,000,000 bushels from last year are ample to meet required deliveries," Mr. Sharp said.

"In entering into the present sale to the U.S.S.R. every care has also been taken by the Canadian wheat board to ensure that it will be able to deliver the quantities committed as well as to honor supply obligations to our major markets in the United Kingdom, Europe Japan, Asia and elsewhere and under the International Wheat Agreement.

"It will be a matter of great satisfaction to all Canadians that at a time of abundance—a bumper crops—there should be a commercial demand for every bushel of grain and bag of flour that physically can be moved through Canadian ports."

CLEAN-UP IN '64

Mr. Sharp said the large wheat order will be shipped from Canadian ports by July 31, 1964.

In addition, Russia has agreed to buy an additional 18,900,000 bushels of wheat or flour equivalent in the third year of the agreement.

The sale to Russia has launched a crash program to get the grain from Prairie farms into ocean shipping positions. Most of the shipping will be through St. Lawrence ports, reversing the normal direction for past Soviet sales. These have been mainly through the west to the Siberian port of Vladivostok.

The shipping route indicates that at least some of the wheat may be bound for Iron Curtain countries normally supplied by Russia.

Officials here do not anticipate any trouble in meeting the Soviet shipping schedule and at the same time maintaining shipments to other customers.

Russia also may be buying other grains, such as rye, but these would be separate orders in the free market and not through the Canadian wheat board, the crown agency handling sales of Prairie - grown wheat, oats and barley.

The biggest wheat order of any kind Canada has ever received was the 1946-48 deal of 600,000,000 bushels with Britain.

Up the steps, in the main room, where church services are regularly held for a congregation of 750, the clock was stopped at 10:22.

Glass was scattered on the wooden pews, over the piano and organ, on the pulpit. The church was in disarray, but intact.

Behind the pulpit is a little room—the pastor's—strewn with litter, tripled by the police search. A phone there rang constantly, answered by a church deacon.

"No, we don't know the names of who was killed. I'm going down to the hospital now. Don't you worry," he said softly.

Outside, Negroes who live near the church stood around quietly, watching the parade of shotgun-armed policemen, firemen and reporters.

M. W. Pippen looked first at the church and then his store, scowled, and walked in search of with his brother. The store damage runs in the thousands of dollars.

But the damage to his heart is less.

"My grandbaby was one of those killed," he said.

"Eleven years old. I helped pull the rocks off her. I got one of her shoes in there. You know how it is. I'm like that for the whole town up.

"Weak-minded people, that's who brought it on."

The young Negro looked at reporters from his porch. He was courteous, but his eyes were angry.

"What are y'll going to do about all this bombing? Looks like it's up to the colored folks to do something."

Mines Minister Assails Pension Stand of Robarts

PORT FRANCES, Ont. (CP) Federal Mines Minister William Benidickson Saturday night scolded his name to the list of critics of Premier John Robarts of Ontario for his stand on pensions.

The new Progressive Conservative government is being aloof," he said at a political rally he attended by about 75 persons in support of Lawrence Richardson, liberal candidate for Rainy River in the Sept. 25 provincial election.

Provincial Liberals accuse Mr. Robarts of supporting the Ontario Pension Commission report of the federal government's Canada Pension Plan, although the Ontario government announced at the last session of the legislature, would cover only those working for a firm that has 15 or more employees.

The federal plan would be universal and completely supportable.

"Supportability is of the essence of the scheme if it is to carry its benefits to all persons," he said. Mr. Benidickson, who represents Kenora - Rainy River federal constituency.

He also criticized Ontario Health Minister Judy LaMarsh was the first.

Meanwhile, federal Leader John Wintermeyer was scheduled to speak at the meeting here, but a spokesman for television commitments he had to return to Toronto from Attikokan.

At a coffee party at Atikokan, Mr. Wintermeyer outlined the Liberal platform to the 30 persons present. He included a mention of his plans for a separate government department of northern resources. Its minister and staff would co-ordinate the finances, technical know how, resources and opportunities" in the North.

"We have in Northern Ontario an exciting self-starter for the development in all of Ontario," Mr. Wintermeyer said. "Here we have an opportunity to build an economy," by getting at the North's natural resources.

Answer to Cries for Quebec Separatism More Economic Strength Asserts Lesage

TORONTO (CP)—Premier Lesage of Quebec said Sunday night the answer to cries for Quebec separatism is more economic strength.

"As far as I'm concerned I think Quebec has too weak an economy to afford to separate and when we're strong enough we won't be interested: say more," the premier said in a television interview.

He appeared on the Pierre Berton Show, carried on CFTO Toronto, CJOH Ottawa and CFCF Montreal. The program is to be shown in Calgary and Moose Jaw, Sask., next week.

Asked about his request to the federal government, announced last spring, for an 8-point transfer of taxes, or diversemes from income, corporation and death taxes, the premier said Quebec needs more autonomy "to develop along the characteristics of the majority of the provinces so that as a minority we can be a greater asset in Canada."

He said the federal government had "invaded the field of horrors" in this province for one reason or another and has taken the financial responsibility of such." If the federal government would not turn over more tax receipts to the provinces there would be a chance of double taxation in Quebec, he stated.

Mr. Berton spoke of use of the word "nation" to describe Quebec. Mr. Lesage said the word had to be given its French connotation — "nation Canadien Francaise," meaning all French - speaking people in Canada. French - Canadians were not thinking of Quebec as a separate nation.

GIVES VIEWS

Asked for his views on Confederation, Mr. Lesage said: "I don't believe it is possible to say at this point that Confederation has been a success and I wouldn't venture to say it has been a failure. I think we have really found only the experience of Confederation."

He said there had been a lack of understanding between the provinces but modern communication methods were making Canadians aware of problems in areas outside their own.

"Two or three years ago," the premier said, "is try to adjust ourselves in Quebec to Confederation—and the others, the English - speaking and other new Canadians, to understand our Quebec situation, our aims and our hopes especially in economic and cultural fields."

A transcript of the interview was released to the press before the telecast.

Three Killed At Palermo in Two-Car Crash

MILTON, Ont. (CP)—A man and two teenagers were killed Sunday night in a two-car crash at Palermo, eight miles south east of here.

The teen-agers were identified because of television commitments he had to return to Toronto from Atikokan.

At a coffee party at Atikokan, Mr. Wintermeyer outlined the Liberal platform to the 30 persons present. He included a mention of his plans for a separate government department of northern resources. Its minister and staff would co-ordinate the finances, technical know how, resources and opportunities" in the North.

"We have in Northern Ontario an exciting self-starter for the development in all of Ontario," Mr. Wintermeyer said. "Here we have an opportunity to build an economy," by getting at the North's natural resources.

other his crime commission testimony—which indicated several present and former cabinet ministers interfered with his decisions regarding social clubs. Mr. Conboy said: "I understand. But I cannot in truth deny it."

Of suggestions that Provincial Secretary John Yaremko and other members of the government were subjected him to harassment, rudeness and insulting insinuations, Mr. Cudney's reply again was: "No comment. But I cannot deny that either."

The former deputy minister added that he had made many lawyer friends during his years in government.

In several weeks now, I have been receiving calls from them, asking whether I feel better. I am not sick. I have never complained of feeling ill to anyone in my office. These calls are very disturbing to me.

"Finally I decided I could go no longer in my job."

TO PRACTISE LAW

Now, he said, his main concern is to retire quietly into private life and practise law. He added: "I would not wish to jeopardize (many) friendships by becoming involved in any kind of political situation."

Despite Mr. Cudney's wishes, his resignation was thoroughly involved in the campaign for the Sept. 25 general election.

The premier's only comment has been that the province has lost a "valued servant" through Mr. Cudney's resignation.

But both Liberal Leader John Wintermeyer and Donald C. MacDonald, leader of the New Democratic Party, seized on it.

Mr. Wintermeyer hastily arranged a press conference here Saturday night and accused Mr. Yaremko of having carried on a campaign of insults and harassment against his deputy ministers for months.

THE LIBERAL VIEW

The Liberal leader didn't think the resignation stemmed from one specific event but "was more of a case of the straw that broke the camel's back."

And while he had not heard of any other impending resignations he felt the resignation of a man of Mr. Cudney's stature indicated deep dissatisfaction among the civil service.

"It is shocking that conditions within this administration are such that a man of his ability and integrity no longer is possible to carry on," Mr. Wintermeyer said.

Mr. MacDonald, speaking at a party rally in London, Ont., said Mr. Cudney's testimony at the royal commission hearings indicated "he had his responsibilities usurped for political reasons."

"He resigned because he could not take it any longer. I am afraid this forces me to dominate the last 10 days of the campaign."

The NDP leader said the resignation proves that the work of Mr. Justice Roach's commission is still to be completed, that the commissioner's recommendations about social club licences have not been carried out.

Hong Kong into an independent pattern, Jakarta fears it will retain economic interests in the rubber- and tin-rich federation and provide a defence.

But Malaysia steps on Indonesian and Philippines toes. The Philippines has a claim to North Borneo, which becomes known as Sabah in joining Malaysia.

Indonesian President Sukarno, who is believed to have designs on neighboring Sarawak and North Borneo, called an emergency meeting of military and civilian advisers.

In Jakarta, 5,000 Indonesians stormed the British Embassy, smashed windows and burned the British flag and an embassy car to protest Malaysia. Another mob of 4,000 attacked the Malaysian embassy.

The Tunku (prince), expected to arrive at Malaysia's first prime minister until elections next year, ordered all women and children of British staffs recalled from Indonesia.

In Manila, President Diosdado Macapagal said the Philippines summoned home diplomats from Malaysia and Indonesia for urgent consultations.

four girls had been among the hundreds of young people who participated in the demonstrations.

"The victims could have been anybody," the pastor said. "And if the bomb had gone off 15 minutes later there probably would have been 10 times as many dead. I suppose we should thank God for that."

LOUNGE BLOWN UP

Mr. Cross explained that at about 10:45 a.m., a minute after the explosion which shattered the ladies lounge section of the church, the aggrandmately 200 Sunday school pupils would have had a short break before continuing their lessons. During this break, he said, the lounge generally are crowded.

"Then at 11 o'clock the lower portion of the church would have been emptied for the regular Sunday service upstairs," he said. "If it had gone off then it probably wouldn't have hurt a soul."

He said the four deaths "certainly should be on the conscience of Governor George Wallace, and I imagine they are.

"Any time high public officials openly defy the law I feel it has a tendency to breed violence. There are many others, too, right here in Birmingham, who have made very weak statements, just token statements, against the use of violences. I think if they had spoken out forcefully it would have given the extremists an opportunity to reconsider."

Mr. Cross did not name the local persons he referred to. In a statement, Governor Wallace called the bombing a "tragic deed."

For his part Mr. Cross, even before the dust of the blast had settled, pleaded for his congregation not to retaliate with the sort of disorder which had followed at least four previous bombings in Birmingham.

Some Tories Have Second Thoughts on Joining ECM

LONDON (CP) — There are signs that some Conservative sections of Britain's Conservative party are beginning to have second thoughts about joining the European Common Market.

A pamphlet published Sunday by the Row Group, an independent association of young liberal-minded tories, argues that Britain would realize her political destiny and economic potential best by remaining independent of the new power bloc forming in Western Europe.

It has strong hopes for the future of the Commonwealth as a third western power with Europe and the United States and adds that for Britain to become side-tracked into the Common Market "is to sacrifice a unique destiny."

The pamphlet reflects only the views of the six authors, headed by Cambridge University and Beaton, formerly one of Fleet Street's top common market correspondents and now director of studies at the Institute for Strategic Studies.

ARMIED FORCES

A previous Row Group pamphlet, published before the breakdown in Brussels last January negotiations for British's entry into the six-nation Common Market formed by France, West Germany, Italy, Belgium, Luxembourg and The Netherlands, argued forcefully for British membership.

Economically, says the pamphlet, Britain has much or more expansion by maintaining Commonwealth trading people from each country.

This committee "could formulate and publish suggestions for ways in which Commonwealth countries could serve the general good." This great union . . . is in danger of perishing through neglect," the pamphlet says.

Can She Stay Where He Stays?

By DORIS CLARKE

DEAR DORIS — Is it proper for me to sleep in the same house as my girl friend? I am visiting over night at my sister's home and my girl friend is coming along. — BASHFUL BILL.

DORIS CLARKE

DEAR BASHFUL — Yes, as long as you are not alone.

DEAR DORIS — I am a married woman 47 years old, am blond, so wear a little lipstick and eyebrow pencil to do away with that washed-out look. My friends always tell me how nice I look, but here is my problem: My husband never goes out with me, nor will he plan any outings for us and the children.

We would like a picnic at the beach once in a while or a weekend camping. He seems to have his own crowd that he would rather be with. He also thinks a woman's place is at home, looking after the children, so I got a job, bought myself a car. Now I take the children myself.

I attend church regularly, occasionally go to a show with another lady friend. He thinks this is terrible, stepping out without my husband. I don't go with other men.

When I'm getting ready to go out he criticizes me, tells me my dress is too tight, or I'm wearing loud colors, never anything nice. I spend my own money for the little pleasures I have; also, a good share of it goes into housekeeping and paying bills. — DISCOURAGED.

DEAR DISCOURAGED — Can't he see that he misses half his life when he misses family fun? The awakening may be all too late. Some independent action was certainly indicated — but what started his neglect? Is there anything you would do over, and differently, now?

DEAR DORIS — On Friday night my boy friend took me home about 2:00 a.m. because I asked him to, and then he went back to the party. On Saturday night we were at a party and were invited to go to another one after the first one. We left the first one at 2:00 a.m., and my boy friend took me home because I said I was tired. He then went to the second party with his boy friend.

On Sunday I asked him if he had been at the second party and he said "Yes, for a few hours." I later on found out that he had been there until 7:00 in the morning. This goes on every weekend.

Although I don't think he is cheating on me, I still don't feel he should carry on this way. I told him he was to stop and he said he would. The trouble is, I don't know whether or not I am right. I realize that he likes to see his boy friends, but I don't agree with the way he does it. — ENGAGED.

DEAR ENGAGED — If these after-midnight frolics are mixed company, swallow some extra vitamins and hitch on. Sleep some other time.

Mrs. Slade said the swelling in her husband's leg went down "and I suppose that's when the poison spread through his system. He died in the cabin about three days before they found me."

She flew a large U.S. flag upside down as a distress signal.

"I painted 'help' on top of the cabin, in case a plane should see us. I soaked clothes in oil, tied them to a broomstick and fired them."

LIVED IN TRAILER

Mrs. Slade said her husband retired from the Royal Canadian Navy as a commander about five years ago. They lived in a house trailer in California until recently.

They bought the 30 - foot cruiser near Jacksonville, sailed it to Miami and then started on the ill-fated cruise.

Mrs. Slade was treated for shock aboard the tanker. She looked tired, smoked steadily and broke down after talking with reporters for about 20 minutes.

She said a son by a former marriage was coming to help her. She declined to identify the son, other than to say he was in U.S. military service and stationed in Washington, D.C.

Mrs. Slade said she was a native of Lincoln, Neb.

ura Christian Leadership Conference, telegraphed President Kennedy:

"Unless some immediate steps are taken by the federal government to restore a sense of confidence in the protection of life, limb and property . . . we shall see in Birmingham and Alabama the worst racial holocaust the nation has ever seen."

King came here from Atlanta, Ga., he said, "to plead with my people to remain nonviolent in the face of this terrible provocation."

Roy Wilkins, the executive secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, wired President Kennedy from New York that unless the federal government offers more than "pleasure and piecemeal aid against this type of bestiality," Negroes will "employ such methods as our desperation may dictate in defence of the lives of our people."

URGES INTERVENE

He said the NAACP "urges fullest use of (the) federal anti-bombing statute for complete intervention of (the) department of justice in Birmingham."

Twenty-two times in the last eight years, explosions have been directed at Negroes here. Sunday's was the first one that killed. In none of the blasts has there been a conviction.

Police estimated that it sticks of dynamite went into the bomb, apparently placed in a stairwell about four feet below ground level outside the building.

The blast occurred while about 200 persons were in the church, including about 80 in basement classrooms. The explosion hurled chunks of concrete, twisted metal and shattered glass against nearby buildings. Several cars were damaged.

MAYOR WEEPS

Mayor Boutwell cried when he learned of the bombing. He had been seeking racial peace since he took office last May after defeating staunch segregationist Eugene (Bull) Connor.

Numerous policemen from surrounding towns and counties were called in. Negro civil defence workers helped police in seeking to maintain order.

Wallace said in a statement: "The entire forces of the state will be utilized to maintain law and order." He said he hoped the bombers were caught, and offered a $5,000 reward for conviction.

BELLEVILLE, ONTARIO, MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 16, 1963

WOMEN SAWED to their hearts' content, like Shirley Corey, of Napanee, in one of the Shannonville Fair's off-beat competitions, that included women nail-drivers, step-dancers and old-time fiddlers.

By HARRY HULSHALL

There may be a world of difference between Shannonville's World Fair and the mammoth centennial year event now being crafted for Canada.

But as far as Shannonville officials are concerned the differences is they're organized — the boys at Montreal aren't (apparently) even on friendly terms with each other yet.

And putting all their fairs together, they feel Shannonville would still come out tops for size.

Saturday was its 108th fair to date — as far as records can fairly testify. And it kept up the traditional robust rural humor combined with a show that emphasizes country life which has been the hallmark of the smallest World's Fair on the planet.

The serious application of livestock exhibitors and horse showers was liberally sprinkled with such earthy fun as chasing a greased pig, step-dancing and old-time fiddling competitions, nail-driving and log-sawing contests for women.

The crowd was believed up from last year as the most important factor in any fair — the weather — came through with a brilliant early Fall day.

Again, as with most real country fairs worth their salt, it was a meeting ground for cronies, neighbors and acquaintances to compare fresh notes on time-honored topics. Or maybe they were the same notes as last year, or the year before that. However, it all made for a traditional warmth of countryside atmosphere.

ADVICE FREELY GIVEN

Not that there weren't some fibers , in fact, at the competitions held onstage behind the track heckling was the order of the day.

Advice was heaped on many a woman dedicated to proving her muscles by driving nails or sawing logs faster than her competitors.

The first saw-wielder was also the unluckiest. She was half-way through a huge log when one of the judges hollered hold the fort. That was the log for the men's competition. So they brought on another one, but this time the young lady herself objected, and the judges had to seek out even a smaller log. Then, when she had cut half-way through that piece of timber they turned it over so she could meet the cut half-way. The inevitable happened. She sawed right on past the first cut on the reverse side of the log.

But new modes intrude in the most unlikely places. As one of the large line-up of step-dancers went through his version of a much-beloved old Ontario exhibition, an old-timer roared to a crony:

"That's not step-dancing he's up to. That's the bossa-nova."

The judges apparently felt the same way. The prize went to another entrant.

But the traditional climax of the Shannonville World Fair for more years than most can remember, was lost to many of the patrons this year. The greasy-pig hunt this year was staged on the west side of the track away from the crowds witnessing the horse-show.

PIG GOT LOST

As a result the pig itself was nearly lost.

Loosed from its pen, the porker avoided its pursuers and turned suddenly into long grass and bush, bordering the track. With a pack of youngsters in full pursuit, it raced into concealment. It was found 400 feet away by 21-year-old Earl Akey, of Minden, and Buddy Hill, 20, of Shannonville, and lugged out to the Judges anxiously waiting the result with a $3 bill ready for the winner.

However, there were few people round to share the excitement.

Most of the day the crowd grouped around the east side of the track where announcer Cam Bunnett put in a full afternoon, calling horse races and show entrants. The entry of prize horseflesh was rated tops this year by the judges, with all classes showing a good competitive entry list.

But the person who should have been promised was scarcely aware he was there. Eugene Thompson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Thompson, R.R. 1, Shannonville, was judged a first prize winner in his category in the baby show. Saturday, he was exactly seven days old. Some 32 babies were entered — the heaviest list yet organized by St. John Ambulance women from Belleville, who supervised the event: Mrs. C. Ashley, Mrs. H. Reid and Mrs. M. Baverstock.

In cattle-judging the happiest faces seen were those of Paul Callaghan and Edward Lasler. Paul won the 4-H award when his Holstein was judged top calf in the show. Ed was selected as best all-round 4-H club member in the district.

ENDS WITH DANCE

With the day rounded off by a free-swinging dance, directors rang down the curtain on another edition of the world's smallest World's Fair.

However short it may be on size it is long on history. Its memorial gates give its foundation as 1855 — but the event may be actually even older.

Once, a director recalled, it was held midway between Milltown and Shannonville with cattle and horses tethered to a fence in the roadway.

"And it'll still be going strong in 1967 when Canada finally gets its biggest world fair at Montreal — if they ever do get round to it," declared one old-timer proudly.

FINE RACING

Two exciting harness races provided some fine racing at the Shannonville Fair on Saturday.

Four heats in two classes "A" and "B" Classified saw thirteen horses go to the post with the fastest time of the afternoon 2:15 being paced by "Ace-Ally" in the second race.

Are Hy owned and driven by William Hennessy, Brighton finished first in the first heat and second in the final.

Double Star took the second heat finishing third in the second. The time in the latter heat was 2.16.

Chuck's Delivery was second in the first and fourth in the second with Joan Way, Bobby Gun and Hal's Fence finishing in that order.

Sundown Direct driven by Don Heath won both heats in the second race in times of 2.17 and 2.16 4-5th.

Guy MacDoff finished second both times with Roya K. Scott taking third place.

In order finished Star Tripp, Tester Two, Argrel Jimmy and Mr. Spodkey.

The officials were, judges O. Fenwick, Gordon Lee and George W. Rutledge; timers Georges Montgomery and M. Reid; clerk Doug Lazier and starter E. Wills.

Five Mexicans Die as Ferris Wheel Collapses

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—At least five Mexicans were killed including a woman seven months' pregnant and 30 were injured when a ferris wheel collapsed Sunday night at a fair in Tijuana, Baja California, police said.

Six persons were reported with injuried ranging from broken legs and arms to severe cuts and bruised limbs.

Officials said one of the victims was on the ground when the 40- to 60-foot-tall wheel collapsed in the middle of a milling crowd.

The ferris wheel was spinning approximately 30 persons high above the crowd when one of the seats fell out of its sockets, Mexican officials said.

People screamed when the first seat collapsed and began running wildly as the unbalanced wheel collapsed.

SIU Says Judge Showed "Bias and Personal Venom" In Report on Lake Violence

MONTREAL (CP)—The Seafarers' International Union (Ind.) says Mr. Justice T. G. Norris showed "bias and personal venom" against it in his recent report on Great Lakes violence.

Making its first detailed reply to the report, made public July 15, the union says the 69-year-old jurist used his inquiry and report "as platforms from which to launch an attack" upon the SIU and its officers.

Accusing the British Columbia judge of showing "flagrant disregard" for fair play and justice, the union says in a 25-page booklet that his report could have come only from a man "with an unyielding antipathy to basic concepts of democracy and a deep-seated disdain for the ability of men to govern themselves in their own way."

Commenting on the new charges against him by the SIU, Mr. Justice Norris said in an interview at his home in Pitt Meadows, B.C.: "My report speaks for itself.

"The proper place for the SIU to make these charges was before me.

"They made certain charges at the end of my inquiry—after all the evidence was in—but they did not have the courage to proceed with those charges before the court.

"This is all propaganda."

SIU INDICTED

The Norris report was a searing indictment of the SIU and its president, Hal C. Banks. The major recommendation in the report was that Canadian maritime unions be placed under a trusteeship.

Legislation is to be presented to Parliament to implement the report shortly after it reconvenes in two weeks.

The union booklet fired its biggest salvo at the trusteeship recommendation, which would affect the SIU and its two rivals —the Canadian Maritime Union (CLC) and the Canadian Brotherhood of Railway, Transport and General Workers (CLC).

A trusteeship as suggested by Mr. Justice Norris would oust the SIU leaders and take over the union finances.

"In a democratic society," the SIU booklet says in rebuttal, "the peoples' decisions with regard to its leaders, with regard to its asset, must be respected.

VIEW SAID ABSURD

"It is absurd to think that the very same group of people who are deemed too stupid to elect proper union officials are nonetheless considered fit to elect their members of Parliament.

"It is the height of folly to say that although we can entrust the union man with the responsibility of electing leaders to manage the affairs of the nation we cannot allow him the right to determine the manner in which his trade union is to be managed."

The booklet says that nowhere in his report does Mr. Justice Norris suggest that SIU officials are holding office illegally or do not have the support of the members.

"What he is saying, in effect, is that he doesn't like the officials of the union, that he does not approve of the decision of the membership reflected in the vote.

"He proposes to annul the will of the union and to impose upon him the rule of a trustee. . . .

"If the decisions of the members are annulled and are replaced by those of the government, then we have nothing less than a totalitarian rule."

Sport Slices...

RARE, MEDIUM, WELL-DONE

By Geo. H. Carver, Sports Editor

Athletes of Metro Secondary School are not letting the figurative grass grow beneath their feet in readying for a strenuous autumn program.

Mr. David Bell, head of the schools physical education department says the student athletes have interschoolastic football, soccer and cross-country running to what their competition appointed and the list turns.

Mr. Bell, who coaches in the cross-country squad, says that at the present time there are 94 boys practicing on the team. He has lined up no less than eleven meets for them, the first an interquad competition slated for September 19th.

He believes Metro should have a strong representative team in senior football this season. "Messrs. McCaskey and Leiter" he says, "have some forty-five boys vieing for the various positions. Many of the 1962 squad are back and readying for the first clash.

Soccer, it appears, has undergone a big upsurge in popularity at Metro, according to Mr. Bell. "Mr. Dallas, the school's soccer coach" he says, "has put out a call for both junior and senior students interested in playing and has been swamped with names from both age groups.

The Bay of Quinte district of the Central Ontario Secondary School Association is attempting to operate two soccer leagues this season in junior and senior classifications. This will, depend, of course on the popularity of the sport at the various schools.

Mr. Bell pointed out that the major change in the structure of Metro's athletic organization was in the intramural program. The student body was divided into four different groups called "houses". Each "House" is divided into four different groupings so that competition can be provided at all grade levels.

This is definitely a step in the right direction for "house" competition is designed to meet the needs of those boys not competing in interschool athletics.

Interhouse competition will begin this week with soccer and rugby leagues being organized.

Defeat Flyers 6-3

Joyces Win League Title

By GARRY ALEXANDER
(Staff Sportswriter)

Jim Horwood pulled an inside pitch over the right field fence with one mate aboard in the bottom of the ninth inning on Saturday night to give Joyce Real Estate their second consecutive B. and D. softball league championship.

Horwood's homer, after a walk to Wannamaker, snapped a 3-3 tie, providing Joyces with a 5-3 triumph over Trenton RCAF Flyers.

Joyces won the titular series and the Bill Ott Trophy, four games to none.

Flyers put up their stiffest battle of the series in this one however, overcoming an early 2-0 deficit to lead 3-2 going into the bottom of the eighth.

Wannamaker's walk led off the ninth, then came Horwood's blast and it was all over.

Blaine Healey pitched the Joyce victory being tagged for eight hits in all, the most he has allowed since joining the team. Healey struck out half a dozen. He walked one.

Lefty Mike Ratushniak hurling for RCAF, was also touched for eight hits. He got excellent support from his mates, Mitts and Drake stealing after Joyce bats on several occasions. Ratushniak fanned three and walked a pair.

Joyces took their 3-0 lead in the first when Plans rapped a bases-loaded single to centre. Carr's base hit, a hit batter and a walk had filled the bases.

Flyers got one back in the third on Taylor's single, Ratushniak's sacrifice and Drake's run-scoring hit.

L. Wannamaker opened the fourth with an infield hit and Mitts tied the score when he lined a triple just over Muirhead's head in centre. Rosegrand also singled to centre to shove Flyers ahead 3-2.

Both clubs came up with key double plays in the middle frames to prevent further scoring until Muirhead's home run.

Muirhead had a pair of singles to go with his homer while Bob Wannamaker singled twice for Joyces. Horwood's homer and singles by Ralph Plans and Claude Carr rounded out the attack.

Billy Mitts tripled and singled and Leroy Wannamaker singled twice to pace the Flyers. Roger Drake, Al Rosegrand, Ron Taylor and Ratushniak got the other base hits.

League commissioner Cliff Balch presented the Ott Trophy to Joyces following the game.

Lone Game Separates Cards, Dodgers

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

"We're been fortunate in the Rosebore, a late throw by Ron Fairly on a sacrifice and Roy Meyers' home run led to the rest of the runs.

Were the errors indicative of the Dodgers' choking?

"At soon as someone makes an error or gets beat that's the first thing you guys think about," said Alston. "We did that once in a while. That doesn't mean anything. It hasn't bothered the club."

The Cardinals came off a nine-game winning streak and now have a 10-game string— and in the last eight games, the pitching staff has come up with five shutouts.

Burdette, 9-11, had one until the seventh when Hank Aaron hit his 30th homer, with one on. The Cardinals already had their three runs on a double by Ken Boyer and Bill Walter's homer in the second and Boyer's homer in the fourth.

GETS SUPPORT

Sadecki, 10-8, had an easier job, backed by a 14-hit attack that included three hits each by Charley James and Tim McCarver. Singles by Curt Flood, James, McCarver and Julian Javier gave the Cardinals two runs in the second—more than they needed.

"We're ready as we ever will be," said Keane.

In the other games:

Tsitouris, 10-8, lost his bid for a shutout when Billy Williams hit a homer for the Cubs in the ninth. Eddie Kasko led the Reds attack against Dick Ellsworth, 20-10, with three hits.

The Giants scored five runs on four hits and two Pirate errors in the seventh inning to beat Pittsburgh. Billy O'Dell, 13-8, was the winner with an eight-hitter.

Dick Farrell, 13-13, held the Mets to four hits in the opener while Chris Zachary and Hal Woodeshick combined on a three-hitter for the Colts' second game shutout.

Pigeon Racing

The Quinte Racing Pigeon Club held their final young bird race of the season on the weekend, some fourty pigeons racing from Swastika, air line distance of 300 miles.

Don Edwards, of Trenton, clocked the winning bird and also captured the second and fourth positions. His winning pigeon was clocked at a speed of 1009 yards per minute.

Ivan Woodcock, two third, eighth and tenth positions while Jake Dixon took fifth and sixth. Jim Ling seventh and Art Butler ninth.

Tosses Two TD Passes

Stephens Sparks Argos Victory

TORONTO (CP)—Sandy Stephens must be happy in his new home.

Disposed of two weeks ago by Montreal Alouettes, because he couldn't make the Als win, Stephens changed into a Toronto Argonaut uniform and led them to victory in his first start.

Stephens' passing and kicking played a major role in the Argos' 15-7 victory over Hamilton Tiger-Cats at CNE Stadium Sunday afternoon, breaking Toronto's losing streak at five games.

He passed for two touchdowns and, also ace in the fourth quarter put the game out of reach of Hamilton, raising the Argos to within two points of first place in the Eastern Football Conference.

Hamilton, Montreal and Ottawa Rough Riders are all tied for top spot with six points.

GOT ON WAIVER

Stephens, suspended by the Als after they were crushed in two opening games this season, was picked up by Toronto for the $250 waiver price 10 days ago.

He looked like the steal of the decade Sunday as he completed 16 passes in 23 attempts for 226 yards as the rejuvenated Argos quarter trailed the disappointed Ticats.

His scoring losses went to halfback Dick Shatto and end Jack Kiwell. Stephens added a convert and a single on a wide field goal try, and Gerry Wilson picked up a single on a long kickoff.

Willie Bethea scored the lone Hamilton touchdown and Dave Vill booted the convert.

The Argonauts opened the scoring on the first play of the game when Wilson's kickoff scooted into the Hamilton end zone and Tommy Grant was ruled.

Although he stuttered as the game opened, Stephens moved the Argos 62 yards in three plays for a touchdown late in the opening quarter. He finished the drive by escaping the claws of driving Ticat lineman and pitching to Shatto on the four-yard line. Shatto carried it over to complete the 24-yard play.

Hamilton tied the score in the second quarter by marching 85 yards in seven plays. The touchdown came when quarterback Bernie Faloney passed to Bethea all alone in the end zone. The convert tied the score.

Toronto regained the lead in the third quarter when they went 56 yards in eight plays, including a 45-yard pass play from Stephens to Kiwell.

After Kiwell dropped one Stephens pass in the end zone, he caught the winning toss when it was batted away from Toronto's Tom Cloutier by defensive back Joe Zeger.

Stephens converted, and then added a single in the fourth quarter on a wide field goal attempt from the Hamilton 27.

OBA Juvenile Opener

Jones Blank Hamilton 6-0

Turning in a top effort in all departments, Belleville Jones Motors blanked Hamilton 6-0 in Hamilton Saturday afternoon in the first game of the OBA Juvenile "A" playdown series.

Second game in the two-of-three Ontario semi-finals will be played here in Belleville next weekend.

Jones got a terrific pitching chore from Bill Barberstock, they hit well in the clutches and came up with a great fielding performance, executing a triple play in the eighth inning and ending the game with a double play in the ninth.

In the Hamilton eighth, Enzo Fazio beat out an infield single for his club's first hit off Barberstock. An error then put men on first and second with none out. The next batter lined out to centre. Gary McMillan fired back to first base, doubling the runner off there. The lead man, in the meantime, tagged up and tried to go all the way home, but Bob Ethier fired to Bob Moon at the plate in time to complete the triple play.

Barberstock struck out 11 batters while issuing five free passes.

Belleville took a 8-0 lead in the second frame and got their other marker in the eighth.

In the second, a single was followed by two strikouts before a hit batter and another single loaded the bases. A walk forced in one run before Don Gardiner cleared the sacks with a hard-hit double, scoring later on a wild pitch to make it 3-0.

Phil Duffy, the Hamilton pitching ace, gave up nine hits in all and set down 14 Belleville batters on third strikes. He walked three.

Carl Boomhower, Bob Moon and Larry Lewis each collected a pair of Jones Motor singles. Bob Boyle and Don Gardiner had doubles and Gary McMillan a single.

"Patchwork" Team Beaten 6-0

Brockville Defeats Kenmors

BROCKVILLE — Brockville kept their O.R.A. hopes alive when they handed a patchwork lineup of Belleville Kenmors a 6-0 whitewashing here Saturday afternoon.

Due to unfortunate circumstances the game didn't get underway until 5:30 p.m. and with the score 5-0 and Brockville at bat in the last of the eighth the umpires called the game on account of darkness.

Kenmors lead the best of seven semi-final series for the Ontario championships three games to one. The next game will be played in Belleville this Friday night.

Brockville scored single runs in the fourth, fifth and seventh innings off a luckless Stan Reid, whose teammates were held to only two hits by Brockville's wizard, Dave Smith. Only one Kenmor reached second base.

In the bottom of the eighth with darkness quickly descending, three more batters were scored on three singles, a passed ball, a big Kenmor boot and a field error.

Kenmors had their troubles afield throughout the game and were generally outhit and outhustled all the way.

Dave Smith continued to weave his strikeout magic over Kenmors. This gave he whiffed sixteen while en route to a neat two-hit shutout. He walked two and contributed a double to his own cause.

Stan Reid pitched a better game than the score indicated. With a healthier team and a few breaks he very well could have won it.

Reid was touched for ten hits, striking out 9 and walking only one. His mates erred four times behind him.

Dick Glass, Jack Coughlin and Ken Purvis each collected two hits for the winners. Purvis and Brian MacBride clubbed doubles while MacGrill and Snider were good for a hit apiece.

Duffy Follwell and Moe Hunter were the only Kenmors to solve Smith's slants, both hits being singles.

Lineups:

Brockville — Glass 2b, MacNaid rf, Purvis cf, Secter ss, Coughlin 3b, MacBride c, Smith p, Snider 1b, Purvis rf.

Kenmors—Follwell cf, Clarke 2b, Weston 1b, Hunter ss, Brailey c, Gilroy 3b, Soule rf, Latch lf, Reid p.

King of the Hill

Joe DiGenova retained his crown as "King of the Hill" for the second consecutive week by carving back-to-back finger Jim Begley 751 to 695 on Saturday night.

Scores were a little lower this week, Begley qualifying to challenge the "King" with 1125 for five games. Begley rolled six strikes in a row but fell short for the "Pot of Gold" prize.

DiGenova had the day's only 300 game, a 324 string.

Green Gaels Lead Series 2-1

By PAUL REMSTEAD

WHITBY, Ont. (CP)—Lacrosse buffs following the current Minto Cup series are wondering how long the goaltending can keep up the pace:

Three have seen action so far and all have been spectacular—stealing the thunder usually reserved for the game's high scorers.

Oshawa Green Gaels lead Victoria Shamrocks in the best-of-seven series for the Canadian junior championship 2-1 and the fourth game is here tonight. The fifth game is Wednesday and the sixth, if necessary, on Friday.

Both clubs have potent attacks and both are capable of scoring 20 goals or more in a game. Yet, Oshawa, won the first two 9-7 and 11-4 and Victoria scored a last-minute 10-9 win Friday.

The goaltenders have made the difference—the players are taking their usual total of shots.

Half-Million For British Rugger Star

VANCOUVER (CP) — An Australian Rugby League enthusiast passed through Vancouver during the weekend with an open cheque which would be used in Britain for more than $500,000.

The signature would be for the capture of the English International Rugby League team, Eric Ashton.

Aboard the liner Oronsay was J. J. Brown, president of Eastern Suburbs of Rugby League club in Sydney.

Brown has been authorized by his club to approach Ashton. Eastern Suburbs has a surplus of more than $533,000. Brown said if necessary he can go as high as this.

Ashton, who has captained England for more than five years, will be offered a three-year contract.

Ward, Rose Are Rookies Of The Year

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Two infielders, Pete Ward of Chicago White Sox, and Pete Rose of Cincinnati Reds, were named Saturday as a major league baseball's rookies of the year in The Sporting News annual poll.

The newspaper also named another White Sox player, Gary Peters, as the American League rookie pitcher of the year. Ray Culp of the Philadelphia Phillies was named as the National League's best rookie pitcher.

Peters, the pagel said, was the only one of the four who did not have serious competition for the honor he received. Culp was challenged in the poll by St. Louis Cardinal pitcher Ron Taylor who comes from Toronto, and Milwaukee Braves hurler Bob Sadowski.

Ward is a native of Montreal and his father, Jimmy Ward, played in the National Hockey League with the old Montreal Maroons.

Woods-Horlock Win Eastern Title

Juveniles Oust Oshawa

Belleville Woods-Horlock captured the OASA Juvenile "A" Eastern Ontario title in Oshawa Saturday night when they scored a ten-inning 7-6 win over Oshawa People's.

Woods-Horlock took the series two games to one and will meet a Galt team in the next round. They will play in Galt next weekend.

Saturday's game, scheduled in Cobourg at 2 p.m. EDT, was finally played in Oshawa, at six thirty. Belleville had only nine players on hand to start the game and they were not even given time to change into their uniforms after arriving from an earlier baseball game in Hamilton.

Oshawa scored three runs in the top of the ninth to send the game into the tenth frame tied 6-6. Boyle hit a one-out double and Gene Yorke drove in the winning run with a long blast that could have gone for a home had it been necessary. He ended up with a double.

Belleville led 3-0 in the first, Oshawa went ahead 3-2 in the second and the winners grabbed a 6-3 lead with four runs in the seventh.

Bobby Ethier hurled excellent four-hit ball over the route to get the win in relief. He struck out 13 batters and walked five.

Spike Howard, who took over from starter Bourdage in the seventh, was the losing mound-man. Between the two they were clipped for 11 Belleville hits including three home runs. They struck out eight and walked three.

Gene Yorke had three Belleville hits, including a pair of doubles. Carl Boomhower hit a solo homer and a triple, Bob Boyle a two-run homer and a double. Bob Moon also homered, a lead-off shot in the first inning. Bob Ethier had a pair of singles and Wayne Woods a double.

Bob Powlewnik clubbed a three-run homer for Oshawa, in the second, and also had a single. Jim Campbell and Chuck Wayling also hit safely.

Ready For Koufax Or Simmons

Yankees Stay On Edge, Ford Wins No. 23

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

Whitey Ford is ready any day Los Angeles Dodgers and St. Louis Cardinals get things settled.

If the Dodgers win, he said Sandy Koufax will open the World Series. If the Cardinals prevail, Ford's Yankee Stadium opponent Oct. 2 probably will be Curt Simmons.

Ford proved Sunday that he is primed for his usual October exercise. The New York Yankees' ace threw a two-hitter at Minnesota Twins for his 23rd victory, 3-1.

Financially speaking, Ford and the Yanks undoubtedly would vote for a rich series with Los Angeles and its big ball park. However, the possibility of a head-to-head joust with the fearless St. Louis club and a dramatic final appearance for Stan Musial must be alluring.

No matter who wins the National League, the Yankees aren't going to let any rust develop after their party pennant clinching in the American League. The defeat dropped Minnesota into third place behind Chicago White Sox whose game at Washington was rained out.

Baltimore Orioles edged Detroit Tigers 3-1 although the Orioles were victims of the first triple play in the league since 1960. Felix Mantilla's two-run homer off Don Wert enabled Boston Red Sox to down Kansas City Athletics 5-3. Cleveland Indians beat Los Angeles Angels and Bo Belinsky 6-3.

TOP LAST YEAR

Ford has won six in a row and has equalled Koufax's total for the season. The victory was his 100 for the Yanks, four more than they won last year with 10 more games to go.

Manager Ralph Houk still had his club playing as though the games meant something, realizing all too well that he can not afford any letdown in the two weeks before the series opens. That triple play against Baltimore resulted when Milt Pappas popped a bunt to first baseman Norm Cash with man on first and second. The Orioles scored the winning run for Pappas on a wild pitch. Jim Gentile homered for the Orioles and Cash for the Tigers.

Mantilla's game-winning blow off Wyatt came with two out in the ninth inning. Jack Lamabe who succeeded Pete Smith earned the decision.

The Indians got only five hits off Bellinsky in 5 1-3 innings but they banded him his fifth straight defeat in his majors and his eighth of the season. It was Bo's second start since his return from Honolulu and the Pacific Coast League. Manager Cal Ermer was with a 10-hitter. Woody Held homered for Cleveland, Charley Dees for the Angels.

The Tracks

Round Stage, ridden by Jockey John Lothian, was the fourth stakes winner trained by Hoffman in the last six weeks.

Winnetoo led throughout the 1 1-16-mile race except for the last few strides when Round Stage and Whitbrewski nipped him by a slight margin. Winnetoo finished third and Windy Ship fourth.

Sound stage, winner of two races in 10 starts and in the money five times, paid $7.20, $3.60 and $3.60.

NEW YORK (CP) — Mongo won his second straight United National handicap Saturday at Atlantic City, N.J., beating nine rivals in the $125,000 invitational race on a grass course.

Cain Hoy Stable's Never Bend set the pace most of the way in the 1 3-16-mile event and was second. The favored Curry Sack finished third.

Mongo, owned by Mockpetier Farm, was ridden by Wayne Chambers and timed in 1:55 3-5 while carrying 124 pounds. The winner paid $11.80, $5.80 and $3.60.

Never Bend, ridden by Manuel Ycaza, and with 118 pounds, paid $7.80 and $4.20. Curry Sack, second top weight with 127 and piloted by Howard Grant, returned $2.80 to show.

DOUBLE IS HUSKY

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP)—Laddie 2nd, ridden by Steve Brooks, won the first race Saturday, and Kenneth Korte piloted Tetanus to victory in the second race for a $1,451.80 daily double at the Atlantic City race track. At New York's Aqueduct, the Saturday double was $1,136.20 for $2.

NHL Training Camps

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Chicago Black Hawks of the National Hockey League defeated last year's Stanley Cup champions, Toronto Maple Leafs, 10 Sunday to take a three-game exhibition series 2-1.

With seconds remaining in the game Chicago's Murray Balfour, on a shot from Ray Fleming, tipped the puck into the Toronto nets, spoiling the goal-tending debut of Kjell Svenningson, 25, of Sweden.

Svenningson blocked 20 shots in the game, played at Kitchener.

The Hawks tied the series Saturday with a 5-3 victory over Toronto, with all-star forward Stan Mikita slamming across three for Chicago.

CORSICAN LEAVES

At Detroit, Sid Abel, manager-coach of the Detroit Red Wings, announced Sunday that defenceman Ian Cushenan has left the camp of the NHL club.

Cushenan, 23-year-old rearguard with previous NHL experience with New York, Montreal and Chicago, said Sunday Abel that he was anxious to return to his home at Buffalo, where he has a job as a supervisor with a soft drink bottling concern. Wings drafted Cushenan from Buffalo of the AHL for $20,000 during the off-season.

In other NHL news, the pre-season camp of New York Rangers opens at Winnipeg today with a flock of newcomers trying to crack the lineup.

New faces include veterans obtained through draft or trade and a crop of impressive rookies, including Ulf Sterner, the 22-year-old amateur star from Sweden, invited for a tryout.

Coach Red Sullivan has the makings of a polished penalty killing combination in Don Marshall and Val Fonteyne, picked up in the draft from Detroit.

Sons of two former Ranger greats are trying to win a permanent spot.

Forward Bryan Hextall, who finished out last season with the Rangers, is back. His father won the league scoring title in 1940.

Tracy Pratt, up from the Junior Brandon Wheat Kings, is trying for a spot on defence. His father, Walker (Babe) Pratt was a one-time all-star defenceman.

The 22 players scheduled to start two-day workouts also include Marc Dufour, who scored 30 goals for Sudbury of the Eastern Professional League last season, his first as a pro.

Defencemen Mike McMahon and Rob Woytowich are also Sudbury graduates.

SIGN ANOTHER LEE

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Los Angeles Angels who already had two pitchers named Lee, acquired a third Saturday. They purchased righthander Bob Lee from Pittsburgh Pirates. Already with the Angels are righthander Don Lee and lefthander Mike Lee. The three Lees are unrelated.

Senators Win City Peewee Baseball Title

The Senators captured the city Peewee baseball championship Saturday evening, with a hand from an early sunset, by edging the Cubs 5-4.

Senators took the title tiltgiar series two games to none.

Senators held the 5-4 lead after five frames in the game which was scheduled for seven innings.

In the top of the sixth, Cubs scored eight runs off as many hits to grab a 12-6 lead. Senators came roaring back, scoring three runs and having the bases loaded with one out when darkness forced the officials to end the game.

The score, of course, reverted back to the last complete inning and gave Senators the 5-4 decision.

Terry McTaggart pitched the victory, allowing nine hits. He struck out eight and got good help from catcher Bill Probert.

Ted Shaw, Ron Locke and Leo Baker pitched for the Cubs, touched for seven hits. They struck out four. Arnott was their receiver.

Danny Lupenite led the Senators at the plate with three hits.

Defeats Sikes In Final 36

Beman Wins US Amateur

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP)—Dick Beman, 27, of Cincinnati, Ohio, sank a birdie on the 32nd hole Clock - steady Deane Beman defeated an erratic Dick Sikes 3 and 1 Saturday in a tense 36-hole final for the United States Amateur golf championship.

The 25 - year - old Bethesda, Md., insurance man, never flustered despite a puny drive that cost him the first hole, won his second U.S. title mainly because of a five-hole winning streak that started late in the morning round and carried over into the afternoon.

And his trusty putter brought him a birdie on the 32nd hole from 18 feet and closed out Sikes, a 2-handicap golfer who came close to duplicating the feat that Sikes might have had of staging a late rally.

Beman first won the U.S. Amateur in 1960, a year after he had taken the British title. Since his 1959 triumph overseas, the stocky, father of three daughters has been the low amateur in the 1962 U.S. Open, played on three Walker Cup teams, three America's Cup teams and two world amateur squads.

BULLETINS FROM BIRDLAND

WORM EATERS

By WINIFRED E. WILSON

All day rain had been coming down steadily, soaking the ground, and now, in the late afternoon, looking from the window on the garden, only the little grassy path about 25 feet from us. The object moved, be it mat or bird, by its dark stripes. A chipmunk? No, rather too big for him. Then it raised its head, turning to give us a side view. It had a long, thin bill, its eye was near the top of the head. Why, of course, it was a woodcock.

What had it been doing? Pulling its queer bill down into the earth and extracting worms. Indeed, that is the woodcock's daily diet and its bill is especially designed for pulling them out of the ground. The projection made by the bird can be traced afterwards by a series of little holes that look as though some one had been using an apple corer. How it does!

FLEXIBLE BILL

The extremely long bill is evenly supple and flexible. The upper section (or mandible) is made in two parts, hinged together, the nostrils are placed to open independently from the lower. The woodcock seems to feel for worms and for their underground movement with its feet. Then the bird's apple corer gets to work.

Woodcocks are very chunky birds with practically no neck or tail, so that although only an inch or two longer than robins, they appear much bigger. The three stripes we had seen are black and run across the top of the head. The back and upper-tail wings are patterned in browns of various shades, and underparts are a pale, buffy color. This makes for camouflage. Nature also tries to protect the woodcock by placing the eyes high up because it spends all its life on the ground, both resting and feeding there.

LONG SUMMER

They come forth in spring as soon as the ground thaws enough for the bill to probe, and remain north until frost, hardens or snow covers the earth.

Having watched our unusual visitor for some leisurely minutes we saw it gradually make it's way into the wet hazel thicket beside the little path, and left in peace. However, an hour or so later we happened to pass that way. No sooner did we arrive at the spot than right beside the path a bird sprang up with a great whirr of wings, and saying "tee - tee - tee" flew down the treetops and right across the road.

Garden Notes

Garden Chores for the Season

By FLORA M. SAVILLE

Several cool days and high humidity have had a good effect on our lawns and dahlias. They are open more slowly and develop more fully. The colors remain clear and bright and do not bleach out. Then too, the blooms last longer on the plant and in flower arrangements.

Many plants that are still alive but have taken on a seedy appearance would put on another round of bloom if they were sheared back, given a good soaking and a light feeding with liquid fertilizer.

Keep a check on black spot on your roses. Dust or spray on a weekly spray, or dusting. Pick off and destroy all affected leaves. Plants going into winter in a weakened condition due to this fungus disease have a poor chance of survival. The roses that live over winter on the canes and fallen leaves are ready to start a new round of infection early in the spring.

Now is the time to prepare for fall planting keep in mind that some roses are more resistant to black spot than others. Save yourself work and grief by selecting resistant strains.

ORDER LILY BULBS

Have you ordered the lily bulbs that must be planted in the late fall? Many of the loveliest lily bulbs are shipped only in October or November. They must be in the ground before the freeze up. When delivery is late due to adverse weather conditions the ground can be prepared, the trench filled with leaves and covered with boards and bricks. Then plant in spring.

Where there is any doubt about drainage dig the soil out to the depth you intend to plant the bulbs will require and fill this space with cinders or gravel. The soil to be used around the bulbs should be mixed with plenty of humus such as peat, or ground corn cobs. Do not use manure around lilies. Powdered or pelletized fertilizer or bone meal can be used.

House plants that have been outside for the summer should be potted now if necessary and brought indoors a few weeks before frost to get them used to house conditions before they are subject to artificial heat. Sudden change often causes the plants to drop their leaves and become unsightly.

INDOOR BLOOMS

You can pot up some seedling marigolds and other annuals to bloom indoors when frost cuts off the garden blooms.

Chrysanthemums can be moved now to add color where annuals or perennials have faded or died.

Take cuttings of geraniums, coleus, fiberous rooted begonias and any other bedding plants you wish to keep as house plants or as bedding material for next year.

You can plant radishes, lettuce, endive, peas and onion sets to extend the garden offerings for several weeks. These are cool weather vegetables and can stand a few light frosts without being damaged.

You can feed the lawn once more this fall but do not fertilize roses, shrubs or perennials again this year. You will stimulate soft growth that will not have time to harden before the frost. This spurt of growth will weaken the root and deplete the food supply that would carry the plant safely over the winter.

Ben Bella Plans 'Socialization' Of Algeria

ALGIERS (Reuters)—Newly-elected Algerian President Ahmed Ben Bella today prepared to inaugurate a massive nationalization program aimed at complete "socialization" of his country.

Ben Bella became Algeria's first president on Sunday's referendum, in which 99.62 per cent of 5,369,823 votes cast backed his leadership. He was the only candidate.

He immediately announced, in a radio broadcast, that to reshuffle the cabinet within the next few days, speed up the achievement of socialism in the country and nationalize il ind.

The principal sectors involved will be nationalized," he said. "We shall nationalize all the lands of the settlers and the lands of the traitors as well."

The statement echoed his recent announcement as prime minister when he said the state would take over 3,500,000 acres of land left by European colonists who fled the country and turn them into collective farms.

TO RETIRE BUSINESSES

Three 5,000-acre estates were seized by the government in April and turned over to collectives, and Ben Bella said some 200 businesses abandoned by their French owners would also be nationalized.

Prospects of a Non-Govt. Solution to Labor Fight Grow Dimmer After Meeting

OTTAWA (CP)—Prospects of a non-governmental solution to the Great Lakes labor fight grew dimmer today after a three-hour conference here between Labor Minister MacEachen and President Claude Jodoin of the Canadian Labor Congress.

Mr. MacEachen told reporters after the three-hour conference that he is not optimistic about the chances of bringing the two trade union leaders arranging an acceptable private trusteeship that would result in a clean-up of labor lawlessness in the lake shipping industry.

The minister said that so far the government has no reason to back down from its decision to stay directly into the waterfront feud with a three-man government investigation into the marine unions, including the Seafarers' International Union of Canada (SIU).

"My present mood is not one of great optimism," he declared, when asked whether the problem will be settled by private arrangements, as urged by United States Labor Secretary Willard Wirtz.

Mr. MacEachen's dash of cold water on Washington's hopes of a non-governmental deal came after he and Mr. Jodoin rounded out a spurt on secret talks between Mr. Wirtz and the SIU's North American boss, Paul Hall.

DOOR STILL OPEN

The door was still ajar, however, for a last-ditch proposal that would be acceptable to Canada labor as well as the Canadian government.

"The government is ready to consider any acceptable proposal that would reach the general objective of a government investigation," the minister said.

CLC President Jodoin noted that "free trade unions" could always reach an "understanding" — and he underlined the word "free" as it applied to trade unions.

It was clear he felt that the SIU—both in Canada and the United States—did not qualify under his idea of a free trade union.

The two leaders also fired criticism at a new booklet issued by the SIU in Montreal in which Mr. Justice W. G. Norris is attacked for his year-long investigation of labor strife and for his massive documentation of violence, corruption, tyranny and terror on the lakes.

SIU BOOKLET

The SIU—and particularly its controversial American-born President Hal C. Banks—has been under searing criticism in the Norris report which recommended government trusteeship as the only way to rid the lakefront of labor lawlessness.

The SIU booklet, to be distributed to MPs before they debate the government's proposed trusteeship legislation when Parliament resumes Sept. 30, says the Norris inquiry and report are a perversion of justice.

Mr. Jodoin called the SIU booklet propaganda, while Mr. MacEachen said the facts of the Norris report have not been challenged by the SIU.

"Until these facts are directly challenged, I do not think we should be called upon to act seriously," said Mr. MacEachen.

Mr. Jodoin-MacEachen meeting was arranged for last Wednesday but was postponed until Saturday when U.S. Labor Secretary Wirtz flew to Ottawa for talks with the labor minister on the Canadian government.

Mr. Jodoin discussed labor representation on the government's new Economic Council of Canada, the proposed overhaul to the unemployment insurance fund and Canada's position in the international labor organization.

'100 Grand', a Quiz Show, Seemed to Be Dreary Bore

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP)—Six new series made their television debuts during the weekend, marking the opening of the fall season.

One program of general interest was ABC's Sunday night 100 Grand, a quiz show that seemed to be a dreary bore.

We were repeatedly assured the show is on the level. Also, an honest game, big money prizes and people who know everything about the American Civil War or grand opera aren't as entertaining as they once seemed to be.

The 90 - minute Arrest and Trial, also an ABC Sunday night entry, proved a satisfactory per of stories involving the same central character. The situation —a tough guy mixed up in a police killing—was familiar but the acting and the production were superior.

Ben Gazzara, the police sergeant in the series, is a particularly fine actor. Chuck Connors played the lawyer in a rather subdued and earnest style. Anthony Franciosa was impressive as the man Gazzara arrested and Connors defended.

Harry's Girls, a half - hour comedy about a boofer traveling around Europe with a troupe of three pretty girls—ABC's Friday night entry—was pretty thin stuff.

Tonight's debuts are The Outer Limits, ABC's series with science fiction themes (7:30-8:30 EDT) and Breaking Point (10-11) a series about a team of psychiatrists and their patients.

Giants, Browns Win

Chicago Bears Stun Packers

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Chicago Bears upset Green Bay Packers, while Jimmy Brown and Frank Ryan starred as eye-popping exhibition for Cleveland Browns and despondable Lou Michaels of Pittsburgh Steelers blew two conversions Sunday in National Football League opening action.

The Bears, bombed by Green Bay eight straight times including exhibitions, turned on their tormentors with a crushing defense and stormed the defending league champions 30-7 at Green Bay.

Brown romped for 103 yards and Ryan passed for 334 in the Browns' 37-14 rout of Washington Redskins at Cleveland.

Michaels, who holds the league record for field goals, misfired on two conversion attempts, one with the score tied, as the Cardinals' Jerry Stovall settle for a 21 - 21 tie with Philadelphia Eagles.

Old Y. A. Tittle led a New York Giants comeback that beat Baltimore Colts 37-28 at Baltimore and Minnesota Vikings came from behind for a 34-20 decision over San Francisco 49ers.

In Saturday night games, St. Louis Cardinals surprised the favored Dallas Cowboys 34-7 and Detroit Lions rolled over Los Angeles Rams 23-2.

In the American Football League, San Diego Chargers and Oakland Raiders, a couple of has-boots last year, each won their second game Sunday to lead over the weekend and remained in a tie for first place in the Western Division.

The Chargers, who won the Western title the last two years in the league and then ran into injury troubles last season, edged out Boston Patriots 17-13 Saturday.

The Raiders, winners of only game last season, rolled over Buffalo Bills 35-17 Sunday for their second straight under new coach Al Davis.

Tobin Rote heaved a 43-yard pass to Lance Alworth for the first San Diego touchdown against Boston, then Rote pitched out to Paul Lowe, who threw a 71-yard touchdown pass to Jerry Robinson.

It started in 1937 with a hard-working horse named Joe Canary.

And Harold (Spud) Murphy's racing career rose to a pinnacle this summer when a slight cheek-nut gelding called Brother Leo.

The fleet three-year-old colt surged to easy victory in the 33rd running of the $6,000 added Alberta Derby at Calgary Sept. 7, making Spud the only current trainer-breeder to capture three derbies in Western Canada in a single season.

His Alberta win, added to victories in the 15th running of the Manitoba Derby and the 34th running of the $18,000 added Canadian Derby, together with several other triumphs brought Brother Leo's earnings this season to $23,394 and his bankroll in just two years to $42,720.

Having swept all before him in the West, Brother Leo will be shipped to Eastern Canada looking for new fields to conquer, and heading into the evening for Horse of the Year.

COACHED HOCKEY

Spud, a stocky man with a twinkle in his eye, was born in Lowell, Mass., and moved to Calgary in 1912, the year of the first Stampede.

In his early years he was renowned as a coach, promoter and organizer of boys' hockey in Calgary. He coached such budding stars as Bob Adams, Sweeny Schriner and Frank McCool, later a top goalie with Toronto Maple Leafs of the National Hockey League.

"If Frank didn't have the complex of taking all the blame for goals scored on him, he would have been one of the all-time great goalkeepers," says Spud.

In 1937 Spud and a friend bought his first horse, Joe Geary, and went into racing. The horse won seven of 12 races, then injured a leg during a race in Winnipeg.

Several chuckwagon race drivers offered Spud $100 for Joe Geary, but Spud was too attached to the horse to let him finish his days in front of a chuckwagon.

HAD HORSE DESTROYED

He borrowed $20 and paid a veterinarian to destroy the horse, and Joe Geary was buried at trackside at Whittier Park raceway in Winnipeg.

Soon afterward Spud made a new start, earning more than $1,500 in one week by picking part-time jockeys. He later bought horses in California for Canadian owners and his biggest disappointment came when he begged Dave L. Fuller to buy a horse called Argenia, who turned into a top handicap star. Fuller refused.

As a trainer he won the Alberta Derby with a filly called Fair Elf owned by J. H. Evans of Winnipeg and trained Sir Berrill, a Canadian Derby winner, for Bill Lochead of Calgary.

His other wins in the Whittier Park Handicap with Baby Broom, a western favorite.

Although he has owned several winners, Brother Leo was his break into the big time winner's circle. The gelding was named for his twin brother, Leo, an employee of the Alberta Wheat Pool.

A bachelor, Spud lives in the shed row at Calgary's Victoria Park the year round, close to the horses that are his life.

Not only did he star on the mound but he paced his club at the plate with a home-run and triple in the 14-0 victory over the East Hill Pirates.

The Phillies won the title in two straight games of a best-of-three series.

CARTER WINS BOUT

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Rubin (Hurricane) Carter unleashed a fearsome two-fisted attack to the body and won an easy 10-round boxing decision over Fred Salim here Saturday night.
